Molotov Wants Red Chinese At Big-4 Meeting

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Russia's V. M. Molotov flew into Berlin in a Siberian - like snowstorm today and immediately demanded a full voice for Red China in the foreign ministers conference opening here Monday.

His demand had no prospect of acceptance. It may well produce the first major disagreement of the Big Four in the conference.

By the time Molotov's red-starred plane touched down at frigid Schoenefeld airfield, Secretary of State Dulles, Britain's Anthony Eden and Georges Bidault of France were already holding the first of a series of solid-front talks, designed to perfect the unity of the three Western leaders in their negotiations with the Russians.

Molotov was met only by East German officials and representatives of other Communist governments. To them, he made a statement later released by the East German news agency and broadcast on the Red radio.

Of a voice for Red China, he said: "The sooner the great Peoples State—the Chinese People's Republic—takes part in the negotiations over current international questions, the better it will be—the better for the strengthening of peace between peoples."

The statement made two other points which may prove significant in the negotiations opening Monday:

1. Russia is interested in "really guaranteeing security in Europe" as well as generally reducing international tensions and "strengthening peace." The Western powers also have been exploring the possibility of security guarantees in the hope that these might be reassuring to Soviet leaders.

2. Russia has no aims against the freedom of other peoples or nations and "would like to see the same attitude also shown to the Soviet Union." This could foreshadow some kind of a hands-off or live-and-let-live proposal by Molotov, perhaps in connection with security guarantees. Russia has been plainly disturbed by the expressed interest of the Western powers in the "liberation" of Iron Curtain countries.

Warmer Weather In Store Today For Louisiana

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather bureau predicted a "fairly rapid" warming up Sunday in Louisiana and Mississippi, but said it would remain rather cold Saturday night.

High temperatures in the northern portions of both states were in the mid-thirties, ranging upward to the low forties in the coastal areas.

The bureau said temperatures Saturday night would not drop much from the highs of the day and would rise rapidly Sunday, reaching around 60 near the coast and the mid-forties in the extreme north. Only widely scattered drizzling rain is predicted although both states will be cloudy.

Highs for Saturday were: New Orleans 40, Shreveport and Monroe, La., 36, Jackson 38 and Northern Mississippi 34-35.

Shreveport and Monroe were the coldest spots in Louisiana Friday night with 30 degrees. Baton Rouge read 33, Alexandria 32, Lafayette 34, New Orleans 36 and Burwood 41.

In Mississippi Friday night Jackson and McComb both dropped to 29 degrees. Greenwood had 30, Tupelo 33, Meridian 32 and Biloxi 36.

Fresh snow fell in the northern Rockies Saturday but the weather took a turn for the better in most of the other sections of the nation.

Snow and cold struck Montana again. Temperatures soared there Friday, and plunged Saturday in a freakish quick-change act. The mercury at Lewiston plummeted from 46 above to 18 below zero.

Rivers in northwest Georgia dropped from flood levels Saturday and officials said there would be little damage from the rain-swollen streams.

However, the weather bureau in Charleston, S. C. warned of major floods along the Pee Dee River in the Carolinas last night. There are no major cities on the river's bank and long stretches of the stream are bordered by rich farmlands and thick swamps.

Gradual Tariff Cuts Urged By 17-Man Board

Members Far From Agreement On Most Issues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—A commission advising the government on world economic policy turned in today a dissension-ridden report recommending authority for President Eisenhower to negotiate a gradual 15 per cent cut in U. S. tariff rates.

In a limited field, it proposed power to cut rates far more.

This idea for lowering barriers against imported goods was one of many steps proposed as part of a "bold" program for exerting American leadership toward putting the world on a more even economic and financial keel. The report stressed that other nations must take similar steps.

But the dissents tha stood out on page after page set the stage for heavy battling in Congress which would have to approve most of the major recommendations.

The 17-man commission on foreign economic policy, headed by Clarence B. Randall of Chicago, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Co., called for:

1. American "acquiescence" in more trade in peaceful goods between Western Europe and nations behind the Iron Curtain.

2. A three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements law with "broad powers" for the President to arrange with other countries "a reduction of tariff rates on a gradual basis." The commission said, though, that free trade is impossible under present conditions, although it is aware of the arguments for it.

3. An end to U. S. economic aid to other countries on a giveaway basis. The commission said perhaps some aid should continue in the form of loans.

4. A gradual approach toward free exchange of one international currency for another.

5. Easing of taxes on income Americans receive from abroad. Eisenhower already has urged this on Congress.

6. Stimulation of overseas invest-

Cotton Acreage Law Hailed By Ouachita Farmers

Under an amendment to the cotton acreage law which was passed by congress during the past week, Ouachita parish will gain 4,305 acres, or an income potential of some three-quarters of a million dollars, Farm Bureau officials said here yesterday.

The allotment increase will bring the parish's cotton acreage allowance from around 13,600 acres to more than 18,000 acres for this year, according to J. B. Filhiol, Jr., president of the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau.

Filhiol said that this would offset considerably the loss facing parish farmers who last year planted approximately 24,000 acres to cotton, and at the beginning of the year had had that amount pared almost in half by a cotton acreage law provision.

The official said that the bill which was sponsored by his organization, and which resulted in the allotment increase, has been described as "very pleasing in general" by area farmers contacted by him.

One planter, G. B. Studdard, who farms a place on the Sterlington Road said that it would help him to maintain a labor force on his plantation, that he otherwise would had to have let go.

Studdard was of the opinion that the amendment would be particularly beneficial to tenants and to the working class of people.

Sam Taylor, who works 150 acres of land—100 acres of it in cotton—on his Columbia Road farm near Monroe said, "This will make me sleep better. I feel like I can finish

'Eggheads' Root For Socialism

Left Wingers Seeking To Promote Hard Times, House Speaker Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (AP) —House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. charged tonight that left-wing "eggheads" are "trying to promote us into hard time for political reasons."

Their aim, he declared, is "to lead us into Socialism."

In a speech prepared for the Philadelphia Real Estate Board, the Massachusetts Republican said that despite pessimistic statements of alarmists, "there is not a valid economic sign today . . . pointing to anything like the unemployment of 1949-50, when these people were so silent."

Martin said the nation is now going through a period of readjustment and today's unemployment figure of 2,000,000 "may vary upward in the next few months."

"Despite this period of transition," he added, "the year 1953 just finished was the most prosperous in the history of our country, and the fact is, there are 62 million American civilians at work today at gainful occupations."

Martin's speech was billed in advance by his office as a major address, with a nationwide broadcast arranged over facilities of the American Broadcasting Co.

In 1949 and 1950, under a Democratic administration, Martin said, unemployment reached 3,400,000 and 4,750,000, but the "four alarm prophets of the left wing . . . were silent. There were no cries of recession, no cries of depression."

"Each time you read one of these political utterances," he advised, "go back and check up the gentleman's statements in 1949 and early 1950. You will find that the color of the coat has changed."

Martin said these left-wingers, "infest" Americans for Democratic Action, an organization which backs the principles of the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman "Fair Deal."

"These four-alarm prophets" of hard times, Martin said, "are of a political persuasion that is either downright left-wing or friendly to it. In fact, these gentlemen have been steadily preaching this doctrine since July 1952. They preached it all through the 1952 campaign, they have predicted a depression for each quarter of 1953, and, possibly because Eu-

Howard Brown, Of Tallulah, Dies Suddenly At LSU

TALLULAH, Jan. 23 (Special)—Howard Early Brown, 20, one of Madison Parish's most outstanding young men, died suddenly at Louisiana State University dormitory yesterday.

The death of this young athlete and agricultural leader was a shock to Madison Parish and Northeast Louisiana.

In the past, he had suffered from a heart ailment.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the Tallulah Methodist Church with Rev. R. Mac Bently officiating, assisted by Rev. Clyde Williams

Burial will follow in the Silver Cross Cemetery in Tallulah under the direction of Crothers Funeral Home.

An outstanding 4-H Club leader, athlete, an officer in Boys State, and all round leader, he was awarded the trophy in 1952 for Tallulah High School's "most outstanding football player." Not only did he have a successful, though brief, career in 4-H Club work but was very active in the Future Farmers of America while in school.

He was honored in 1952 by being elected state president of the 4-H Club.

Howard Early Brown was eminently successful in all phases of youth activities. He was the editor of the Tallulah High School paper, the Trojan.

Recently, he won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress which was held in Chicago, Ill., for his outstanding work in the State Junior Leadership Contest.

Brown is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown and a number of aunts and uncles.

Active pallbearers are Arlen Ray Gardner, Martin Verhagen, Jimmie Darby, Bob Laird, Wallace Hargon, Richard Powell, Sonny Clark, and Harold Ogden.

Honorary pallbearers are Max McDonald, County Agent, A. M. Raley, assistant County Agent, E. H. Brinson, and all members of the 1952 Tallulah High School Football Team.

Ten Construction Workers Killed

Forestville, Que., Jan. 23—UP—Ten construction workers were killed Saturday when a scaffold collapsed into a partially - completed tunnel at a hydro - construction development near here.

An 11th man on the scaffold was injured, and a 12th escaped unhurt.

Roland Michaud, a spokesman for the Angus Robertson Construction Co., said the men fell more than 50 feet into a tunnel being built to divert water at the $125 million project near Lac Casse, 290 miles west of Quebec City.

Deadline Set For Agreement On Amendment

Knowland Still Seeking Accord With Bricker

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) —Administration leaders today put a Monday deadline on efforts to compromise with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) on a proposal to rewrite the Constitution's treaty-making provisions.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said he will report to President Eisenhower and House leaders Monday morning at a White House conference on weekend efforts to reach an agreement.

Another administration lieutenant said that if compromise attempts fail Republicans supporting President Eisenhower's views will ask Democrats to join them in introducing a substitute.

Bricker has proposed an amendment to the Constitution which would provide in its most controversial clause that "a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty."

Eisenhower has criticized this proposal on the grounds that it would give the states the right to repudiate treaties, which he said should override state laws and constitutions when properly ratified by the Senate. Bricker said the President was giving "wide circulation to erroneous charges."

Knowland made it clear he believes that if Bricker refuses to give up the controversial clause in his amendment, many of the 60 Senators who joined him in offering his original proposal—which did not contain this clause in the present form—will withdraw their support.

"A great many of these Senators are not wedded word for word to the measure which a majority of the Judiciary Committee reported out," the California Senator said. "I think a great many Senators still feel that a constitutional amendment is in order, but are hopeful that an agreement can be reached between the administration and Congress on the wording."

Knowland and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the GOP policy committee, have drafted a proposed substitute which would make treaties adopted "pursuant" to the Constitution the supreme law of the land. They contend this would require all treaties to follow the Constitution and make them subject to judicial review.

However, one Democrat, Sen. Ellender of Louisiana, said in a radio address recorded for Louisiana stations that he regards the Bricker amendment as "vitally necessary."

Drainage Work On Tensas River Makes Progress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) —Rep. Norrell (D-Ark) said today funds recommended in the budget for the Tensas River-Bayou Macon drainage project would complete work to the Arkansas line.

The $1,727,000 listed for the project, he said, would make possible completion of work in Louisiana by the end of the fiscal year starting July 1.

Norrell told a reporter he was informed also by Army engineers that completion to the Akansas line would permit immediate work to benefit southeast Arkansas residents.

"Army engineers tell me," Norrell said, "that when work reaches the Arkansas line they can open up drainage ditches and give us substantial relief."

Norrell said the work on the project has of necessity proceeded from the south in Louisiana northward and that Arkansas residents have been waiting for years to get relief.

Braceros Seek To Run Blockade

Violence Grips Mexican Border

CALEXICO, Calif., Jan. 23—UP—Violence erupted along the international boundary Saturday as the Mexican government set up an "iron curtain" to block recruitment of Mexican farmhands seeking work in southern California.

Mexican officials, determined to stop eager Mexican workers from entering the United States, clamped a cordon of armed soldiers along the border for 21 miles in each direction from Mexicali, Mex.

The Mexican border patrol intercepted more than 8,000 workers who streamed into Mexicali, in an attempt to jump border fences.

Violence was reported at several points along the border Saturday morning as 45 farmhands managed to cross into the United States and many other braceros were arrested trying to climb fences.

One man was shot and wounded by a Mexican soldier Friday as he attempted to clear a 12-foot fence on the border.

Braulio Maldonado, governor of the new state of Baja California, said Mexicali's crime rate is on the increase and described the situation as "tense and serious."

Nearly 500 farm workers who were denied entry into the United States Saturday marched on his palace in Mexicali in a mass protest. Maldonado told them they were not permitted to cross the border because Mexico needs their strength.

The recruitment difficulties arose following termination of the United States-Mexico contract labor agreement Jan. 15. Under the agreement, Americans were permitted to recruit labor in the Mexican interior.

The present stop-gap recruiting program was adopted by the U.S. Departments of State and Labor when negotiations for another farm labor pact broke down in Mexico City.

The United States prefers to recruit laborers from the border rather than the interior since it helps reduce the flow of "wetbacks," or illegal entrants from Mexico.

German Red Purge Hits Officials

BERLIN, Jan. 23—UP—The East German Communist party announced Saturday night that two top former Communist officials have been expelled from the party and a third demoted from the party's high echelon in what may be the start of a major new purge in the Soviet zone.

Three other high - ranking officials of the party were "rebuked" by the East German central Communist committee, according to a special communique.

After a two-day secret session which ended Saturday night the committee announced that William Zaisser, former chief of East German secret police, and Rudolf Herrnstadt, ex-editor of the official party newspaper Neues Deutschland, had been ousted from the party.

Anton Ackermann, former undersecretary of state, was ousted from the central committee but did not lose his party membership, the communique said.

The communique added that Zaisser and Herrnstadt were ousted from the party following a probe of the entire East German Communist party.

Both men were purged from the East German Politburo following last June's anti-Communist rebellion.

The fact that the expulsions followed a long investigation indicated they might be arrested and tried for treason.

Highway Study Group Convenes Here Tomorrow

A special recognition luncheon honoring the highway committee of the Louisiana Legislative Council will be held Monday, Thomas M. Hayes, Jr., president of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce stated yesterday. The luncheon will be staged by the local C. of C. organization.

Slated to appear at the statewide public hearing are state, parish and municipal officials, ranging from George Covert, director of the department of highways, through the ranks of the department.

According to State Sen. James D. Sparks, chairman of the state highway committee, "The public hearing in Monroe will be dedicated to hearing from more citizens and their constructive suggestions for general highway planning improvements at the state, parish and local levels."

The senator also extended a "cordial invitation to everyone in Monroe and Ouachita parish, and other cities and parishes in north Louisiana" to attend the public hearing at the Virginia hotel, beginning at 10 a.m. Monday. The sole purpose of the hearing is to obtain a cross section of public opinion on Louisiana's road needs, it was pointed out.

The following are expected to appear on the agenda of the hearing:

George Covert, director of the department of highways; Fred Preaus, member of the highway

Pattern Set By Army Friday On Dickenson

'Germ Warfare' Admission Wrung From Airman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Amid signs of a major snafu on high levels, the Marine Corps and Army opened formal probes today of the actions of a colonel and a corporal while they were prisoners of the Chinese Communists.

The actions, touched off by an Army move, were taken amid much head-shaking from high policy strategists in the Defense Department, who considered an Army announcement last night to be unwise from a psychological warfare viewpoint.

The Army disclosed last night that it had filed court-martial charges against Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, the 23-year-old GI from Cracker's Neck, Va., who at first decided to stay with the Communists in Korea, then changed his mind and came home. Dickenson was accused of unlawful dealings with the enemy and currying favor with his Communist captors to the detriment of fellow prisoners.

Once that announcement got out, the Defense Department figured it was no use holding the Marine Corps back. So the Corps announced today that a court of inquiry had been formed to investigate the case of Col. Frank H. Schwable, an Air Force officer who made a false confession, while prisoner of war, about participating in germ warfare. He renounced the confession after his release in the Korean War exchange.

While some Army spokesmen continued to insist today that their Dickenson announcement had been cleared with the Defense Department, officials of that department expressed surprise and concern about it.

The department, it was said, had intended that no statements concerning any actions against returned prisoners should be made until the cases of 21 Americans still sticking in a pro-Red camp in Korea had been cleared up.

Those 21 soldiers, who wanted to stay with their Communists captors, are at Panmunjom, where they had been brought with other prisoners for disposition under the truce agreement. But the Communists so far have refused to accept them back.

American psychological warfare experts wanted to encourage all of the remaining 21 Americans to

Mrs. Breese Is Named Chairman Of Dimes Drive

Preparations for the 1954 Mothers' March on Polio got off to a good start today with the formal designation of Mrs. Frank C. Breese Jr., as Ouachita Parish chairman. The appointment was announced by S. E. Holloway Jr., parish director of the 1954 March of Dimes.

The Mothers' March, which will be held on the night of Friday, January 29, from 7 to 8 p.m., will climax the 1954 March of Dimes. It is expected to reach all homes where lighted porch lights proclaim that families wish to contribute to the fight against polio.

"Mrs. Breese is well known for her worthwhile activities in civic and community projects," Mr. Holloway said. "She has twice before led the women of this parish in successful Mothers' Marches, and I am confident that under her direction this year we will top all previous drives."

In commenting on her appointment, Mrs. Breese said, "I would like again to do everything in my power to assist in the nationwide battle against infantile paralysis and I know no more effective way than through Mothers' March.

"It is essentially a woman's project, and during the past four years has accounted for a generous share of the total funds raised in the March of Dimes. I am sure the 1954 March will be no exception."

Students Renew Demonstrations

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 23—UP—Spanish students held new anti-British demonstrations Saturday but Generalissimo Francisco Franco put aside the simmering disputes with France and Britain over Morocco and Gibraltar and went deer hunting.

The students, who stoned British installations in Spain Friday, marched up and down the streets of main cities Saturday, demanding again the return of the British-held "rock" guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea.

Gibraltar was ceded to Britain by Spain in 1713.

Several cabinet ministers, including Foreign Minister Martin Artajo, and prominent military leaders went on the outing with the Spanish chief of state at his El Pardo estate.

Traffic Judge Put In Separate Cell

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 23—UP—Traffic Court Judge Lester Palmer was treated like any other county jail prisoner Saturday except for one thing.

Palmer is serving a five-day sentence for hit-and-run driving. His car struck one owned by William Pilant last Dec. 7.

Sheriff Richard Collins said Palmer was being treated like any other prisoner, but has a separate cell.

"The judge sentenced some of the current inmates," the sheriff explained.

"Despite this period of transition," he added, "the year 1953 just finished was the most prosperous in the history of our country, and the fact is, there are 62 million American civilians at work today at gainful occupations."

Martin's speech was billed in advance by his office as a major address, with a nationwide broadcast arranged over facilities of the American Broadcasting Co.

In 1949 and 1950, under a Democratic administration, Martin said, unemployment reached 3,400,000 and 4,750,000, but the "four alarm prophets of the left wing . . . were silent. There were no cries of recession, no cries of depression."

"Each time you read one of these political utterances," he advised, "go back and check up the gentleman's statements in 1949 and early 1950. You will find that the color of the coat has changed."

Martin said these left-wingers, "infest" Americans for Democratic Action, an organization which backs the principles of the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman "Fair Deal."

"These four-alarm prophets" of hard times, Martin said, "are of a political persuasion that is either downright left-wing or friendly to it. In fact, these gentlemen have been steadily preaching this doctrine since July 1952. They preached it all through the 1952 campaign, they have predicted a depression for each quarter of 1953, and, possibly because Eu-

Howard Brown, Of Tallulah, Dies Suddenly At LSU

TALLULAH, Jan. 23 (Special)—Howard Early Brown, 20, one of Madison Parish's most outstanding young men, died suddenly at Louisiana State University dormitory yesterday.

The death of this young athlete and agricultural leader was a shock to Madison Parish and Northeast Louisiana.

In the past, he had suffered from a heart ailment.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the Tallulah Methodist Church with Rev. R. Mac Bently officiating, assisted by Rev. Clyde Williams.

Burial will follow in the Silver Cross Cemetery in Tallulah under the direction of Crothers Funeral Home.

An outstanding 4-H Club leader, athlete, an officer in Boys State, and all round leader, he was awarded the trophy in 1952 for Tallulah High School's "most outstanding football player." Not only did he have a successful, though brief, career in 4-H Club work but was very active in the Future Farmers of America while in school.

He was honored in 1952 by being elected state president of the 4-H Club.

Howard Early Brown was eminently successful in all phases of youth activities. He was the editor of the Tallulah High School paper, the Trojan.

Recently, he won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress which was held in Chicago, Ill., for his outstanding work in the State Junior Leadership Contest.

Brown is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown and a number of aunts and uncles.

Active pallbearers are Arlen Ray Gardner, Martin Verhagen, Jimmie Darby, Bob Laird, Wallace Hargon, Richard Powell, Sonny Clark, and Harold Ogden.

Honorary pallbearers are Max McDonald, County Agent, A. M. Raley, assistant County Agent, E. H. Brinson, and all members of the 1952 Tallulah High School Football Team.

Ten Construction Workers Killed

Forestville, Que., Jan. 23—UP—Ten construction workers were killed Saturday when a scaffold collapsed into a partially - completed tunnel at a hydro - construction development near here.

An 11th man on the scaffold was injured, and a 12th escaped unhurt.

Roland Michaud, a spokesman for the Angus Robertson Construction Co., said the men fell more than 50 feet into a tunnel being built to divert water at the $125 million project near Lac Casse, 290 miles west of Quebec City.

Court Of Inquiry Formed To Probe 'Confession' Of Ex-PW Marine Colonel

Deadline Set For Agreement On Amendment

Knowland Still Seeking Accord With Bricker

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) —Administration leaders today put a Monday deadline on efforts to compromise with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) on a proposal to rewrite the Constitution's treaty-making provisions.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said he will report to President Eisenhower and House leaders Monday morning at a White House conference on weekend efforts to reach an agreement.

Another administration lieutenant said that if compromise attempts fail Republicans supporting President Eisenhower's views will ask Democrats to join them in introducing a substitute.

Bricker has proposed an amendment to the Constitution which would provide in its most controversial clause that "a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty."

Eisenhower has criticized this proposal on the grounds that it would give the states the right to repudiate treaties, which he said should override state laws and constitutions when properly ratified by the Senate. Bricker said the President was giving "wide circulation to erroneous charges."

Knowland made it clear he believes that if Bricker refuses to give up the controversial clause in his amendment, many of the 60 Senators who joined him in offering his original proposal—which did not contain this clause in the present form—will withdraw their support.

"A great many of these Senators are not wedded word for word to the measure which a majority of the Judiciary Committee reported out," the California Senator said. "I think a great many Senators still feel that a constiutional amendment is in order, but are hopeful that an agreement can be reached between the administration and Congress on the wording."

Knowland and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the GOP policy committee, have drafted a proposed substitute which would make treaties adopted "pursuant" to the Constitution the supreme law of the land. They contend this would require all treaties to follow the Constitution and make them subject to judicial review.

However, one Democrat, Sen. Ellender of Louisiana, said in a radio address recorded for Louisiana stations that he regards the Bricker amendment as "vitally necessary."

Drainage Work On Tensas River Makes Progress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) —Rep. Norrell (D-Ark) said today funds recommended in the budget for the Tensas River-Bayou Macon drainage project would complete work to the Arkansas line.

The $1,727,000 listed for the project, he said, would make possible completion of work in Louisiana by the end of the fiscal year starting July 1.

Norrell told a reporter he was informed also by Army engineers that completion to the Akansas line would permit immediate work to benefit southeast Arkansas residents.

"Army engineers tell me," Norrell said, "that when work reaches the Arkansas line they can open up drainage ditches and give us substantial relief."

Norrell said the work on the project has of necessity proceeded from the south in Louisiana northward and that Arkansas residents have been waiting for years to get relief.

Braceros Seek To Run Blockade

Violence Grips Mexican Border

CALEXICO, Calif., Jan. 23—UP—Violence erupted along the international boundary Saturday as the Mexican government set up an "iron curtain" to block recruitment of Mexican farmhands seeking work in southern California.

Mexican officials, determined to stop eager Mexican workers from entering the United States, clamped a cordon of armed soldiers along the border for 21 miles in each direction from Mexicali, Mex.

The Mexican border patrol intercepted more than 8,000 workers who streamed into Mexicali, in an attempt to jump border fences.

Violence was reported at several points along the border Saturday morning as 45 farmhands managed to cross into the United States and many other braceros were arrested trying to climb fences.

One man was shot and wounded by a Mexican soldier Friday as he attempted to clear a 12-foot fence on the border.

Braulio Maldonado, governor of the new state of Baja California, said Mexicali's crime rate is on the increase and described the situation as "tense and serious."

Nearly 500 farm workers who were denied entry into the United States Saturday marched on his palace in Mexicali in a mass protest. Maldonado told them they were not permitted to cross the border because Mexico needs their strength.

The recruitment difficulties arose following termination of the United States-Mexico contract labor agreement Jan. 15. Under the agreement, Americans were permitted to recruit labor in the Mexican interior.

The present stop-gap recruiting program was adopted by the U.S. Departments of State and Labor when negotiations for another farm labor pact broke down in Mexico City.

The United States prefers to recruit laborers from the border rather than the interior since it helps reduce the flow of "wetbacks," or illegal entrants from Mexico.

German Red Purge Hits Officials

BERLIN, Jan. 23—UP—The East German Communist party announced Saturday night that two top former Communist officials have been expelled from the party and a third demoted from the party's high echelon in what may be the start of a major new purge in the Soviet zone.

Three other high - ranking officials of the party were "rebuked" by the East German central Communist committee, according to a special communique.

After a two-day secret session which ended Saturday night the committee announced that William Zaisser, former chief of East German secret police, and Rudolf Herrnstadt, ex-editor of the official party newspaper Neues Deutschland, had been ousted from the party.

Anton Ackermann, former undersecretary of state, was ousted from the central committee but did not lose his party membership, the communique said.

The communique added that Zaisser and Herrnstadt were ousted from the party following a probe of the entire East German Communist party.

Both men were purged from the East German Politburo following last June's anti-Communist rebellion.

The fact that the expulsions followed a long investigation indicated they might be arrested and tried for treason.

Highway Study Group Convenes Here Tomorrow

A special recognition luncheon honoring the highway committee of the Louisiana Legislative Council will be held Monday, Thomas M. Hayes, Jr., president of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce stated yesterday. The luncheon will be staged by the local C. of C. organization.

Slated to appear at the statewide public hearing are state, parish and municipal officials, ranging from George Covert, director of the department of highways, through the ranks of the department.

According to State Sen. James D. Sparks, chairman of the state highway committee, "The public hearing in Monroe will be dedicated to hearing from more citizens and their constructive suggestions for general highway planning improvements at the state, parish and local levels."

The senator also extended a "cordial invitation to everyone in Monroe and Ouachita parish, and other cities and parishes in north Louisiana" to attend the public hearing at the Virginia hotel, beginning at 10 a.m. Monday. The sole purpose of the hearing is to obtain a cross section of public opinion on Louisiana's road needs, it was pointed out.

The following are expected to appear on the agenda of the hearing: George Covert, director of the department of highways; Fred Preaus, member of the highway

Mrs. Breese Is Named Chairman Of Dimes Drive

Preparations for the 1954 Mothers' March on Polio got off to a good start today with the formal designation of Mrs. Frank C. Breese Jr., as Ouachita Parish chairman. The appointment was announced by S. E. Holloway Jr., parish director of the 1954 March of Dimes.

The Mothers' March, which will be held on the night of Friday, January 29, from 7 to 8 p.m., will climax the 1954 March of Dimes. It is expected to reach all homes where lighted porch lights proclaim that families wish to contribute to the fight against polio.

"Mrs. Breese is well known for her worthwhile activities in civic and community projects," Mr. Holloway said. "She has twice before led the women of this parish in successful Mothers' Marches, and I am confident that under her direction this year we will top all previous drives."

In commenting on her appointment, Mrs. Breese said, "I would like again to do everything in my power to assist in the nationwide battle against infantile paralysis and I know no more effective way than through Mothers' March.

"It is essentially a woman's project, and during the past four years has accounted for a generous share of the total funds raised in the March of Dimes. I am sure the 1954 March will be no exception."

Students Renew Demonstrations

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 23—UP—Spanish students held new anti-British demonstrations Saturday but Generalissimo Francisco Franco put aside the simmering disputes with France and Britain over Morocco and Gibraltar and went deer hunting.

The students, who stoned British installations in Spain Friday, marched up and down the streets of main cities Saturday, demanding again the return of the British-held "rock" guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea.

Gibraltar was ceded to Britain by Spain in 1713.

Several cabinet ministers, including Foreign Minister Martin Artajo, and prominent military leaders went on the outing with the Spanish chief of state at his El Pardo estate.

Pattern Set By Army Friday On Dickenson

'Germ Warfare' Admission Wrung From Airman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Amid signs of a major snafu on high levels, the Marine Corps and Army opened formal probes today of the actions of a colonel and a corporal while they were prisoners of the Chinese Communists.

The actions, touched off by an Army move, were taken amid much head-shaking from high policy strategists in the Defense Department, who considered an Army announcement last night to be unwise from a psychological warfare viewpoint.

The Army disclosed last night that it had filed court-martial charges against Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, the 23-year-old GI from Cracker's Neck, Va., who at first decided to stay with the Communists in Korea, then changed his mind and came home. Dickenson was accused of unlawful dealings with the enemy and currying favor with his Communist captors to the detriment of fellow prisoners.

Once that announcement got out, the Defense Department figured it was no use holding the Marine Corps back. So the Corps announced today that a court of inquiry had been formed to investigate the case of Col. Frank H. Schwable, an Air Force officer who made a false confession, while prisoner of war, about participating in germ warfare. He renounced the confession after his release in the Korean War exchange.

While some Army spokesmen continued to insist today that their Dickenson announcement had been cleared with the Defense Department, officials of that department expressed surprise and concern about it.

The department, it was said, had intended that no statements concerning any actions against returned prisoners should be made until the cases of 21 Americans still sticking in a pro-Red camp in Korea had been cleared up.

Those 21 soldiers, who wanted to stay with their Communists captors, are at Panmunjom, where they had been brought with other prisoners for disposition under the truce agreement. But the Communists so far have refused to accept them back.

American psychological warfare experts wanted to encourage all of the remaining 21 Americans to

Traffic Judge Put In Separate Cell

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 23—UP—Traffic Court Judge Lester Palmer was treated like any other county jail prisoner Saturday except for one thing.

Palmer is serving a five-day sentence for hit-and-run driving. His car struck one owned by William Pilant last Dec. 7.

Sheriff Richard Collins said Palmer was being treated like any other prisoner, but has a separate cell.

"The judge sentenced some of the current inmates," the sheriff explained.

Money Would Be Placed In Short-Term Securities

Investment Of Idle State Funds Urged By Kolb

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Millions of dollars in idle state funds are viewed as a possible source of an extra million a year in state revenues through use of time deposits or short term investments.

This idle money, such as handled by the big-spending highways, welfare and institutions agencies, or through the state general fund, is deposited in banks throughout Louisiana. It draws no interest.

State Auditor Allison Kolb, after noting how a number of other states operate an investment program, has askde some Louisiana bankers and legislators if such a gram, has asked some Louisiana

Under present policy the cash is banked — with certain exceptions — as demand deposits, available for immediate state use. Federal rules stand in the way of banks paying interest on such demand deposits.

Basically, the suggestion is to put the idle millions to work for temporary periods of 90 days or six months by investing in bank time deposits or short term treasury notes. Enabling legislation would be required.

States always are searching for extra sources of revenue. The new legislative Joint Fiscal Committee, taking a hard look at increased state budgets, got off to its recent start with a warning by state budget officers of uncertain revenues during the next two fiscal years.

Some critics contend any short term investment proposal would amount to a tax on banks; cutting their dividends to stockholders.

Banks are required to protect public fund deposits 100 per cent although individuals receive no guarantees on deposits above $10,000. And banks are required by state law to handle state checks at par.

Kolb estimates the size of Louisiana's idle money can mean a million dollars extra through investments, perhaps more.

Idle state cash, according to the auditor, differs from surplus funds in this way:

Suppose a state agency has $100,000 on deposit and at the end of three months will have to pay out $80,000 of it. The agency will have a $20,000 surplus, but during the three months it will have $100,000 in idle cash.

There is no authority under present state law for investment of idle funds in time certificates or government bonds.

It would be impossible to invest all state funds, however, even if authority existed, because working balances must be maintained and cannot be tied up.

The money keeps turning over in state use, but usually there is an average balance which could have short term investment possibilities.

Idle cash arises from several sources — state funds collected ahead of required spending, or the money accumulated from the sale of bond issues prior to the time the money must be spent.

Published bank statements show as a separate item public funds held by the banks.

Formosa Gives Glad Welcome To Returning POWs

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 23—UP—Thousands of government officials, soldiers, school children and civilians Saturday welcomed the arrival of the first anti-Communist former Chinese prisoners of war from Korea.

Seven American military transport planes flew in 145 sick and wounded former prisoners of war. The other Chinese, released under the armistice agreement, are en route here aboard a fleet of American landing ships.

Thousands of persons stood in a drizzling rain at a military air base near Taipeh to cheer the Chinese who refused to be repatriated to their Communist-dominated homeland.

Premier Chen Cheng hailed the event as the "forerunner" of the Communist "doomsday." Nationalist circles unanimously agreed the refusal of the Chinese soldiers to return to their homeland was the greatest victory over communism since the Reds seized control of the mainland in 1949.

Thousands of "liberty Bells" throughout this Nationalist island bastion announced the arrival of the first former prisoners. Huge posters proclaimed "accelerate preparations for counterattack" and "annihilate the Mao gangsters."

Nationalist leaders hailed the day as the beginning of an intensified "anti-slavery" fight against the Communist Chinese. They stressed the fact that almost 80 per cent of the Chinese captured in Korea chose to come to Formosa rather than return to communism.

45th Division To Leave Korea In Next Two Months

SEOUL, Sunday, Jan. 24 (AP)—The U. S. 45th (Thunderbird) Division, which came to Korea in December 1951 as an Oklahoma National Guard unit, will return to the United States between Feb. 15 and March 15.

The U. S. 40th Division, former California National Guard unit, which arrived in January 1952, will be withdrawn from Korea "considerably later."

Identification of the two divisions which President Eisenhower had said would be pulled out and the approximate times of their withdrawals were announced yesterday by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the U. S. 8th Army. He did not say where the divisions would be sent.

In each division, only soldiers with sufficient points entitling them to rotation will be allowed to go. Those not eligible will be transferred to other units.

Earlier, Army officials had said that men from other divisions with sufficient points for rotation would be transferred to the withdrawing divisions.

The 40th and 45th were the last divisions to arrive in Korea during the war. Both saw heavy action in the war's later stages.

At the time President Eisenhower announced plans to bring out two divisions, there was considerable speculation in Korea as to which two. Some of it centered on the U. S. 25th Division which was in action since the early days of the conflict.

Cotton Acreage

paying for my cotton picker and tractor."

A Morehouse parish farmer, W. J. McDonald expressed satisfaction with the new acreage measure: "Under the old law I was allowed to plant 22 per cent of my land in cotton, but under the present amendment I can plant 40 per cent in cotton."

McDonald said that he thought the measure would go a long way toward correcting some of the inequities in cotton acreage allotment fostered under the old acreage law.

J. T. Osterland, farmer on the Old Sterlington Road, saw the acreage increase for the parish as a general boon to area business.

"It's like adding another factory here. The acreage increase will have a very favorable affect on business," he observed.

Filhiol pointed out that the increase in acreage allotment will, in many cases, help "65-acre farmers" meet obligations on a tractor or farm items.

For the state, the increase is expected to amount to from 109,000 to 120,000 acreage of cotton, bringing the total for the current year to beyond 700,000 acres.

The importance of cotton farming on the economy of Ouachita parish was pointed out by Filhiol, in summing up the estimated value of the cotton planted on some 24,000 acres last year.

He said that the income off of cotton for that period ni the parish would run to more than $4½-million.

In backing the amendment to the cotton acreage law, the Farm Fareau organizations held five regional meetings for representatives of 16 major cotton producing states, Filhiol said.

In a telegram to Filhiol, senator from Louisiana, Allen J. Ellender, described the amendment on which the Senate has just completed action.

He said: "Senate has just completed action on cotton acreage bill clearing measure for president's signature.

"Where sufficient acreage is available, and I understand there will be sufficient acreage in Louisiana, each farmer will receive the higher of 65 per cent of his average plantings for three-year period 1951-52-53 or 40 per cent of highest planted acreage during three-year period with option on state committee to fix minimum quota to each farmer between 40 and 50 per cent of his present cropland.

"Bill also carries proviso for reallocation of frozen acreages within parish, and if not needed in parish, the acreage can be released to state committee for re-allocation to other sections of state.

"This proviso will be effective for 1954 and 1955 crops. We also included permanent legislation affecting 1955 crops and thereafter under which county committee will have option of using cropland factor or historical method in allocating acreages to individual farms."

The colonel of a regiment formerly had a proprietary right in it.

Delay In Closing Camp Polk Asked By Gov. Kennon

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP) — Gov. Robert Kennon asked the Defense Department today to delay the closing of Camp Polk, La., until he could confer with Secretary Wilson and present important information.

Kennon sent his request through Maj. Gen. Raymond Fleming, adjutant general of Louisiana. Kennon, in Atlanta for a meeting of governors, talked to Fleming by telephone today and the general relayed the information to Washington by telegram.

Kennon asked for a conference with Wilson Feb. 18 or 19. He said he would "be able to present important information on this matter. Request your decision on inactivation of Camp Polk be held in abeyance pending this conference."

Fleming said Kennon would take "plenty of ammunition" to Washington to convince Wilson of the advantages of Camp Polk."

Kennon described Camp Polk as "one of the finest training areas to be found anywhere." he said it would close the big base, which can handle more than 40,000 men on its 100,000 acres. The camp opened in 1941, was deactivated in 1946 and reopened in 1950.

The Army announced yesterday the climate and other conditions are favorable and cause little time to be lost in training.

The Army announcement said it would be closed June 30.

Sens. Long and Ellender (D-La) said the closing of the Camp Polk was "not in keeping" with the administration's policy of showing preference to distressed areas in the spending of money." They said they knew of no area that would be more distressed than the Leesville and DeRidder area without the camp.

Elmer D. Conner, executive director of the Department of Commerce and Industry, said in Baton Rouge today that even though the deactivation apparently was the result of an economy move, he felt "the end result could be expensive to the nation." He said the camp proved its value in World War II and Korea.

BREAKS MONOTONY

KYOTO, Japan, Jan. 23 —UP— Shoichi Uchida, 42, was unemployed and penniless and neighbors wondered what he did with his spare time. Police became curious they entered his six-by-six foot home and found it crammed with 1,200 stolen books. "I had to break the monotony some way," Uchida said.

leave communism voluntarily and return. This would give the United States a 100 per cent score in getting back its people, as compared with the 22,000 North Koreans and Chinese former war prisoners who have refused to go back to communism.

One psychological warfare official, expressing concern that the Army's announcement would wreck any chance of the remaining 21 returning to face possible prosecution, declared "we have lost a golden opportunity."

Secretary of Defense Wilson and his top aides held a series of meetings this morning. Then, obviously deciding that in view of the Army's action it now made no difference, they authorized the Marine Corps to make its announcement concerning the Schwable case.

Schwable, who returned to his home in nearby Arlington, Va., after his release in the prisoner exchange last fall, expressed satisfaction that something definite was being done. He told a reporter:

"The only thing I can say is that I am relieved — very much relieved — that this long period of nerve-wracking waiting is over, that something definite has firmed up. I have been 3½ months sweating it out."

Schwable was shot down July 8, 1952, while flying on a mission in North Korea. Schwable and a number of captured airmen of the United States Air Force were subjected to Communist pressures, torture and other forms of persuasion in efforts to make them say they had dropped germ warfare material during missions over North Korea.

The Reds succeeded in wringing "confessions" from about eight Air Force and two Marine officers, all of whom repudiated the confessions upon their return to Allied hands.

Of the original group of 23 American soldiers who at the outset refused to be repatriated, two have now come back—Dickenson and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.

In answer to question, an Army spokesman said today that Batchelor is now classified as a transient, in process of moving from his outfit in Korea to assignment in the United States. He is still in the Far East.

Any decision on whether investigation of his case will be made will wait until he has reached the United States, the spokesman said.

GIVEN STATE POST

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan 23 — UP—Dr. G. Earl Quinn, president of Louisiana College at Alexandria, has been appointed by Gov. Robert F. Kennon to the State Board of Institutions, succeeding R. H. Crosby Jr., who resigned.

Crosby's term would have expired Dec. 10, 1957.

Tougher Attitude By U. S. Toward 21 POWs Is Seen

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Jan. 24 (AP)—All signs pointed today to a toughening attitude by the Allied side toward 21 Americans, a Briton and 325 South Koreans who are sticking it out in a pro-Red camp although it now is unlocked and virtually unguarded.

Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander, was known to feel the men—prisoners the Reds refuse to take back—are no longer any concern of his command with the passing yesterday of the armistice deadline for processing balky repatriates.

Sources close to Hull said he believes the Communists eventually will claim them, after using their present status for propaganda purposes.

Yesterday Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, senior Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission, told the Reds the Allied side would welcome any Communist statement on "your plans for removing them as rapidly as possible" back to the Red side.

In Washington, U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson said the 21 Americans must make up their minds soon if they want to return to the Allied side. He said "their pay is going to be cut off shortly."

The Indian Command, which marked the deadline yesterday by opening the gates and withdrawing 200 custodian troops, said the prisoners have a week's supply of Red-transported food. The Reds will be allowed to bring in more if they choose.

The Indians also planned for "humanitarian purposes" to send Indian Red Cross representatives into the camp.

For the time being the prisoners were virtual orphans of war. The Reds refused to take them back by way of emphasizing their charge that the Allies acted illegally in setting free nearly 22,000 Chinese and North Koreans from an anti-Red camp.

KAMPALA, Uganda, Jan. 23—UP —The Vowels Falls hydroelectric plant, all tidied up for Queen Elizabeth's forthcoming commonwealth visit, received its first guest Saturday, a nosy hippopotamus.

The hippo waddled past a room which will be the Queen's rest room when she formally opens the plant next April and approached the control room housing delicate and costly instruments.

On Christmas morning I was interested in the church at Tilda to see people packed in like sardines. A baby would cry way down front and a child of seven or eight years would put it astride her hip and clamber through the throng to the front door. Nobody seemed disturbed. This is a land of children; eight to 12 in a family is common. I do not see how the little ones live where there is no sanitation or adherence to rules of cleanliness.

8-Week Run Highly Profitable

Dying New York Theater Nets $80,000 Quickly

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Just a few months back, the New York City Center Theater was dying on its feet. Now it has just rung down the curtain on an eight-week season during which the box office cash register jingled a profit of more than $80,000.

A real-life Broadway angel is the reason behind this rapid jump from the financial dumps to one of the most successful seasons in the municpipal playhouse's history. She's Jean Dalrymple, an attractive producer who persuaded the theater's Board of Directors to let her carry out an idea she was convinced would save it from collapse.

"I got the idea to fly to Hollywood and ask Jose Ferrer to give up his lucrative film roles and pitch in to help save the City Center Theater," she explains.

Ferrer consented to do two weeks each of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac," the Pulitzer Prize-winning "The Shrike," and Shakespeare's "Richard III."

"But when we started doing $10,000 a week profit on those, we began to see daylight ahead. I pleaded with Jose to stay with us an extra two weeks to do 'Charley's Aunt.' He consented and that gave us an extra $20,000 to ease problems for future productions," Miss Dalrymple says.

Highly gratified at the theater's successful season, and Miss Dalrymple's efforts in bringing it about, the Board of Directors named her permanent director in charge of all production.

She brings a vast and varied theatrical experience to the job.

She wrote a vaudeville act while still in her 'teens and sold it to Dan Jarrett, James Cagney and Cary Grant. She played the lead feminine role herself.

She was personal manager for many concert and theatrical stars, Jose Iturbi, Grace Moore and Paula Laurence, to name a few. She became a producer in 1945 when she revived "Burlesque," the Broadway comedy hit of 1927. It played to capacity audiences for 437 performances.

Miss Dalrymple plans to go in heavily for American works at futur City Center productions. She also has the rights to several European works, including plays by Bernard Shaw and Jean Paul Satre.

"The real job," she says, "is to keep the City Center on a good financial basis — and that lies ahead of us when our new season opens next fall."

Businessmen, housewives, and farmers, Martin said, are aware of the fact that "we have been in a period of readjustment for many months." But "our people have remained pretty calm on the whole."

Martin reviewed the first year record of the new Republican administration and predicted that 1,000,000 homes will be built this year, with private enterprise performing in a "manner so outstanding that public housing soon will become only a memory of the unlamented days of the managed economy."

Because of the narrow political margins in Congress, Martin said, no one can predict with certainty the fate of President Eisenhower's legislative proposals, but "the American people will demand its enactment and they will get its enactment, if not by the narrow majorities of this Congress, then by sufficient majorities in the next Congress."

3 Young Orphan Brothers United After Separation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 23 —UP—Three young orphaned brothers were re-united Saturday after a Chicago judge permitted one of them to decide where he wanted to live.

James Houston Lawrence, 13, was given the choice to continue living in Chicago with his half-sister, Mrs. Annette Ragland, 23, or with his brothers, Erwin, 15, and William, 11, who live here with a half-brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny A. Green.

James decided on Little Rock.

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago left the choice of homes up to the lad after the Arkansas Department of Public Welfare instituted habeas corpus proceedings for the Little Rock relatives.

The boys had been separated for the past five months. Their mother died in 1951, and their father in 1952.

While the commission didn't put it into the form of an actual recommendation because it was outside its field of inquiry, the report spoke out strongly against "inflexible price supports or fixed prices" for the American farmer.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn), a commission member who did not offer a single dissent, described the report as "a moderate approach" which could increase imports, eventually eliminate foreign aid, and benefit the American economy.

But two key Republican congressmen who are on the commission, Reps. Daniel A. Reed of New York and Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, not only dissented on numerous specific recommendations but also attacked the entire report as "vague, indefinite and unsatisfactory."

They said it "contributes little to a solution" of foreign economic policy problems and they promised detailed, substitute recommendations of their own later on.

Reed and Simpson complained the report advocates sacrifices by the United States "which admittedly will create unemployment and adversely affect business in this country" while offering only "subsidy or sympathy" as a remedy.

Furthermore, Sen. Eugene D. Millinkin (R-Colo) put into the report a long letter that was far more dissent than agreement.

The objections from this congressional trio were particularly significant, since Reed is chairman and Simpson a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which gets first crack at all tariff and tax legislation. Millikin is chairman of the corresponding Senate Finance Committee.

Congress ordered creation of the commission last August. On it are five senators and five House members—six Republicans and four Democrats—and seven representatives of the public named by Eisenhower. The report was submitted to the President and Congress.

Money Would Be Placed In Short-Term Securities

Investment Of Idle State Funds Urged By Kolb

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Millions of dollars in idle state funds are viewed as a possible source of an extra million a year in state revenues through use of time deposits or short term investments.

This idle money, such as handled by the big-spending highways, welfare and institutions agencies, or through the state general fund, is deposited in banks throughout Louisiana. It draws no interest.

State Auditor Allison Kolb, after noting how a number of other states operate an investment program, has askde some Louisiana bankers and legislators if such a gram, has asked some Louisiana

Under present policy the cash is banked — with certain exceptions — as demand deposits, available for immediate state use. Federal rules stand in the way of banks paying interest on such demand deposits.

Basically, the suggestion is to put the idle millions to work for temporary periods of 90 days or six months by investing in bank time deposits or short term treasury notes. Enabling legislation would be required.

States always are searching for extra sources of revenue. The new legislative Joint Fiscal Committee, taking a hard look at increased state budgets, got off to its recent start with a warning by state budget officers of uncertain revenues during the next two fiscal years.

Some critics contend any short term investment proposal would amount to a tax on banks; cutting their dividends to stockholders.

Banks are required to protect public fund deposits 100 per cent although individuals receive no guarantees on deposits above $10,000. And banks are required by state law to handle state checks at par.

Kolb estimates the size of Louisiana's idle money can mean a million dollars extra through investments, perhaps more.

Idle state cash, according to the auditor, differs from surplus funds in this way:

Suppose a state agency has $100,000 on deposit and at the end of three months will have to pay out $80,000 of it. The agency will have a $20,000 surplus, but during the three months it will have $100,000 in idle cash.

There is no authority under present state law for investment of idle funds in time certificates or government bonds.

It would be impossible to invest all state funds, however, even if authority existed, because working balances must be maintained and cannot be tied up.

The money keeps turning over in state use, but usually there is an average balance which could have short term investment possibilities.

Idle cash arises from several sources — state funds collected ahead of required spending, or the money accumulated from the sale of bond issues prior to the time the money must be spent.

Published bank statements show as a separate item public funds held by the banks.

Formosa Gives Glad Welcome To Returning POWs

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 23—UP—Thousands of government officials, soldiers, school children and civilians Saturday welcomed the arrival of the first anti-Communist former Chinese prisoners of war from Korea.

Seven American military transport planes flew in 145 sick and wounded former prisoners of war. The other Chinese, released under the armistice agreement, are en route here aboard a fleet of American landing ships.

Thousands of persons stood in a drizzling rain at a military air base near Taipeh to cheer the Chinese who refused to be repatriated to their Communist-dominated homeland.

Premier Chen Cheng hailed the event as the "forerunner" of the Communist "doomsday." Nationalist circles unanimously agreed the refusal of the Chinese soldiers to return to their homeland was the greatest victory over communism since the Reds seized control of the mainland in 1949.

Thousands of "liberty Bells" throughout this Nationalist island bastion announced the arrival of the first former prisoners. Huge posters proclaimed "accelerate preparations for counterattack" and "annihilate the Mao gangsters."

Nationalist leaders hailed the day as the beginning of an intensified "anti-slavery" fight against the Communist Chinese. They stressed the fact that almost 80 per cent of the Chinese captured in Korea chose to come to Formosa rather than return to communism.

45th Division To Leave Korea In Next Two Months

SEOUL, Sunday, Jan. 24 (AP)—The U. S. 45th (Thunderbird) Division, which came to Korea in December 1951 as an Oklahoma National Guard unit, will return to the United States between Feb. 15 and March 15.

The U. S. 40th Division, former California National Guard unit, which arrived in January 1952, will be withdrawn from Korea "considerably later."

Identification of the two divisions which President Eisenhower had said would be pulled out and the approximate times of their withdrawals were announced yesterday by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the U. S. 8th Army. He did not say where the divisions would be sent.

In each division, only soldiers with sufficient points entitling them to rotation will be allowed to go. Those not eligible will be transferred to other units.

Earlier, Army officials had said that men from other divisions with sufficient points for rotation would be transferred to the withdrawing divisions.

The 40th and 45th were the last divisions to arrive in Korea during the war. Both saw heavy action in the war's later stages.

At the time President Eisenhower announced plans to bring out two divisions, there was considerable speculation in Korea as to which two. Some of it centered on the U. S. 25th Division which was in action since the early days of the conflict.

paying for my cotton picker and tractor."

A Morehouse parish farmer, W. J. McDonald expressed satisfaction with the new acreage measure: "Under the old law I was allowed to plant 22 per cent of my land in cotton, but under the present amendment I can plant 40 per cent in cotton."

McDonald said that he thought the measure would go a long way toward correcting some of the inequities in cotton acreage allotment fostered under the old acreage law.

J. T. Osterland, farmer on the Old Sterlington Road, saw the acreage increase for the parish as a general boon to area business.

"It's like adding another factory here. The acreage increase will have a very favorable affect on business," he observed.

Filhiol pointed out that the increase in acreage allotment will, in many cases, help "65-acre farmers" meet obligations on a tractor or farm items.

For the state, the increase is expected to amount to from 109,000 to 120,000 acreage of cotton, bringing the total for the current year to beyond 700,000 acres.

The importance of cotton farming on the economy of Ouachita parish was pointed out by Filhiol, in summing up the estimated value of the cotton planted on some 24,000 acres last year.

He said that the income off of cotton for that period ni the parish would run to more than $4½-million.

In backing the amendment to the cotton acreage law, the Farm Bureau organizations held five regional meetings for representatives of 16 major cotton producing states, Filhiol said.

In a telegram to Filhiol, senator from Louisiana, Allen J. Ellender, described the amendment on which the Senate has just completed action.

He said: "Senate has just completed action on cotton acreage bill clearing measure for president's signature.

"Where sufficient acreage is available, and I understand there will be sufficient acreage in Louisiana, each farmer will receive the higher of 65 per cent of his average plantings for three-year period 1951-52-53 or 40 per cent of highest planted acreage during three-year period with option on state committee to fix minimum quota to each farmer between 40 and 50 per cent of his present cropland.

"Bill also carries proviso for reallocation of frozen acreages within parish, and if not needed in parish, the acreage can be released to state committee for re-allocation to other sections of state.

"This proviso will be effective for 1954 and 1955 crops. We also included permanent legislation affecting 1955 crops and thereafter under which county committee will have option of using cropland factor or historical method in allocating acreages to individual farms."

Delay In Closing Camp Polk Asked By Gov. Kennon

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP) — Gov. Robert Kennon asked the Defense Department today to delay the closing of Camp Polk, La., until he could confer with Secretary Wilson and present important information.

Kennon sent his request through Maj. Gen. Raymond Fleming, adjutant general of Louisiana. Kennon, in Atlanta for a meeting of governors, talked to Fleming by telephone today and the general relayed the information to Washington by telegram.

Kennon asked for a conference with Wilson Feb. 18 or 19. He said he would "be able to present important information on this matter. Request your decision on inactivation of Camp Polk be held in abeyance pending this conference."

Fleming said Kennon would take "plenty of ammunition" to Washington to convince Wilson of the advantages of Camp Polk."

Kennon described Camp Polk as "one of the finest training areas to be found anywhere." he said it would close the big base, which can handle more than 40,000 men on its 100,000 acres. The camp opened in 1941, was deactivated in 1946 and reopened in 1950.

The Army announced yesterday the climate and other conditions are favorable and cause little time to be lost in training.

The Army announcement said it would be closed June 30.

Sens. Long and Ellender (D-La) said the closing of the Camp Polk was "not in keeping" with the administration's policy of showing preference to distressed areas in the spending of money." They said they knew of no area that would be more distressed than the Leesville and DeRidder area without the camp.

Elmer D. Conner, executive director of the Department of Commerce and Industry, said in Baton Rouge today that even though the deactivation apparently was the result of an economy move, he felt "the end result could be expensive to the nation." He said the camp proved its value in World War II and Korea.

leave communism voluntarily and return. This would give the United States a 100 per cent score in getting back its people, as compared with the 22,000 North Koreans and Chinese former war prisoners who have refused to go back to communism.

One psychological warfare official, expressing concern that the Army's announcement would wreck any chance of the remaining 21 returning to face possible prosecution, declared "we have lost a golden opportunity."

Secretary of Defense Wilson and his top aides held a series of meetings this morning. Then, obviously deciding that in view of the Army's action it now made no difference, they authorized the Marine Corps to make its announcement concerning the Schwable case.

Schwable, who returned to his home in nearby Arlington, Va., after his release in the prisoner exchange last fall, expressed satisfaction that something definite was being done. He told a reporter:

"The only thing I can say is that I am relieved — very much relieved — that this long period of nerve-wracking waiting is over, that something definite has firmed up. I have been 3½ months sweating it out."

Schwable was shot down July 8, 1952, while flying on a mission in North Korea. Schwable and a number of captured airmen of the United States Air Force were subjected to Communist pressures, torture and other forms of persuasion in efforts to make them say they had dropped germ warfare material during missions over North Korea.

The Reds succeeded in wringing "confessions" from about eight Air Force and two Marine officers, all of whom repudiated the confessions upon their return to Allied hands.

Of the original group of 23 American soldiers who at the outset refused to be repatriated, two have now come back—Dickenson and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.

In answer to question, an Army spokesman said today that Batchelor is now classified as a transient, in process of moving from his outfit in Korea to assignment in the United States. He is still in the Far East.

Any decision on whether investigation of his case will be made will wait until he has reached the United States, the spokesman said.

GIVEN STATE POST

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan 23 — UP—Dr. G. Earl Quinn, president of Louisiana College at Alexandria, has been appointed by Gov. Robert F. Kennon to the State Board of Institutions, succeeding R. H. Crosby Jr., who resigned.

Crosby's term would have expired Dec. 10, 1957.

Tougher Attitude By U. S. Toward 21 POWs Is Seen

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Jan. 24 (AP)—All signs pointed today to a toughening attitude by the Allied side toward 21 Americans, a Briton and 325 South Koreans who are sticking it out in a pro-Red camp although it now is unlocked and virtually unguarded.

Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander, was known to feel the men—prisoners the Reds refuse to take back—are no longer any concern of his command with the passing yesterday of the armistice deadline for processing balky repatriates.

Sources close to Hull said he believes the Communists eventually will claim them, after using their present status for propaganda purposes.

Yesterday Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, senior Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission, told the Reds the Allied side would welcome any Communist statement on "your plans for removing them as rapidly as possible" back to the Red side.

In Washington, U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson said the 21 Americans must make up their minds soon if they want to return to the Allied side. He said "their pay is going to be cut off shortly."

The Indian Command, which marked the deadline yesterday by opening the gates and withdrawing 200 custodian troops, said the prisoners have a week's supply of Red-transported food. The Reds will be allowed to bring in more if they choose.

The Indians also planned for "humanitarian purposes" to send Indian Red Cross representatives into the camp.

For the time being the prisoners were virtual orphans of war. The Reds refused to take them back by way of emphasizing their charge that the Allies acted illegally in setting free nearly 22,000 Chinese and North Koreans from an anti-Red camp.

"There is no central heating and this varied temperature is trying. Dress is varied. Many men, Christians, wear real American clothes. Women wear the sari, few wear sandels. The great mass of women go barefoot even in cold weather. If they wear sandels they wear no hose. It interests me to see folks with great shawls wrapped around their heads but with nothing from their knees down.

"Chairs are almost unknown. Even in churches people sit on the floor also in classrooms. I believe the natives prefer the floor. On Christmas morning I was interested in the church at Tilda to see people packed in like sardines. A baby would cry way down front and a child of seven or eight years would put it astride her hip and clamber through the throng to the front door. Nobody seemed disturbed. This is a land of children; eight to 12 in a family is common. I do not see how the little ones live where there is no sanitation or adherence to rules of cleanliness.

"There is plenty of food in India but little money to buy it with. Prices are cheap when contrasted with food back home; sweet potatoes are six lbs. for 15 cents; cauliflower five cents a head. Meat is only a few cents a pound but very poor according to our standards. The Americans have lovely gardens this time of the year both vegetable and flower.

"In cities one is impressed by the age of buildings and by open shops on the streets, especially outdoor eating places. The people eat only with their fingers from plates made of tree leaves pinned together. After eating these are thrown on the ground and goats and cows come along and eat them. Yes, flies are bad but not as bad as one would expect where there is little or no sanitation.

"I hope I haven't given a bad picture for there are some lovely Indian folks here, friendly and nice, striving to make conditions better and to elevate the lot of the great mass of people.

"You haven't seen India until you ride a train or stay a night in a railway station. There are few autos here but bicycles are everywhere, as are rickshaws, tongas, camels, ox carts, etc.

"I have been to Delhi and Agra and seen the Taj forts, government buildings and places of interest. Have taken over 100 pictures for slides and hope they come out good."

8-Week Run Highly Profitable

Dying New York Theater Nets $80,000 Quickly

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Just a few months back, the New York City Center Theater was dying on its feet. Now it has just rung down the curtain on an eight-week season during which the box office cash register jingled a profit of more than $80,000.

A real-life Broadway angel is the reason behind this rapid jump from the financial dumps to one of the most successful seasons in the municpipal playhouse's history. She's Jean Dalrymple, an attractive producer who persuaded the theater's Board of Directors to let her carry out an idea she was convinced would save it from collapse.

"I got the idea to fly to Hollywood and ask Jose Ferrer to give up his lucrative film roles and pitch in to help save the City Center Theater," she explains.

Ferrer consented to do two weeks each of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac," the Pulitzer Prize-winning "The Shrike," and Shakespeare's "Richard III."

Auto Industry Builds Many Test-Model Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, Jan. 23 (AP)—The auto industry is trying out more advanced engineering ideas than ever before in its history—but in purely experimental model cars.

Before World War II most "ideas of tomorrow" were tried out on the test block; an engine was mounted in a stock chassis for testing on the proving grounds or conclusions were reached on a mathematical basis in the laboratories.

Now the auto makers build test cars wholly new from the ground up. If they have a new engine they want to try out, they build a streamlined body to go with it. They spend hundreds of thousands of dollars solely to test something new.

They call the test cars "laboratories on wheels."

Future competition may have special significance in this development. Auto makers probably want to be prepared to swing into the production of any radically designed car on short notice.

Yet all precedent in the industry is against bringing out anything drastic on short notice. Uusually it doesn't sell on a profitable basis.

General Motors' Motorama now showing in New York offers several striking examples of the postwar trend in experimental cars. The gas turbine engined Firebird is an outstanding instance. There are other models, too, that are so far ahead of their time nobody safely can predict they ever will reach the average motorist.

Other car makers also have drastically designed models on their test tracks. They have such features as extra high power output, unusual compression ratio engines or very finely engineered control systems.

It has been suggested these cars are valuable to the producers solely because of their promotion appeal, but their cost runs into huge sums of money. It probably is more nearly accurate to say they have been developed for competitive reasons. Each car maker wants the answers to all problems involved when the time comes to refine his product further.

In the case of the Firebird, General Motors executives say it will provide answers to many problems involved in adapting the gas turbine engine to commercial uses.

Many engineers continue to insist the gas turbine engine car eventually will be produced for the average motorist. Some have described GM's work with the Firebird as the outstanding car power development of the last half century.

But there are many who say gas turbines never will be feasible in conventional type passenger cars. This group insists the possibilities of the conventional type internal combustion gasoline engine still are far from exhausted.

They contend higher compression ratio engines with higher quality fuel are coming within the next few years and will add greatly to car engine efficiency. One leading petroleum industry engineer has said the refiners are about ready to produce 98 octane gasoline whenever auto makers will deliver the 10-to-1 compression ratio engines.

Car engine designers already have topped the 8.5 to 1 compression ratio and are moving steadily toward 10 to 1. Some industry sources are guessing the 98 octane, 10-to-1 compression ratio point will be reached within the next three or four years.

A third group of engineers who say the next decade will see atomic energy harnessed for use in conventional autos, sidetracking Diesel, gasoline and gas turbine power plants.

Rise In Coffee Prices Debated On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 —UP— A senator advised Americans Friday to drink a cup of milk a day in an effort to force down coffee prices.

But a coffee country ambassador, obviously alarmed at the congressional furore over rising coffee prices, said it's just a case of too much coffee drinking and too little coffee.

Simultaneously, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said higher food prices — mainly for coffee and pork—may prevent the usual seasonal decline in living costs this month and next.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) introduced a measure to have the Senate Commerce committee investigate the coffee price rise and see what can be done to assure an "adequate and stable supply of coffee to American consumers at a reasonable price."

The drink-more-milk idea was advanced by chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture committee. Another lawmaker already has proposed "coffeeless Wednesday."

But Aiken, who hails from a milk-producing state, said the same end could be achieved if everyone drank a glass of milk a day. They would be healthier too, he said. Aiken said he already is following his own prescription.

The senator also said he is asking his staff for an early report on a bill by Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Ia.) who believes the sharp hike in coffee prices is the work of speculators. Gillette wants power for the government to regulate coffee prices.

Colombian Ambassador Eduardo Zuleta-Angel insisted, however, that recent coffee prices rises — up to $1.03 a pound in leading food chains — are the "normal" result of increased demand and lower supply.

He said Americans alone boosted their yearly coffee drinking 56.2 per cent for the years 1946-52 compared with the 10 years prior to World War II. Europeans too have been drinking more coffee.

La. Tech Class Will Graduate Wednesday, 8 P.M.

RUSTON, Jan. 23 (Special) —With 91 seniors being candidates for degrees, commencement exercisees at Louisiana Tech will be held in Howard auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 27.

The principal address will be delivered by Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary College.

In accordance with previous custom at Tech, no baccalaureate program has been scheduled in connection with the mid-year graduation activities.

The commencement program for Wednesday night has been announced as follows:

Processional "March of the Priests" from "Athalia" (Mendelssohn), with Marshall E. Bretz of the music faculty at the pipe organ; "Star-Spangled Banner" (Keyled by Dale Colvin of West Monroe, Tech music student; invocation by Dr. H. H. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ruston; principal address by President Mickle.

"Fantasie in D. Major" (Telemann), organ solo by Bretz; presentation of candidates for degrees by the deans of the six schools; conferring of degrees and awarding of diplomas by R. L. Ropp, president of Tech, assisted by Miss Mabel May, registrar.

Presentation of a memorial gift to the college by Thomas O. Lewis of Oakdale, representative of the graduating class; acceptance of the gift by President Ropp; "Alma Mater" (Graham), led by Don Braswell of Sibley, member of the graduating class; benediction by Rev. R. R. Branton, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of Ruston; recessional, "Coronation March" (Walton), played by Bretz.

An informat reception will be held in Iva Adams parlor after the commencement program for graduating seniors, their relatives, friends and the faculty.

Three Automobiles Are Stolen Here

Three automobiles were reported stolen Saturday morning in the Twin Cities, according to Monroe police.

Hugh Davis of 1811 North 4th Street reported a state - owned black 1950 Pontiac was stolen from his residence sometime during the night. He said he noticed it missing about 6 a.m. Saturday.

W. L. Bruce of 1805 Trenton in West Monroe told officers his 1949 Dodge pickup truck was stolen in West Monroe. The theft was reported to police about 7:40 a.m. Bruce said the name "W. L. Bruce Plumbing" was printed on the doors of the truck.

Freeda Mickel of 124 Hall Street said her two - toned hard-top Mercury was stolen from Monroe about 5 a.m. Saturday. The Mercury had a black top and was red around the bottom, she said.

Friday, Thomas Milstead of 221 Grayling Lane reported his two-door 1950 Mercury stolen and state police recovered it later in the day two miles south of Winnsboro. The car had been wrecked but was in running condition, they said. No arrests were made.

An Hour Of Decision

Today, there is a concerted attack on the morals of this nation. The attack comes from many sources and the record of success made already is a foreteller of destruction. The newspapers and other means of public information dissemination record the disintegration of moral codes each day in the story of juvenile delinquency, attacks on women, stabbings, shootings, dope addictions, and other extremely dangerous and significant things which would help ruin the nation.

One of the worst afflictions coming into prominence is the narcotics addiction not only among the adult population, but among the young Americans on whom this nation clearly depends for its safe future. The dope is coming into the states from its main source, the Communist China mainland. The Communist Chinese know the great value of dope as a weapon of war as they witnessed the startling effects of such action as practiced by the Japanese on their own people. That dope is being used as a weapon of war now is written in the records of the Treasury Department of the United States. Dope does not exclude all forms of narcotics which will dull the mind.

The American people have yet to awaken to the fact that this nation is at war. It is fighting for its life, in a death grip with the forces of a godless materialistic philosophy which seeks at every chance to choke the life out of this great land of liberty. Not only does the militant philosophy seek to destroy this nation, it seeks to destroy the belief in God held by all Christians, Jews and Mohammedans. If it can succeed in a severe attack on the belief in God, thus a promulgate disintegration of moral law, it will render the nation helpless.

One of the greatest efforts at this endeavor is through the spread of narcotics addiction. Narcotics addiction ruins the power to think, to act with the mind given to the human by his Maker. It is one of the main roots of destruction of public morals today. The war is being waged by the forces of Marxism directed by the Russian Bolsheviks with every tool at their disposal. Combined with them are their allies, their stooges, dupes and those who are being blackmailed into support of Marxism.

The American people find it hard to deal with an enemy which uses American law and the United States bill of rights to destroy this nation. They find it hard to deal with an unseen enemy which fights the fight of the gutters and the sewers, never fighting the good fight. Americans respect clean fighting and an honest belief. Therefore they should recognize the forces of dialectical materialism for what they are. They should realize that by every means (and they are manifold), at their command, these people are attempting to destroy the power of the United States.

Dialectical theory does not regard honor as a force. It does not regard anything but necessity as a means of success. It deals in cold logic without regard to principle or honor. Therefore, Marxists do not regard the necessity of religion. As a matter of fact, they regard religion as an unnecessary evil. "It should be destroyed," holds the Marxist and the record bears out his idea. Wherever the Marxists have taken control, religion is suppressed and made to fit into the collectivist thinking and pattern.

The hour of decision is indeed here. Unless the American people recognize that they are in a war, a war of no declaration, but all the same, a deadly and costly war, they will be destroyed as were other free peoples who failed to realize their peril in time. The list is long. For years, the American people were led to believe that the Communists were "innocent, democratic" thinkers. They know better now, but they still regard them as people with whom they can deal at the conference table and as diplomats.

Never before in the history of the United States were the people so wrong. Again, the record bears out this statement. Would a civilized, honorable leadership murder and pillage millions of innocent people simply because they disagreed with a national program? Would an honorable leadership deliberately and in cold blood murder the cream of the Polish officer corps because they knew the men represented a threat to their own imperialistic designs?

Would an honorable leadership capture and hold innocent men and women as pawns in a great international blackmail scandal? Would an honorable leadership march its forces against a peaceful republic? No, you know otherwise.

You are not dealing with honorable men, you are dealing with pirates and thieves of an order never seen in the history of the world. They are thieves and murderers on a scale as never believed possible, so large as not easily to be comprehended by a nation of people and they have penetrated by their own efforts and the stupidity of the American people, to the heights of this government. They are accepted as something which they are not. They use every treacherous means at their command and should never be treated as anything but pirates and bandits. They are in no sense of the word, diplomats and businessmen.

Until the American people can begin to realize the true extent of their peril, they will be in great danger. Even after they realize the peril, they will still be in danger, but will be able to cope with the situation as a united people. As in other days, the United States needs a million minute men, all ready to march against their nation's redcoat enemies with all the power at their command. The Marxists are determined to pervert the nation's morals, to ruin the religion of God. America needs the minute men of today, fearless fighters, Christian soldiers who will stand ready to fight the forces of degeneracy and immorality. The Chinese dope weapon is merely one example of what you are against.

This is the hour of decision. Your future clearly depends on its outcome.

Your strength in God and His laws, your patriotism and love of country will be your salvation. The decision is yours. Now, is the hour.

A Happy Demonstration

Some weeks ago, it was reported that Democrat chairman Steve Mitchell, the whipping boy for the leftists and other "liberal" elements who now control the party, was coming to Louisiana to collect funds for the Democrat campaign chest. In short, he was coming to receive Southern money with which he could help elect his political coterie as is and will be hand-picked by the present leaders of the party.

Mitchell made his appearance in Baton Rouge, supported by Frank Ellis who is thinking about running for the Senate against Senator Ellender. The story was carried far and wide and Mitchell lamented the fact that the Democrat party was penniless and needed cash. He also came to cement relations between the two factions, The meeting was erroneously reported to be a meeting of the Louisiana Democrat Central Committee which it wasn't as the Louisiana committee fails to go along with the political ideas held by the national leadership.

The result of the trip hardly paid for Mitchell's room and board in Baton Rouge. It is reported that in the fourth congressional district, for instance, the collections were supposed to have reached the astounding figure of 2000 dollars. To date, in that district there has been 65 dollars collected. Apparently, Southern people hate to see money paid to men who will not only not represent their interests, but denounce them at every turn.

Keep up the good work, Mr. Mitchell!!

Some Unfortunate Findings

The United States Senate is now about ready to vote on the passage of the Bricker proposal which would be a bare minimum necessity for the protection and the sovereignty of this republic. The bill has been denounced by every leftist, subversive, internationalist in this nation. Unfortunately, it has also been denounced by the Eisenhower administration for other reasons.

Presidents of past years, representatives of the executive departments, have always opposed the passage of any legislation which would lead to the curtailment of executive action concerning foreign policy. President Eisenhower has been showered with "information" by his close advisors, C. D. Jackson, Shanley, ex-Senator Lodge, ex-Governor Adams, and his own brother Milton. These people have apparently convinced the President that the Bricker proposal would ruin his position in foreign agreements and trade treaties as well as render the "United Nations" useless. It would not do any of these supposed things and would restore the "U. N." charter to its original meaning.

The President has received the ardent and enthusiastic support of Senators such as Lehman of New York, Humphries of Minnesota, Douglas of Illinois and other "liberal" stalwarts in the senate.

Supporting the Bricker proposal are apparently over fifty senators. Some have backed out of their original proposal but the "heat is on" from the grass roots and it is believed that the proposal will "sneak through." Congressman Passman advised the Morning World on Thursday morning that in his opinion, it stood a good chance to pass when it finally appears, although, it was early to tell.

The pressure on the Ohio Senator to modify his proposal has been terrible. However, he realizes that the proposal in its present form is only the barest minimum necessity to protect the constitution.

Now, the report comes to this newspaper that the "Citizens for Eisenhower" group, led by Walter Williams, an ardent internationalist, has "put the pressure" on numerous senators who were apparently told that unless they vote against the proposal, they will be defeated at the time of their reelection in the GOP primaries. Some members of this organization have asserted that the senators in question would not be treated as "friends," only "political antagonists" and in one case, it was reported that a Democrat would be supported in preference to a Republican.

Those who think the "Citizens for Eisenhower" group is a Republican organization are guilty of pipedreaming.

Who are some of the groups for the proposal? They include the American Legion, the Kiwanis International, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Bar Association, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Marine Corps League, the Catholic War Veterans, National Grange, the American Association of Small Business and other patriotic organizations. There are more than a hundred of such organizations standing solidly behind the proposal.

Now, who are some of the ones not supporting the proposal? They are in direct opposition to it and have spent thousands of dollars in such activity? The American Association for the United Nations, the Americans for Democratic Action, the Civil Rights Congress and other such organizations. Don't fail to include the United World Federalists, and the Atlantic Union committee. Some of the supporters strong against the proposal include the great old lady of internationalism, Eleanor Roosevelt, the honorary queen of the "United Nations" who has never yet failed to support the "United Nations" over this nation. There is also Senator Hubert Humphries of Minnesota, whose ideas are well known and do not include the concept of his own nation before others and do not include the idea of free enterprise and a sound American economy over the Social state. There is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who has been termed as "too wild" by even some of the leftists. The list is long. It includes "great names" in internationalism. Are these the people who are ready to stand pat in defense of their nation over the others and they include the Communist Russians?

At this moment, the "United Nations" law is supreme law due to the simple fact that it is treaty law. Due to the fact that it is treaty law, it is domestic law and it effects your daily lives. The Bricker proposal is under terrible fire by every internationalist, every one worlder and every left winger in the nation. Apparently, these forces have been able to convince the President that the Bricker proposal is wrong.

The Bricker proposal is the very minimum necessity for the protection of the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Unless it is passed, the gates will be opened and gradually, the United States will be reduced to a mere state within a world state. At this time, every American citizen who has an ounce of patriotism in his bones should stand wholeheartedly behind the proposal to plug a dangerous loophole in the laws of the land.

The Bricker proposal deserves your support.

A Talk, About A Talk— To Have A Talk—About A Talk!

This amazing and curious situation exists both in Panmunjom and in the former German capitol at Berlin. The "peace" conferences are now attempting to have a conference to see if they can get together and plan a conference about talks which will result in a peace treaty and a decision.

On Thursday morning, the Americans, disgusted with the Russian attitude, and apparent disregard for the rights and privileges of the Western delegates, gave up. The head of the Panmunjom delegation, also disgusted, gave up last week, but assigned the onerous task of "talking" with the Communists to his subordinates. All have since returned.

The Russians, pleased at the prospect of having another propaganda weapon, leaped right into the proposed atomic talks and the German peace treaty conferences. However, as was assumed by many observers, they entered the conferences not to make decisions which would help restore peace to the world, but which would harry the West and would afford great propaganda advantage. If the Russians sincerely wanted peace, they could make immediate and lasting decisions. Having a conference with these people never changes.

One cannot deal with gangsters and murderers on their own terms. They, like the Russians, know only force and they show respect only if a club is held over their heads. No club as yet, is in existence, at least, not one bigger than the present Russian club.

So it will be a talk to have a talk about a talk which will it is hoped, result in a talk.

Senator Ellender And The Bricker Proposal

In a telephone conversation on Friday, it was learned by the Morning World from Senator Allen Ellender's office that the Senator was foursquare behind the Bricker proposal. It is not as yet known how his colleague stands on that particular issue, although it is hoped that Russell B. Long can overcome his internationalism enough to back a sound and sane proposal endorsed by over one hundred patriotic organizations.

On certain issues, this newspaper has disagreed with the Senator Ellender. In one particular case, concerning the McCarthy issue, the Senator was somewhat misquoted by the eager press hounds in the national capitol ever ready to denounce McCarthy and gain support for their views from other officials and prominent people.

Senator Ellender was one of the original sponsors of the Bricker proposal and his name stands at top of the list in strong support of the amendment. Louisiana's delegation has at least two men who on this issue, were certainly not swayed by the internationalists and the one worlders. They are Congressman Passman and Senator Ellender, both of whom are solidly behind the proposal. There apparently is a game among the Washington correspondents to see actually how badly they can misquote a public figure.

Senator Ellender was again misquoted concerning the "investigation" he planned to make concerning the coffee issue. He merely suggested that someone ought to investigate the situation and he might be the one. He never, as it was reported, planned to set up an investigating committee on the deal, nor did he, as it was also reported, plan to denounce the coffee industry. Washington misquotes are famous all over the nation and they continually result in placing men in and out of high office, in extremely embarrassing positions.

This newspaper feels that the Senator was misquoted on two occasions in the last two weeks. That is too high an average. It also feels that the Senator should be congratulated on his firm stand in support of Senate joint resolution number one, of the proposal submitted by Senator Bricker and his collegues in support of amending the constitution to plug a dangerous loophole.

Our Heritage

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Please permit me to send my personal commendations and appreciation for your valuable editorial contributions to the moral and spiritual life of this area. In a time when, despite the great and apparent need of turning to God and righteous living, there are so many forces either directly or indirectly attempting to undermine and further corrupt our moral and religious consciousness, it is quite refreshing and encouraging to find those who are exerting painstaking effort to protect and promote our heritage of the intangible, the principle that man is primarily spirit and not flesh.

Your editorial of Jan. 22 relating to indecent movies was most timely. Obviously, the cause of righteousness is more effectively advanced when such expressions come from our lay leaders as well as from our pulpits.

Agronsky, McCarthy Are Both Americans

Monroe, Louisiana

Editor, Morning World:

I read your editorial regularly and though I frequently disagree, I nearly always enjoy them. Let me thank you for this pleasure. Something has been on my mind for some time that I will write now.

On rare occasions I hear Martin Agronsky, as you do, since you have described his tone of voice accurately. I must say that I have never heard him use such invective against Senator McCarthy as you use daily when writing of those who think differently from yourself, Agronsky included. I am sure you will agree that it is his privilege, as an American, to disagree with the Senator and if it were not, this would no longer be America. Neither Agronsky, nor McCarthy, nor you, nor I have a monopoly on patriotism. Our flag is just as much the property of one as it is the others. What seems the most loyal course to you may not seem so to others but that in no way is a reflection on their loyalty. Both these men are Americans and that in itself is at least some tribute. Even you have never accused either of being disloyal.

This would be a bad country if each person had to think exactly the same as all others. Disagreement should not be the cause of invective or name-calling for these things cause hatreds, no matter where it comes from. Instead, why not promote harmony at home and reserve all our hatreds for foreign enemies? A split America would be a sitting duck for the Russian mobsters.

The Other Side Of The Farm Picture

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I am always very interested in your editorials and feel that you have always had a policy of giving a fair statement of both sides of a case.

For this reason, I am enclosing a reply to an editorial in your Sunday paper and hope you will see fit to print it on your editorial page this Sunday.

In an editorial in the Monroe Morning World, dated January 17, 1954, entitled McCarthy, Ellender, Eisenhower - 'Down on the Farm,' a strong case was made for the flexible farm price program and the implication was that McCarthy and Ellender were not putting their country's interest first while the president had placed common sense above political sense. No one, of course, questions the motives of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. This does not alter the fact however, that there is another side of the picture and in fairness to some cotton farmers who do not believe that flexible supports are the answer and to the American tax payers who foot the bills, I feel other support plans deserve a hearing.

Let us first consider those who believe that 90 per cent parity should be the loan price on cotton. Those who favor a continuation of 90 per cent parity loans on cotton are convinced that cotton plays such a small part in the cost of a finished product that dropping the loan price to 75 per cent of parity by use of a sliding scale would not appreciably affect consumption. They also believe that products which are competitors of cotton such as rayon and other synthetics will not let themselves be priced out of the market by reducing the loan on cotton from 90 per cent to 75 per cent parity. This is a net reduction of only 15 per cent. The proponents of 90 per cent parity know that without controls, farmers would increase their planting to keep their income the same, no matter what the loan was. They feel too that, with the present price of things a cotton farmer has to buy, and acreage restriction, living standards will fall dangerously low without reducing the loan on cotton. Lastly a 15 per cent reduction in loans would not regain the foreign market in the face of the difference of living standards between American and foreign agricultural workers.

The answer, the advocates of the fixed loan rate feel is not to be found in varying prices within a small limit, but in bringing production and consumption into line. If this is done no less would be entailed by the government which would liquidate loan cotton at 90 per cent parity as demand and supply equalized.

A large segment of the cotton growers, cotton merchants, and business men of the south, neither favor the fixed loan rate nor the sliding scale of parity. They are completely sold on the two price systems which would have a fixed loan value on cotton to be sold in the domestic market and no support on cotton growth for export.

Such a system would regain much of our foreign market which has been lost. Secretary Benson in fact was favorable to this plan until it was torpedoed by the state department which said a two price system would be hard on the economy of other cotton producing countries.

It would seem that it was more important to protect farmers in Brazil and Mexico than those in the U. S. A. The fact was overlooked that foreign consumers of cotton would have been helped by lower prices.

Actually such a system would force a world cotton agreement to divide the world cotton market and that would have been too fair to American cotton growers and foreign producers. At present the American farmer must either give his cotton away at the tax payer's expense or sit on it. Naturally the state department couldn't favor a plan to sell something competitively instead of giving it away, so the two price system fell by the wayside.

Therefore, let us not say that Ellender and McCarthy were representing their constituents at the expense of the tax payer. Fundamentally they were following what they believed to be the best interests of the American people.

Disgraceful Advertising

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

It is a shame and disgrace to have before the public of today an advertisement such as this!

The business world is founded on advertisements but this type ad is such that it is detrimental to America.

The class people who attend movies such as these could do with a simple, "adults only" at ——drive in tonight, and get the satisfaction that they want without your paper printing such trash.

The propaganda that Russia transmits could not have a worse effect on America's youth than this type in print.

I realize that you have no control over the class movies shown in Monroe, but you do have control over the press.

Suspended Police Officers

Monroe, Louisiana

Editor, Morning World:

The policy of suspending police officers before charges preferred against them have been substantiated through proper procedures of any grand jury or open court is questioned by all fair-minded citizens. No one is able to reconcile the action taken in the cases of Detectives McBride and Van with the action taken in the case of Dr. French, Ouachita Parish coroner, who has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a narcotics charge.

Dr. French has not been removed from office, has not made public any contention of the grand jury's finding and he has suffered no loss of professional or political prestige. Usually in cases like the Coroner's, the indicted public official immediately resigns his office out of deference to the responsibilities of his office and to signify integrity on his part.

The only conclusion that can be considered in Dr. French's case is that despite the indictment the Coroner feels that a citizen is innocent until he is proved guilty.

Any mitigating circumstances deemed justifiable in the case of Dr. French certainly are applicable in the cases of Detectives Van and McBride.

Our system of jurisprudence also insures that all citizens are equal under the law both with respect to protection of the law and prosecution by those citizens elected or appointed to enforce the law.

The situation demands immediate official explanation.

On Patriotic Newspapers

Frank Chodorov:

Your remarks about individualist papers across the country, in Human Events of Jan. 13, gave me the idea that some day a fairly complete list of such papers should be drawn up and published.

For instance, your readers and all other patriots ought to know that the Monroe Morning World and Monroe News-Star, Monroe, La. is one of the best papers in the country. Its editorials (recently on Bricker Amendment etc.) are as good as anything I've come across, and its columns (Sokolsky, Pegler, Lewis, Jr., etc.) are stimulating. The paper is beautifully made and printed in most dignified fashion.

Many other papers immediately come to mind. Offhand, I'd recommend:

The Borger News Herald, Borger, Texas. Charleston News & Courier (S. C.). Charlotte Observer (N. C.). Los Angeles Herald & Express. Patriot-News, Harrisburg, Pa. Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Washington. Tulsa Tribune, Tulsa, Okla.

I think Human Events would be of great service in compiling the proper list, with the help of its more expert readers.

New Deal Was Only Half American

Hebert, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Who is responsible for this racial problem any way and where was it born? Let us illustrate the New Deal. What was it? Was it new? Let us be sure of our facts. Did the New Deal step beyond that which was clearly stated and basically intended by the authors of the Constitution?

It was once referred to as belonging to the horse and buggy days by none other than the head of the New Deal party himself.

Was the New Deal wholly American or was it wholly Communist? The answer is simple. It was neither. It wormed its way between the two. There was in it enough Americanism not to be Communism and enough of Communism in it not to be American.

For decades smart professors have been teaching their students that morals are just the fashions of the people, that what is right in one age is wrong in the next. For decades they have been teaching that all morals are man-made and as men change their morals must change with them. For ages they have been teaching that the moral principals of Jesus Christ may have been good enough for our fathers but they are not good enough for us.

The Communists are like a cancer; murderers of the Constitution.

Now we see what the Constitution says about these professors. Eternal moral principles in the Constitution: that moral truth does not change; that it is the same in one age as in another. In so doing they are reaching beyond the Constitution and striking at the central principles of Christ which are endorsed and upheld by the Constitution. While we keep tabs on those who smear "Old Glory". We must also guard against those who contribute to our betrayal by failing in their obligations as citizens!

It is not fair simply to criticize our public officials. We must help them and stomp the Communists!

An Hour Of Decision

Today, there is a concerted attack on the morals of this nation. The attack comes from many sources and the record of success made already is a foreteller of destruction. The newspapers and other means of public information dissemination record the disintegration of moral codes each day in the story of juvenile delinquency, attacks on women, stabbings, shootings, dope addictions, and other extremely dangerous and significant things which would help ruin the nation.

One of the worst afflictions coming into prominence is the narcotics addiction not only among the adult population, but among the young Americans on whom this nation clearly depends for its safe future. The dope is coming into the states from its main source, the Communist China mainland. The Communist Chinese know the great value of dope as a weapon of war as they witnessed the startling effects of such action as practiced by the Japanese on their own people. That dope is being used as a weapon of war now is written in the records of the Treasury Department of the United States. Dope does not exclude all forms of narcotics which will dull the mind.

The American people have yet to awaken to the fact that this nation is at war. It is fighting for its life, in a death grip with the forces of a godless materialistic philosophy which seeks at every chance to choke the life out of this great land of liberty. Not only does the militant philosophy seek to destroy this nation, it seeks to destroy the belief in God held by all Christians, Jews and Mohammedans. If it can succeed in a severe attack on the belief in God, thus a promulgate disintegration of moral law, it will render the nation helpless.

One of the greatest efforts at this endeavor is through the spread of narcotics addiction. Narcotics addiction ruins the power to think, to act with the mind given to the human by his Maker. It is one of the main roots of destruction of public morals today. The war is being waged by the forces of Marxism directed by the Russian Bolsheviks with every tool at their disposal. Combined with them are their allies, their stooges, dupes and those who are being blackmailed into support of Marxism.

The American people find it hard to deal with an enemy which uses American law and the United States bill of rights to destroy this nation. They find it hard to deal with an unseen enemy which fights the fight of the gutters and the sewers, never fighting the good fight. Americans respect clean fighting and an honest belief. Therefore they should recognize the forces of dialectical materialism for what they are. They should realize that by every means (and they are manifold), at their command, these people are attempting to destroy the power of the United States.

Dialectical theory does not regard honor as a force. It does not regard anything but necessity as a means of success. It deals in cold logic without regard to principle or honor. Therefore, Marxists do not regard the necessity of religion. As a matter of fact, they regard religion as an unnecessary evil. "It should be destroyed," holds the Marxist and the record bears out his idea. Wherever the Marxists have taken control, religion is suppressed and made to fit into the collectivist thinking and pattern.

The hour of decision is indeed here. Unless the American people recognize that they are in a war, a war of no declaration, but all the same, a deadly and costly war, they will be destroyed as were other free peoples who failed to realize their peril in time. The list is long. For years, the American people were led to believe that the Communists were "innocent, democratic" thinkers. They know better now, but they still regard them as people with whom they can deal at the conference table and as diplomats.

Never before in the history of the United States were the people so wrong. Again, the record bears out this statement. Would a civilized, honorable leadership murder and pillage millions of innocent people simply because they disagreed with a national program? Would an honorable leadership deliberately and in cold blood murder the cream of the Polish officer corps because they knew the men represented a threat to their own imperalistic designs?

Would an honorable leadership capture and hold innocent men and women as pawns in a great international blackmail scandal? Would an honorable leadership march its forces against a peaceful republic? No, you know otherwise.

You are not dealing with honorable men, you are dealing with pirates and thieves of an order never seen in the history of the world. They are thieves and murderers on a scale as never believed possible, so large as not easily to be comprehended by a nation of people and they have penetrated by their own efforts and the stupidity of the American people, to the heights of this government. They are accepted as something which they are not. They use every treacherous means at their command and should never be treated as anything but pirates and bandits. They are in no sense of the word, diplomats and businessmen.

Until the American people can begin to realize the true extent of their peril, they will be in great danger. Even after they realize the peril, they will still be in danger, but will be able to cope with the situation as a united people. As in other days, the United States needs a million minute men, all ready to march against their nation's redcoat enemies with all the power at their command. The Marxists are determined to pervert the nation's morals, to ruin the religion of God. America needs the minute men of today, fearless fighters, Christian soldiers who will stand ready to fight the forces of degeneracy and immorality. The Chinese dope weapon is merely one example of what you are against.

This is the hour of decision. Your future clearly depends on its outcome.

Your strength in God and His laws, your patriotism and love of country will be your salvation. The decision is yours. Now, is the hour.

A Happy Demonstration

Some weeks ago, it was reported that Democrat chairman Steve Mitchell, the whipping boy for the leftists and other "liberal" elements who now control the party, was coming to Louisiana to collect funds for the Democrat campaign chest. In short, he was coming to receive Southern money with which he could help elect his political coterie as is and will be hand-picked by the present leaders of the party.

Mitchell made his appearance in Baton Rouge, supported by Frank Ellis who is thinking about running for the Senate against Senator Ellender. The story was carried far and wide and Mitchell lamented the fact that the Democrat party was penniless and needed cash. He also came to cement relations between the two factions, The meeting was erroneously reported to be a meeting of the Louisiana Democrat Central Committee which it wasn't as the Louisiana committee fails to go along with the political ideas held by the national leadership.

The result of the trip hardly paid for Mitchell's room and board in Baton Rouge. It is reported that in the fourth congressional district, for instance, the collections were supposed to have reached the astounding figure of 2000 dollars. To date, in that district there has been 65 dollars collected. Apparently, Southern people hate to see money paid to men who will not only not represent their interests, but denounce them at every turn.

Keep up the good work, Mr. Mitchell!!

Some Unfortunate Findings

The United States Senate is now about ready to vote on the passage of the Bricker proposal which would be a bare minimum necessity for the protection and the sovereignty of this republic. The bill has been denounced by every leftist, subversive, internationalist in this nation. Unfortunately, it has also been denounced by the Eisenhower administration for other reasons.

Presidents of past years, representatives of the executive departments, have always opposed the passage of any legislation which would lead to the curtailment of executive action concerning foreign policy. President Eisenhower has been showered with "information" by his close advisors, C. D. Jackson, Shanley, ex-Senator Lodge, ex-Governor Adams, and his own brother Milton. These people have apparently convinced the President that the Bricker proposal would ruin his position in foreign agreements and trade treaties as well as render the "United Nations" useless. It would not do any of these supposed things and would restore the "U. N." charter to its original meaning.

The President has received the ardent and enthusiastic support of Senators such as Lehman of New York, Humphries of Minnesota, Douglas of Illinois and other "liberal" stalwarts in the senate.

Supporting the Bricker proposal are apparently over fifty senators. Some have backed out of their original proposal but the "heat is on" from the grass roots and it is believed that the proposal will "sneak through." Congressman Passman advised the Morning World on Thursday morning that in his opinion, it stood a good chance to pass when it finally appears, although, it was early to tell.

The pressure on the Ohio Senator to modify his proposal has been terrible. However, he realizes that the proposal in its present form is only the barest minimum necessity to protect the constitution.

Now, the report comes to this newspaper that the "Citizens for Eisenhower" group, led by Walter Williams, an ardent internationalist, has "put the pressure" on numerous senators who were apparently told that unless they vote against the proposal, they will be defeated at the time of their reelection in the GOP primaries. Some members of this organization have asserted that the senators in question would not be treated as "friends," only "political antagonists" and in one case, it was reported that a Democrat would be supported in preference to a Republican.

Those who think the "Citizens for Eisenhower" group is a Republican organization are guilty of pipedreaming.

Who are some of the groups for the proposal? They include the American Legion, the Kiwanis International, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Bar Association, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Marine Corps League, the Catholic War Veterans, National Grange, the American Association of Small Business and other patriotic organizations. There are more than a hundred of such organizations standing solidly behind the proposal.

Now, who are some of the ones not supporting the proposal? They are in direct opposition to it and have spent thousands of dollars in such activity? The American Association for the United Nations, the Americans for Democratic Action, the Civil Rights Congress and other such organizations. Don't fail to include the United World Federalists, and the Atlantic Union committee. Some of the supporters strong against the proposal include the great old lady of internationalism, Eleanor Roosevelt, the honorary queen of the "United Nations" who has never yet failed to support the "United Nations" over this nation. There is also Senator Hubert Humphries of Minnesota, whose ideas are well known and do not include the concept of his own nation before others and do not include the idea of free enterprise and a sound American economy over the Social state. There is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who has been termed as "too wild" by even some of the leftists. The list is long. It includes "great names" in internationalism. Are these the people who are ready to stand pat in defense of their nation over the others and they include the Communist Russians?

At this moment, the "United Nations" law is supreme law due to the simple fact that it is treaty law. Due to the fact that it is treaty law, it is domestic law and it effects your daily lives. The Bricker proposal is under terrible fire by every internationalist, every one worlder and every left winger in the nation. Apparently, these forces have been able to convince the President that the Bricker proposal is wrong.

The Bricker proposal is the very minimum necessity for the protection of the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Unless it is passed, the gates will be opened and gradually, the United States will be reduced to a mere state within a world state. At this time, every American citizen who has an ounce of patriotism in his bones should stand wholeheartedly behind the proposal to plug a dangerous loophole in the laws of the land.

The Bricker proposal deserves your support.

A Talk, About A Talk— To Have A Talk—About A Talk!

This amazing and curious situation exists both in Panmunjom and in the former German capitol at Berlin. The "peace" conferences are now attempting to have a conference to see if they can get together and plan a conference about talks which will result in a peace treaty and a decision.

On Thursday morning, the Americans, disgusted with the Russian attitude, and apparent disregard for the rights and privileges of the Western delegates, gave up. The head of the Panmunjom delegation, also disgusted, gave up last week, but assigned the onerous task of "talking" with the Communists to his subordinates. All have since returned.

The Russians, pleased at the prospect of having another propaganda weapon, leaped right into the proposed atomic talks and the German peace treaty conferences. However, as was assumed by many observers, they entered the conferences not to make decisions which would help restore peace to the world, but which would harry the West and would afford great propaganda advantage. If the Russians sincerely wanted peace, they could make immediate and lasting decisions. Having a conference with these people never changes.

One cannot deal with gangsters and murderers on their own terms. They, like the Russians, know only force and they show respect only if a club is held over their heads. No club as yet, is in existence, at least, not one bigger than the present Russian club.

So it will be a talk to have a talk about a talk which will it is hoped, result in a talk.

Senator Ellender And The Bricker Proposal

In a telephone conversation on Friday, it was learned by the Morning World from Senator Allen Ellender's office that the Senator was foursquare behind the Bricker proposal. It is not as yet known how his colleague stands on that particular issue, although it is hoped that Russell B. Long can overcome his internationalism enough to back a sound and sane proposal endorsed by over one hundred patriotic organizations.

On certain issues, this newspaper has disagreed with the Senator Ellender. In one particular case, concerning the McCarthy issue, the Senator was somewhat misquoted by the eager press hounds in the national capitol ever ready to denounce McCarthy and gain support for their views from other officials and prominent people.

Senator Ellender was one of the original sponsors of the Bricker proposal and his name stands at top of the list in strong support of the amendment. Louisiana's delegation has at least two men who on this issue, were certainly not swayed by the internationalists and the one worlders. They are Congressman Passman and Senator Ellender, both of whom are solidly behind the proposal. There apparently is a game among the Washington correspondents to see actually how badly they can misquote a public figure.

Senator Ellender was again misquoted concerning the "investigation" he planned to make concerning the coffee issue. He merely suggested that someone ought to investigate the situation and he might be the one. He never, as it was reported, planned to set up an investigating committee on the deal, nor did he, as it was also reported, plan to denounce the coffee industry. Washington misquotes are famous all over the nation and they continually result in placing men in and out of high office, in extremely embarrassing positions.

This newspaper feels that the Senator was misquoted on two occasions in the last two weeks. That is too high an average. It also feels that the Senator should be congratulated on his firm stand in support of Senate joint resolution number one, of the proposal submitted by Senator Bricker and his collegues in support of amending the constitution to plug a dangerous loophole.

The Other Side Of The Farm Picture

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I am always very interested in your editorials and feel that you have always had a policy of giving a fair statement of both sides of a case.

For this reason, I am enclosing a reply to an editorial in your Sunday paper and hope you will see fit to print it on your editorial page this Sunday.

In an editorial in the Monroe Morning World, dated January 17, 1954, entitled McCarthy, Ellender, Eisenhower - 'Down on the Farm,' a strong case was made for the flexible farm price program and the implication was that McCarthy and Ellender were not putting their country's interest first while the president had placed common sense above political sense. No one, of course, questions the motives of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. This does not alter the fact however, that there is another side of the picture and in fairness to some cotton farmers who do not believe that flexible supports are the answer and to the American tax payers who foot the bills, I feel other support plans deserve a hearing.

Let us first consider those who believe that 90 per cent parity should be the loan price on cotton. Those who favor a continuation of 90 per cent parity loans on cotton are convinced that cotton plays such a small part in the cost of a finished product that dropping the loan price to 75 per cent of parity by use of a sliding scale would not appreciably affect consumption. They also believe that products which are competitors of cotton such as rayon and other synthetics will not let themselves be priced out of the market by reducing the loan on cotton from 90 per cent to 75 per cent parity. This is a net reduction of only 15 per cent. The proponents of 90 per cent parity know that without controls, farmers would increase their planting to keep their income the same, no matter what the loan was. They feel too that, with the present price of things a cotton farmer has to buy, and acreage restriction, living standards will fall dangerously low without reducing the loan on cotton. Lastly a 15 per cent reduction in loans would not regain the foreign market in the face of the difference of living standards between American and foreign agricultural workers.

The answer, the advocates of the fixed loan rate feel is not to be found in varying prices within a small limit, but in bringing production and consumption into line. If this is done no less would be entailed by the government which would liquidate loan cotton at 90 per cent parity as demand and supply equalized.

A large segment of the cotton growers, cotton merchants, and business men of the south, neither favor the fixed loan rate nor the sliding scale of parity. They are completely sold on the two price systems which would have a fixed loan value on cotton to be sold in the domestic market and no support on cotton growth for export.

Such a system would regain much of our foreign market which has been lost. Secretary Benson in fact was favorable to this plan until it was torpedoed by the state department which said a two price system would be hard on the economy of other cotton producing countries.

It would seem that it was more important to protect farmers in Brazil and Mexico than those in the U. S. A. The fact was overlooked that foreign consumers of cotton would have been helped by lower prices.

Actually such a system would force a world cotton agreement to divide the world cotton market and that would have been too fair to American cotton growers and foreign producers. At present the American farmer must either give his cotton away at the tax payer's expense or sit on it. Naturally the state department couldn't favor a plan to sell something competitively instead of giving it away, so the two price system fell by the wayside.

Therefore, let us not say that Ellender and McCarthy were representing their constituents at the expense of the tax payer. Fundamentally they were following what they believed to be the best interests of the American people.

Disgraceful Advertising

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

It is a shame and disgrace to have before the public of today an advertisement such as this!

The business world is founded on advertisements but this type ad is such that it is detrimental to America.

The class people who attend movies such as these could do with a simple, "adults only" at ——drive in tonight, and get the satisfaction that they want without your paper printing such trash.

The propaganda that Russia transmits could not have a worse effect on America's youth than this type in print.

I realize that you have no control over the class movies shown in Monroe, but you do have control over the press.

Suspended Police Officers

Monroe, Louisiana

Editor, Morning World:

The policy of suspending police officers before charges preferred against them have been substantiated through proper procedures of any grand jury or open court is questioned by all fair-minded citizens. No one is able to reconcile the action taken in the cases of Detectives McBride and Van with the action taken in the case of Dr. French, Ouachita Parish coroner, who has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a narcotics charge.

Dr. French has not been removed from office, has not made public any contention of the grand jury's finding and he has suffered no loss of professional or political prestige. Usually in cases like the Coroner's, the indicted public official immediately resigns his office out of deference to the responsibilities of his office and to signify integrity on his part.

The only conclusion that can be considered in Dr. French's case is that despite the indictment the Coroner feels that a citizen is innocent until he is proved guilty.

Any mitigating circumstances deemed justifiable in the case of Dr. French certainly are applicable in the cases of Detectives Van and McBride.

Our system of jurisprudence also insures that all citizens are equal under the law both with respect to protection of the law and prosecution by those citizens elected or appointed to enforce the law.

The situation demands immediate official explanation.

On Patriotic Newspapers

Frank Chodorov:

Your remarks about individualist papers across the country, in Human Events of Jan. 13, gave me the idea that some day a fairly complete list of such papers should be drawn up and published.

For instance, your readers and all other patriots ought to know that the Monroe Morning World and Monroe News-Star, Monroe, La. is one of the best papers in the country. Its editorials (recently on Bricker Amendment etc.) are as good as anything I've come across, and its columns (Sokolsky, Pegler, Lewis, Jr., etc.) are stimulating. The paper is beautifully made and printed in most dignified fashion.

Many other papers immediately come to mind. Offhand, I'd recommend:

The Borger News Herald, Borger, Texas. Charleston News & Courier (S. C.). Charlotte Obsever (N. C.). Los Angeles Herald & Express. Patriot-News, Harrisburg, Pa. Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Washington. Tulsa Tribune, Tulsa, Okla.

I think Human Events would be of great service in compiling the proper list, with the help of its more expert readers.

FELIX WITTMER

(Editor's Note—our appreciation to Mr. Wittmer, author of the new book "Yalta Betrayal" which is running serially in the Monroe News-Star, for releasing his personal letter to Mr. Frank Chodorov, editor of Human Events, for publication.)

New Deal Was Only Half American

Hebert, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Who is responsible for this racial problem any way and where was it born? Let us illustrate the New Deal. What was it? Was it new? Let us be sure of our facts. Did the New Deal step beyond that which was clearly stated and basically intended by the authors of the Constitution?

It was once referred to as belonging to the horse and buggy days by none other than the head of the New Deal party himself.

Was the New Deal wholly American or was it wholly Communist? The answer is simple. It was neither. It wormed its way between the two. There was in it enough Americanism not to be Communism and enough of Communism in it not to be American.

For decades smart professors have been teaching their students that morals are just the fashions of the people, that what is right in one age is wrong in the next. For decades they have been teaching that all morals are man-made and as men change their morals must change with them. For ages they have been teaching that the moral principals of Jesus Christ may have been good enough for our fathers but they are not good enough for us.

The Communists are like a cancer; murderers of the Constitution.

Now we see what the Constitution says about these professors. Eternal moral principles in the Constitution: that moral truth does not change; that it is the same in one age as in another. In so doing they are reaching beyond the Constitution and striking at the central principles of Christ which are endorsed and upheld by the Constitution. While we keep tabs on those who smear "Old Glory". We must also guard against those who contribute to our betrayal by failing in their obligations as citizens!

It is not fair simply to criticize our public officials. We must help them and stomp the Communists!

Issue Before Supreme Court In March

30 Million Consumers To Be Affected By Outcome Of Natural Gas Ruling

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 —UP— The Supreme Court's surprise agreement to define the scope of the Federal Power Commission's jurisdiction over natural gas was cause for jubilation in industry circles.

The court will hear oral arguments on the issue in March. A decision, affecting 30 million consumers, and 2,300 producers and handlers, is expected before summer adjournment.

"We are very pleased," John Ferguson, executive director of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America, told the United Press. "Ambiguous court decisions on the FPC's jurisdiction under the 1938 Natural Gas Act with respect to sales linked to producing and gathering have caused too much uncertainty and confusion.

"Vital questions remained unanswered, and only the Supreme Court can answer them."

Phillips Case Accepted

The court agreed on Monday to review a Philips Petroleum Co., petition challenging the FPC's right — which the agency still does not want — to fix prices at the well head, even though it is transported and sold in interstate commerce. Previously the tribunal had upheld a District of Columbia Appeals court decision that the FPC had to take on the job, however reluctantly.

The INGA, three other big oil and gas producing organizations, and Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Mississippi, North Dakota and Kansas, were allowed to intervene in the case last fall. This, plus the fact that the public's gas bills may get a jolt, apparently persuaded the court to do an about face.

The issue is simply this: Has the FPC the right to price gas at the well head, a strictly intrastate operation, even though the gas is sold in interstate commerce? The FPC said no, because it would infringe on state control bodies which it claims have that exclusive right.

An Appeal Court Rules

But the appeals court, on behalf of Wisconsin, the cities of Detroit, Kansas City, Mo., Milwaukee and Wayne County, Michigan, held that factors entering into production and sale of the gas made it an interstate operation and thus subject to FPC regulation.

This is where the consumers' future gas bills are at stake. Detroit, Kansas City and the other plaintiffs who want cheap gas for their citizens, asserted that their people are wide open to price-gouging until—and when — the FPC takes on the price-policing job.

The gas industry countered that, under FPC policing, there could be no assurance that gas producers, who fix their own well-head prices, would consent to sell to pipelines at prices fixed by the FPC.

Ferguson emphasized this.

"These producers might sell their gas locally, thus shutting off supplies to cities all over the country," he said. "Or they might simply close down their wells. No one would have the power to force them to produce. And none could be expected to operate at a loss, assuming the FPC price was not deemed reasonable."

A Competitive Business

Ferguson pointed out that the industry is now highly competitive. He said this has a tendency to keep prices in line. But under FPC regulation, he added, so many influencing factors would enter the picture the price structure might be destroyed.

The INGA represents 1900 producers, royalty owners, transporters and distributors in 43 states. Co-operating in its legal fight are the Independent Petroleum Association of America, 11,000 members; the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners, 4500 members, and the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association, interested primarily in Texas Panhandle production.

The powerful, 25-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission also is fighting the appeals court decision. At a recent meeting at Oklahoma City it said the ruling "would inevitably lead to complete federal regulation of production of natural gas and oil."

The commission chairman, Gov. Edward Arn of Kansas, said it raised a "threat to the entire petroleum industry" and "will lead to higher prices and less assurance of supplies for the public."

The much-pleased FPC commissioners are holding up all rulings on intrastate operations pending the Supreme Court Decision.

Four Alabama Boys Are Picked Up Here

Deputies of the Ouachita parish sheriff department apprehended four persons Saturday morning who had run away from their homes in Alabama with an automobile belonging to parents of one of the boys. They were turned over to the juvenile officer later the same morning.

Sheriff Bailey Grant identified one of the four as James Baker, 17, of Robinwood Station, a suburb of Birmingham, Ala. The others were all juveniles.

The four were picked up by Deputy Sheriffs J. R. Bell and J. T. Avery on a routine check of all cars.

Local Man Held On Charges Of Bigamy

The Ouachita parish sheriff department is holding a local man, Archie Murry, Jr., 22, on charges of bigamy, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday. The man is being held in the parish jail in default of a $750 bond.

Murry is also charged with contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

GOOD RECORD

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Despite old man weather's icy fingers this past week, rehearsals for the next Little Theatre production "Be Your Age" moved right along at a gratifying pace and director Thom Feuerstein couldn't hide his optimism over the prospects of his cast in this three act comedy.

Mrs. Robert Butz, whose attractive daughter, Genny, is a member of the cast of "Be Your Age," is getting her first taste of the working side of Little Theatre. She volunteered to gather all of the properties for the show.

Jerry Holzman, who was Mr. Jordan in "Heaven Can Wait" and also stage manager for "Dracula," is playing a new role this time. He is holding down the post of assistant to the director.

Phil Saragusa will be stage manager when the play opens on Thursday, February 4. Mrs. L. M. Brinson, who's son David is playing a football hero, has volunteered to do make-up for the show and with ten people in the cast, she has taken on a right nice sized job for her first fling in the business.

Designed To Cut Huge Accident Toll To A Minimum

Safety Construction Code Hailed By Builders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 —UP— Housing officials Saturday billed their forthcoming "safety construction code" as an "important milestone" in the home building industry.

They said the code, which will be published this spring, will cut the "shocking" number of home accidents to a "a minimum."

More than 30,000 persons are killed and more than four million injured every year in accidents in the home. And the toll has been mounting.

Officials said the code will include the "first practical safety standards" ever produced in this country. It embodies "the best thinking" of builders, architects and safety experts and has been under study for almost two years.

Officially the code is the product of the National Association of Home Builders, with 28,000 members, and the National Safety Council. But experts from related industries have been called in for consultation.

Publication of the code has been delayed by careful redrafting of the language. Originally it was expected last October.

The code will contain a "comprehensive check list to "guide" builders in construction of safer homes. It recognizes the builder as holding the "key role" in bringing safer homes to the nation.

Members of the NAHB already have pledged "voluntary compliance" with the code. Copies of the code will be distributed nationwide. Support of the code is counted upon by the NAHB as the most important ingredient in bringing the nation safer homes.

"With these new standards," the NAHB said, "home builders and architects for the first time will have a clear, simple and detailed guidepost by which they can readily build into their homes the safety which the public interest and the stature of their industry demands.

"Their effectiveness will depend upon the extent to which they are put into practice by every member of the industry."

Special attention is given in the code to safety factors that often are not considered. Among these are safety standards for outside the home — an area "too often overlooked" by builders and architects, according to the NAHB.

"Hilly or irregular home sites should be terraced or re-graded to a gentle slope and retaining walls, where needed, should be built as low as possible and should be topped by a fence or guard rail," the NAHB said.

"Terraced areas and retaining walls should be well lighted, and permanent, safe covers should be provided over all ground openings. Hedges, shrubbery or trees which hide driveways or prevent a clear view of the street should be removed."

The code also pays special attention to construction of bathrooms — "one of the deadliest parts of the house if not properly safeguarded."

"Non-skid floors and grab bars for tubs and showers are obvious precautions," the NAHB said. "But accidents also can be prevented with a little care in locating electrical switches and providing a lock for the medicine cabinet so that small children will not be able to get at poisons or harmful drugs."

More than 1,250 persons died of poisoning in American homes in 1952. Most of them were children.

1954 Packard Being Shown By Bastrop Dealer

Packard cars in this area are now being exhibited at the Northeast Louisiana Dealers Auto Sales Co., located in Bastrop, La. Mr. Tripp states that most of the models will be on display in his show rooms beginning this week end. Models on display include the new Panama, categorized as America's newest glamour car; the luxurious Packard Patrician; the new sports-type Caribbean; the Cavalier; the club sedan and super de luxe touring sedan.

Mr. Tripp stated that the cars shown will represent the wide range of colors offered by Packard for 1954. They are acclaimed the finest examples of Packard's ability to produce quality motor cars. Mr. Tripp stated that in his opinion they are the greatest of a long line of superb cars produced by Packard—backed by Packard's 55 year old tradition of craftsmanship. Luxury is Packard's theme for 1954 and every Packard in the auto show, stated Mr. Tripp, is an outstanding example of luxurious automobile transportation. There is no more glamorous automobile in production than the new Packard Caribbean, and no more luxurious car than the Packard Patrician. The low, lithe, lines of the Caribbean have a swank European look, and it is truly one of this year's smartest convertibles. It is rakish, modern in every detail, an American sports-type car offering the ultimate in luxurious automotive travel.

Most distinguished car in the auto show Packard exhibition is the Patrician. With its new 212-h.p. engine, in combination with all the features that make for driving and riding comfort, this car has the most luxurious interior ever offered by Packard—a great achievement in styling, design and basic engineering.

The new Panama is certain to attract wide attention. This car has built-in speed lines — the lines of a sports car. The new interior trim is finished in genuine leather and rich nylon. The instrument panel is a thing of beauty, and the whole ensemble is a superb example of Packard modern styling.

"Modernity is the keynote of all our models, and in all the years that Packard has been featured in auto shows, no finer cars have been exhibited," Tripp stated.

FAR EAST (FHTNC) — Here aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany is Richard C. McQuiston, aviation boatswain's mate airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. McQuiston of P. O. Box 249, Monroe, La.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (FHTNC)— Paul E. Trichel, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Trichel of Fairbanks, La., and husband of Mrs. Manillion A. Trichel of 3815 Earlham, San Diego, Calif., is serving aboard the repair ship USS Ajax.

KEY WEST, Fla. (FHTNC) — A new $1,700,000 Fleet Sonar School was commissioned here Jan. 14th by Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, USN, Commander-in-Chief, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. Completely air-conditioned and fireproof, the new school will provide the U. S. Navy with the most modern plant in the western world for the teaching of sonar and allied subjects.

Serving aboard the new school is James R. Edmonson, sonarman seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Edmonson of 605 Louisville Ave., Monroe, La.

Train Derailed By Car; Motorist Dies

EASTABOGA, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP)— A Southern Railway passenger train and a car collided here today, killing the automobile driver and derailing an express car of the train.

The highway patrol said no one was injured except the driver, William Harry Turner, 64, Eastaboga, Route 2, who was killed instantly. The baggage car was loaded and sealed without any crew members on it.

Hearing Feb. 4 On Hunter Nomination

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) — Chairman Langer (R-ND) of the Senate Judiciary Committee announced today a public hearing will be held Feb. 4 on President Eisenhower's nomination of Edwin F. Hunter Jr.

The President has nominated Hunter for U. S. district judge for the western Louisiana district.

Gershwin Music Fete Booked February 6

MARIO BRAGGIOTTI

The "Gershwin Festival" of music, Howard Lanin production being presented in a coast-to-coast tour, will appear in Monroe on February 6 at the Neville High School auditorium.

The Gershwin Concert Orchestra, playing throughout the tour, is conducted by Robert Zeller, young American conductor of the Sadler's Wells Ballet and the Ballet Theatre. The soloists who will appear are Carolyn Long, American soprano of concert, opera, radio and the Broadway musical stage; Calvin Marsh, young American baritone winner of the 1953 American Theatre Wing Concert Award, and Mario Braggiotti, famous pianist, member of the famous musical family and one of the former piano duo, Frey and Braggiotti.

Thirty virtuoso musicians recruited from New York's best symphony orchestras comprise the Gershwin Concert Orchestra, whose concertmaster is Anshel Brusilow, guest soloist this season at four performances of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

The "Gershwin Festival" program consists of: Gershwin Festival Prelude; Conerto in F; Selections from "Porgy and Bess"; An American in Paris; Cuban Overture; A Gershwin Scene; Rhapsody in Blue.

The idea of a Gershwin Festival presented on a nationwide basis originated with Howard Lanin, famous society orchestra leader and producer, in discussion with concert manager Andre Mertens. In 1953 they booked their first tour of the festival in nearly 100 cities in five months. It was heard by an audience totaling nearly half a million, in the biggest cities and in tank towns. They reasoned that school and college audiences particularly, and communities not having resident orchestras would delight in an entire program of the works of "America's Own Immortal," George Gershwin. Past present and future bookings prove they were right. Of the seventy-three concerts comprising the current tour, forty-seven take place in college and high school auditoriums.

Optical Concern Opened Here By Truman B. Flynn

Truman B. Flynn, who has been connected with another optical concern in Monroe for the past five years, has opened his own optical business at 310 Catalpa street, to be known as Flynn Optical Dispensary.

Mr. Flynn is a native of Monroe having lived here almost all his life except for five years spent in the military service.

He lives at 3306 Richmond street with his wife and five children.

He is superintendent of the intermediate department of Sunday school, president of the church brotherhood and a member of the choir of Central Baptist Church.

Recently, Mr. Flynn has become active in organization and extension service of Boy Scouts in Monroe.

Woman Injured By Crooner's Cadillac

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Jan 22 (AP)—Crooner Frank Sinatra's Cadillac collided with a small English car at an intersection today, injuring a woman driver.

Mrs. Myrna McCless, driver of the smaller car, was knocked unconscious when the impact threw her out of the car onto the pavement, police said. Sinatra was unhurt. Extent of Mrs. McCless' injuries were not known.

The singer said he made the stop at the intersection, looked both ways and saw no oncoming traffic. Officers quoted him as saying that the small car loomed in front of him all of a sudden.

George Sokolsky Winner Of Award

George E. Sokolsky, a columnist, lecturer and author of "These Days" which appears daily in the Morning World, has been named winner of the La Salle Collegian Award for "outstanding journalistic merit."

Sokolsky is regarded by many as one of the nation's best-informed experts on communism. He is one of the few American journalists who actually witnessed the Communist revolution in Russia in 1918.

After graduation from Columbia University in 1917 he edited an English language newspaper, The Russian Daily News, in Petrograd. Following the revolution he was forced to flee the country to escape the Bolsheviks.

He holds honorary degrees from Notre Dame University, The University of Montana and St. Bonaventure College. He is a director of the American Jewish League Against Communism. In 1950 and 1951 he was honored by the Freedoms Foundation.

Sokolsky will go to Philadelphia January 27 for the presentation of the award. A previous winner of the La Salle Collegian Award was Bob Considine, star reporter and columnist for International News Service.

Three Small Boys Perish In Fire

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 23—UP— Three small boys, left unattended for a short time in a house trailer, burned to death Friday.

Two were brothers, Stephen Paul Campbell, 2, and John Campbell, 3. The third victim was 18-month-old Edward Beardsley.

Mrs. Beardsley was at work. The fire occurred shortly after Mrs. Campbell went to another section of the north Topeka trailer court. The trailer was destroyed.

Health Board To Meet Monday P.M.

The Ouachita Parish health board will meet Monday at 1:30 p.m. on the roof of the Virginia Hotel.

All board members and interested citizens are urged to attend the meeting to hear Dr. Paul Cook, of the state health department speak.

Registration Slow In Bienville Parish

ARCADIA, Jan. 23. (Special)— Mrs. Pauline A. Sims, Bienville Parish registrar of voters, announced today that 2,134 people have registered in the parish to date.

The number is far short of the total voting strength of the parish, Mrs. Sims said.

The Bienville registrar will start registration in each town of the parish on February 1. Her itinerary calls for the following places on the following dates: Gibsland, Feb. 1-2; Ringgold, Feb. 3-4; Arcadia, Feb. 5-8. Mrs. Sims will be at the voting precincts of these places to accomodate the citizens who wish to register.

While she is making only the larger places at the present time she will make every precinct in the rural areas and the other towns of the parish in May on a schedule to be announced later.

Mrs. Sims said that the law requires that every person register to be entitled to vote if he has not done so since January 1, 1953.

Dried flowers can be dyed by moistening them slightly and shaking them in a paper bag with the desired dye shade.

America's Newest Medium-Priced Car!

Luxury at a lot less...because Packard builds it

A year ago the Packard CLIPPER was introduced as America's newest medium-priced car.

■ First, automobile men looked it over. Then reporters looked it over. Columnists looked it over. The motoring public looked it over —and the news started! And this was the news: "That's a lot of car for the money!"

■ And it was a lot of car for the money. And it is a lot of car for the money. Because Packard builds it. Packard-built quality is traditional in the automobile world.

So the news spread!

■ People all over America saw and drove this newest, and most glamorous addition to the medium-price field—and bought it.

■ People who had driven other makes for years switched to the new Packard CLIPPER. It was a fine year.

■ So for 1954 the new CLIPPER brings you fine-car luxuries, fine-car power, fine-car ride ... (the high-price features everybody wants) ... and yet at a popular, medium price!

■ We have built a finer car for '54 because experience in '53 proved that there are many thousands of Americans who want a true luxury car in the medium-price range.

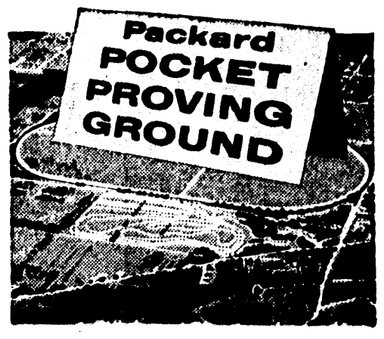
■ Most cars in the medium-price field are simply big brothers of smaller cars made by the same company. These cars may offer the modern gadgets and the smooth look of the big car, but in most cases their basic engineering and production is still small car engineering.

"Packard-built" makes the difference

■ No feature or claim will ever give you a more powerful reason for buying a CLIPPER than the name Packard.

■ You'll find the reason when you take command of a Packard CLIPPER and put it through its paces over a road of your own choosing.

■ You'll find luxury at a lot less in a CLIPPER.



Since you can't test the new Packard CLIPPER at the famous Packard Proving Ground, get the story, fact by fact, on the pocket proving ground at your dealer's. But don't stop there! For the real thrill, drive a CLIPPER. M-13WAB

3,000 Mothers To March On Polio In This Parish

Six thousand marching feet will stir over Ouachita Parish porches in an all out attempt to stamp out polio.

Three thousand mothers will knock on doors in every town, hamlet, village and farm house in Ouachita Parish this coming Friday night.

Volunteers desiring to help on Friday, January 29 have been requested to call polio headquarters at 3-9171.

Citizens in this parish have been requested to light their porch with "a light, a candle, lantern, flashlight — anything that gives light."

Beth Breese, Parish Chairman of the Mothers March on Polio says: "If you don't have a light, tie a shoe on the door knob, a handkerchief or a note signifying your desire to contribute to Mothers March.'

Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Community Chairman of the march stated that last year around two thousand mothers and volunteers participated in the event. "This year we will have at least three thousand mothers and volunteers knocking on doors," she stated.

"The fringe areas of Ouachita Parish will be definitely covered this year, Mrs. Stevens remarked.

She added: "In the event your home is missed, you may call the polio headquarters, telephone number 3-9171 to request an emergency pick-up of your donation."

Very carefully planned and coordinated will be the house to house canvass. Working in teams of two, the mothers will have to knock on only ten to fifteen doors. Mrs. Stevens said that the drive will end promptly at 8 p.m.

All churches in Ouachita Parish will stress the Mothers March from the pulpits today.

"This year the mothers fight to stamp out polio may bring wonderful results. As you already know, the serum will be tested this summer. We are praying it will be successful. Perhaps, mothers may rest their minds from fears of of polio," Mrs. Breese said.

S. E. "Shadow" Holloway, Chairman of the Ouachita Parish March of Dimes Drives stated "The Mothers March on Polio is the climax to the polio drive. The community has been most cooperative this year. These final days of the campaign, especially the Mothers March, will largely determine the success or failure of the local drive."

Holloway concluded, We need a donation from every house in Ouachita Parish Friday night."

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—Tommy Neumann of Sondheimer was high man in the 1953 4-H corn production contest sponsored by the Louisiana State University agricultural extension service and the Chilean nitrate educational bureau.

Neumann, who took the top spot in the alluvial soil division of the contest, grew 126.3 bushels of corn on one acre, announced R. A. Wasson, extension service agronomist. The youngster's net profit is estimated at $184.11.

Winner in the upland division was Dannie Brabham of Kentwood whose yield of 75.8 bushels earned him $88.05.

Negro Sentenced To 10 Years For Shooting Officer

LIVINGSTON, La., Jan. 23—UP—A 23-year old Denham Springs Negro has been sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to an attempted murder charge in the near - fatal shooting of a night marshal here Jan. 10.

Sentenced was Frank Parker.

Marshal Charles Green was shot in the head with his own revolver as he investigated a reported disturbance of the peace.

Green was the object of another assault by another Negro, who pleaded innocent Friday of three counts of desperate attack against him.

Frank Rheams will be tried Feb. 5 on charges of disturbing the peace, carrying a concealed weapon and aggravated assault.

Cut Announced In Oil Allowable

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—State Conservation Commissioner John B. Hussey has announced a new cut of about 13,000 barrels from the January oil production allowable level, to a total of about 653,690 barrels for February.

Hussey said the reduction, which he predicted last week, was due to reduced market demand. It is the fourth in state production since last May.

The February production, by districts, is as follows: Houma, 146,653 barrels; Lafayette, 155,103; Lake Charles, 64,824; New Orleans 175,992; Monroe, 58,024; and Shreveport, 53,076.

PISTOL SALE BRINGS FINE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23—UP—Two men who sold a pistol used in a double slaying in the French Quarter on Nov. 3 have been fined $100. They were convicted of violating the city's firearms sale ordinance of selling a gun to a man without a permit. The men, who said they will appeal their sentence, are Michael Foto, 24, and Peter Combel, 26.

Roberts Given Two-Year Term In State Prison

Judge Jesse Heard sentenced one man to two years in the state prison at Angola and another to 30 days in the Ouachita Parish jail after the two entered guilty pleas in Fourth District court Friday. The sentences were meted out during criminal or misdemeanor day in court.

Sentenced to Angola was Jerry Roberts, who pleaded guilty to a forgery change. He was arrested earlier by the sheriff department.

John Knighten was sentenced to the parish jail after pleading guilty of theft of an auto.

Other action taken in court included:

John G. Traweek fined $300 and costs of court for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

William S. Futch, received a fine of $20 and costs of court for disturbing the peace.

Entering pleas of not guilty were Lloyd Whaley on two counts, both set for February 5; Eugene Wall, theft, set for Jan. 29; and Robert Smith, Jr., charged with theft, also set for Jan. 29.

Psychology 122 Will Be Offered At College Here

Psychology 122, which deals with the child and adolescent, has been added to the list of late afternoon and Saturday morning classes offered during the spring semester by Northeast State. The work is scheduled for the teacher training curriculum on the regular day program.

Enrollment is set for January 30. Students who are unable to register at that time may do so at the first regular class meeting on Wednesday, February 3. The class will be taught from 4:30 to 7 p.m. by Dr. Sageser of the psychology faculty at Northeast.

The course carries three semester hours of credit. It is being given at the request of several nurses who have just completed a special class dealing with introduction to psychology.

These registered nurses are working toward certificates which will entitle them to administrative positions in hospitals.

Lectures, discussions and movies will be combined in this study of developmental psychology. It will deal with the child from birth through adolescence.

Northeast is planning to extend the course offerings for nurses where they are needed in their training program. Requests are being steadily made for the college to render such a service to persons interested in the nursing profession.

FBI Still Checks Ranchman's Death

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—Reports of investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation have failed to turn up any indication of how Andrew McCall, 53 year old Colorado ranch foreman, met his death here about three months ago.

Sheriff Bryan Clemmons said the FBI was unable to determine the cause of death because of advanced decomposition of the man's body, which was found floating in the Mississippi River where authorities estimated it had been for about two months.

Sheriff Clemmons said his department is still checking "new leads' to the case.

Highway Employe Restored To Job

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—Shelby R. Burch of Mount Herman, a state highway equipment operator, was ordered restored to the job he lost allegedly for drinking on duty, after the Civil Service Commission held his dismissal was defective because it was retroactive.

Burch was fired Dec. 3. He did not receive a dismissal notice until Dec. 7.

The Highway Department was reminded that an employe must be given detailed reasons for removal before or at the time of dismissal.

Rogers Director Of Franklin Bank

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23. (Special)—At a recent meeting of the stockholders, Dr. Hollis T. Rogers, local civic leader, M. D., farmer, and business man, was named as a member of the board of directors of the Franklin State Bank and Trust Co.

Dr. Rogers is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Rogers. He is owner and operator of Rogers clinic and serving this year as president of the Winnsboro Business Men's Association.

Other officials of the Franklin State Bank and Trust Co., include:

Directors — B. I. Berry, H. W. Gilbert, J. A. Harper, N. L. Hower, D. R. Knight, Leo Lowentritt, Bailey Martin, J. W. McLemore and B. D. Pardue.

Officers — N. L. Hower, chairman of the board; Bailey Martin, president; H. W. Gilbert, vice-president; Leo Lowentritt, vice-president; T. Fay Walter, vice - president; Phil Duncan, cashier, and J. Gordon Mitchell, Jr., manager of Winner branch.

Greased Pig Runs Wild In Dorm Of Co-Eds At LSU

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—A well-greased "adolescent pig," looking very "emotionally disturbed," suffered brief freedom in a girl's dormitory at Louisiana State University before being relegated to the agriculture department.

Pre-examination pranksters put the perturbed porker in a paper poke and deposited it in the door of Evangeline Hall. The girls, delighted but dismayed, turned it loose.

Miss Virginia Green, the resident counsellor, said she felt sorrier for the pig than for the girls.

"He was such an adolescent pig, and so tiny. And he looked so emotionally disturbed!"

Louisiana Cow Bears Triplets

AMITE, La., Jan. 23 UP—A hereford cow here has accomplished something 100,000 others will never do. She gave birth to triplets this week.

Bred by artificial insemination with a Louisiana State University brahma as sire, the calves—two of them heifers—are doing fine. So is the mother, owned by the Ivy Miller farm.

Specialists at the LSU College of Agriculture said triplet calves occur about one in every 100,000.

Veterinary Meet Set For Feb. 3

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—Enemy agents, smuggled into this country during wartime, could start epidemics of diseases among cattle herds.

This cloak-and-dagger subject will be one of many to be discussed at the 23rd annual veterinary medical conference at Louisiana State University Feb. 2-3. The conference will be sponsored by the LSU department of veterinary science.

Speakers also will discuss the use of antibiotics in veterinary medical practice, treatment of canine disorders and other subjects of interest to veterinarians.

Supply Of Potatoes Now Above Normal

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—A marketing specialist has warned Louisiana Irish potato growers that the national potato supply is "above normal" and the price of early potatoes may be affected.

Reid M. Grigsby, associate marketing specialist of the Louisiana State University agricultural extension service, said farmers should take that factor into consideration in planning their 1954 crop.

Bandit Gets $1,500 From Loan Office

BATON ROUGE (UP—An applicant at a loan office showed a 38 calibre revolver today and made off with more than $1,500 after locking two clerks and a customer in a washroom.

City police said a man about 30 came into the Home Finance Co. about 9 a.m., inquired about a small loan and was directed to a small booth to fill out the necessary applications. He emerged brandishing a pistol.

2 Slots Destroyed By State Troopers

NEW IBERIA, La., Jan. 23—UP—State police from Lafayette raided the Rig and Reel Club on the St. Martinville highway Friday night and destroyed two slot machines.

Troopers said they found one nickel and one quarter machine in a rest room in the club.

The club, located just beyond the city limits, is operated by Georgia Bienvenue.

LIVESTOCK SHOW

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—Adult and junior exhibitors will vie for $46,796 in premiums at the 19th annual Louisiana State University Livestock Show, scheduled here for March 6-14.

Mrs. M'Quiller To Leave Clinic Soon

After three weeks spent in a local clinic, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, retired Ouachita Parish home demonstration agent, is improving and will be able shortly to be returned to her home on South Grand street.

Since she retired from her position she has continued to be active in club and garden work as well as other activities which she hopes to resume.

Revival Is Now In Progress In W. Monroe Church

A revival is now in progress in the First United Pentecostal Church, 812 Wheelis St., West Monroe. The evangelists are Rev. and Mrs. Arliss Glass of De Ridder. There is special singing and music nightly.

The pastor, Rev. A. D. Varnado cordially invites the public to attend at 7:30 p. m. each night.

Illegal Spending In Parish School, Auditor Asserts

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 23—UP—The Washington parish school board spent $17,000 for lunchroom equipment without first advertising for bids, the auditor's office reported Friday.

The law requires advertisement for bids on all public purchases in excess of $1,000, except in extreme emergency.

Auditor Allison Kolb said the board adopted a resolution "declaring in general terms" that an emergency existed, but he added, "as more than seven months elapsed from adoption of the resolution to the date of the first purchase, it is difficult to comprehend the existence of an emergency."

Kolb also recommended centralizing purchases of food, after he noted some foods were bought directly by the schools, "some at wholesale prices and some at retail prices, no competitive bids being asked or obtained."

Northeast Will Present 'The Robe' For 2 Nights

Northeast State will present "The Robe" in a two-night performance, March 18-19, in Brown Auditorium on the college campus.

George C. Brian of the speech faculty will direct the production. It will serve as a prelude to Easter, he said, which will be observed this year on April 18.

The second night's performance is to climax the Speech Festival which the college is sponsoring again this spring for high school students in North Louisiana.

John McGreevey has adapted the play from the popular novel by Lloyd C. Douglas. The stage version follows the narrative more closely than does the movie version, Brian explained.

Production of "The Robe" is considered a major undertaking. Not many schools have attempted a performance of such magnitude. Its nine scenes, cast of twenty-two and innumerable properties, entail big problems, the director said.

"The play is challenging, however, in the opportunity which it offers as a colorful and striking production."

Properties already are being collected. Many of these have been loaned by the Baton Rouge Little Theatre which Brian formerly directed.

Authenticity of costuming will be stressed by a spring semester class which will use "The Robe" as their main project.

Special music for the play is being written by Eloy Fominaya of the Northeast music faculty.

Tryouts for parts in the production, which calls for thirteen men and nine women, are scheduled in about two weeks.

In 1953, women voted for the first time in Costa Rica.

3,000 Mothers To March On Polio In This Parish

Six thousand marching feet will stir over Ouachita Parish porches in an all out attempt to stamp out polio.

Three thousand mothers will knock on doors in every town, hamlet, village and farm house in Ouachita Parish this coming Friday night.

Volunteers desiring to help on Friday, January 29 have been requested to call polio headquarters at 3-9171.

Citizens in this parish have been requested to light their porch with "a light, a candle, lantern, flashlight — anything that gives light."

Beth Breese, Parish Chairman of the Mothers March on Polio says: "If you don't have a light, tie a shoe on the door knob, a handkerchief or a note signifying your desire to contribute to Mothers March."

Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Community Chairman of the march stated that last year around two thousand mothers and volunteers participated in the event. "This year we will have at least three thousand mothers and volunteers knocking on doors," she stated.

"The fringe areas of Ouachita Parish will be definitely covered this year, Mrs. Stevens remarked.

She added: "In the event your home is missed, you may call the polio headquarters, telephone number 3-9171 to request an emergency pick-up of your donation."

Very carefully planned and coordinated will be the house to house canvass. Working in teams of two, the mothers will have to knock on only ten to fifteen doors. Mrs. Stevens said that the drive will end promptly at 8 p.m.

All churches in Ouachita Parish will stress the Mothers March from the pulpits today.

"This year the mothers fight to stamp out polio may bring wonderful results. As you already know, the serum will be tested this summer. We are praying it will be successful. Perhaps, mothers may rest their minds from fears of of polio," Mrs. Breese said.

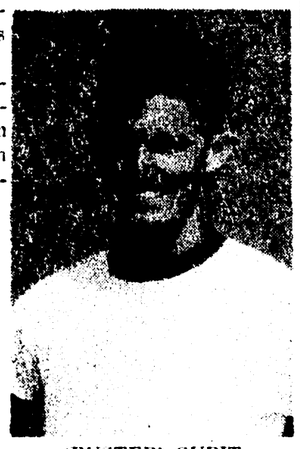
The lure of the tournament trail calls, so McGuire Park Golf Club of West Monroe is losing its very popular young professional as "Buster" Cupit, a transplanted Texan who has won the admiration of the Twin Cities golfing element during his short span at McGuire, has announced his intentions of joining the winter trail of gold with the ambition to add his name to the more famous of the nation's wizards of the links.



'BUSTER' CUPIT

Cupit, according to present plans, will join the touring pros in San Antonio, on February 18, for participation in the Texas Open Tournament.

His schedule has already been mapped out to include the Texas Open at San Antonio, February 18-21; the Mexico City Open, February 25-28; the Houston Open, March 4-7; the Baton Rouge Open, March 11-14; the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., March 26-28; and the Greensboro Open at Greensboro, N. C., April 1-4. If the cross-country march is near anything like a success, we can expect to hear more about Cupit. Certainly, the numerous golfers of this area will be playing closer attention to the pro tournaments in order to follow a personality with whom they feel they own close ties.

A native of Greggton, Tex., and just 26 years old, Cupit turned pro in 1949 when he served as assistant professional to Bill Brewer at the Greggton Municipal Golf Club. He moved here last year to take over as pro at McGuire, taking time out to participate in seven sectional tournaments in which he finished second four times, third twice, and eighth once. With more time to spend sharpening up for tournaments, Cupit (and a lot of his well-wishers) feels he can keep up with many of the better-knowns.

Married to the former Joyce Helm and the father of two children, ages five and two years, Cupit had planned to include the Tucson Open on his schedule until the Arizona event was cancelled for this year. We join the Twin City golfing fraternity in wishing Cupit all the success in his ambitious undertaking.

Twice during the past week we had the opportunity to hear Eddie McLane, professor at Louisiana Tech, address mixed audiences of youth and adult at football banquets given by Neville and Ouachita Parish high schools. And the former Tech coach, as always, impressed us with his profound beliefs in our youth. Trying to describe in cold type such as this the sincerity and emotion put into a McLane speech concerning youth is beyond our ability to describe as we believe it should be.

But those persons who have ever attended one of these affairs at which "Coach" McLane is the guest speaker know what we are trying to say. McLane himself will tell you he has been living on nearly seventeen years of God's borrowed time, and no man could have put better use to those years than the encouragement of boys and girls, seeking for them better undestanding, and enlisting adult support to see that future men and women are better prepared for the road ahead.

Louisiana Tech, in the 1930s, was envisioning a rise in football fortunes that no Bulldog team had ever enjoyed. Eddie McLane, as an energetic coach, was the reason. But it was a dismal night in 1937 when the battered and broken body, holding to a bare thread of life, was lifted from the wreckage of an automobile near Bunkie. Many men have surrendered to lesser wounds than those suffered by Eddie McLane that night, but somehow he fought back, overcame crippling handicaps, and today is a credit to Louisiana, and the finest possible "Ambassador of Louisiana Tech."

Littler Refuses To Crack At San Diego

Amateur Kingpin Holds Own Over Fine Pro Rivals

By BOB MYERS

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—National Amateur Champion Gene Littler threw another sub par round of golf at the country's finest tournament professionals in the San Diego Open today and stretched his lead over the field at the end of 54 holes of play to five strokes.

The 23-year-old San Diego star, whose 67-66 pushed him to the front at the midway mark, added a three under par 69 today for a total score of 202.

Trailing the young man of Uncle Sam's navy and tied at 207 were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, with rounds of 69-67-71, and former National Open champion Cary Middlecoff, with 70-67-70.

Tournament site is the Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club, a 6,800-yard par 36-36-72 course where Littler last year won the California State Open championship over a more modest field of professionals.

Today was a crucial test for the cool Californian. The pros supposedly were on his neck, figuratively speaking. Some thought he might blow.

Instead, playing in a threesome with Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, and Harrison a step ahead in the preceding threesome, Littler toured the place in 36-33—69. He matched Middlecoff's fine game for the better part of the round, and then beat the Memphis doctor to the wire by one stroke.

Tommy Bolt, last year's winner, who suffered agonies yesterday with a nine on the par 5 18th, took a seven on the seventh this morning and his second 77 in as many days boosted him to 222.

INDIAN STANDOUTS—The Northeast Louisiana State basketball team appears in two home games this week—Southeastern Louisiana here Tuesday night and Mississippi College on Wednesday—with the two Redskins cagers pictured here due to have a big hand in the action. Bob Bennett, (above) six-foot-five West Monroe product, is the Tribe's rebound star. Bill Crowe (at the side), a transfer from Southwest Junior College of Mississippi, plays forward and is an outstanding shot.

Moore-Maxim Title Go Slated For Wednesday

By MERCER BAILEY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Power-puncher Archie Moore, at 37 an old man as fighters go, defends his world light heavyweight title Wednesday night against Joey Maxim, the jab-artist he beat for the championship 13 months ago.

It will be the second title defense for Moore, the St. Louis Negro who now calls San Diego, Calif., home. He won a close decision over Maxim in a re-match in June. Maxim is from Cleveland, Ohio.

The champion is a 12-5 favorite to retain his title in the 15-round bout despite persistent rumors that he is having a lot of trouble getting down to the 175-pound limit. Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, insist he will have no trouble making weight, but Moore has refused to step on the scales for reporters and as late as yesterday still was working out in a plastic sweat suit.

The fight will be an outdoor affair at Miami Stadium, a baseball park. Maj. W. H. Peeples Jr., who is promoting the fight along with the International Boxing Club, predicts the bout will draw about 20,000 fans and a $100,000 gate. It will be televised and broadcast nationally (CBS, 9 P.M. CST) with South Florida TV screens blacked out.

Moore, who has been fighting professionally for more than 16 years, packs a terrific wallop in either fist and says he will knock out Maxim this time. He was unable to knock the 31-year-old Joey off his feet in their two previous title scraps.

"Last time I fought Maxim a lot of folks seemed to think Maxim won it," Archie said. "This time there won't be any doubt—I'll knock him out."

Joey, rated one of the best boxers in the light heavy division but not a particularly hard puncher, didn't talk in terms of a knockout.

EROS, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—The Neville High School boys' basketball team, with a string of 24 consecutive victories, will meet the Eros High School quintet here Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in a game that dedicates its proceeds to the March of Dimes fund to combat infantile paralysis.

Mrs. Rawls Still 3 Strokes Ahead In Tampa Tourney

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Betsy Rawls held her three-stroke lead in the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament today although she went two over par for 77 and a 54-hole total of 223.

Polly Riley, an amateur from Fort Worth, Tex., pulled up to second place with a 74 best 18-hole round of the tournament, while Miss Rawls' closest rivals yesterday fell back. Mrs. Riley's total is 231.

The low scorers were:

Basketball Fun Billed By West Monroe's Fans

It will be basketball "fun day" at West Monroe High School gymnasium Monday night, February 8, when the "Block-Busting Band Boosters," a women's cage combination, engage the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals," a team of men in bloomer uniforms, in afternoon and night exhibitions for the benefit of the high school band.

Side attractions are to include a "beauty contest," sponsored by local dress shops, and an announced "fan dance, by imported performers." Actually, the contests are expected to be of the "gag" variety, and the "fan dancer" may be imported from as far as Splane or Siegle additions.

Mrs. J. F. Jones Jr. is lining up the Block-Busting Band Boosters, already including Mrs. Howard Barker, Mrs. Primm, Mrs. M. C. Wooley, Mrs. Gregg, Mrs. Ouida Carter, Mrs. P. C. Hammond, and Mrs. Anna Mae Bennett.

The squad for the Quarter-Bloomer "Gals" is already top-heavy with such names as George Welch, Rudy Painich, Willie Pinton, Judge Jesse Heard, Bob Hines, Carl Thompson, Louie Grumber, Dan McClure, Bobby Wilson, Tom Sanders, John Watson, P. B. Mangum, Lake Oxford, Howard Barker, A. P. Burkett, Delma Carter, Dunbar Hunt, F. A. Termple, Conoy Cooper, T. John, Tom Hicks, W. D. Albritton, Henry Colbert, Roylea Liner, Warren Harker, W. A. Bradley, Cary Phillips, Melvin Bradley, Erick Camp, Percy LeBlanc, A. R. Bates, Fred Riser, Hobson Norris, Jaroy Weber, Bailey Grant, John "Red" McCormick, Kenneth Lee, J. Allen Norris, Jeff Caldwell, C. C. Bell, Jr., Rodney Mouton, Bob McNeely, and Francis Ortis.

Oliver, Storts Captains Of Tech Football Team

RUSTON, Jan. 22—Fullback James Oliver, Bossier City, and guard Jesse Storts, Lake Charles, have been named co-captains of Louisiana Tech's 1954 football team.

The selection was announced at a banquet given here Thursday night by the Ruston Rotary Club honoring Tech's 1953 grid squad which was co-champion of the Gulf States Conference.

Oliver, one of the leading ground gainers of the GSC last season, was named to the All-Gulf States Conference first team this year. He is a junior student. The 180-pound Storts is also a junior student. He was one of Tech's most dependable guards last season.

It was also announced at the banquet that halfback Bud McMichael, Cotton Valley, and guard Billy Joe Adcox, El Dorado, Ark., had been selected the most valuable back and lineman for the year. Senior guard Jim Sneed, Shreveport, co-captain of the squad last season, also received a special award for leadership.

Trophies were presented the three by Joe Aillet, athletic director and head football coach. The Tech coaching staff selected the three players to receive the awards.

Baskin, Winnsboro Cagers To Renew Rivalry Tuesday

BASKIN, Jan. 23 (Special)—The Baskin High School gymnasium will be the center of attention for Franklin parish fans Tuesday night when the Baskin girls' basketball team will play the Winnsboro High School girls at 7 o'clock, and the Baskin-Winnsboro High School boys' game will follow at 8 o'clock.

On January 12, at Winsboro, the Baskin girls defeated the Winnsboro sextet 59-51, and the Baskin boys took their game 64-56. This week Winsboro will be out to even the score.

Since their game two weeks ago, Coach Carrice Russell's Winnsboro girls have won every game played including the Central tournament, and Coach "Tiny" Tarbutton's Baskin sextet have won all games played including the Ouachita tournament.

The Baskin girls have only lost one game since 1947, and that was to Winnsboro, on January 6, last year.

It will be "basketball at its best" when these two teams tie up. Fans who wish to be sure of a seat are advised to come early.

Penn Picks Sebo Of Spartans As New Grid Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (AP)—Steve Sebo 39, a three-year man on Michigan State's coaching staff, became the new head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania today.

Sebo, who will hold the rank of associate professor on the Penn faculty, succeeds George Munger, who had coached Penn teams for the last 16 years.

The new coach tutored Clarence (Biggie) Munn's rampaging backfield at Michigan State for the last three years. He was freshman coach in 1950.

Sebo, who served in the U. S. army air force from 1941 to 1946, was named head football coach and director of athletics at Alma, Mich., College after his demobilization. He held the post for three years. In 1948 Alma was one of 13 unbeaten and united football teams in the nation.

The following year he served as backfield coach at Harvard and went to his alma mater in 1950.

Spahn Agreeable To Terms Of New Milwaukee Pact

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23 (AP)—Warren Spahn the lean lefthander who is one of baseball's top pitchers, signed his 1954 contract with the Milwaukee Braves today.

The 32-year-old Spahn, who led both major leagues with a 2.10 earned run record last season and won 23 games to share the National League mark with Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, stopped off at county stadium en route to a sports dinner at Minneapolis.

He emerged from a brief meeting with Braves general manager John Quinn and said he was "very happy" with the new one-year contract.

The Braves don't announce salary figures but Spahn, who joined the team in 1942 reportedly earned about $40,000 last season.

Spahn also said the knee that worried him in 1953—although National League batsmen didn't know it—now was feeling fine. He underwent surgery to remove cartilage last fall.

He is the 15th member of the club to sign a 1954 contract.

ROYALS WHIP WARRIORS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—The Rochester Royals placed five men in double figures today as they downed the Philadelphia Warriors, 71-61 in a nationally-televised National Basketball Association game.

Marriage Dash To Bugledrums

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Bugledrums, owned by Sam E. Wilson Jr., closed with a rush today to win the $5,000 Marriage Handicap at the Fair Grounds by a length and a half.

The Red Head stable entry of Roedna and Futuresque ran second and third in the field of nine. Roedna beat Futuresque by a half length.

Paul Bailey rode Bugledrums over the mile and an eighth course in 1:51 2-5 and the winner paid $21.20, $7.20 and $5.80. Roedna returned $4.50 and $5.40 and Futuresque paid $5.40.

The favorite, W. H. Bishop's Raintree took an early lead, but faded badly in the stretch and finished fourth.

The daily double paid $899.40. The winning combination was Him's Town, first race winner at $14, and Tim's Moon, who took the second race and returned $110.20.

A crowd of 14,000 bet a total of $600,000 on the day's card.

Mrs. Williams Sues

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, was sued for separate maintenance in circuit court here today by his wife, Doris.

Mrs. Williams accused the baseball star of "mistreatment and abuse, both privately and publicly," over the past six years.

They were married May 4, 1944, at Pensacola, Fla., while Williams was serving as a marine flight instructor in World War II.

Lexington Cagers Capture Grammar Tournament Here

Several hundred enthusiastic basketball fans crowded the gym at Lexington Grammar School yesterday as the city school youngsters vied for honors in the Grammar School Basketball Invitation Tournament. Lexington copped the championship trophies in both the boys' and girls' divisions in hotly contested final games.

The Lexington boys, led by Ad Walker, who scored 7 points, defeated the fast team from Sherrouse in the division finals 21 to 15. Cage, hustling guard for Sherrouse, was high scorer for the game with 9 points.

The sparkling girls' team from Lexington were never behind as they won a hard fought contest for the championship from the smooth Lida Benton sextet 19 to 12. Carolyn Brady, flashy forward for the Leopards, captured scoring honors with 9 points as Sue Brown, her teammate followed closely with 8. Patsy Miller led Lida Benton with 6 points.

Consolation trophies went to Central Grammar as they downed Georgia Tucker 32 to 7, and to Georgia Tucker girls' as they bested Central Grammar, 7 to 6.

An All-Star team was selected from each division of the tournament by the coaches and officials.

Boys all-tourney squad: Taylor and Dean, Central; McBride, Cage and Haddad, Sherrouse; Walker, Lexington; Rambin, Lida Benton; Dean, Central; Thornhill, Georgia Tucker.

Girls: Brady, Brown, Terrell and McCleary, Lexington; Miller and Hankins, Lida Benton; Hensy and Bailey, Georgia Tucker; Lamb, Sherrouse; Allan, Central.

T. H. Scott, member of the city school board, made the presentation of trophies and All Tournament ribbons. The tournament, which was the second to be held at Lexington Grammar School, was under the direction of Van E. Leigh, and game officials included H. W. McSherry, Ralph Dollar, Ann McDonald, Dottie Dawson, Martha Burns, Jackie Masur, Jo Ann Stewart, and Slade Moody.

Littler Refuses To Crack At San Diego

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The lure of the tournament trail calls, so McGuire Park Golf Club of West Monroe is losing its very popular young professional as "Buster" Cupit, a transplanted Texan who has won the admiration of the Twin Cities golfing element during his short span at McGuire, has announced his intentions of joining the winter trail of gold with the ambition to add his name to the more famous of the nation's wizards of the links.

'BUSTER' CUPIT

Cupit, according to present plans, will join the touring pros in San Antonio, on February 18, for participation in the Texas Open Tournament.

His schedule has already been mapped out to include the Texas Open at San Antonio, February 18-21; the Mexico City Open, February 25-28; the Houston Open, March 4-7; the Baton Rouge Open, March 11-14; the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., March 26-28; and the Greensboro Open at Greensboro, N. C., April 1-4. If the cross-country march is near anything like a success, we can expect to hear more about Cupit. Certainly, the numerous golfers of this area will be playing closer attention to the pro tournaments in order to follow a personality with whom they feel they own close ties.

A native of Greggton, Tex., and just 26 years old, Cupit turned pro in 1949 when he served as assistant professional to Bill Brewer at the Greggton Municipal Golf Club. He moved here last year to take over as pro at McGuire, taking time out to participate in seven sectional tournaments in which he finished second four times, third twice, and eighth once. With more time to spend sharpening up for tournaments, Cupit (and a lot of his well-wishers) feels he can keep up with many of the better-knowns.

Married to the former Joyce Helm and the father of two children, ages five and two years, Cupit had planned to include the Tucson Open on his schedule until the Arizona event was cancelled for this year. We join the Twin City golfing fraternity in wishing Cupit all the success in his ambitious undertaking.

Twice during the past week we had the opportunity to hear Eddie McLane, professor at Louisiana Tech, address mixed audiences of youth and adult at football banquets given by Neville and Ouachita Parish high schools. And the former Tech coach, as always, impressed us with his profound beliefs in our youth. Trying to describe in cold type such as this the sincerity and emotion put into a McLane speech concerning youth is boyond our ability to describe as we believe it should be.

But those persons who have ever attended one of these affairs at which "Coach" McLane is the guest speaker know what we are trying to say. McLane himself will tell you he has been living on nearly seventeen years of God's borrowed time, and no man could have put better use to those years than the encouragement of boys and girls, seeking for them better undestanding, and enlisting adult support to see that future men and women are better prepared for the road ahead.

Louisiana Tech, in the 1930s, was envisioning a rise in football fortunes that no Bulldog team had ever enjoyed. Eddie McLane, as an energetic coach, was the reason. But it was a dismal night in 1937 when the battered and broken body, holding to a bare thread of life, was lifted from the wreckage of an automobile near Bunkie. Many men have surrendered to lesser wounds than those suffered by Eddie McLane that night, but somehow he fought back, overcame crippling handicaps, and today is a credit to Louisiana, and the finest possible "Ambassador of Louisiana Tech."

Amateur Kingpin Holds Own Over Fine Pro Rivals

By BOB MYERS

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—National Amateur Champion Gene Littler threw another sub par round of golf at the country's finest tournament professionals in the San Diego Open today and stretched his lead over the field at the end of 54 holes of play to five strokes.

The 23-year-old San Diego star, whose 67-66 pushed him to the front at the midway mark, added a three under par 69 today for a total score of 202.

Trailing the young man of Uncle Sam's navy and tied at 207 were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, with rounds of 69-67-71, and former National Open champion Cary Middlecoff, with 70-67-70.

Tournament site is the Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club, a 6,800-yard par 36-36-72 course where Littler last year won the California State Open championship over a more modest field of professionals.

Today was a crucial test for the cool Californian. The pros supposedly were on his neck, figuratively speaking. Some thought he might blow.

Instead, playing in a threesome with Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, and Harrison a step ahead in the preceding threesome, Littler toured the place in 36-33—69. He matched Middlecoff's fine game for the better part of the round, and then beat the Memphis doctor to the wire by one stroke.

Tommy Bolt, last year's winner, who suffered agonies yesterday with a nine on the par 5 18th, took a seven on the seventh this morning and his second 77 in as many days boosted him to 222.

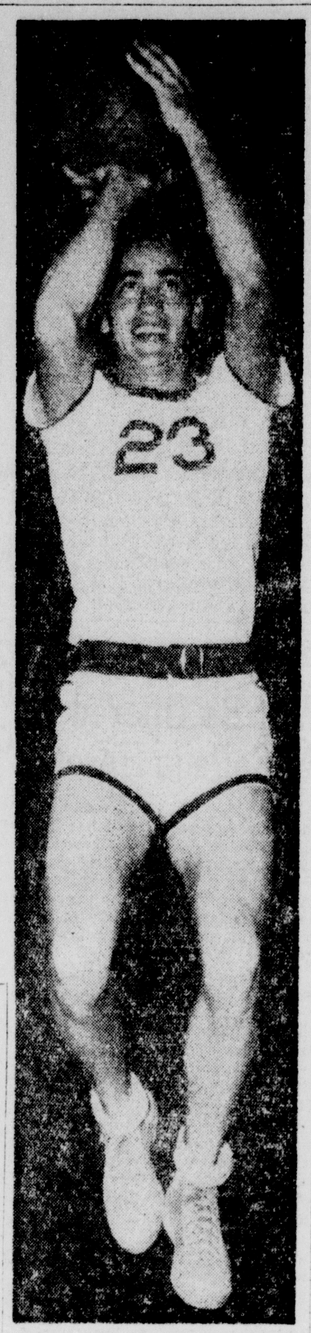
INDIAN STANDOUTS—The Northeast Louisiana State basketball team appears in two home games this week—Southeastern Louisiana here Tuesday night and Mississippi College on Wednesday—with the two Redskins cagers pictured here due to have a big hand in the action. Bob Bennett, (above) six-foot-five West Monroe product, is the Tribe's rebound star. Bill Crowe (at the side), a transfer from Southwest Junior College of Mississippi, plays forward and is an outstanding shot.



Moore-Maxim Title Go Slated For Wednesday

By MERCER BAILEY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Powerpuncher Archie Moore, at 37 an old man as fighters go, defends his world light heavyweight title Wednesday night against Joey Maxim, the jab-artist he beat for the championship 13 months ago.

It will be the second title defense for Moore, the St. Louis Negro who now calls San Diego, Calif., home. He won a close decision over Maxim in a re-match in June. Maxim is from Cleveland, Ohio.

The champion is a 12-5 favorite to retain his title in the 15-round bout despite persistent rumors that he is having a lot of trouble getting down to the 175-pound limit. Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, insist he will have no trouble making weight, but Moore has refused to step on the scales for reporters and as late as yesterday still was working out in a plastic sweat suit.

The fight will be an outdoor affair at Miami Stadium, a baseball park. Maj. W. H. Peeples Jr., who is promoting the fight along with the International Boxing Club, predicts the bout will draw about 20,000 fans and a $100,000 gate. It will be televised and broadcast nationally (CBS, 9 P.M. CST) with South Florida TV screens blacked out.

Moore, who has been fighting professionally for more than 16 years, packs a terrific wallop in either fist and says he will knock out Maxim this time. He was unable to knock the 31-year-old Joey off his feet in their two previous title scraps.

"Last time I fought Maxim a lot of folks seemed to think Maxim won it," Archie said. "This time there won't be any doubt—I'll knock him out."

Eros Meets Neville Basketball Team In March Of Dimes Tilt

EROS, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—The Neville High School boys' basketball team, with a string of 24 consecutive victories, will meet the Eros High School quintet here Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in a game that dedicates its proceeds to the March of Dimes fund to combat infantile paralysis.

Miss Rawls Still 3 Strokes Ahead In Tampa Tourney

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Betsy Rawls held her three-stroke lead in the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament today although she went two over par for 77 and a 54-hole total of 223.

Polly Riley, an amateur from Fort Worth, Tex., pulled up to second place with a 74, best 18-hole round of the tournament, while Miss Rawls' closest rivals yesterday fell back. Mrs. Riley's total is 231.

Basketball Fun Billed By West Monroe's Fans

It will be basketball "fun day" at West Monroe High School gymnasium Monday night, February 8, when the "Block-Busting Band Boosters," a women's cage combination, engage the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals," a team of men in bloomer uniforms, in afternoon and night exhibitions for the benefit of the high school band.

Side attractions are to include a "beauty contest," sponsored by local dress shops, and an announced "fan dance, by imported performers." Actually, the contests are expected to be of the "gag" variety, and the "fan dancer" may be imported from as far as Splane or Siegle additions.

Mrs. J. F. Jones Jr. is lining up the Block-Busting Band Boosters, already including Mrs. Howard Barker, Mrs. Primm, Mrs. M. C. Wooley, Mrs. Gregg, Mrs. Ouida Carter, Mrs. P. C. Hammond, and Mrs. Anna Mae Bennett.

The squad for the Quarter-Bloomer "Gals" is already top-heavy with such names as George Welch, Rudy Painich, Willie Pinton, Judge Jesse Heard, Bob Hines, Carl Thompson, Louie Grumber, Dan McClure, Bobby Wilson, Tom Sanders, John Watson, P. B. Mangum, Lake Oxford, Howard Barker, A. P. Burkett, Delma Carter, Dunbar Hunt, F. A. Termple, Conoy Cooper, T. John, Tom Hicks, W. D. Albritton, Henry Colbert, Roylea Liner, Warren Harker, W. A. Bradley, Cary Phillips, Melvin Bradley, Erick Camp, Percy LeBlanc, A. R. Bates, Fred Riser, Hobson Norris, Jaroy Weber, Bailey Grant, John "Red" McCormick, Kenneth Lee, J. Allen Norris, Jeff Caldwell, C. C. Bell, Jr., Rodney Mouton, Bob McNeely, and Francis Ortis.

Oliver, Storts Captains Of Tech Football Team

RUSTON, Jan. 22—Fullback James Oliver, Bossier City, and guard Jesse Storts, Lake Charles, have been named co-captains of Louisiana Tech's 1954 football team.

The selection was announced at a banquet given here Thursday night by the Ruston Rotary Club honoring Tech's 1953 grid squad which was co-champion of the Gulf States Conference.

Oliver, one of the leading ground gainers of the GSC last season, was named to the All-Gulf States Conference first team this year. He is a junior student. The 180-pound Storts is also a junior student. He was one of Tech's most dependable guards last season.

It was also announced at the banquet that halfback Bud McMichael, Cotton Valley, and guard Billy Joe Adcox, El Dorado, Ark., had been selected the most valuable back and lineman for the year. Senior guard Jim Sneed, Shreveport, co-captain of the squad last season, also received a special award for leadership.

Trophies were presented the three by Joe Aillet, athletic director and head football coach. The Tech coaching staff selected the three players to receive the awards.

Baskin, Winnsboro Cagers To Renew Rivalry Tuesday

BASKIN, Jan. 23 (Special)—The Baskin High School gymnasium will be the center of attention for Franklin parish fans Tuesday night when the Baskin girls' basketball team will play the Winnsboro High School girls at 7 o'clock, and the Baskin-Winnsboro High School boys' game will follow at 8 o'clock.

On January 12, at Winsboro, the Baskin girls defeated the Winnsboro sextet 59-51, and the Baskin boys took their game 64-56. This week Winsboro will be out to even the score.

Since their game two weeks ago, Coach Carrice Russell's Winnsboro girls have won every game played including the Central tournament, and Coach "Tiny" Tarbutton's Baskin sextet have won all games played including the Ouachita tournament.

The Baskin girls have only lost one game since 1947, and that was to Winnsboro, on January 6, last year.

It will be "basketball at its best" when these two teams tie up. Fans who wish to be sure of a seat are advised to come early.

Penn Picks Sebo Of Spartans As New Grid Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (AP)—Steve Sebo 39, a three-year man on Michigan State's coaching staff, became the new head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania today.

Sebo, who will hold the rank of associate professor on the Penn faculty, succeeds George Munger, who had coached Penn teams for the last 16 years.

The new coach tutored Clarence (Biggie) Munn's rampaging backfield at Michigan State for the last three years. He was freshman coach in 1950.

Sebo, who served in the U. S. army air force from 1941 to 1946, was named head football coach and director of athletics at Alma, Mich., College after his demobilization. He held the post for three years. In 1948 Alma was one of 13 unbeaten and united football teams in the nation.

The following year he served as backfield coach at Harvard and went to his alma mater in 1950.

Lexington Cagers Capture Grammar Tournament Here

Several hundred enthusiastic basketball fans crowded the gym at Lexington Grammar School yesterday as the city school youngsters vied for honors in the Grammar School Basketball Invitation Tournament. Lexington copped the championship trophies in both the boys' and girls' divisions in hotly contested final games.

The Lexington boys, led by Ad Walker, who scored 7 points, defeated the fast team from Sherrouse in the division finals 21 to 15. Cage, hustling guard for Sherrouse, was high scorer for the game with 9 points.

The sparkling girls' team from Lexington were never behind as they won a hard fought contest for the championship from the smooth Lida Benton sextet 19 to 12. Carolyn Brady, flashy forward for the Leopards, captured scoring honors with 9 points as Sue Brown, her teammate followed closely with 8. Patsy Miller led Lida Benton with 6 points.

Consolation trophies went to Central Grammar's as they downed Georgia Tucker 32 to 7, and to Georgia Tucker girls' as they bested Central Grammar, 7 to 6.

An All-Star team was selected from each division of the tournament by the coaches and officials.

Boys all-tourney squad: Taylor and Dean, Central; McBride, Cage and Haddad, Sherrouse; Walker, Lexington; Rambin, Lida Benton; Dean, Central; Thornhill, Georgia Tucker.

Girls: Brady, Brown, Terrell and McCleary, Lexington; Miller and Hankins, Lida Benton; Hensy and Bailey, Georgia Tucker; Lamb, Sherrouse; Allan, Central.

T. H. Scott, member of the city school board, made the presentation of trophies and All Tournament ribbons. The tournament, which was the second to be held at Lexington Grammar School, was under the direction of Van E. Leigh, and game officials included H. W. McSherry, Ralph Dollar, Ann McDonald, Dottie Dawson, Martha Burns, Jackie Masur, Jo Ann Stewart, and Slade Moody.

Spahn Agreeable To Terms Of New Milwaukee Pact

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23 (AP)—Warren Spahn, the lean lefthander who is one of baseball's top pitchers, signed his 1954 contract with the Milwaukee Braves today.

The 32-year-old Spahn, who led both major leagues with a 2.10 earned run record last season and won 23 games to share the National League mark with Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, stopped off at county stadium en route to a sports dinner at Minneapolis.

He emerged from a brief meeting with Braves general manager John Quinn and said he was "very happy" with the new one-year contract.

The Braves don't announce salary figures but Spahn, who joined the team in 1942 reportedly earned about $40,000 last season.

Spahn also said the knee that worried him in 1953—although National League batsmen didn't know it—now was feeling fine. He underwent surgery to remove cartilage last fall.

He is the 15th member of the club to sign a 1954 contract.

ROYALS WHIP WARRIORS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—The Rochester Royals placed five men in double figures today as they downed the Philadelphia Warriors, 71-61 in a nationally-televised National Basketball Association game.

Marriage Dash To Bugledrums

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Bugledrums, owned by Sam E. Wilson Jr., closed with a rush today to win the $5,000 Marriage Handicap at the Fair Grounds by a length and a half.

The Red Head stable entry of Roedna and Futuresque ran second and third in the field of nine. Roedna beat Futuresque by a half length.

Paul Bailey rode Bugledrums over the mile and an eighth course in 1:51 2-5 and the winner paid $21.20, $7.20 and $5.80. Roedna returned $4.50 and $5.40 and Futuresque paid $5.40.

The favorite, W. H. Bishop's Raintree took an early lead, but faded badly in the stretch and finished fourth.

The daily double paid $899.40. The winning combination was Him's Town, first race winner at $14, and Tim's Moon, who took the second race and returned $110.20.

A crowd of 14,000 bet a total of $600,000 on the day's card.

Mrs. Williams Sues

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, was sued for separate maintenance in circuit court here today by his wife, Doris.

Mrs. Williams accused the baseball star of "mistreatment and abuse, both privately and publicly," over the past six years.

They were married May 4, 1944, at Pensacola, Fla., while Williams was serving as a marine flight instructor in World War II.

Choctaws Beat Redskin Cagers At Foul Line, 59-55

Northeast's Bill Bigby Top Scorer As He Hits For 19

CLINTON, Miss., Jan. 22 (Special) — The Mississippi College Choctaws almost had their 11-game winning streak snapped here tonight but managed to hold on to nose out a battling Northeast Louisiana State quintet from Monroe, 59-55.

But it took foul shots to turn the trick. Northeast outscored the Choctaws from the field, 20 throws to 19, but the Mississippi College boys hooped 21 gift shots against 15 for the invaders to gain the margin of victory.

Bill Bigby, classy Northeast center, was the game's high scorer with 19 points on seven field baskets and five free tosses.

Howard Sessums, the Choctaws' outstanding forward, was held to 14 points by a smothering Northeast defense that permitted Boone, Sessums running mate at forward, to lead the local scoring with 16.

Margarita Taken By Cerise Reinc With Shoemaker

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Taking the lead turning for home, the favored Cerise Reine ridden by Willie Shoemaker today won going away in the $61,200 gross Santa Margarita Handicap, at Santa Anita Park. Last Wave was second and Wandering Ways third.

Cerise Reine, a four-year-old Chestnut filly owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, went the mile and one-sixteenth distance in 1:47.0 to win the race that traditionally decides the championship of the meeting for the lady horses—fillies and mares—by three and a quarter lengths.

It was the first win of the day for Shoemaker, who set a world record last year with 485 winners. Cerise Reine ruled the favorite and returned $6.30, $5.20 and $4.20. Last Wave paid $16.20 and $12.20 and Wandering Ways $10.20.

Today's victory meant a return of $38,100 net to the winner, the largest for the first 20 days of this race meeting. And Cerise Reine was the only horse in this field of fillies and mares eligible to compete in next Saturday's big Santa Anita Maturity with its expected $160,000 gross. Her showing today was to be the indication of whether she would go in the bigger one.

Demons Require Overtime To Win

NATCHITOCHES, La., Jan. 23 (AP)—Northwestern State needed an overtime period to win its fifth straight Gulf States Conference basketball game tonight over a stubborn Louisiana Tech team 81-73.

The lead changed hands nine times with Tech pulling up at the close of the fourth quarter to end the regular game at 67-67. Guard Bill Collingsworth scored seven of Northwestern's 14 points in the overtime.

Collingsworth led the nights scoring with 25 points. Forward L. V. Norris led Tech with 24 points.

It was the 13th victory against five defeats for Northwestern.

Navy's highest football score was 127-0 drubbing of Ursinus in 1918. Their biggest loss was a 54-0 walloping by Michigan in 1925.

Unbeaten Neville Cagers Win Event At Jonesboro

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—One long winning streak was broken here tonight and another continues as the unbeaten Neville High School quintet of Monroe scored its 27th consecutive victory of the season by defeating Georgetown, 55-40, in the finals of the Jonesboro-Hodge High March of Dimes Tournament for boys. Georgetown's loss snapped a strong of 39 consecutive victories.

Arthur "Red" Swanson led the Neville attack in the finals with 15 points and had strong support from Freddie Frickie and Wayne Causey with 11 each. May sparked Georgetown with 12.

Jonesboro-Hodge won third place in the championship bracket by beating Hall Summit, 38-36.

In the consolation section for first round losers, Jena beat out Sikes in the finals, 66-59.

In the championship semi-finals, Neville beat Jonesboro-Hodge 47-34, and Georgetown stopped Hall Summitt 75-49. Neville had earlier beaten Bernice, 69-45.

Thirteen teams competed in the all-boy event.

Student Brawls May Put Clamp On Cage Shows

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP) — Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor said today he would recommend that high school basketball games in Chicago be discontinued unless student brawls following the games cease.

Referring to recent post-game fights, O'Connor said that "high school basketball should be discontinued if it results in hooliganism."

Two students were injured Thursday night in a fight following a game between Senn and Waller high schools, on the north side. The fight started on a stairway in Waller High School.

Students also clashed following a game between Von Steuben and Amundsen high schools recently.

O'Conor said he had asked Capt. Raymond Crane, head of the police crime prevention bureau, to confer with officials of the Chicago board of education.

"If the board can't handle the situation, I'm going to recommend that the sport be stopped in the city's high schools," O'Connor told newsmen.

U. S.-Canada Pro Battle Forces Card 11 To Act

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The so-called war between the National Football League and Canadian grid forces today prompted the Chicago Cardinals to sign their prized fullback, Ollie Matson, for 1954 even though he still is in the army.

Walter Wolfner, Card managing director, said Matson was signed "to stop rumors Ollie will play Canadian football when he gets out of military service."

"We think Matson is the greatest player in pro football and we want Chicago fans to know he'll be wearing a Cardinal uniform when Uncle Sam gets through with him," Wolfner said.

Only this week, the long-smoldering feud between the N.F.L. and Canadian football leaders got hot again with charges of raids and counter-raids on players.

Wolfner doesn't expect Matson will be available until next mid-season.

Grasso Agrees To Cleveland's Terms

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23 (AP)—Mickey Grasso came to terms today with the Cleveland Indians, general manager Hank Greenberg said after a telephone call to the catcher's home in Newark, N. J.

The Indians did not reveal terms made with Grasso for whom they traded Joe Tipton to the Washington Nats last week.

3-Man Organizing Group Of Pan-Am Road Race Resign

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23 (AP)—The three-man organizing committee of the Pan American Road Race resigned today, leaving the future of the annual event in doubt.

Gen. Ignacio Beteta, Romulo O'Farril, Jr., and Enrique Martin Moreno included their resignations with a final accounting of the race funds sent the communications ministry. All three said they wanted more time to devote to their personal affairs.

The resignations were apparently the result of criticism by one newspaper of the financial aspect of the race last November. This paper said the organizers were making large profits. The committee members deniel this and said their final accounts would show the actual profits on the race were small.

The general opinion here is that the government will ask the three to reconsider and continue directing the race. The next one is due in November of this year. Moreno has been technical director and chief proponent of the race since its inauguration in 1950. The other two have raised most of the financing for it in past years when it did not break even.

The race last year was the first one which has shown a profit, largely due to the entry fees of 3,000 pesos ($350) each from the 88 Argentine entries. The 1,933-mile, five-day race is one of the most important sports car events in the world.

Epps High Teams Win Holly Ridge Cage Tournament

HOLLY RIDGE, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—Epps High School cagers made a sweep of top honors in the annual Holly Ridge High School Invitational Tournament here tonight as the Epps boys defeated Baskin, 62-41, and the Epps girls beat Holly Ridge, 42-35, in the finals.

Sims and Tanner, with 17 points apiece, led the Epps quintet in defense of its title here while Phillips was high scorer for Baskin with 14. Young, with 22 points, sparked the Epps girls, and Hough hooped 14 for Holly Ridge.

The tourney's only consolation game was in the boy's division with Germany hooping 32 points in leading the Holly Ridge Eagles past Central of Franklin Parish, 54-30. Germany was high scorer of the tournament with 116 points in four games.

Team sportsmanship trophies went to the Pioneer girls and Oak Ridge boys.

In the boy's semi-finals, Epps beat Central, 56-49, and Baskin halted Holly Ridge, 52-49.

The all-tournament teams:

Girls—Jones, Pioneer; Young and Miller, Epps; Hough and Carpenter, Holly Ridge; and Jones, Rayville.

Boys—Evans, Baskin; Sims and Alexander, Epps; Germany, Holly Ridge; and Hunter, Central.

Southern Offers Four New Pilots For Next Season

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP) — Four new managers will open the Southern Association baseball season, President Charlie Hurth said today.

They are:

Whitlow Wyatt at Atlanta, replacing Gene Mauch.

Bill Norman at Little Rock, replacing Paul Campbell.

Don Gutteridge at Memphis, replacing Luke Appling.

Stan Wasiak at Mobile, replacing Ed Head.

The other four teams in the eight team loop will have the same managers, Mayo Smith at Birmingham, Cal Ermer at Chattanooga, Hugh Poland at Nashville and Danny Murtaugh at New Orleans.

Cain Hoy's Giant Cracker Home 1st In Hibiscus Event

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Cain Hoy stable's Giant Cracker, a 10-1 shot, won the $20,850 Hibiscus Stakes at Hialeah Park today, finishing strong under jockey Henry Moreno.

The bay colt, owned by Harry F. Guggenheim, covered the six furlongs in 1:10 2-5 and paid $22.50, $9.80 and $6.30. The victory was worth $15,275.

Giant Cracker, well up in the running all the way, beat Post Prandial to the wire by a length and a half. Post Prandial, owned by Mrs. L. Lazare, was in the field with four other horses and paid $6.60 and $3.80.

Menemsha, the betting favorite at 3-1, was half a length back and paid $3.70 to show.

Sixteen three-year-olds went to the post. Leo Edwards' Activate, an entry with Blenfly, was a late scratch.

Attendance was 23,425 compared with 21,421 a year ago.

Shrewd In Front All Way To Take Tampa Handicap

OLDSMAR, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Shrewd, from the stables of Dona Michelides of Baltimore, broke on top and led all the way to win the $2,500 Tampa Handicap at Sunshine Park today.

It was the second win of the meet for Shrewd who ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5 the fastest time in that spring for the season. Shrewd finished a length ahead of Mestiza who outran the third place horse, Second Look, by two and a half lengths.

Allen Rose was up, posting his 14th win of the meet. Shrewd's victory paid win ticket holders $10.90. The favorite, Top Spring, wound up sixth in the eight horse race.

The estimated crowd of 4,300 bet $191,103, the highest handle of the young season. The daily double pair of Aragon and Young Turk paid $16.10.

The New York Giants hit 176 homers in 1953 to extend their record of having hit 100 or more runs per season to 22.

Ray, Barrentine Battle Heads Farmerville Card

FARMERVILLE, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—Norris Ray, the Bastrop middleweight with the explosive wallop, and James Barrentine, classy Greenwood, Miss., mittman, headline a professional boxing card to be presented here Monday night at the Farmerville High School gymnasium under the sponsorship of Owens-Tubbs Post of the American Legion here.

NORRIS RAY

First battle of the four-bout card is scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Ray-Barrentine headliner is scheduled for ten rounds with chances that a knockout will come somewhere inside the distance if either walloper can get across the needed punch. Slugger Ray is particularly noted for his jarring rights, winning most of his battles by the kayo route.

The six-round semi-final pits the Farmerville prospect, Royce Weeks against the Oak Grove veteran, Earl Parden.

Rookie Pair For '54

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs announced today the signing of two rookies—Joe Kuncl, right handed pitcher, and Burdette Thurlby, outfielder.

Kuncl, 26, won 16 and lost 18 for Macon in the Sally League last year, compiling an earned run average of 2.79. His home is in Prague, Neb.

Thurlby, 25, is a former University of Illinois baseball and basketball star from Kirkland, Ill.

Wildlife Unit Will Elect Officers Here Tuesday

The Ouachita Wildlife Unit meets here Tuesday night for its annual election of officers, to select delegates for the Louisiana Wildlife Federation's convention at Shreveport on February 26-27, and to make recommendations for changes in existing game laws, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Martin, unit president.

The meeting is scheduled for the Cameo room of Hotel Virginia, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Ringgold Cagers Capture Crowns In Arcadia Meet

ARCADIA, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—Ringgold High School basketball teams mopped up at the annual Arcadia High School Invitational Tournament here tonight, winning championships in both boys and girls' divisions. The Ringgold quintet whipped Simsboro, 57-46, in the finals after the Ringgold girls had measured Gibsland, 39-35, in their title game.

Jimmy Morrow hooped 21 points in leading the victorious quint while Ben Alexander and Charles McGuire sparked Simsboro with ten each. High scorer in the girls' final was Alan Blake, Ringgold, with 19 points. Pat Newman led Gibsland's sextet with 14.

All-tournament teams were named as follows:

Boys—Jimmy Morrow and Sam O'Rear, Ringgold; Ben Alexander, and Charlie McGuire, Simsboro; and Jimmy Atkins, Gibsland.

Girls — Kaye Walker and P. Smith, Gibsland; Mary Alice Jordan, Bienville; Wanda Preuitt and Marjorie Corley, Ringgold; and Sandra Thrasher, Saline.

Meet In Houston

COLUMBIS, Ohio, Jan. 23 (AP)—The 1954 minor league baseball meeting will be held in Houston, Tex., the first week in December, president George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

Iowa State Hands Head Coach's Job To Di Francesca

AMES, Iowa, Jan. 23 (AP)—Vince D. Di Francesca, coach at Western Illinois State College, late today was appointed new head football coach at Iowa State College.

The 32-year-old coach was unanimously recommended by the Iowa State athletic council to succeed Emmett R. (Abe) Stuber.

Dr. James H. Hilton, college president, in announcing the appointment said Di Francesca also was approved by the state board of education.

Di Francesca's salary was set at $10,000—$600 over the top figure received by Stuber.

Di Francesca compiled an enviable record of 38 victories and one tie in 46 games as head coach at Western Illinois for five seasons. His 1953 team won eight of 10 games.

A graduate of Northwestern University where he captained the 1947 football team, Di Francesca became athletic director and head coach of all sports at Coalinga (Calif) Junior College in 1947. He installed football there but no schedule was played.

He moved up to Western Illinois in 1949 and during the next three years his football teams lost only three of 27 games. His five-year record included: 1949, won 9, lost 1; 1950, 7-1; 1951, 7-1-1; 1952, 7-1; 1953, 8-2.

Olson Puts KO On Joe Rindone

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson shot over a right to the jaw to drop Joe Rindone of Roxbury, Mass., for the full count in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round nationally televised non-title fight tonight.

The end came in 2:04 of the round. Olson weighed 165 pounds, and Rindone 163½.

Curtises; Kelly, Massey

After a one-week "breather," in which women's champ Mildred Burke fought Millie Stafford; the ever-popular tag team feature match returns to Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when "Irish Jack" Kelly and his partner, Al Massey, try their hand at defeating Jack and George Curtis.

Since the Curtis brothers' return to the local ring December 30, no relay combination has beaten them, and this marks the initial try for the Kelly-Massey duo.

On December 30, Massey and Jack "Stinger" Steele bit the dust in three falls. On January 6, in another three-fall main event, Rex Mobley and "Irish Jack" paired up against the Vicksburgers, only to see George pin Mobley in the first, and Jack pin in the same opponent in the third, after Rex had made Jack give up in the second fall; and one week later, the same four clashed in a three-of-five-falls match, with the Curtises emerging victorious again; both popularities collaborating to cop the first, George losing to Mobley in the second, Kelly disqualified in the third, and George settling the fourth fall and match by pinning Mobley.

JACK KELLY

However they say everything that goes up must come down, and the undefeated Curtis boys are due for a licking. Massey's win over George Curtis in the first half of the double main event last week lends weight to this opinion.

Surely the Kelly-Massey combine is the most formidable Jack and George have yet had to face, for without doubt, Kelly is a skilled veteran and a dangerous opponent at all times, and his new partner, big Al, is just as skilled as Mobley, plus having the size, aggressiveness, and bag of tricks that the former light-heavy champ never had.

Besides that, Kelly, in his last match here, made himself obnoxious to the local fans, by tossing both Jack and George out of the ring—an illegal procedure, and fighting after the final fall had ended. Massey, just last week, made himself equally obnoxious with his derisive gestures to the ringsiders, so all in all, even if the Curtises weren't the most popular matmen ever to appear here, they would be Tuesday.

Two one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries between opposing team members will open hostilies at 8:15 p.m., and West Monroe's Bill Barney, who has fully recovered from the swift kick in the pants he got from Mildred Burke last Tuesday, is slated to referee all bouts.

Northeast's Bill Bigby Top Scorer As He Hits For 19

CLINTON, Miss., Jan. 22 (Special) — The Mississippi College Choctaws almost had their 11-game winning streak snapped here tonight but managed to hold on to nose out a battling Northeast Louisiana State quintet from Monroe, 59-55.

But it took foul shots to turn the trick. Northeast outscored the Choctaws from the field, 20 throws to 19, but the Mississippi College boys hooped 21 gift shots against 15 for the invaders to gain the margin of victory.

Bill Bigby, classy Northeast center, was the game's high scorer with 19 points on seven field baskets and five free tosses.

Howard Sessums, the Choctaws' outstanding forward, was held to 14 points by a smothering Northeast defense that permitted Boone, Sessums running mate at forward, to lead the local scoring with 16.

Margarita Taken By Cerise Reinc With Shoemaker

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Taking the lead turning for home, the favored Cerise Reine ridden by Willie Shoemaker today won going away in the $61,200 gross Santa Margarita Handicap, at Santa Anita Park. Last Wave was second and Wandering Ways third.

Cerise Reine, a four-year-old Chestnut filly owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, went the mile and one-sixteenth distance in 1:47.0 to win the race that traditionally decides the championship of the meeting for the lady horses—fillies and mares—by three and a quarter lengths.

It was the first win of the day for Shoemaker, who set a world record last year with 485 winners. Cerise Reine ruled the favorite and returned $6.30, $5.20 and $4.20. Last Wave paid $16.20 and $12.20 and Wandering Ways $10.20.

Today's victory meant a return of $38,100 net to the winner, the largest for the first 20 days of this race meeting. And Cerise Reine was the only horse in this field of fillies and mares eligible to compete in next Saturday's big Santa Anita Maturity with its expected $160,000 gross. Her showing today was to be the indication of whether she would go in the bigger one.

Demons Require Overtime To Win

NATCHITOCHES, La., Jan. 23 (AP)—Northwestern State needed an overtime period to win its fifth straight Gulf States Conference basketball game tonight over a stubborn Louisiana Tech team 81-73.

The lead changed hands nine times with Tech pulling up at the close of the fourth quarter to end the regular game at 67-67. Guard Bill Collingsworth scored seven of Northwestern's 14 points in the overtime.

Collingsworth led the nights scoring with 25 points. Forward L. V. Norris led Tech with 24 points.

It was the 13th victory against five defeats for Northwestern.

Navy's highest football score was 127-0 drubbing of Ursinus in 1918. Their biggest loss was a 54-0 walloping by Michigan in 1925.

Unbeaten Neville Cagers Win Event At Jonesboro

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—One long winning streak was broken here tonight and another continues as the unbeaten Neville High School quintet of Monroe scored its 27th consecutive victory of the season by defeating Georgetown, 55-40, in the finals of the Jonesboro-Hodge High March of Dimes Tournament for boys. Georgetown's loss snapped a strong of 39 consecutive victories.

Arthur "Red" Swanson led the Neville attack in the finals with 15 points and had strong support from Freddie Frickie and Wayne Causey with 11 each. May sparked Georgetown with 12.

Jonesboro-Hodge won third place in the championship bracket by beating Hall Summit, 38-36.

In the consolation section for first round losers, Jena beat out Sikes in the finals, 66-59.

In the championship semi-finals, Neville beat Jonesboro-Hodge 47-34, and Georgetown stopped Hall Summitt 75-49. Neville had earlier beaten Bernice, 69-45.

Thirteen teams competed in the all-boy event.

Student Brawls May Put Clamp On Cage Shows

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP) — Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor said today he would recommend that high school basketball games in Chicago be discontinued unless student brawls following the games cease.

Referring to recent post-game fights, O'Connor said that "high school basketball should be discontinued if it results in hooliganism."

Two students were injured Thursday night in a fight following a game between Senn and Waller high schools, on the north side. The fight started on a stairway in Waller High School.

Students also clashed following a game between Von Steuben and Amundsen high schools recently.

O'Conor said he had asked Capt. Raymond Crane, head of the police crime prevention bureau, to confer with officials of the Chicago board of education.

"If the board can't handle the situation, I'm going to recommend that the sport be stopped in the city's high schools," O'Connor told newsmen.

U. S.-Canada Pro Battle Forces Card 11 To Act

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The so-called war between the National Football League and Canadian grid forces today prompted the Chicago Cardinals to sign their prized fullback, Ollie Matson, for 1954 even though he still is in the army.

Walter Wolfner, Card managing director, said Matson was signed "to stop rumors Ollie will play Canadian football when he gets out of military service."

"We think Matson is the greatest player in pro football and we want Chicago fans to know he'll be wearing a Cardinal uniform when Uncle Sam gets through with him," Wolfner said.

Only this week, the long-smoldering feud between the N.F.L. and Canadian football leaders got hot again with charges of raids and counter-raids on players.

Wolfner doesn't expect Matson will be available until next mid-season.

Shrewd In Front All Way To Take Tampa Handicap

OLDSMAR, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—Shrewd, from the stables of Dona Michelides of Baltimore, broke on top and led all the way to win the $2,500 Tampa Handicap at Sunshine Park today.

It was the second win of the meet for Shrewd who ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5 the fastest time in that spring for the season. Shrewd finished a length ahead of Mestiza who outran the third place horse, Second Look, by two and a half lengths.

Allen Rose was up, posting his 14th win of the meet. Shrewd's victory paid win ticket holders $10.90. The favorite, Top Spring, wound up sixth in the eight horse race.

The estimated crowd of 4,300 bet $191,103, the highest handle of the young season. The daily double pair of Aragon and Young Turk paid $16.10.

The New York Giants hit 176 homers in 1953 to extend their record of having hit 100 or more runs per season to 22.

Ray, Barrentine Battle Heads Farmerville Card

FARMERVILLE, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—Norris Ray, the Bastrop middleweight with the explosive wallop, and James Barrentine, classy Greenwood, Miss., mittman, headline a professional boxing card to be presented here Monday night at the Farmerville High School gymnasium under the sponsorship of Owens-Tubbs Post of the American Legion here.

NORRIS RAY

First battle of the four-bout card is scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Ray-Barrentine headliner is scheduled for ten rounds with chances that a knockout will come somewhere inside the distance if either walloper can get across the needed punch. Slugger Ray is particularly noted for his jarring rights, winning most of his battles by the kayo route.

The six-round semi-final pits the Farmerville prospect, Royce Weeks against the Oak Grove veteran, Earl Parden.

Rookie Pair For '54

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs announced today the signing of two rookies—Joe Kuncl, right handed pitcher, and Burdette Thurlby, outfielder.

Kuncl, 26, won 16 and lost 18 for Macon in the Sally League last year, compiling an earned run average of 2.79. His home is in Prague, Neb.

Thurlby, 25, is a former University of Illinois baseball and basketball star from Kirkland, Ill.

Wildlife Unit Will Elect Officers Here Tuesday

The Ouachita Wildlife Unit meets here Tuesday night for its annual election of officers, to select delegates for the Louisiana Wildlife Federation's convention at Shreveport on February 26-27, and to make recommendations for changes in existing game laws, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Martin, unit president.

The meeting is scheduled for the Cameo room of Hotel Virginia, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Ringgold Cagers Capture Crowns In Arcadia Meet

ARCADIA, La., Jan. 22 (Special)—Ringgold High School basketball teams mopped up at the annual Arcadia High School Invitational Tournament here tonight, winning championships in both boys and girls' divisions. The Ringgold quintet whipped Simsboro, 57-46, in the finals after the Ringgold girls had measured Gibsland, 39-35, in their title game.

Jimmy Morrow hooped 21 points in leading the victorious quint while Ben Alexander and Charles McGuire sparked Simsboro with ten each. High scorer in the girls' final was Alan Blake, Ringgold, with 19 points. Pat Newman led Gibsland's sextet with 14.

All-tournament teams were named as follows:

Boys—Jimmy Morrow and Sam O'Rear, Ringgold; Ben Alexander, and Charlie McGuire, Simsboro; and Jimmy Atkins, Gibsland.

Girls — Kaye Walker and P. Smith, Gibsland; Mary Alice Jordan, Bienville; Wanda Preuitt and Marjorie Corley, Ringgold; and Sandra Thrasher, Saline.

Meet In Houston

COLUMBIS, Ohio, Jan. 23 (AP)—The 1954 minor league baseball meeting will be held in Houston, Tex., the first week in December, president George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

Iowa State Hands Head Coach's Job To Di Francesca

AMES, Iowa, Jan. 23 (AP)—Vince D. Di Francesca, coach at Western Illinois State College, late today was appointed new head football coach at Iowa State College.

The 32-year-old coach was unanimously recommended by the Iowa State athletic council to succeed Emmett R. (Abe) Stuber.

Dr. James H. Hilton, college president, in announcing the appointment said Di Francesca also was approved by the state board of education.

Di Francesca's salary was set at $10,000—$600 over the top figure received by Stuber.

Di Francesca compiled an enviable record of 38 victories and one tie in 46 games as head coach at Western Illinois for five seasons. His 1953 team won eight of 10 games.

A graduate of Northwestern University where he captained the 1947 football team, Di Francesca became athletic director and head coach of all sports at Coalinga (Calif) Junior College in 1947. He installed football there but no schedule was played.

He moved up to Western Illinois in 1949 and during the next three years his football teams lost only three of 27 games. His five-year record included: 1949, won 9, lost 1; 1950, 7-1; 1951, 7-1-1; 1952, 7-1; 1953, 8-2.

Olson Puts KO On Joe Rindone

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson shot over a right to the jaw to drop Joe Rindone of Roxbury, Mass., for the full count in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round nationally televised non-title fight tonight.

The end came in 2:04 of the round. Olson weighed 165 pounds, and Rindone 163½.

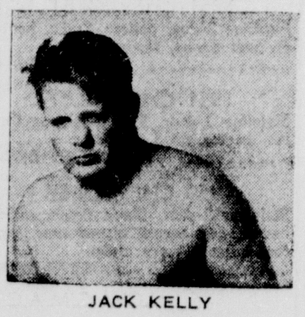
Curtises; Kelly, Massey

After a one-week "breather," in which women's champ Mildred Burke fought Millie Stafford; the ever-popular tag team feature match returns to Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when "Irish Jack" Kelly and his partner, Al Massey, try their hand at defeating Jack and George Curtis.

Since the Curtis brothers' return to the local ring December 30, no relay combination has beaten them, and this marks the initial try for the Kelly-Massey duo.

On December 30, Massey and Jack "Stinger" Steele bit the dust in three falls. On January 6, in another three-fall main event, Rex Mobley and "Irish Jack" paired up against the Vicksburgers, only to see George pin Mobley in the first, and Jack pin in the same opponent in the third, after Rex had made Jack give up in the second fall; and one week later, the same four clashed in a three-of-five-falls match, with the Curtises emerging victorious again; both popularities collaborating to cop the first, George losing to Mobley in the second, Kelly disqualified in the third, and George settling the fourth fall and match by pinning Mobley.



JACK KELLY

However they say everything that goes up must come down, and the undefeated Curtis boys are due for a licking. Massey's win over George Curtis in the first half of the double main event last week lends weight to this opinion.

Surely the Kelly-Massey combine is the most formidable Jack and George have yet had to face, for without doubt, Kelly is a skilled veteran and a dangerous opponent at all times, and his new partner, big Al, is just as skilled as Mobley, plus having the size, aggressiveness, and bag of tricks that the former light-heavy champ never had.

Besides that, Kelly, in his last match here, made himself obnoxious to the local fans, by tossing both Jack and George out of the ring—an illegal procedure, and fighting after the final fall had ended. Massey, just last week, made himself equally obnoxious with his derisive gestures to the ringsiders, so all in all, even if the Curtises weren't the most popular matmen ever to appear here, they would be Tuesday.

Two one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries between opposing team members will open hostilities at 8:15 p.m., and West Monroe's Bill Barney, who has fully recovered from the swift kick in the pants he got from Mildred Burke last Tuesday, is slated to referee all bouts.

High Prices Help Keep Down Communism

Coffee A Latin American Weapon Against Soviets

EDITOR'S NOTE: It may seem a little thing, but your morning cup of coffee is fighting communism. In much of Latin America, the economy depends on coffee. When prices are down, people are poorer. Communism has a better chance. An AP specialist on Latin America for more than 20 years is back from a tour of 16 countries with this up-to-the-minute report on the Red menace facing our southern neighbors.)

By PAUL SANDERS

Firmly entrenched in Guatemala, international communism is keeping the heat on 19 other Latin-American republics.

The United States is not the only country that would like to see something done about it.

At the Pan American Conference opening in Caracas, Venezuela, March 1, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras and the Dominican Republic will join U. S. representatives in asking that all Latin-American countries take steps to counteract the Communist push.

Guatemalan emissaries, meanwhile, are trying to line up Latin-American opinion against any "intervention" in Guatemalan domestic affairs.

A U. S. Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee estimates about 200,000 Communist party members in all of Latin America, with perhaps a million sympathizers. That's in a total Latin-American population of some 150 million.

Their aim: to make as much trouble for the United States as possible.

The Reds have had only moderate success in most Latin-American politics, the indifference of the masses in many countries to ideologies of all kinds—all these things provide a fertile field for a handful of Reds to infiltrate into positions of dominance, as they did in Guatemala.

Reds Slip In Mexico, Cuba

The U. S. Senate subcommittee estimates that Communist party membership is down about 130,000 from its 1944-47 peak. The Reds have slipped badly in Mexico and Cuba, once two strong points.

But the persisting menace was pointed up last fall when Communists—taking advantage of local reform ambitions—got key posts in British Guiana. That caused Britain to set aside the colony's new constitution and take back powers which had been given the local electorate. The usual combination of low wages, poor living standards and a desire for better things had enabled the Red-dominated forces to win the colonial elections.

A steady flow of Communist propaganda goes into all of the Latin-American republics from Guatemala and Mexico. Although the Red hold on labor unions has been weakened in Mexico, a large and efficient Russian Embassy staff is generally blamed for much of the stream of Communist propaganda. Almost every day's shipment of Communist literature of some kind is seized by police in one of the other countries.

Communist leaders from Guatemala and other countries make frequent trips to Moscow, and large Latin-American delegations attend Russian-sponsored "peace congresses" in Europe and Asia. These congresses seem to be the principal centers for renewing Communist enthusiasms and getting the latest line for Latin America.

Anti-Americanism Theme

As is the case everywhere else in the world where the Communists threaten, the Red pitch in Latin America is keyed to low living standards, rising nationalism, and anti-Americanism.

Communists infiltrate labor unions and manage many of them. They also gain power in legitimate progressive groups and try to direct reform movements along disruptive lines — which means lines contrary to U. S. interests.

Communist strength naturally rises when economic difficulties become acute. It now seems dangerous in Chile and Brazil, where inflation presses hard on the workers' already low living standards. A decline in copper prices has cut Chile's revenues and stimulated the already dangerous rise in living costs. Brazil still is feeling the effects of frosts which cut the 1953 coffee crop, a chief source of income.

Brazilian Communists are estimated to number about 50,000. They have infiltrated labor unions, government agencies and the army. Chilean Communist strength centered in the miners' unions, probably parallels that in Brazil. Mexico and Cuba are supposed to have about 30,000 Communists each, Venezuela 20,000.

Numbers Don't Count With Soviets

But numbers in themselves don't mean much. The Reds took control in Guatemala with a group variously estimated at 500 to 2,500.

In most other Latin-American countries, the Communist drive has been held in check by a combination of factors:

A high level of business activity and record coffee prices are toning up the whole general area running from Columbia through Panama and up through Central America.

This region is largely dependent on coffee for national revenues and wages. Dollar-a-day pay on the coffee farms has become more or less standard. Only a few years back it was 30 or 40 cents a day. Increased living costs have taken much of the higher wages.

Venezuela, next door to Colombia, is thriving on its gigantic oil production and newly exploited iron ore deposits.

But there's a widespread fear that coffee prices may drop, that Washington may impose import restrictions on oil and metals, that there may be a depression in North America. These things would hit hard at Latin America. Mexico, Peru, Bolivia and Chile already have begun crackdowns against communists. These have had varying degrees of success but were particularly effective in Mexico and Cuba, where Red influences in labor unions were blunted. The Communist party is banned by law in 12 countries: Venezuela, El Salvador, Chile, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Honduras, Nicaragua, Brazil, Paraguay, Peru, Cuba and Panama.

Importance Of Welfare Programs

Always a big factor against Communism is the Roman Catholic Church, dominant everywhere in Latin America.

Social reform and welfare programs under way in most of the republics tend to deter the Communist push. Many of these programs—in education, housing, public health, hospitals, child welfare, road building, farming, and communications—are carried on with U. S. help under the Point Four program. The Latin-American governments pay most of the cost.

Some of the biggest and showiest welfare programs are carried on by dictatorships, still the customary form of government in half the republics. The modern Latin-American strong man has found social and economic reform a good way to broaden the base of his support, keep down the outcry from his opposition and — in more recent years — to fight communism.

Some of the biggest housing projects, for example, are in Argentina, where block after block is crowded with big low-rent apartment buildings put up by the government-sponsored Eva Peron Social Aid Foundation. There are impressive developments in Venezuela, where Marcos Perez Jimenez is the strong man, and in the Dominican Republic, under Rafael L. Trujillo's 20-year-old dominance. In the Dominican Republic, two-room cement houses rent for $15 a month. Larger houses — four rooms — rent for $23. In either case the tenant gets ownership after 10 years.

The Soil Of Guatemala

Trujillo also has put into effect a land reform program, donating land for peasants from a big sugar plantation he controls. Other sugar estates have been invited to follow suit.

Where communism has gained a big foothold — as in Guatemala — lack of social progress has been a dominant factor favoring the Reds.

The Guatemalan situation was made to order for the Communists.

Before and during the long dictatorship of Gen. Jorge Ubico, terminated by revolt in 1944, almost no social reforms were introduced. Illiterate Indians forming the bulk of the population were subject to what amounted to forced labor on coffee plantations at miserable wages.

A left-wing administration, chosen in free elections after the 1944 revolution, introduced reform measures which received little or no support from the conservative, land-owning class which had backed Ubico. Conservatism became identified with opposition to reform of all kinds, and the Communists moved in to take control of the program and the labor unions.

United Fruit Co. A Target

Land reform — farms for the peasants from the overpopulated Indian corn patches of the highlands — became one of the chief Communist weapons. It was directed principally at the United Fruit Co. It is U.S.-owned, hence a natural target, and its housing, education and health programs made it subject to charges it was "a state within a state." The fact the fruit company paid the highest farm wages in Guatemala didn't stave off orders to take over 389,000 acres of its reserve land.

The government also has expropriated large acreages from Guatemalan owners, and has done little to put down Indian outbreaks and forced seizure of land by the Indians on property not included in expropriation orders.

Youth Suffers Broken Leg In Auto Accident

Twelve-year-old Phyllis Kulcke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kulcke, 1500 South Third Street, suffered a broken leg when struck by a car in the 1300 block of South Second Street yesterday evening.

According to the report of investigating officers, Sgt. S. Martin and officer M. E. Whittington, James C. Blanson, 19, of Rt. 1, Wisner, was driving north on South Third Street, when the girl ran into the path of his vehicle. Witnesses reported that the accident was unavoidable.

No charges were filed against Blanson.

Franklin Negro Again Charged In Williams Killing

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —A. J. Rose, 33, Negro, of Liddieville, is being held in the Franklin parish jail charged with a murder, of which he was earlier cleared.

Wallace was arrested today on a warrant charging him with murder in the January 6 death of Wallace Williams, 28, Negro, of Liddieville. The warrant was sworn out by Andrew Wilhite, uncle of the deceased.

At the time of the shooting Sheriff Hiram B. Waller and Deputy Elmer Wiggins, gave the following report of their investigation of the shooting:

Wallace and Rose were returning from a visit to Richland parish the night of January 6, and were riding in Rose's car when they became engaged in an argument. When they reached Liddieville, where they planned to attend a show, they got out of the car, but continued.

According to witnesses Williams returned to the automobile and got a foreign made .32 caliber pistol belonging to Rose. While Rose was attempting to take the gun from Williams it accidentally discharged, sending a slug into Williams' chest and through his heart.

Following the investigation Rose was released without charges being made.

Automobile Thief In Franklin Linked To Three Vehicles

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —A Franklin parish auto thief apparently is having a difficult time finding a vehicle which satisfies his desires.

Franklin parish deputy sheriff Elmer Wiggins, reported that a 1951 Mercury reported stolen in Monroe Thursday night, was found abandoned four miles south of here on the Ft. Necessity road Friday morning.

However, Harold Robinson, who lives near where the Mercury was found, reported Friday morning that his 1953 Dodge truck was missing. The truck was found about 1 p.m. today in a patch of woods about a mile and a half from Winnsboro.

A 1949 Ford belonging to Boyce Guimbellot was reported stolen from the Winnsboro Sanitarium about 5 a.m. today. Guimbellot's daughter had taken her father to the hospital last night. When she returned to the parking area she found the vehicle missing.

The missing car was identified as a maroon tudor sedan, bearing Louisiana license 319-956.

The Mercury has been returned to Monroe.

Officials believe L.T.I. escapees are responsible for the chain of auto thefts.

Mrs. Knight, Of Winnsboro, Dies

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special)— Mrs. Ursula Dupont Knight, prominent citizen of Winnsboro, died Saturday at her residence at 2:45 a.m.

Coming from a prominent South Louisiana family, and having many friends through the state of Louisiana, Mrs. Knight first made her home in Sicily Island. She had been a resident of Winnsboro for the past eight years.

She was graduated from Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, Louisiana and shortly thereafter became the wife of J. B. Knight, Sr.

Mrs. Knight is survived by her husband J. B. Knight, Sr., a prominent merchant in Winnsboro; by one son, John Barkley Knight, Jr., of Winnsboro; her mother Mrs. Charles I. Dupont, Sr., of Plaquemines; by two sisters, Mrs. Charles A. Laborde, New Orleans; Mrs. L. P. Terrbonne, Plaquemines, by five brothers, all of Plaquemines; Judge C. I. Dupont, Jr.; C. O. Dupont, Sr.; L. C. Dupont; Albert Dupont; and Joe Dupont.

Funeral directions are under direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro. Services will be at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Winnsboro at 10 a.m. Sunday. Rev. Father Youngkin will officiate at the funeral Mass. Interment will follow in Myrtle Memorial Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be W. K. McLaurin, Williard E. Marioneaux, B. T. Lenear, Edgar Lowry, T. B. Dickey, and B. I. Berry.

Deaths

JOHN BATICE COUTEE

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —Word was received here tonight that John Batice Coutee, 73, resident of Crowville, La., died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Orena Calhoun at 9:10 a.m.

Funeral services, under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Central Baptist Church near Wisner, La., with Rev. Ira Patterson officiating. Interment will follow at the Central Cemetery.

Coutee is survived by one sister, Mrs. Orena Calhoun and a number of nieces and nephews.

Buyer's Market For Cars Emerges In Louisiana As New Models Move Slowly

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The automobile business is completing an economic cycle that's put a gleam in the eye of the Louisiana car buyer.

The switch from a sellers' to a buyers' market has reversed the position of the new car dealer and the man who makes those monthly installment payments to avoid street cars, buses and walking.

Gone are the days of waiting lists, condescending salesman and big dealer profits.

An Associated Press survey showed today new car dealers are keenly aware of the change. If you ask them, they'll admit it, unless you're trying to make a trade.

The market turnabout, long-trumpeted by economists, became evident last year.

Dealers cleared out their 1953 models slowly. A few still have some last year models on hand.

When the 1953 cars were sold during November and December, many dealers made only enough to cover their costs—no profit. There were exceptions, principally Ford and Chevrolet.

Already, with 1954 models on the market for about a month, many dealers are giving what amounts to a discount on their cars. They do this by increasing the trade-in allowance.

A Buick dealer said most auto sellers expect to cut prices toward the end of the year, but usually during the first six months, after a model comes out, they expect to make their full gross profit. None expect to this year.

For the dealer, what does this mean?

It means that since profits per sale are dropping, the dealer has got to sell more cars this year to maintain his 1953 dollar volume.

One Chevrolet dealer figured his company had "to sell 20-25 per cent more cars this year to make as much money as we did last year." That's the dynamic view.

Other dealers felt sales were going to be down regardless. That's the not-so-dynamic view.

But the second opinion isn't shared altogether by auto makers. General Motors announced last week it planned to spend more than a billion dollars for expansion, and possibly get ready for a reported challenge by Ford for top spot in total sales.

This puts a two-way squeeze on the dealer—from the factory and from the customer.

Customers, said John Hofbauer, president of the Louisiana Auto Dealers Association, are getting "extremely exacting, with fixed ideas" about what they want in a car and what they want to pay for it.

All dealers stand firm in their declaration that they're not going to take any more cars from the factory than they think they can sell.

For getting the customers, their tonic was an old one—"hustle."

"Our salesmen have got to get out and see people, sell them," was the almost unanimous reply.

COFFEE STILL 5c

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—UP—Army and Air Force post exchanges will continue to sell coffee for five cents a cup no matter what happens to the price of coffee consumed by civilians, the chief of the Army and Air Force exchange service said Saturday.

High Prices Help Keep Down Communism

Coffee A Latin American Weapon Against Soviets

EDITOR'S NOTE: It may seem a little thing, but your morning cup of coffee is fighting communism. In much of Latin America, the economy depends on coffee. When prices are down, people are poorer. Communism has a better chance. An AP specialist on Latin America for more than 20 years is back from a tour of 16 countries with this up-to-the-minute report on the Red menace facing our southern neighbors.)

By PAUL SANDERS

Firmly entrenched in Guatemala, international communism is keeping the heat on 19 other Latin-American republics.

The United States is not the only country that would like to see something done about it.

At the Pan American Conference opening in Caracas, Venezuela, March 1, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras and the Dominican Republic will join U. S. representatives in asking that all Latin-American countries take steps to counteract the Communist push.

Guatemalan emissaries, meanwhile, are trying to line up Latin-American opinion against any "intervention" in Guatemalan domestic affairs.

A U. S. Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee estimates about 200,000 Communist party members in all of Latin America, with perhaps a million sympathizers. That's in a total Latin-American population of some 150 million.

Their aim: to make as much trouble for the United States as possible.

The Reds have had only moderate success in most Latin-American politics, the indifference of the masses in many countries to ideologies of all kinds—all these things provide a fertile field for a handful of Reds to infiltrate into positions of dominance, as they did in Guatemala.

Reds Slip In Mexico, Cuba

The U. S. Senate subcommittee estimates that Communist party membership is down about 130,000 from its 1944-47 peak. The Reds have slipped badly in Mexico and Cuba, once two strong points.

But the persisting menace was pointed up last fall when Communists—taking advantage of local reform ambitions—got key posts in British Guiana. That caused Britain to set aside the colony's new constitution and take back powers which had been given the local electorate. The usual combination of low wages, poor living standards and a desire for better things had enabled the Red-dominated forces to win the colonial elections.

A steady flow of Communist propaganda goes into all of the Latin-American republics from Guatemala and Mexico. Although the Red hold on labor unions has been weakened in Mexico, a large and efficient Russian Embassy staff is generally blamed for much of the stream of Communist propaganda. Almost every day's shipment of Communist literature of some kind is seized by police in one of the other countries.

Communist leaders from Guatemala and other countries make frequent trips to Moscow, and large Latin-American delegations attend Russian-sponsored "peace congresses" in Europe and Asia. These congresses seem to be the principal centers for renewing Communist enthusiasms and getting the latest line for Latin America.

Anti-Americanism Theme

As is the case everywhere else in the world where the Communists threaten, the Red pitch in Latin America is keyed to low living standards, rising nationalism, and anti-Americanism.

Communists infiltrate labor unions and manage many of them. They also gain power in legitimate progressive groups and try to direct reform movements along disruptive lines — which means lines contrary to U. S. interests.

Communist strength naturally rises when economic difficulties become acute. It now seems dangerous in Chile and Brazil, where inflation presses hard on the workers' already low living standards. A decline in copper prices has cut Chile's revenues and stimulated the already dangerous rise in living costs. Brazil still is feeling the effects of frosts which cut the 1953 coffee crop, a chief source of income.

Brazilian Communists are estimated to number about 50,000. They have infiltrated labor unions, government agencies and the army. Chilean Communist strength centered in the miners' unions, probably parallels that in Brazil. Mexico and Cuba are supposed to have about 30,000 Communists each, Venezuela 20,000.

Numbers Don't Count With Soviets

But numbers in themselves don't mean much. The Reds took control in Guatemala with a group variously estimated at 500 to 2,500.

In most other Latin-American countries, the Communist drive has been held in check by a combination of factors:

A high level of business activity and record coffee prices are toning up the whole general area running from Columbia through Panama and up through Central America.

This region is largely dependent on coffee for national revenues and wages. Dollar-a-day pay on the coffee farms has become more or less standard. Only a few years back it was 30 or 40 cents a day. Increased living costs have taken much of the higher wages.

Venezuela, next door to Colombia, is thriving on its gigantic oil production and newly exploited iron ore deposits.

But there's a widespread fear that coffee prices may drop, that Washington may impose import restrictions on oil and metals, that there may be a depression in North America. These things would hit hard at Latin America. Mexico, Peru, Bolivia and Chile already have begun crackdowns against communists. These have had varying degrees of success but were particularly effective in Mexico and Cuba, where Red influences in labor unions were blunted. The Communist party is banned by law in 12 countries: Venezuela, El Salvador, Chile, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Honduras, Nicaragua, Brazil, Paraguay, Peru, Cuba and Panama.

Importance Of Welfare Programs

Always a big factor against Communism is the Roman Catholic Church, dominant everywhere in Latin America.

Social reform and welfare programs under way in most of the republics tend to deter the Communist push. Many of these programs—in education, housing, public health, hospitals, child welfare, road building, farming, and communications—are carried on with U. S. help under the Point Four program. The Latin-American governments pay most of the cost.

Some of the biggest and showiest welfare programs are carried on by dictatorships, still the customary form of government in half the republics. The modern Latin-American strong man has found social and economic reform a good way to broaden the base of his support, keep down the outcry from his opposition and — in more recent years — to fight communism.

Some of the biggest housing projects, for example, are in Argentina, where block after block is crowded with big low-rent apartment buildings put up by the government-sponsored Eva Peron Social Aid Foundation. There are impressive developments in Venezuela, where Marcos Perez Jimenez is the strong man, and in the Dominican Republic, under Rafael L. Trujillo's 20-year-old dominance. In the Dominican Republic, two-room cement houses rent for $15 a month. Larger houses — four rooms — rent for $23. In either case the tenant gets ownership after 10 years.

The Soil Of Guatemala

Trujillo also has put into effect a land reform program, donating land for peasants from a big sugar plantation he controls. Other sugar estates have been invited to follow suit.

Where communism has gained a big foothold — as in Guatemala — lack of social progress has been a dominant factor favoring the Reds.

The Guatemalan situation was made to order for the Communists.

Before and during the long dictatorship of Gen. Jorge Ubico, terminated by revolt in 1944, almost no social reforms were introduced. Illiterate Indians forming the bulk of the population were subject to what amounted to forced labor on coffee plantations at miserable wages.

A left-wing administration, chosen in free elections after the 1944 revolution, introduced reform measures which received little or no support from the conservative, land-owning class which had backed Ubico. Conservatism became identified with opposition to reform of all kinds, and the Communists moved in to take control of the program and the labor unions.

United Fruit Co. A Target

Land reform — farms for the peasants from the overpopulated Indian corn patches of the highlands — became one of the chief Communist weapons. It was directed principally at the United Fruit Co. It is U.S.-owned, hence a natural target, and its housing, education and health programs made it subject to charges it was "a state within a state." The fact the fruit company paid the highest farm wages in Guatemala didn't stave off orders to take over 389,000 acres of its reserve land.

The government also has expropriated large acreages from Guatemalan owners, and has done little to put down Indian outbreaks and forced seizure of land by the Indians on property not included in expropriation orders.

Youth Suffers Broken Leg In Auto Accident

Twelve-year-old Phyllis Kulcke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kulcke, 1500 South Third Street, suffered a broken leg when struck by a car in the 1300 block of South Second Street yesterday evening.

According to the report of investigating officers, Sgt. S. Martin and officer M. E. Whittington, James C. Blanson, 19, of Rt. 1, Wisner, was driving north on South Third Street, when the girl ran into the path of his vehicle. Witnesses reported that the accident was unavoidable.

No charges were filed against Blanson.

Franklin Negro Again Charged In Williams Killing

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —A. J. Rose, 33, Negro, of Liddieville, is being held in the Franklin parish jail charged with a murder, of which he was earlier cleared.

Wallace was arrested today on a warrant charging him with murder in the January 6 death of Wallace Williams, 28, Negro, of Liddieville. The warrant was sworn out by Andrew Wilhite, uncle of the deceased.

At the time of the shooting Sheriff Hiram B. Waller and Deputy Elmer Wiggins, gave the following report of their investigation of the shooting:

Wallace and Rose were returning from a visit to Richland parish the night of January 6, and were riding in Rose's car when they became engaged in an argument. When they reached Liddieville, where they planned to attend a show, they got out of the car, but continued.

According to witnesses Williams returned to the automobile and got a foreign made .32 caliber pistol belonging to Rose. While Rose was attempting to take the gun from Williams it accidentally discharged, sending a slug into Williams' chest and through his heart.

Following the investigation Rose was released without charges being made.

Automobile Thief In Franklin Linked To Three Vehicles

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —A Franklin parish auto thief apparently is having a difficult time finding a vehicle which satisfies his desires.

Franklin parish deputy sheriff Elmer Wiggins, reported that a 1951 Mercury reported stolen in Monroe Thursday night, was found abandoned four miles south of here on the Ft. Necessity road Friday morning.

However, Harold Robinson, who lives near where the Mercury was found, reported Friday morning that his 1953 Dodge truck was missing. The truck was found about 1 p.m. today in a patch of woods about a mile and a half from Winnsboro.

A 1949 Ford belonging to Boyce Guimbellot was reported stolen from the Winnsboro Sanitarium about 5 a.m. today. Buimbellot's daughter had taken her father to the hospital last night. When she returned to the parking area she found the vehicle missing.

The missing car was identified as a maroon tudor sedan, bearing Louisiana license 319-956.

The Mercury has been returned to Monroe.

Officials believe L.T.I. escapees are responsible for the chain of auto thefts.

Deaths

JOHN BATICE COUTEE

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special) —Word was received here tonight that John Batice Coutee, 73, resident of Crowville, La., died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Orena Calhoun at 9:10 a.m.

Funeral services, under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Central Baptist Church near Wisner, La., with Rev. Ira Patterson officiating. Interment will follow at the Central Cemetery.

Coutee is survived by one sister, Mrs. Orena Calhoun and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Knight, Of Winnsboro, Dies

WINNSBORO, Jan. 23 (Special)— Mrs. Ursula Dupont Knight, prominent citizen of Winnsboro, died Saturday at her residence at 2:45 a.m.

Coming from a prominent South Louisiana family, and having many friends through the state of Louisiana, Mrs. Knight first made her home in Sicily Island. She had been a resident of Winnsboro for the past eight years.

She was graduated from Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, Louisiana and shortly thereafter became the wife of J. B. Knight, Sr.

Mrs. Knight is survived by her husband J. B. Knight, Sr., a prominent merchant in Winnsboro; by one son, John Barkley Knight, Jr., of Winnsboro; her mother Mrs. Charles I. Dupont, Sr., of Plaquemines; by two sisters, Mrs. Charles A. Laborde, New Orleans; Mrs. L. P. Terrbonne, Plaquemines, by five brothers, all of Plaquemines; Judge C. I. Dupont, Jr.; C. O. Dupont, Sr.; L. C. Dupont; Albert Dupont; and Joe Dupont.

Funeral directions are under direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro. Services will be at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Winnsboro at 10 a.m. Sunday. Rev. Father Youngkin will officiate at the funeral Mass. Interment will follow in Myrtle Memorial Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be W. K. McLaurin, Williard E. Marioneaux, B. T. Lenear, Edgar Lowry, T. B. Dickey, and B. I. Berry.

Buyer's Market For Cars Emerges In Louisiana As New Models Move Slowly

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The automobile business is completing an economic cycle that's put a gleam in the eye of the Louisiana car buyer.

The switch from a sellers' to a buyers' market has reversed the position of the new car dealer and the man who makes those monthly installment payments to avoid street cars, buses and walking.

Gone are the days of waiting lists, condescending salesman and big dealer profits.

An Associated Press survey showed today new car dealers are keenly aware of the change. If you ask them, they'll admit it, unless you're trying to make a trade.

The market turnabout, long-trumpeted by economists, became evident last year.

Dealers cleared out their 1953 models slowly. A few still have some last year models on hand.

When the 1953 cars were sold during November and December, many dealers made only enough to cover their costs—no profit. There were exceptions, principally Ford and Chevrolet.

Already, with 1954 models on the market for about a month, many dealers are giving what amounts to a discount on their cars. They do this by increasing the trade-in allowance.

A Buick dealer said most auto sellers expect to cut prices toward the end of the year, but usually during the first six months, after a model comes out, they expect to make their full gross profit. None expect to this year.

For the dealer, what does this mean?

It means that since profits per sale are dropping, the dealer has got to sell more cars this year to maintain his 1953 dollar volume.

One Chevrolet dealer figured his company had "to sell 20-25 per cent more cars this year to make as much money as we did last year." That's the dynamic view.

Other dealers felt sales were going to be down regardless. That's the not-so-dynamic view.

But the second opinion isn't shared altogether by auto makers. General Motors announced last week it planned to spend more than a billion dollars for expansion, and possibly get ready for a reported challenge by Ford for top spot in total sales.

This puts a two-way squeeze on the dealer—from the factory and from the customer.

Customers, said John Hofbauer, president of the Louisiana Auto Dealers Association, are getting "extremely exacting, with fixed ideas" about what they want in a car and what they want to pay for it.

All dealers stand firm in their declaration that they're not going to take any more cars from the factory than they think they can sell.

For getting the customers, their tonic was an old one—"hustle."

"Our salesmen have got to get out and see people, sell them," was the almost unanimous reply.

COFFEE STILL 5c

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—UP—Army and Air Force post exchanges will continue to sell coffee for five cents a cup no matter what happens to the price of coffee consumed by civilians, the chief of the Army and Air Force exchange service said Saturday.

Salesman Wanted (33)

WHY SETTLE FOR LESS THAN $14,000 IN A YEAR
THE DAYS are gone when a "few thousand" a year salary was enough for a man to take care of his family, buy a new car, and "salt some away for the future."

IF YOU are a middle-aged man who has reached the "ceiling" on your earnings and now want to make good in a new field, we can offer you a fine offer to join our organization, where top men are paid up to $22,000 in a year.

IN SPITE of shortages in other businesses, our volume continues at a terrific pace. We have over 400 in the Monroe area for a man over 45. The man we want must be of a grade that high personnel, traditions and success. Earning are good in advance, no investment is needed, no collections, no deliveries.

WRITE A personal letter to our PRESIDENT, Dept. C-10, P. O. Box 711, Fort Worth 1, Texas.

WHY SETTLE FOR LESS THAN $14,000 IN A YEAR
THE DAYS are gone when a "few thousand" a year salary was enough for a man to take care of his family, buy a new car, and "salt some away for the future."

IF YOU are a middle-aged man who has reached the "ceiling" on your earnings and now want to make good in a new field, we can make you a fine offer to join our organization, where top men are paid up to $22,000 in a year.

IN SPITE of shortages in other businesses, our volume is expanding at a terrific rate. We have an opening in the Monroe area for a man over 45. The man we want must be high grade (not high pressure), ambitious and sincere. Earnings are paid in advance, no investment is needed, no collections, no deliveries.

WRITE A personal letter to our PRESIDENT, Dept. C-10, P. O. Box 711, Fort Worth 1, Texas.

Houses (73)

NAGGING WIFE?
HAS THE "little lady" been after you lately to make that all-important move from a rented home into a home of your own? If so, and you've lacked the necessary down payment, how's this! A matchless 3-bedroom home, located at 707 "E" ST. on a 75'x150 foot corner lot with the following fashionable features: excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; gleaming hardwood floors; 42" attic fan with timer switch and large floor furnace with thermostat; double garage and side screened porch on the east side; delightful (14'x16') kitchen with an abundance of wood cabinets. AND THE BEST FEATURE OF ALL . . . only $608 down to a qualified GI makes the move. Make the first move and look today.

IT'S RIDICULOUS!
NO . . . NOT the house, but rather just the whole idea of paying rent when such a small ($1200) down payment buys such a large (6-rooms) home in such good (3½ yr. old) condition. Among the 1138 sq. feet of living area are these impeccable features: a 24'x14' living room with an unusual fireplace; separate dining room; a novel kitchen with loads of cabinet space, utility closet with 30-gallon heater; copper plumbing throughout; 2 spacious bedrooms & a 10'x18' paneled den on back which can be either a den or bedroom; auto. attic fan and floor furnace! It's a once-in-a-lifetime buy and located at 1612 S. 4th.

DISHPAN HANDS?
IF YOU'VE got 'em . . . I've a cure as well as an added feature! The cure is: a General Electric dishwasher and surrounding this "dishpan hand curer" is sheer comfort in the form of a 2-bedroom & den home with (2) baths! Here's a home the whole family will revel in with its 2 baths, (one with separate dressing room) . . . it's well-landscaped 105'x150' lot . . . its proximity to Sherrouse school (1 block) . . . it's roomy kitchen with plenty of breakfast area and last is the tremendous amount of closet space. This happy home is vacant at 810 SHERROUSE, and priced at $14,500 with GI financing if desired.

POOR JOE!
HAD HE KNOWN, he would have never left his family and gone to Siberia! He was a struggling young man with 3 kids, but no matter how hard he struggled he could never raise the $1500 to $2000 down payment usually required for a 3-bedroom home. Had he just known that for only $600 down, he could have moved his family into this comfortable 3-bedroom home with its floor furnace & 42" attic fan . . . its hardwood floors . . . its disappearing stair to attic . . . its outside aluminum awnings . . . and its 1004 sq. feet of floor space. So don't pull a "POOR JOE," take a "gander" at 1009 ARK. ROAD today

SCRABBLE!
NO MATTER how you mix your words, they spell "true value" in this 7-room, 4-bedroom home. Here's an impervious home that's selling for $1,000 less than FHA value! Imagine! Not only are you buying true value, but also such comfortable characteristics as these: 81'x150' lot . . . ½ block to Mitchell Lane grammar . . . well-proportioned living room with fireplace . . . separate dining . . large kitchen with breakfast area . . roomy, aluminum-screened porch and also a garage. "Scrabble" is located at 708 S. 5TH in West Monroe and only $1800 down buys it!

SORRY, IT'S SOLD
IF YOU'RE a "home-hunter," you've probably heard the above expression before . . . so read the following description and call for appointment to see this "pace-setter" before we tell you . . . "sorry, it's been sold!" This is a home richly endowed with note-worthy features . . . such as: 3 bedrooms (one has double closets & built-ins); a bath-and-a-half; the home is on a corner lot; it also has a 12'x20' breezeway opening out of the kitchen; the laundry room has washer plumbing, dryer wiring and plumbing for an extra water heater if needed; the hall is lined with floor-to-ceiling closets and last, but not least . . . it's just been completely re-decorated! It's located at 322 STEWART in W. Monroe.

NEED A BABY SITTER?
NEEDLESS to say, it's very seldom you will find a feature like the above in any home . . . but if you purchase this distinctive brick on a corner lot at 4208 LEE AVE., I'll personally sit with the kids for a whole day! (References on request!) Here's a new brick on a 80'x150 corner lot with 2 bedrooms & a den; bath with shower and colored fixtures; copper plumbing throughout; a novel kitchen with natural wood cabinets and a separate dining area! There's also a breezeway & a carport. The price is $12,000 (including a day's baby-sitting)

YOU NAME IT!
CALL IT CHARM, atmosphere or comfort. It's something not found or felt in every home for very few homes can meet the rigid requirements! Here's breakfast-ing elegance in every room . . . decoration by FRIEND-PIPER . . . imported chandeliers from Czechoslovakia . . . copper pipes throughout . . . 3 large bedrooms . . 2-tile baths (one adjoining master bedroom) . . there's a separate breakfast room . . . a breezeway on the back . . double carport . . complete laundry room with separate water heater (the house has it's own 50 gallon water heater) . . . home is adequately cooled by 1 ton-and-a-half air-conditioning unit and an attic fan . . . heated by (2) floor furnaces. Every place you look, there's quality and it's all on a 113'x180' corner lot. Shown by appointment only."

YOU OUGHTA' SEE
3104 GORDON AVE., and here's why: It's an infant (3½ years old) that's had more than its share of lovin' attention with 2 bedrooms; large, tastefully decorated kitchen with roomy dining area . . . aluminum screens . . . washer plumbing in kitchen . . . excellent taste in wall-paper and it also has attic fan and floor furnace! $1000 down will make "the little woman" awfully happy. Call today for appointment . . . it's vacant!

FOR A LIFETIME
OF COMFORTABLE living with a minimum upkeep! That so adequately describes this luxurious home of solid brick construction on SANDBEL drive with its 3 spacious bedrooms and a unique den. . . . It's unique Roman brick fireplace and chimney . . . its wall-to-wall carpeting in living room . . its lifetime white crushed marble roof . . . it's distinctive pine-paneled dining area . . . its central heating and garage with store room. For a happy feeling, let us show you this one today.

A $1000 BUCKS
UNDER FHA value and only $960 down moves you into the happiest home in town! Among the 1638 sq. feet of living area are these livable features: spacious living room; 3 large rooms and a den; just been completely re-decorated throughout with modern colors; kitchen with nice cabinet space & washer plumbing; enclosed garage with metal door; floor furnace and side screened porch. Take a few minutes and let us show you 118 RIVERBEND IN W. Monroe.

ONE OF THE NICEST
THINGS THAT could happen to any home took place in this matchless 5-room home at 1102 COLE AVE. . . . For it was completely re-decorated less than 2 years ago and it shows in all rooms. The home contains . . . 3-(14'x14') bedrooms . . . separate living & dining room . . . well-arranged kitchen . . . new 30-gal. water heater . . . floor furnace & attic fan . . utility room off the kitchen . . . and a separate garage. $1350 down turns the key. Call for appointment.

YOU'D BE PROUD
AND THE KIDS would be a happy bunch to be living in such a comfortable home as is 706 FILHIOL! Few homes can better qualify for the title of a "family home" than this one . . . with its 6-rooms, its 3 roomy bedrooms . . . its large living room and separate dining room . . . its novel kitchen . . . its solid maple floors and last, but not least . . . its well-shaded 70x150 foot lot! The price is only $13,500 so call for a "peep" today

Houses (73)

NAGGING WIFE?
HAS THE "little lady" been after you lately to make that all-important move from a rented home into a home of your own? If so, and you've lacked the necessary down payment, how's this! A matchless 2-bedroom home, located at 707 "K" ST. on a 75'x150 foot corner lot with the following fashionable features: excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; gleaming hardwood floors; 48" attic fan with timer switch and large floor furnace with thermostat; double garage and side screened porch on the east side; delightful (14'x16') kitchen with an abundance of wood cabinets. AND THE BEST FEATURE OF ALL . . . only $608 down to a qualified GI makes the move. Make the first move and look today.

IT'S RIDICULOUS!
NO . . . NOT the house, but rather just the whole idea of paying rent when such a small ($1300) down payment buys such a large (6-rooms) home in such good (3½ yr. old) condition. Among the 1138 sq. feet of living area are these impeccable features: a 24'x14' living room with an unusual fireplace; separate dining room; a novel kitchen with loads of cabinet space, utility closet with 30-gallon heater; copper plumbing throughout; 2 spacious bedrooms & a 10'x15' paneled den on back which can be either a den or bedroom; auto. attic fan and floor furnace! It's a once-in-a-lifetime buy and located at 1612 S. 4th.

DISHPAN HANDS?
IF YOU'VE got 'em . . . I've a cure as well as an added feature! The cure is: a General Electric dishwasher and surrounding this "dishpan hand curer" is sheer comfort in the form of a 2-bedroom & den home with (2) baths! Here's a home the whole family will revel in with its 2 baths, (one with separate dressing room) . . . it's well-landscaped 105'x150' lot . . . its proximity to Sherrouse school (1 block) . . . it's roomy kitchen with plenty of breakfast area and last is the tremendous amount of closet space. This happy home is vacant at 510 SHERROUSE, and priced at $14,500 with GI financing if desired.

POOR JOE!
HAD HE KNOWN, he would have never left his family and gone to Siberia! He was a struggling young man with 3 kids, but no matter how hard he struggled he could never raise the $1500 to $2000 down payment usually required for a 3-bedroom home. Had he just known that for only $950 down, he could have moved his family into this comfortable 3-bedroom home with its floor furnace & 42" attic fan . . . its hardwood floors . . . its disappearing stair to attic . . . its outside aluminum awnings . . and its 1004 sq. feet of floor space. So don't pull a "POOR JOE," take a "gander" at 1009 ARK. ROAD today

SCRABBLE!
NO MATTER how you mix your words, they spell "true value" in this 7-room, 4-bedroom home. Here's an impervious home that's selling for $1,000 less than FHA value! Imagine! Not only are you buying true value, but also such comfortable characteristics as these: 81'x 150' lot . . . ½ block to Mitchell Lane grammar . . . well-proportioned living room with fireplace . . . separate dining . . large kitchen with breakfast area . . . roomy, aluminum-screened porch and also a garage. "Scrabble" is located at 708 S. 5TH in West Monroe and only $1800 down buys it!

SORRY, IT'S SOLD
IF YOU'RE a "home-hunter," you've probably heard the above expression before . . . so, read the following description and call for appointment to see this "space-setter" before we tell you . . . "sorry, it's been sold!" This is a home richly endowed with note-worthy features . . . such as: 3 bedrooms (one has double closets & built-ins); a bath-and-a-half; the home is on a corner lot; it also has a 12'x20' breezeway opening out of the kitchen; the laundry room has washer plumbing, dryer wiring and plumbing for an extra water heater if needed; the hall is lined with floor-to-ceiling closets and last, but not least, it's just been completely re-decorated! It's located at 322 STEWART in W. Monroe.

NEED A BABY SITTER?
NEEDLESS to say, it's very seldom you will find a feature like the above in any home . . . but if you purchase this distinctive brick on a corner lot at 4208 LEE AVE., I'll personally sit with the kids for a whole day! (References on request!) Here's a new brick on a 60'x150 corner lot with 2 bedrooms & a den; bath with shower and colored fixtures; copper plumbing throughout; a novel kitchen with natural wood cabinets and a separate dining area! There's also a breezeway & a carport. The price is $12,000 (including a day's baby-sitting)

YOU NAME IT!
CALL IT CHARM, atmosphere or comfort. It's something not found or felt in every home for very few homes can meet the rigid requirements! There's breath-taking elegance in every room . . . decoration by FRIEND-PIPER . . . imported chandeliers from Czechoslovakia . . . copper pipes throughout . . . 3 large bedrooms, 2-tile baths (one adjoining master bedroom) . . there's a separate breakfast room . . . a 14'x18' breezeway on the back . . . double carport . . . complete laundry room with separate water heater (the house has it's own 50 gallon water heater) . . . home is adequately cooled by 1 ton-and-a-half air-conditioning unit and an attic fan . . . heated by (3) floor furnaces. Every place you look, there's quality and it's all on a 113'x150' corner lot. Shown by appointment only."

YOU OUGHTA' SEE
3104 GORDON AVE., and here's why: It's an infant (2½ years old) that's had more than its share of lovin' attention with 2 bedrooms; large, tastefully decorated kitchen with roomy dining area . . . aluminum screens . . . washer plumbing in kitchen . . . excellent taste in wallpaper and it also has attic fan and floor furnace! $1050 down will make "the little woman" awfully happy. Call today for appointment . . . it's vacant!

FOR A LIFETIME
OF COMFORTABLE living with a minimum upkeep! That so adequately describes this luxurious home of solid brick construction on SANDEL drive with its 2 spacious bedrooms and a unique den. . . . It's unique Roman brick fireplace and chimney . . . its wall-to-wall carpeting in living room . . its lifetime white crushed marble roof . . . it's distinctive pine-paneled dining area . . . its central heating and garage with store room. For a happy feeling, let us show you this one today.

A $1000 BUCKS
UNDER FHA value and only $950 down moves you into the happiest home in town! Among the 1035 Sq. feet of living area are these livable features: spacious living room; 2 large rooms and a den; just been completely re-decorated throughout with modern colors; kitchen with nice cabinet space & washer plumbing; enclosed garage with metal door; floor furnace and side screened porch. Take a few minutes and let us show you 118 RIVERBEND IN W. Monroe.

ONE OF THE NICEST
THINGS THAT could happen to any home took place in this matchless 5-room home at 1102 COLE AVE. . . . For it was completely re-decorated less than 2 years ago and it shows in all rooms. The home contains . . . 2-(14'x14') bedrooms . . . separate living & dining room . . . well-arranged kitchen . . . new 30-gal. water heater . . . floor furnace & attic fan . . utility room off the kitchen . . . and a separate garage. $1550 down turns the key. Call for appointment.

YOU'D BE PROUD
AND THE KIDS would be a happy bunch to be living in such a comfortable home as is 705 FILHIOL! Few homes can better qualify for the title of a "family home" than this one . . . with its 6-rooms, its 3 roomy bedrooms . . . its large living room and separate dining room . . . its novel kitchen . . . its solid maple floors and last, but not least . . its well-shaded 70x150 foot lot! The price is only $12,500 so call for a "peep" today

N. O. Grand Jury To Study Report On Corruption

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23—UP—The Orleans parish grand jury has slated a meeting next Wednesday to study a report of a special citizens' investigating committee which opened investigations into the New Orleans police department last year.

The citizens' group held one hearing before being stopped by a court restraining order obtained by former policeman Alois Hirt. The investigations then were continued by the commission council, with Aaron Kohn, chief investigator for the citizens' group, continuing the questioning.

Kohn and others are now preparing a voluminous report on the investigation, which brought the indictment of several police officers, including Supt. Joseph L. Scheuering, and Chief of Detectives Harry Daniels.

The indictment against Scheuering was thrown out in court and he was reinstated at his job. Trial of Daniels is pending.

Court Reverses Conviction Of Escaped Felon

Police were looking for Gerald Rakes Saturday. They wanted to tell him that the State Supreme Court reversed his conviction after he broke out of jail.

The court ordered a new trial Friday while a statewide alarm was being broadcast for Rakes, 27, of Nebraska City.

Rakes, sentenced to six years in the penitentiary on a robbery and assault conviction, escaped from the county jail at Nebraska City Thursday with Gerald M. Hoffman, 37.

He had appealed, and the supreme court found that the judge had erred in his instructions to the jury about the testimony of a nine-year-old girl who had supported Rakes' alibi.

Four Producers Are Brought In In Monroe Area

Four producers were brought in during the past week and two wells were plugged and abandoned, according to a weekly field report of oil and gas wells drilled and completed in the Monroe district for the period ending January 21. LSU Freshman's Death Attributed To Heart Attack

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 23 (AP) — Howard E. O. Brown, 19, a freshman at Louisiana State University, was found dead in his room at the College of Agriculture early today.

He was the son of Mr. and Mr. Jessie Brown of Tallulah.

A verdict of death by acute heart attack was rendered by East Baton Rouge Parish coroner J. D. Watson.

LSU authorities said the body was discovered by student Robert Laird about 5 a. m. in the livestock judging pavilion used as a dormitory by animal husbandry majors.

They said Brown had been suffering from a heart ailment for some time and was last seen alive by another student about 3 a. m.

He would have been 20 Feb. 3.

Voted most valuable football player at Tallulah High School in 1952, Brown was also past state president of 4-H clubs and active in Future Farmers of America.

The body will be shipped to Tallulah tonight. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

3 Dairy Farmers Attack Validity Of State Statute

FRANKLINTON, La., Jan. 23 (AP) —Three dairy farmers demanded that Louisiana's balance agriculture-with-industry act be declared unconstitutional in a suit filed yesterday against the Washington Parish police jury.

The suit charged that the state Legislature improperly adopted the BAWI amendment in 1952. The complaints added that the amendment violated the U. S. Constitution by authorizing "the taking of private property for purposes which are not public purposes."

Dairymen Thad Miller, Millard Wallace and Sam H. Smith filed the suit in district court here.

Target of the suit was the milk plant authorized by Washington Parish property holders in an election last November. The suit claimed that the plant "is not a public purpose and has for its object merely the advantage of certain persons in a particular industry."

Crippled Negro Executed For Killing Cops

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP) — A 54-year-old crippled Negro from Tuscaloosa paid with his life at Kilby Prison last night for the shotgun slaying of two police officers.

Willie Hardie was strapped in the electric chair repeating the 23rd psalm and died chanting "Here I come, My Lord."

But even as a prison official prepared to pull the switch, Hardie insisted he killed the two Tuscaloosa officers by mistake. He contended he thought the two officers were Negroes he had chased away from his home earlier with a shotgun, wounding one of them.

"I'm ready to meet God—I'm surely ready," the condemned man mumbled. He was pronounced dead seven minutes later.

Hardie had admitted shooting Tuscaloosa city detective J. Foster King and patrolman Homer F. Hubbard when they came to his shack near Tuscaloosa May 9, 1952.

NOISE INSURANCE

VALDESE, N. C. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. John Mosteller had a modern brick home but lacked one thing necessary to a happy wedded life. So they went nearby Morganton welfare office and adopted six children, including an eight-day-old boy. "We got sick and tired of working all day and coming home at night to nothing but quietness," said Mosteller.

N. O. Grand Jury To Study Report On Corruption

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23—UP—The Orleans parish grand jury has slated a meeting next Wednesday to study a report of a special citizens' investigating committee which opened investigations into the New Orleans police department last year.

The citizens' group held one hearing before being stopped by a court restraining order obtained by former policeman Alois Hirt. The investigations then were continued by the commission council, with Aaron Kohn, chief investigator for the citizens' group, continuing the questioning.

Kohn and others are now preparing a voluminous report on the investigation, which brought the indictment of several police officers, including Supt. Joseph L. Scheuering, and Chief of Detectives Harry Daniels.

The indictment against Scheuering was thrown out in court and he was reinstated at his job. Trial of Daniels is pending.

Court Reverses Conviction Of Escaped Felon

Police were looking for Gerald Rakes Saturday. They wanted to tell him that the State Supreme Court reversed his conviction after he broke out of jail.

The court ordered a new trial Friday while a statewide alarm was being broadcast for Rakes, 27, of Nebraska City.

Rakes, sentenced to six years in the penitentiary on a robbery and assault conviction, escaped from the county jail at Nebraska City Thursday with Gerald M. Hoffman, 37.

He had appealed, and the supreme court found that the judge had erred in his instructions to the jury about the testimony of a nine-year-old girl who had supported Rakes' alibi.

Four Producers Are Brought In In Monroe Area

Four producers were brought in during the past week and two wells were plugged and abandoned, according to a weekly field report of oil and gas wells drilled and completed in the Monroe district for the period ending January 21. The report was issued by the local office of the department of conservation, minerals division.

Richland Parish (Delhi field)-Don D. Montgomery-Dunlap et al No. 1, abandoned on Jan. 20, in Sec. 25-17-9E.

New locations were:

Concordia Parish (Esperance Point field)- Magnolia Pet. Co. - Hugh Junkin No. 10, N 58 deg. 59', E 8115.5' from the SW coner of Sec. 42-5-9E in Sec. 13-6-9E.

LSU Freshman's Death Attributed To Heart Attack

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 23 (AP) — Howard E. O. Brown, 19, a freshman at Louisiana State University, was found dead in his room at the College of Agriculture early today.

He was the son of Mr. and Mr. Jessie Brown of Tallulah.

A verdict of death by acute heart attack was rendered by East Baton Rouge Parish coroner J. D. Watson.

LSU authorities said the body was discovered by student Robert Laird about 5 a. m. in the livestock judging pavilion used as a dormitory by animal husbandry majors.

They said Brown had been suffering from a heart ailment for some time and was last seen alive by another student about 3 a. m.

He would have been 20 Feb. 3.

Voted most valuable football player at Tallulah High School in 1952, Brown was also past state president of 4-H clubs and active in Future Farmers of America.

The body will be shipped to Tallulah tonight. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

3 Dairy Farmers Attack Validity Of State Statute

FRANKLINTON, La., Jan. 23 (AP) —Three dairy farmers demanded that Louisiana's balance agriculture-with-industry act be declared unconstitutional in a suit filed yesterday against the Washington Parish police jury.

The suit charged that the state Legislature improperly adopted the BAWI amendment in 1952. The complaints added that the amendment violated the U. S. Constitution by authorizing "the taking of private property for purposes which are not public purposes."

Dairymen Thad Miller, Millard Wallace and Sam H. Smith filed the suit in district court here.

Target of the suit was the milk plant authorized by Washington Parish property holders in an election last November. The suit claimed that the plant "is not a public purpose and has for its object merely the advantage of certain persons in a particular industry."

Crippled Negro Executed For Killing Cops

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP) — A 54-year-old crippled Negro from Tuscaloosa paid with his life at Kilby Prison last night for the shotgun slaying of two police officers.

Willie Hardie was strapped in the electric chair repeating the 23rd psalm and died chanting "Here I come, My Lord."

But even as a prison official prepared to pull the switch, Hardie insisted he killed the two Tuscaloosa officers by mistake. He contended he thought the two officers were Negroes he had chased away from his home earlier with a shotgun, wounding one of them.

"I'm ready to meet God—I'm surely ready," the condemned man mumbled. He was pronounced dead seven minutes later.

Hardie had admitted shooting Tuscaloosa city detective J. Foster King and patrolman Homer F. Hubbard when they came to his shack near Tuscaloosa May 9, 1952.

NOISE INSURANCE

VALDESE, N. C. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. John Mosteller had a modern brick home but lacked one thing necessary to a happy wedded life. So they went nearby Morganton welfare office and adopted six children, including an eight-day-old boy. "We got sick and tired of working all day and coming home at night to nothing but quietness," said Mosteller.

Mothers' March on Polio

"How Far That Little Candle Throws His Beam—So Shines a Good Deed." Mrs. James Ewing, III places her lighted candle in the window of her home on Island Drive at 7 o'clock. This is a sign that mothers on their march will be welcome.

Area captains, Mrs. Fagan Cox and Mrs. Fred Jones, will march with mothers on the evening of January 29 on their drive for funds for polio prevention.

Meeting with Mrs. Beatrice Wright, assistant to the National Director of Women's Activities for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to plan for the Mother March on polio are: Mrs. Bailey Grant, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Frank C. Breese, Jr., Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Fred Thurber.

RIGHT—Sally Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Farr, Jr., and Ann Edmondson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Edmondson, were both victims of polio. They realize the importance of the Mothers' March and what it will mean to children in the future.

LEFT—The porch light burning at the home of Mrs. T. H. Harper on Slack St. in West Monroe is an invitation to Mrs. Richard Watkins to enter, as she marches with mothers on the evening of January 29. Each generous donation helps toward the fight for the prevention of polio.

Area captains, Mrs. Fagan Cox and Mrs. Fred Jones, will march with mothers on the evening of January 29 on their drive for funds for polio prevention.

Meeting with Mrs. Beatrice Wright, assistant to the National Director of Women's Activities for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to plan for the Mother March on polio are: Mrs. Bailey Grant, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Frank C. Breese, Jr., Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Fred Thurber.

RIGHT—Sally Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Farr, Jr., and Ann Edmondson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Edmondson, were both victims of polio. They realize the importance of the Mothers' March and what it will mean to children ir the future.

LEFT—The porch light burning at the home of Mrs. T. H. Harper on Slack St. in West Monroe is an invitation to Mrs. Richard Watkins to enter, as she marches with mothers on the evening of January 29. Each generous donation helps toward the fight for the prevention of polio.

Long-Craig Vows Said In Simple Ceremony

TALLULAH — A wedding of affectionate interest to a host of friends in Tallulah was solemnized in a simple and impressive ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Carroll Crow Saturday morning, when Mrs. Mabel R. Craig became the bride of Mr. Robert Glenn Long. The Rev. Arthur Strickland of the Tallulah Presbyterian Church was the officiating minister.

The bride was attired in a navy blue suit with matching shoes and bag and powder blue hat, blouse and gloves. She wore a white orchid. Standing with the couple were Miss Monette Craig, daughter of the bride and Glenna Sevier. Both wore powder blue and pink corsages.

After the ceremony coffee and cake were served and the couple left for a trip to New Orleans. They will reside in Tallulah where Mr. Long is superintendent of maintenance for the Fifth District Levee Board and Mrs. Long is a second grade teacher at the Tallulah High School.

Guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Crow, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sevier, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Craig, Mrs. Bertha M. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Sevier, Mrs. Louise Jordan, Mrs. Ben Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. George Rundell and Miss Florence Rundell of Oak Grove, Mrs. C. B. Claughton, Miss Peggy Claughton and Mrs. Helen Rhineberger.

Exec. Council Endorse Resolution

The executive council of the department of classroom teachers, Louisiana Education Association, endorsed unanimously a resolution offered by Secretary of State Wade O. Martin, Jr., asking PAR in the future to check retirement system records and talk to board members before issuing any research studies on the retirement plan.

The council, composed of state officers and an elected representative from each congressional district of Louisiana, met in the Hotel Bentley, Alexandria, La. on January 16.

Mrs. Alton Kirby of Baton Rouge, president, occupied the chair. Other officers and members present were Mrs. Lizzie Riser, Ruston, vice president, Mrs. Helen Ortis, West Monroe, secretary, Mrs. Violet Gates, Winnfield, treasurer, Miss Minnie Mae Rowe, Lafayette, vice president, Mrs. Prentiss Lowe, Minden, Mr. Carrol Mouton, Lafayette, Mrs. Ione Hill, Monroe, Miss Geraldine Wall, Baton Rouge, Mr. James Dean, New Orleans, Miss Velma Haneman, New Orleans.

Letters were written to Mr. P. C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of the Teachers' Retirement System of Louisiana re-affirming confidence in his and the board's administration, and expressing appreciation for their work. Mr. Martin was commended by letter for his resolution.

Mrs. Kirby and council members invite all interested classroom teachers of Louisiana to attend the council meetings.

MRS. JAMES RUSSELL as State President of the National League of American Pen Women presided over the all-state conference on January 16. The conference was held at the Faculty Club on the LSU campus, Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Welker Share Honors At Parties

Ohio visitors, Mrs. M. K. Clay and Mrs. Leahr Welker, have been entertained at several informal parties during their stay with the John and Robert Clay families.

Among the informal gatherings honoring Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Welker was a coffee at ten-thirty Wednesday morning at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club and a luncheon hosted by Mrs. Robert Clay and Mrs. John Clay.

The informal coffee was held in a private dining room at the club with more than thirty guests calling. Spring flowers of yellow and white arranged in a white milk glass vase centered the table. Candles and a tray of camellias adorned the sideboard.

Purple iris and majestic daisies enhanced the luncheon table when Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Welker were feted at noon.

Twelve guests shared the occasion with the honorees.

Auxiliary At St. Francis To Have Meeting

The Woman's Auxillary of St. Francis Hospital will hold it's first meeting of the year Monday, January 25, at three o'clock in the nurses dining room. The Auxiliary, which is an old organization being reactivated, had its first project, the decoration of a Christmas tree for the children's floor of the hospital. Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Mrs. H. Green, Mrs. Eckart Wheeler, Mrs. H. G. McDonald, Mrs. S. E. Huey served on this committee to decorate the tree.

The response to the present membership drive has been encouraging. Mrs. C. P. Gray Sr. with her committee has been active in soliciting members. New members will be welcomed and any woman interested in joining the auxiliary is invited to attend the meeting Monday.

The important business at this meeting will be adopting constitutions and by-laws. Mrs. H. F. Madison heads this committee.

Other committees are: finance committe, Mrs. Henry Guerriero and Mrs. H. E. Huey; membership committee, Mrs. C. P. Gray; publicity, Mrs. Jack T. Jackson.

The officers serving now: chairman, Mrs. Charles Mitchell; treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Huey; secretary Mrs. Dan M. Moore, Sr.

Ninth Annual Camellia Show Held In Lafayette

By ANNABEL ATKINSON PANKEY
Morning World Correspondent

In spite of high winds, sudden cold spells and other harassments of mother nature, thousands of camellia fans poured into Lafayette on Friday, Jan. 14 for the La. Camellia Society's and Lafayette's annual three days of fun and flowers.

Activities began in the Blackham coliseum on the Southwestern Louisiana Institute campus on Friday night with the crowning of the 1954 camellia queen, pretty Miss Alice Safford of Lafayette. Miss Safford, who was crowned before an audience of approximately 5000 people by A. J. Weddle of New Orleans, outgoing president of the Louisiana Camellia Society, was accompanied by a "court" of charming girls, one of whom was Miss Dolores Irving of Monroe.

The three-day event ended Sunday night at seven p. m. with the closing of the camellia show.

For several years, the Louisiana Camellia Society with the co-operation of the American Society has been staging a sizable show and hospitable S. L. I., whose president, Dr. J. L. Fletcher is quite a camellia enthusiast, has supplied the various facilities. This year, in order to accommodate the increasing throngs of visitors, the display was held in the coliseum.

Reigning beauty of the show was a magnificent C. M. Hovey (deep rose - red mathationia variegated with white splotches) exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Gimbel, Lafayette, who won the silver tray awarded for the outstanding specimen of the show by the civic clubs of Lafayette.

The Crowley Garden Club captured the top arrangement honors.

Though Prof. Ira Nelson, the distinguished S. L. I. horticulturist and well-known horticultural writer who managed the show, said he hadn't expected much from this year's production because of inclement weather, he expressed himself as being highly pleased with the final outcome, when, after entry time, thousands of good specimens had been registered, to say nothing of over fifty arrangements; and several splendid commercial and other non-competitive displays had been set up.

The Louisiana Society chose as its show theme for 1954, "Time of the Flowers" and this idea was dramatically highlighted with a big grandfather clock placed in the center of the arena and adorned with 2000 Prof. Sargent (red) camellias. The entire front of the over twelve ft. tall "timepiece," which was built by S. L. I. horticulture students, was covered with blooms. From the clock, radiating like wheel spokes in all directions, were specimen exhibit tables. Platter exhibits, tray entries, the commercials and other displays on stands and tables formed a rim for the "wheel."

The flower arrangements were located at the back of the building on the rostrum facing the main entrance of the coliseum. The Lafayette Garden Club, whose president is Mrs. Gilbert Stuller, was in charge of this division and of the tea table, where the thirteen top blooms of the show were displayed with their ribbons.

Among the arrangements were several excellent pieces which attracted special attention from the crowds. One of these, entered under the classification "Carnival Parade," was a blue ribbon winner—a charming composition of massed pink perfections on a "float" with a delicate figurine representing a carnival beauty in their midst. Dressed in net and lace, the figurine held in her hands two "reins" of narrow pink satin ribbon which were attached to a pair of figurine "horses."

In the classification "Quelle Beaute," a niche group, a blue ribbon went to a well-done piece which was made of red camellias, reddish - brown foliage and banana stalk, the latter twisted into a candle form.

Amid the hundreds of truly choice specimens exhibited, the semi - doubles seem to predominate. This is understandable, according to authorities, who say that this type and the singles, increasing in popularity as interesting new introductions are offered, usually flower early and therefore are, as a rule, better suited to areas where sudden drops in temperature often prove shocking, than are the double. Also, because of their good over - all qualities, they have many followers in sections where any kind of camellias can be successfully grown.

Several notable varieties exhibited among these stamen-showing types, were the Nina Avery, a dark pink fading toward the center to an apple blossom pink and the Dr. Tinsley, similar in coloring but different in form; the Mathationia Supreme, a fine variegated red with gold stamen; Lucille Flanagan, a good cold-resistant flower; Agnes of the Oaks, a deep pink with white marbling on the petals and the Mrs. Howard Asper, a beautiful prominently - stamened baby pink, semi-cupped in form.

Though the paler colors were perhaps in greater evidence at Lafayette than others, the reds of which men are so fond, received their share of attention. A large number of Woodville Reds were shown. (The oldest Woodville Red tree in the state of Louisiana and perhaps in the U. S. is owned by Mrs. Layton of Monroe. Her plant is about 130 years old.) Many Prof. Sargents were exhibited.

Numerous platters exhibiting only five blooms and several fine trays of mixed varieties added significance to the show which is open to the public without charge every year.

From now on Louisiana Camellia Society members will be thinking and dreaming of the 1955 event which will be under the direction of a newly elected set of officers. Chosen at a business meeting of the society held in Lafayette on Saturday, the new leaders are Dr. Robert Wamack of Shreveport, president; Ernest Judice, LaCombe, first vice-president; H. J. Chatterton, Lafayette, secretary-treasurer and Ira S. Nelson, Lafayette, show manager.

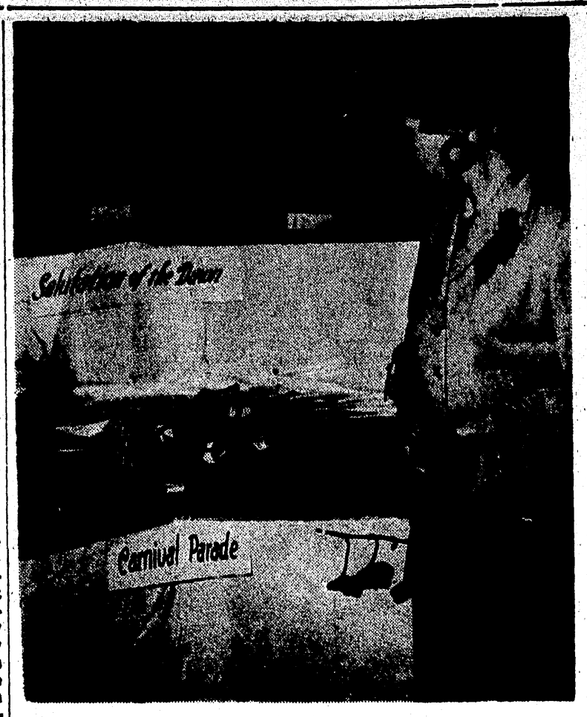
FERRIDAY—Miss Cecile Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith, of Waterproof, was married Friday to J. P. Cason, Jr., son of Mr. J. P. Cason of Tallulah at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. H. L. Gates officiated. Mr. and Mrs. X. O. Region and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopson were the only attendants.



MRS. GILBERT STULLER, President of the Lafayette Garden Club.

Mrs. Joseph Loscalzo Is Feted At Morning Coffee

Mrs. R. L. Vanderpool, Jr.'s compliment to her mother, Mrs. Joseph V. Loscalzo of New York City, was a morning coffee between 10 and 12 o'clock Thursday in the Vanderpool home on Pargoud boulevard.

Trays of camellias decorated the living room. A picturesque arrangement of red carnations around Chinese figurines centered the coffee table. Mrs. Ben Downing and Mrs. Murray Hudson presided at the coffee service.

Yellow carnations were attractively displayed on the sun porch.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Vanderpool and the honoree.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Joe Powell and Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst.

More than sixty friends called during the appointed hours.

Mrs. Stewart Hunt Speaks To Abram Morehouse DAR

OAK RIDGE—Mrs. Stewart Hunt, Regent of the Long Leaf Pine chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Ruston, was guest speaker at the January meeting of the Abram Morehouse chapter, D. A. R. which convened in Oak Ridge at the Community Hall Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Hunt, state chairman of the National Committee of American Indians, has devoted much time to interpretation of citizenship. From the topic "American History in Our Schools," she stressed results that we desire from the study of such history.

"While everyone wants training in good citizenship," Mrs. Hunt stated, "people differ widely in what they thin good citizenship means." Following through a variety of traits offered by people with varying major interests, she emphasized the fact that knowledge in itself is not moral. A person may be a good citizen without being cultured, she said.

In regard to teaching procedures, two systems were compared — control groups in which subject matter and teacher domination were features and experimental groups where cooperation is planning and development included pupils. Comparisons based on results from these two groups showed an apparent equality in historical facts. There was however a tremendous margin of superiority in the experimental group in all other fields of desired achievements. The recognition of modern problems and of attack for solution presented a thirteen to three ratio in favor of the more democratically handled classes, she pointed out.

Mrs. Hunt closed her remarks with the caution against the type of pride in citizenship which is based on an assumed inferiority of others. The desired results of history classes should be a confidence in a united world without hate and hysteria where citizenship is expressed in positive terms.

Mrs. George T. Madison, regent of the Abram Morehouse chapter, recognized the members of the American history class of Oak Ridge High School, who with their teacher, Mrs. Hazle Mott, were guests of the chapter to hear Mrs. Hunt. Spokesman for the group was Edwards Barham who prefaced his remarks with a humorous reminder that he now participated as suggested by the featured speaker.

Edwards told what it meant to be an American. He cited three challenges which he preferred to the backward look toward things for which he could assume no responsibility. These were to make ourselves better individuals, to reaffirm our democracy and to carry the torch of freedom to the rest of the world.

Neil Mott represented the fourth grade level in history with his account of the Minute Men of 1775. Both of these boys will be featured on a radio program in Bastrop Monday sponsored by the chapter and under the direction of Mrs. W. V. Garnier.

Mrs. C. N. McDuffie was elected delegate to the Louisiana State Convention of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution to be held in New Orleans in March. Mrs. J. B. Shackelford was selected as the delegate to the Continental Convention in Washington, D. C.

Guests attending the meeting were: Judge and Mrs. Fred Odom of Bastrop; Mrs. Stewart Hunt and Mrs. George Pankey of Ruston; Mrs. McIntosh of Oak Grove; Mrs. Will Pugh of Jones; Mrs. E. M. Barham; Mrs. Aber Files; Mrs. Hazel Mott; Neil Mott; Edwards Barham; Shirley Stanley; Martha Ann Loughridge; Martha Sue Colson; Caleb Pipes; Grulee Herron; Duke Barr; Billy Day; Lynn Winnon.

Members present were: Mrs. George T. Madison; Mrs. E. L. Gladney III; Mrs. .W V. Garnier; Mrs. W. H. Leavell; Mrs. W. M. Taylor, all of Bastrop; Mrs. Weston Adams; Mrs. W. S. Gray; Mrs. J. B. If you have a flair for the dramatic, you can exaggerate your brow line successfully. But don't overdo it. If the line is extended too high and wide, it makes the eyes appear small.

Your slim princess line and Empire-waisted dresses will look their best if you wear an all-in-one foundation underneath. There will be no midriff bulge to spoil the smooth, sleek line.

Mrs. Gordon Mulvey Feted At Parties

Mrs. Gordon Mulvey who arrived last week from Washington, after an absence of three years in England and Germany, has been the inspiration for continuous parties during her visit. Mrs. O. C. Roddey and Mrs. Lee Hodges entertained at a four-course luncheon in the Roddey home on Tuesday.

Camellias were used throughout the living room with arrangements attractively placed on the mantel and piano.

The dining table, overlaid with a handsome white linen cloth, was centered with a silver bowl of camellias.

Upon arrival each guest was presented a camellia.

Dresden flower cards marked places for the following: Mrs. Mulvey, the honoree; Mrs. Shelby Meek; Mrs. Stanley Blower; Mrs. Henry Guerriero; Miss Margaret Laland; Miss Sue Dickard; Mrs. John Salisbury; Mrs. Frank Jones; Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr.; Mrs. Roy Johns; Mrs. Louis Milner; Mrs. Aage Glud; Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Jr.; Mrs. J. L. Jones, Jr.; Mrs. E. L. Gladney III of Bastrop; the hostesses, Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Roddey.

SHARE HONORS

On Wednesday Mrs. Mulvey shared honors with Miss Margaret Laland at a luncheon at the La Casa Tea Room hosted by Mrs. W. G. Saunders.

A green tea pot with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and mums centered the luncheon table.

Mrs. Saunders presented both honorees with gifts.

Enjoying the occasion with Miss Laland, Mrs. Mulvey and the hostess were: Mrs. Shelby Meek; Mrs. Stanley Blower; Miss Sue Dickard.

COFFEE HOUR

Mrs. Louis Milner Jr.'s compliment to Mrs. Mulvey was a coffee at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon in her new home on Point Drive.

Red camellias centered the refreshment table where coffee was served by Mrs. O. B. Frazier and Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr.

Among those renewing acquaintance with the honoree were: Mrs. David Hill; Mrs. Haynes Harkey; Mrs. Roy Johns; Miss Sue Dickard; Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Jr.; Mrs. W. E. Smith; Mrs. Roy Brooks; Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr.; Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Jr.; Mrs. Frank Jones; Mrs. David Garrett, Jr.; Mrs. Herbert Land, Jr.

BASTROP LUNCHEON

Mrs. George Goodwin and Mrs. James Madison of Bastrop extended their hospitality at a luncheon for Mrs. Mulvey Thursday in the Goodwin home at Bastrop.

Spring arrangements of stock and chrysanthemums decorated the living room. The luncheon table was centered with a silver bowl arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums.

Handpainted place cards marked seats for the guest of honor; Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr.; Mrs. E. L. Gladney III; Mrs. Blanche Williams; Mrs. Duke Shackleford; Mrs. Mack Barham; Mrs. E. S. Madison; Mrs. Shelby Meek; Mrs. O. B. Rowland; Mrs. Bo Shaw; the hostesses, Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Madison.

FRIDAY LUNCHEON

Mrs. Bridger Thornhill and Mrs. Frank Gordon were hostesses at a luncheon in the Thornhill home at noon Friday.

Arrangements of spring flowers were used throughout the living room. A red color scheme was carried out in the dining room where the table was overlaid with a red cloth and centered with red camellias.

Guests in addition to Mrs. Mulvey were: Mrs. Shelby Meek; Mrs. Edward L. Gladney, Jr.; Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher; Mrs. W. G. Saunders; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale; Mrs. Roy Johns; the hostesses, Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Thornhill.

MRS. CLAIRE CHENNAULT as she greets Vice-President and Mrs. Nixon at a reception given in their honor in Formosa, while on their recent Far Eastern Tour. General and Mrs. Chennault have been in Formosa since early Fall.

Short Stories Of Mrs. Chennault Receive Praise

Since General and Mrs. Claire Chennault and their two daughters, Claire Anna and Cynthia Louise left for Taipei in Formosa last fall, friends have been most interested in the varied activities that fill their lives on the island. Of most interest is the recent publication of Mrs. Chennault's "Silent Benediction," a collection of six short stories and eleven essays. "Silent Benedictions" is also the title of the first story in the collection. This is the second publication of her writings for which she is receiving very great and gratifying reviews. One reviewer on an English paper ventured that the reading would offer as much to younger friends as a semester of lectures on "Chinese Literature."

The Chennaults will return to Monroe late in the spring.

If fingermarks have marred your felt hat, rub them very gently with fine sandpaper.

Purely Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leigh and Mrs. O. M. Grisham have returned from New Orleans where they attended the christening of Louise Grisham Normann daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Normann. They were accompained by Miss Marjorie Leigh of Ruston, the baby's Godmother.

Miss Margaret Laland left for New York City yesterday after a visit of five months with her cousins, the Stanley Blowers. She will visit friends and relatives in New York before flying to her home in the northern part of England.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kent announce the arrival of their first child, a daughter, Melanie Hamilton. She was born December 22 at the St. Francis Sanitarium.

Grisham Lewis left yesterday for Sewanee, Tenn., where he will enter Sewanee Military Academy for the second semester. He was a student at Neville High School the first semester.

Friends will learn with regret that Mrs. I. W. Jaffe is a patient in St. Francis Sanitarium. She is receiving visitors.

Mrs. Benton Wakefield has returned home after spending a week in Jackson, Miss., where she visited her father, Mr. Will Walton who recently underwent surgery, and her mother.

Mrs. Joseph V. Loscalzo who has been the guest of her daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vanderpool, Jr., for the past several weeks left Saturday for her home in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cretney spent the week end in Slidell where they attended a camellia show.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bell had as their guest over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barnett of El Dorado, Ark.

Mrs. E. S. Hilburn has returned from a month's visit in New York City. She was accompanied home by M-Sgt. and Mrs. S. W. Christiansen and their daughters, Karen and Helde. Mrs. Christiansen is remembered as the former Nell Hilburn of this city.

Mrs. J. G. Windel of Huntington, W. Va., arrived on Friday for a visit of several days with her daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. Fielding Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Downing left Friday night to spend the week end in New Orleans. Mrs. Down-Donaldsonville, during the next week.

Major Gordon E. Mulvey of Washington, D. C. arrived Friday to spend the week end with his family and the Shelby Meeks. Major Mulvey will return to his post on Monday while Mrs. Mulvey continues visiting her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hill who have been visiting Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. Joe McCormick, for the past several days were week-end guests in New Orleans. They will return to Monroe on Monday and depart for their home in Cleveland later in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Faulk and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lamb have returned home after a delightful motor trip through Florida.

Friends will be happy to learn that Mrs. Louise Thompson who is a patient at the St. Francis Sanitarium is recuperating nicely.

Mrs. Leo Terzia, Jr., returned home this week from Vicksburg, Miss., where she spent several days with her mother, Mrs. Robert W. Gandy of Tallulah, who underwent surgery. Mrs. Gandy is now recuperating at her home in Tallulah.

Joni Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Scott, Jr., had as a week-end guest her grandmother, Mrs. J. L. Farris of Bernice.

Friends will regret to learn that Mr. J. G. Bailey, Sr. is a patient at the Illinois Central hospital in New Orleans.

East Carroll Garden Club Entertained

LAKE PROVIDENCE — January meeting of the East Carroll Garden Club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at three by Mrs. R. K. Howard and daughter, Miss Eunyce Howard, at Carrolton Plantation.

Letter was read from the Vicksburg, Miss., Red Cross chapter expressing thanks for the contribution made to the tornado victims.

Winners in the Christmas lighting contest in outside lighting, windows and doorways, were Mrs. J. N. Hill, Jr., Mrs. C. R. Brown and Mrs. J. E. Peeler, for outside lighting; most attractive windows, Mrs. D. F. Davis, Mrs. Catherine H. Richards, and Mrs. E. D. Schneider. Doorways, Mrs. J. W. Pittman, Mrs. Homer Scherer, and Mrs. Walter Vickery. Each first place carried a cash award of $7; second was $5 and third $3.50. In the commercial district the Lake Providence Bank, as first place, was awarded a trophy, and Louisiana Power & Light and Max L. Levy, honorable mention.

Mrs. C. R. Brown, Mrs. Catherine H. Richards and Mrs. Pete Key, three club members, attended the Eudora, Ark., Holiday House Opening, with the local club hoping to sponsor a similar event during Christmas of '54.

The club voted to hostess a silver tea during February or March with funds to be donated to the National Council of State Garden Clubs whose program is to erect a permanent home.

The state executive board meeting was announced for Jan. 28 in Alexandria, with the president and other members planning to attend. The Louisiana Garden Club Federation will be hosts to the South Atlantic region meet on Feb. 24 and 25, in Alexandria.

Mrs. E. D. Schneider, former garden club president, presenting the program told of "Flowers popular for floral arrangements," and exhibited dried specimens of seed-pods, flowers and foliage, Avalone shells and manzonite wood collected on her fall visit to California.

During the social hour the hostesses were assisted by Carol Howard.

Empty a can of sliced apples into a pie plate. Top with crumbs made from leftover white cake; add a sprinkling of brown sugar and dot with butter or margarine. Bake in a moderate oven until hot through. Good and easy!

Tallulah Book Club

TALLULAH—Mrs. Florence Abbington, Family Life and Health Specialist of the Louisiana Extension Service was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Tallulah Book Club speaking on the subject, "Happiness as a Heritage." She was introduced by Mrs. G. M. Fuller.

As a movement recommended by the state federation, Mrs. Ivy Naylor, health chairman, is requesting each member to report on a physical examination yearly.

The club voted to request the Madison Parish Police Jury to take steps for the continuance of the Madison Parish Library which is in danger of closing for lack of funds. Another civic project was to request the town council to make laws for covered containers for trash in the business section of Tallulah.

Refreshments were served at the social period which followed the session.

It's a good idea, once during the winter, to remove the dirt and lint from around the motor of your refrigerator with a vacuum cleaner attachment or a stiff brush. Just be sure that your refrigerator is turned off when you undertake this cleanup.

MISS HAZEL FAIN'S engagement and approaching marriage to Ira James Tilley, son of Mrs. Carrie Tilley of Bryceland, is announced today by her father, Mr. J. F. Fain of Winnsboro. The wedding will be an event of February 13 at the Beouff River Baptist Church.

News From The Public Library

With the beginning of the new year, the publishers of fiction titles are again increasing their output. New books of fiction which have come to the library in recent weeks should appeal to every type of borrower. "Cress Delehanty" by Jessamyn West is the story of an adolescent girl and the problems she encounters while growing up. Because she is lucky enough to have a most attractive and understanding set of parents she is guided safely through this difficult period. It is a book which you will not want to miss. Books about doctors and their medical careers as well as their private lives are always popular and for this reason "Not As A Stranger" by Morton Thompson is certain to have a large following. This is the story of Lucas Marsh, who was born to be a doctor. He cold-bloodedly married a nurse so she could help pay his way through medical school. There are a profusion of medical details in this book which will prove tiresome to many readers, but the happy ending will satisfy everyone.

"The Lady for Ransom" by Alfred Leo Duggan is a historical novel based on the life of an actual personage, the Normal knight, Roussel de Balliol. It is a story of a remoter time and place, but the author makes his characters living beings rather than costumed puppets. "Rainbow on the Road" by Esther Forbes is a story with its setting in New England during the early nineteenth century. It is a story of an itenerant portrait painter and is a veritable treasury of New England folklore.

Philip Wylie has given us another novel which should make every reader think seriously about the danger of atomic warfare in his latest story "Tomorrow." This is the story of two cities, Green Prairie and River City, just across the river from one another. One city went all out in its Civil Defense program, while the other one, through contrariness did nothing. This is the story of what happened the day the bombs fell on the sister cities. "Ratoons" by Daphne Rooke is the latest contribution to the growing list of South African novels. It is the story of an Indian trader in Africa and the tribes with whom he dealt. It is a violent story, but then the country is violent.

Stories with a southern background are always popular with our readers so that we feel certain of the appeal of "The Untidy Pilgrim", by Eugene Walter. This book has its setting in Mobile. It has been described by Virginia Kirkus as having a vernal, rollicking charm and it is a book that will be thoroughly enjoyed. Huston McCready who writes so entertainingly about the Philadelphia Main Line set has a new book called "The Saving Grace." It reminds one of "Kitty Foyle" and the appeal will be to the same audience.

Are you taking advantage of the resources of your public library? If not, register just as soon as you can, for you are missing a great deal of pleasure as well as informational reading.

Music Teachers Announce Judges For Annual Contest

Members of the Music Teachers Association of Monroe and West Monroe met this week at the Redwood Lounge to further plans for the forthcoming J. Paul Hewitt Interscholarship Music Scholarship contest. Highlights of the business period included the announcement of judges for the event, by Mr. James F. Monroe of Northeast Louisiana State College, chairman of judge selectors. Unanimous approval was given to the selection of the out of state judges to be announced at a later date, and the number of judges to be obtain Mrs. Wilbur Bullock presided at the business meeting.

Because of intervening holiday and post holiday activities, it was decided that an extension of the deadline for student entries be given those teachers interested in giving pupils the advantage of the contests. A communication to that effect will be forwarded to all teachers. Mr. J. Paul Hewitt, annual donor of the scholarship award and also the secondary contest awards, who was present at the business session gave his approval of plans to date. Mrs. Eloise Stanhope of Northeast Louisiana State College, chairman of contest mechanics, reported on entries received. Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, co-ordinator, stated that every opportunity will be given to teachers interested in entering their piano students.

During the ensuing discussion, members of the organization who devote much outside time and energy to the mechanics of the annual contests, expressed satisfaction in noticeable improvements in their student entrants each year. The constructive criticisms given by judges are valuable incentives for more serious study, they agreed, and the event provides added opportunities for musical activity. All contributes to a more musical city.

Members present at the business session and social period were: Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, Mrs. B. H. Andrews, Mrs. Wilbur Bullock, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mr. James Monroe, Mrs. Harvey Nelson, Mr. Frank Parker, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, Mrs. R. G. Luckett, Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. Everett Zeagler, and Mrs. A. R. Kilpatrick.

Vows Exchanged In Eros Church

The Eros Pentecostal Church was the scene of the double ring ceremony which united Miss Shirley Jean Schossow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Birl Schossow and Pfc. John Lumsden, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lumsden of Hubbard, Nebr.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery decorated the altar. Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra were lighted by Miss Donnie Schossow, sister of the bride.

Miss Lodee Kerbow sang, "Oh, Promise Me" accompanied by Emmett Roberson at the piano, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a traditional wedding gown of bridal satin fashioned with a pointed neckline, fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt. The long sleeves came to points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of nylon ruffles and flowers. She carried a white Bible topped by an orchid with white satin streamers.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Lurline Phillips. Dan Wingate served the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Pfc. Lumsden is now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Caldwell Parish Garden Club Hears Mrs. Swift

COLUMBIA—Mrs. Mildred Swift of Monroe, who writes "The Home Shift" for the Monroe Morning World was the guest speaker for the Caldwell Parish Garden Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. A. B. Warner with the president, Mrs. Leonard Rowland, presiding.

Preceding the lecture, a short business session was held at which time the nominating committee was appointed.

Many of Mrs. Swift's pupils and friends were present to enjoy her interesting talk on landscaping and patios.

Besides Mrs. Swift, those present were Mrs. W. R. Broadway, and Mrs. A. Wells of Grayson, Mrs. F. C. Gartman, Mrs. L. B. Jarrell, Mrs. E. L. Carroll, Mrs. J. W. Brockner, Mrs. R. L. McDaniels, Mrs. Guy H. Alford, Mrs. Charles Rowan, Miss Lola Caldwell, Mrs. M. H. Stuart, Mrs. Leonard Rowland, Mrs. Laura Kidd, Mrs. K A. Serrett, Mrs. Mattie Colton, Mrs. J. D. Key, Mrs. Alice Teddlie, Mrs. J. J. McKeithen Sr., Mrs. S. O. Henry, Jr., Mrs. W. M. Causey, Mrs. C. P. Thompson, Mrs. H. E. Elhols, Mrs. Cary Hancock, Mrs. Norman McHardy, Mrs. A. B. Warner and Miss Betty Warner.

Girl Scout News

They've been organized for some weeks now, have been invested and are proud of their shiny new pins, but somehow, we've never got around to writing about the two newest troops at Georgia Tucker School, 17 and 19. Mrs. Sidney Gill and Mrs. J. E. Farmar are leaders of Troop 17, with Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. Allen West and Mrs. C. L. Kramer as members of the troop committee. Mrs. E. A. Porter and Mrs. B. F. Bettis are leaders of Troop 19.

Checking with their leaders we find that the latest activity of both troops is the weaving of potholders. For Christmas the girls made tree ornaments. Troop 19 listened to the records of Girl Scout songs, while Jan West visited 17, her sister's troop, to help teach them songs. Earlier, when the weather was pretty, the girls had gone on walks in the neighborhood and to Forsythe Park to learn about seeds and trees in fall and winter.

Members of the two troops are: Bettye Ann Bettis, Frances Byrd, Linda Lee Engstrom, Marian Mattingly, Suzanne Moseley, Janet Noland, Patricia Ann Porter, Mary Charlotte Richards, Elaine Spencer, Sheila Williamson and Sylvia Whitehead in Troop 19; and Mary Baker, Holly Sue Bayne, Anne Marie Boyd, Ann Edmondson, Brenda Farmar, Laura Freund, Judy Gill, Mary Kathryn Kite, Claudia Kramer, Priscilla Matthews, Sandra Shutting and Diane West in Troop 17.

We hope to see many of you adults at the council's annual meeting Tuesday night. 7:00 is the time, the Country Club the place. Mary Emma Wilson, chairman of the committee arranging the meeting, says the program will be a unique one and not overly long.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will be presented with a certificate of appreciation in recognition of their gift of a cabin to Pine Wood, the Girl Scout troop camp. Already a number of their members have made reservation for the affair.

This is the occasion for awarding five and ten year pins to adults who have been registered that long. The leaders, those angels in green who are the backbone of Scouting and without which it could not exist, will be honored. "Under the Green Umbrella" has been chosen as the theme for decorations and program. The term green umbrella is used in Scouting to denote coverage. For example, when we become an area council, we shall have spread our green umbrella to cover more territory and to cover more girls.

To fit in with the reporting of what has happened under the green umbrella in 1953, Dot Breard, the council's clever program chairman, has written words to popular tunes that will be sung by Sue Grower, Marie Nelson, Judy Harrison, Jo Lockhart, Juliana Hales, and Shirley Crow of Troop 4.

Mrs. J. N. Riddle, council member, who is also a member of the regional committee of region V, will report on plans for area organization and progress being made. It is hoped that a number of interested adults from the proposed area will attend.

Mary Emma Wilson, Jean Strickland, Dot Breard, Vera Harrell, Lucy Huckabee, and Helen Wheeler are in charge of arrangements for this annual affair.

Last-minute reservations may be made by calling the office, 2-1270, tomorrow. Don't be like the leader who attended last year for the first time and said afterward "I enjoyed it so much that I regret that I haven't come to previous ones."

MISS RAMONA HAMILTON of Jonesville is betrothed to to J. Dale Ross. Miss Hamilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamilton of Eva and Mr. Ross is the son of Mrs. Ruby Ross Clingon and the late Roberts S. Ross of Mangham. The wedding will be solemnized on February 12th.

Altrurian Book Club Meets With Mrs. Sam Humphries

Altrurian Book Club met in the home of Mrs. Sam Humphries on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Aimee Cook and Mrs. O. J. Ham co-hostesses.

The living room was beautifully decorated in red camellias.

Mrs. E. E. Eaves, president, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Cook, program chairman, read the "American Creed." Guest speaker was Capt. Roger White who told of his experiences as a prisoner.

Mrs. Humphries was selected to represent the club at the health council.

Mrs. Jack Willis was a guest at the meeting.

Refreshments were served to: Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. Jack Willis, Mrs. J. L. Haynes, Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Mrs. R. B. Henry, Mrs. E. E. Eaves, Mrs. H. A. McDonald, Mrs. D. C. MRS. JOSEPH CHAPPELLIE

Shirley Harp Is Wed In Bastrop

Tall baskets of chrysanthemums, against a background of southern smilax and candles shedding a soft glow over the altar, of the First Baptist Church, formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Shirley Harp and Joseph Chappellie of Pontiac, Mich.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. Lynn Elder, pastor of the St. Charles Ave. Baptist Church of New Orleans, on Saturday January 9th. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harp of Bastrop.

Miss Dorothy Ann Lamb rendered a program of nuptial music while the guests were being seated. She also accompanied Miss Bennie Faye Berry, soloist. The candles were lighted by Charles E. Stewart of Shreveport and W. H. Talley of Natchez, Miss.

Mrs. James Bonsall attended the bride as matron of honor. Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. W. H. Talley, sisters of the bride, were maids. All were gowned alike in floor length dresses of seafoam green antique taffeta. They wore caps of taffeta and net and carried muffs that were decorated with garnet roses.

Bill and Bob Stewart, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart carried rings on satin pillows.

The groom and his best man, Eldred Harp met the bride as she approached on the arm of her father.

She was lovely in a gown of candlelight satin and Chantilly lace. The bodice with long sleeves was of lace while the floor length skirt was of satin. Her veil of illusion was caught to a cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of glamelias and lilies of the valley.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding in the social rooms of the church.

After a wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Pontiac, Mich.

It's worthwhile to have a heat-resistant handle of plastic on a skillet so you don't have to use a pot holder when lifting the pan.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale Talks To Mangham Literary Club

A most pleasant meeting of the Mangham Literary Club was held in the home of Mrs. Annie Boles. The night was extremely cold but most of the members were present to hear the guest speaker, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, of Monroe, talk on the United Nations. With Mrs. Tisdale was her sister, Mrs. Edwin Myrick of Rayville, who was most welcome. Also present was Mrs. Kate Tillman, our new club member.

Mrs. Traylor Jones, leader for the night, announced the topic and introduced Mrs. Tisdale, remarking on her many civic activities, and the time she served as state president of L. F. W. C.

Mrs. Tisdale in a charming and conversational manner said many things of interest about the United Nations.

At the conclusion of the talk, Mrs. Jones thanked her for coming and Mrs. Boughton, acting president, presented her with a small gift as a token of the club's appreciation.

The club collect was repeated in unison.

The hostesses, Mrs. Theo Jones, Mrs. O. E. Deville, and Mrs. Boles served colorful refreshments to the guests and members.

Mrs. Boughton then presided over the business session. During which various reports were read and approved. The nominating committee presented their recommendations for the new officers. These were duly elected.

The program committee presented their suggested topics for next year's study. From those presented it was unanimously decided to make a study of Biblical characters.

Meeting adjourned to meet again in February with Miss Ola Cooper and Mrs. Lois Barfield as hostesses at that time.

Keep safe in your kitchen! When it is necessary to reach seldom-used articles stored on top shelves, a firm stepladder - stool combination is much safer to stand on than a box or chair.

Review Club Has Meeting In W. M. Inabnet Home

Mrs. W. M. Inabnet was hostess to the Review Club at her home, in West Monroe for the regular meeting this week.

Presiding over the business session was Mrs. Sam Smith.

An interesting report on "Educational TV Becoming a Reality" was given by Mrs. A. T. Givens, education chairman.

Mrs. DeWitt Henry presented Mrs. D. W. Griffith and Mrs. E. P. Cudd who gave the program.

Mrs. Griffith gave a biographical sketch of the life of Anthony Trollope, one of the best known writers of the 19th century. Mrs. Cudd reviewed Trollope's masterpiece "Barchester Towers."

Mrs. Inabnet served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Givens, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Cudd, Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr., Mrs. Wayne Gray, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., Mrs. H. G. Touchstone, Mrs. John Ray.

Altar Society Has Meeting

Our Lady of Fatima Altar Society met Monday night at 7:30 at the gymnasium. Father George Martinez opened the meeting with a prayer. Thirty-two members were present at the meeting. Mrs. E. L. Ritter, president, presided. Mrs. Jack Hover read the minutes of the previous meeting. The Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Jerome Braud.

It was decided at this meeting to hold a card party at the gymnasium Thursday, January 28th, at 7:30 p.m. Bridge, Canasta, 500, etc. will be played. Mrs. Ritter will act as chairman, with the following ladies assisting her—Mrs. R. W. Ellington, Jr., Mrs. L. F. Rodwig, Mrs. L. R. Merten, Mrs. James Faler, Mrs. J. L. Seidenspinner, Jr., Mrs. Vincent Anzalone, Mrs. Jack Hover, Mrs. Owen Moses, Mrs. Frank Scalia, Mrs. Frank Trichel, Sr. and the Misses Sara and Angie Scalia.

The Altar Society will also sponsor a dance to be held at the gymnasium Friday, February 26th. Music will be furnished by a well-known orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Devereux will act as chairmen of the dance committee, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Braud as ticket chairman. Chairmen of decorations and miscellaneous will be the following—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Seidenspinner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ellington, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Galligan, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Anazalone, and the Misses Sara and Angie Scalia.

The ladies of the Altar Society will help with the Mothers March of Dimes.

A motion was made at this meeting to purchase a curtain for the stage and vestments for Father Martinez.

Tull Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Tull, of 101 Kansas Avenue, Monroe, were completely surprised on Friday, January 15th, when their large family of children, scattered over a wide territory, gathered for the first family reunion in fourteen years. The occasion was sponsored by Howard and Helen, their son and daughter-in-law, living at 6108 DeSiard Road.

This glad occasion was in commemoration of a combination of events, namely, the fortieth wedding anniversary of the parents, which took place on October 21st; the recent retirement of the father from active business, and his approaching 71st birthday, as of February 26th.

Those present, including the parents, made up a happy group of twenty-three, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Porter Tull, and their two daughters, Martha and Judy, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Oppenhiem, and son, Andy, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tull, and daughter, Carolyn, of Houston, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tull, of Longview, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. James Tull, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tull, of New Orleans; and the Monroe family of children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tull, and little ones, Bailey, Nelson and Maurine.

The many friends of this elderly couple will rejoice with them in having all their children and grandchildren, without the loss of one, to gladden their hearts as they reach the declining years of their useful lives.

Dry Suds Keep Items Clean

About this time each year, winter white accessories become the most refreshing sights on the fashion horizon. They seem to be just what is needed to perk up last fall's basic dress.

The problem is to keep them beautiful. Crisp, white touches lose their appeal unless they remain both crisp and white.

The primary rule is wear-and-wash. If the article cannot be ducked into a basin of water, then you can wash it with dry suds.

Make the suds by using as little water as possible. Then skim off the top.

White jersey and knit hats will respond wonderfully to this type of cleaning. Just stuff a towel into the crown and work quickly. Apply the suds with a soft brush. Don't forget to clean the head band of accumulated oil and cosmetics.

Dry soapsuds also are perfect for removing smudges from handbags, leather belts and purse accessories. Apply the suds with a sponge; wipe with a clean rinse cloth and let dry.

Before applying suds to handbags, stuff them with tissue to prevent moisture from seeping in.

At the other end of the gamut, there are white accessories that prosper with machine washing. Cotton and nylon gloves are sturdy enough for the washer. Just remember to slip the gloves on your hands for shaping before putting them to dry. Some of the new scarves can also be safely washed in a machine.

Powder Is Boxed Prettily

Everyone has come to expect the most lavish bottling of perfume. Women hope that the decanters will grace their dressing tables long after the last drop has been taken.

Many of the creams also come in jars and bottles that add to the beauty of one's make-up setting.

But somehow powder has missed the glamor touch.

Most women leave their make-up in the plain cardboard boxes in which they generally come.

A leading cosmetic house is first to do something about this situation. It has just introduced a box containing its powder that is designed for a permanent place on the dressing table.

The box, covered with a velvety cafe au lait tooled with gold, and featuring a jeweled clasp, can be continued in use as a powder box or will serve equally well as a jewelry case when the powder is used.

The company suggests the new box as an unusual gift for the weekend hostess. The box may be presented with a gift certificate, so there is no worry about selecting the proper shade.

When the recipient presents her shade blended to her skin tones. box and gift certificate at the cosmetic counter, she will have a shade blended to her skin tones.

Many scholars believe that bathrooms were invented in ancient Egypt.

Don't Snub White Sales

This is the time of year to linger in the linen cupboard to take stock of sheets, towels and washcloths. The springtime bride - to - be isn't the only one who can benefit from the white sales which beckon every homemaker to invest in a bargain or two.

If your linens aren't quite ready for the rag bag and you meet up with a good buy in sheets or towels, remember that cotton goods can be stored safely.

But sheets should be washed before storage to remove any starch or sizing which tend to make the fabric stiff. They should be stored in a dry, well - ventilated place to avoid mildew and wrapped to keep them clean.

How many sheets do you figure per bed? Some homemakers say six; others say four. With automatic washing and drying equipment, you need fewer than if you send out to the laundry or must wait for a sheet to dry indoors.

Although the debate about comparative wear of muslin and percale still crops up, in my experience I haven't noted any startling difference. And percale is certainly lighter weight and easier to handle in the wash tub.

It is smart shopping to check for flaws such as thick yarns, knots and bumpy weaves.

Towels and washcloths don't wear out at an even rate in our house. The washcloths seem to go first. This poses a real problem if you have started out with sets in matched colors.

In buying replacements I've switched to white in order to solve this problem. Then, when time permits, I cross - stitch an initial on the cloth in the color of the still usable towel.

Buying "seconds" can represent substantial savings with no loss of wear. But do check terry towels and cloths for even pile. If the pile-warp threads, are loose and pull out easily, the towel probably won't wear well.

Lotion Made Winter Outfit For Legs

Chapped legs glimpsed through sheer nylons are just as unsightly to behold as roughened hands. And they can be just as hard on one's hose during winter months.

The dry-skinned woman's winter beauty ritual should include nightly lubrication of her legs as well as her feet and hands.

To meet this need, a lotion has just been introduced by a leading cosmetic house. Its maker claims that, when used faithfully, the new product will help keep the legs free from the discomfort and unsightliness of chapping.

The lotion is also recommended as a substitute for shaving soap and water. It is said to make the task as simple as possible while smoothing the legs.

For best results, the company says the lotion should be applied to the entire leg, then reapplied to the heels and any particularly dry patches.

The lotion, which has a delicate fragrance, boasts a non-sticky, nongreasy formula.

REV. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. EVANS, JR.

Evans-Emory Vows Said In Home Ceremony

Miss Yvonne Emory became the bride of Rev. William D. Evans, Jr., in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Evans, Sr., in West Monroe. The Rev. Richard Stiltner read the vows.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence K. Emory of Choudrant.

Pink carnations and greenery decorated the improvised altar outlined by branched candelabra entwined in greenery and holding white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Herbert Peterson, sister of the groom, rendered a concert of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Louise Rhea Humble who sang "Always" and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mark Emory, the bride was wearing a suit of pastel blue silk shantung with a white collar and cuffs. Her accessories were also white. Her corsage was a pink orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Charles B. Littleton of New Orleans, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She was becomingly attired in a beige model with pink accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Herbert Peterson, served as best man.

The bride's brothers, Burbon and Larmar Emory, lighted the candles.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a navy suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Evans, was wearing a navy faille suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception in the Evans home followed the ceremony.

The bride's table was overlaid with a crocheted cloth and centered with an artistic arrangement of pink carnations. A tiered wedding cake topped with pink rosebuds was placed opposite the punch bowl.

Mrs. Burbon Emory presided at the punch service and Mrs. Mark Emory served the wedding cake.

The couple have returned from a wedding trip on the Gulf Coast and Florida. They are making their home at Louisiana Training Institute where Rev. Evans is chaplain.

The bride is a graduate of Calhoun High School. Rev. Evans graduated from Ouachita Parish High School, attended Louisiana College and is at present a student at Northeast State College.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Mark Emory and daughters of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Burbon Emory and family of Beaumont, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Littleton of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Emory of Texarkana, Ark.

To get the most juice from lemons, heat them quickly in hot water for several minutes before squeezing. Rolling to soften also is effective.

Candles, coated with soapsuds, are said to burn without smoking or dripping. Don't coat the wicks, of course, and let the candles dry in candle - holders before lighting.

Rayville Couple Pledge Vows In Home Ceremony

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in this section was the wedding Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Esther Wylie Alexander and N. John McConnell of Rayville. The quiet impressive ceremony was performed in the Alexander home on Beouf River south of Rayville.

Rev. B. F. Wallace, Baptist minister of Shreveport, officiated at the ceremony. Nuptial background music was provided by Mrs. Wilburn Purdue. The Rev. E. B. Emmerich, pastor of the Rayville Methodist Church, pronounced the benediction.

Only members of the two families and a few intimate friends attended the home wedding.

If a cold has interfered with your shampooing schedule, give your hair extra brushing. Cover the bristles with gauze to catch dust and soot. You can also use witch hazel on cotton pads to freshen soiled locks.

When baking a cake, use a toothpick for testing. Pierce the cake and if the pick comes out clean, the cake is ready.

Dry Suds Keep Items Clean

About this time each year, winter white accessories become the most refreshing sights on the fashion horizon. They seem to be just what is needed to perk up last fall's basic dress.

The problem is to keep them beautiful. Crisp, white touches lose their appeal unless they remain both crisp and white.

The primary rule is wear-and-wash. If the article cannot be ducked into a basin of water, then you can wash it with dry suds.

Make the suds by using as little water as possible. Then skim off the top.

White jersey and knit hats will respond wonderfully to this type of cleaning. Just stuff a towel into the crown and work quickly. Apply the suds with a soft brush. Don't forget to clean the head band of accumulated oil and cosmetics.

Dry soapsuds also are perfect for removing smudges from handbags, leather belts and purse accessories. Apply the suds with a sponge; wipe with a clean rinse cloth and let dry.

Before applying suds to handbags, stuff them with tissue to prevent moisture from seeping in.

At the other end of the gamut, there are white accessories that prosper with machine washing. Cotton and nylon gloves are sturdy enough for the washer. Just remember to slip the gloves on your hands for shaping before putting them to dry. Some of the new scarves can also be safely washed in a machine.

Powder Is Boxed Prettily

Everyone has come to expect the most lavish bottling of perfume. Women hope that the decanters will grace their dressing tables long after the last drop has been taken.

Many of the creams also come in jars and bottles that add to the beauty of one's make-up setting.

But somehow powder has missed the glamor touch.

Most women leave their make-up in the plain cardboard boxes in which they generally come.

A leading cosmetic house is first to do something about this situation. It has just introduced a box containing its powder that is designed for a permanent place on the dressing table.

The box, covered with a velvety cafe au lait tooled with gold, and featuring a jeweled clasp, can be continued in use as a powder box or will serve equally well as a jewelry case when the powder is used.

The company suggests the new box as an unusual gift for the weekend hostess. The box may be presented with a gift certificate, so there is no worry about selecting the proper shade.

When the recipient presents her shade blended to her skin tones. box and gift certificate at the cosmetic counter, she will have a shade blended to her skin tones.

Many scholars believe that bathrooms were invented in ancient Egypt.

Don't Snub White Sales

This is the time of year to linger in the linen cupboard to take stock of sheets, towels and washcloths. The springtime bride - to - be isn't the only one who can benefit from the white sales which beckon every homemaker to invest in a bargain or two.

If your linens aren't quite ready for the rag bag and you meet up with a good buy in sheets or towels, remember that cotton goods can be stored safely.

But sheets should be washed before storage to remove any starch or sizing which tend to make the fabric stiff. They should be stored in a dry, well - ventilated place to avoid mildew and wrapped to keep them clean.

How many sheets do you figure per bed? Some homemakers say six; others say four. With automatic washing and drying equipment, you need fewer than if you send out to the laundry or must wait for a sheet to dry indoors.

Although the debate about comparative wear of muslin and percale still crops up, in my experience I haven't noted any startling difference. And percale is certainly lighter weight and easier to handle in the wash tub.

It is smart shopping to check for flaws such as thick yarns, knots and bumpy weaves.

Towels and washcloths don't wear out at an even rate in our house. The washcloths seem to go first. This poses a real problem if you have started out with sets in matched colors.

In buying replacements I've switched to white in order to solve this problem. Then, when time permits, I cross - stitch an initial on the cloth in the color of the still usable towel.

Buying "seconds" can represent substantial savings with no loss of wear. But do check terry towels and cloths for even pile. If the pile-warp threads, are loose and pull out easily, the towel probably won't wear well.

Lotion Made Winter Outfit For Legs

Chapped legs glimpsed through sheer nylons are just as unsightly to behold as roughened hands. And they can be just as hard on one's hose during winter months.

The dry-skinned woman's winter beauty ritual should include nightly lubrication of her legs as well as her feet and hands.

To meet this need, a lotion has just been introduced by a leading cosmetic house. Its maker claims that, when used faithfully, the new product will help keep the legs free from the discomfort and unsightliness of chapping.

The lotion is also recommended as a substitute for shaving soap and water. It is said to make the task as simple as possible while smoothing the legs.

For best results, the company says the lotion should be applied to the entire leg, then reapplied to the heels and any particularly dry patches.

The lotion, which has a delicate fragrance, boasts a non-sticky, nongreasy formula.

REV. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. EVANS, JR.

Evans-Emory Vows Said In Home Ceremony

Miss Yvonne Emory became the bride of Rev. William D. Evans, Jr., in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Evans, Sr., in West Monroe. The Rev. Richard Stiltner read the vows.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence K. Emory of Choudrant.

Pink carnations and greenery decorated the improvised altar outlined by branched candelabra entwined in greenery and holding white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Herbert Peterson, sister of the groom, rendered a concert of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Louise Rhea Humble who sang "Always" and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mark Emory, the bride was wearing a suit of pastel blue silk shantung with a white collar and cuffs. Her accessories were also white. Her corsage was a pink orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Charles B. Littleton of New Orleans, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. She was becomingly attired in a beige model with pink accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Herbert Peterson, served as best man.

The bride's brothers, Burbon and Larmar Emory, lighted the candles.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a navy suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Evans, was wearing a navy faille suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception in the Evans home followed the ceremony.

The bride's table was overlaid with a crocheted cloth and centered with an artistic arrangement of pink carnations. A tiered wedding cake topped with pink rosebuds was placed opposite the punch bowl.

Mrs. Burbon Emory presided at the punch service and Mrs. Mark Emory served the wedding cake.

The couple have returned from a wedding trip on the Gulf Coast and Florida. They are making their home at Louisiana Training Institute where Rev. Evans is chaplain.

The bride is a graduate of Calhoun High School. Rev. Evans graduated from Ouachita Parish High School, attended Louisiana College and is at present a student at Northeast State College.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Mark Emory and daughters of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Burbon Emory and family of Beaumont, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Littleton of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Emory of Texarkana, Ark.

To get the most juice from lemons, heat them quickly in hot water for several minutes before squeezing. Rolling to soften also is effective.

Candles, coated with soapsuds, are said to burn without smoking or dripping. Don't coat the wicks, of course, and let the candles dry in candle - holders before lighting.

Rayville Couple Pledge Vows In Home Ceremony

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in this section was the wedding Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Esther Wylie Alexander and N. John McConnell of Rayville. The quiet impressive ceremony was performed in the Alexander home on Beouf River south of Rayville.

Rev. B. F. Wallace, Baptist minister of Shreveport, officiated at the ceremony. Nuptial background music was provided by Mrs. Wilburn Purdue. The Rev. E. B. Emmerich, pastor of the Rayville Methodist Church, pronounced the benediction.

Only members of the two families and a few intimate friends attended the home wedding.

If a cold has interfered with your shampooing schedule, give your hair extra brushing. Cover the bristles with gauze to catch dust and soot. You can also use witch hazel on cotton pads to freshen soiled locks.

When baking a cake, use a toothpick for testing. Pierce the cake and if the pick comes out clean, the cake is ready.

McNair-Bagwell Nuptials Said

In a green and white candlelight setting at the Baskin Baptist Church, Miss Rubye Ray McNair was married to Robert Jackson Bagwell. The Reverend J. O. McNair, brother of the bride, read the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Grover T. McNair and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bagwell of Choudrant.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Billy McNair, wore a floor length gown of white bridal satin. The tight fitting bodice was draped with lace which formed a train as it met in the back. Long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Louis O. Coco was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was of blue nylon net over taffeta with a bouffant skirt and tight bodice, featuring a V neck and half stole. She carried a muff of pink carnations and wore a bandeau of matching blue on her hair.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Shirley Ann Wiggington, Miss Jane Lyles, Mrs. Woody Posey, Mrs. Ted Newman, Mrs. George Mack Baskin, Miss Dixie Baskin and Miss Barbara Woods. Their dresses were of pink identical to the matron's of honor. They all carried muffs of pink carnations and wore matching bandeaus in their hair.

The flower girls, Sandra and Phlysis Simmons, nieces of the bridegroom, wore floor length dresses of blue taffeta with bandeau's in their hair and carried blue baskets with colored rose petals.

Billy Joe Bagwell was his brother's best man. Ushers were James Keith McNair and Charles Looner, who lighted the candles, Bruce Bagwell, Bill Ormand, John O'Neal, Dan O'Neal and A. C. Duchesne.

Mrs. McNair, mother of the bride, wore a becoming dress of gray wool with black velvet trim. Her small white hat was embroidered in pearls and sequins. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Bagwell chose navy blue for her gown and wore pink carnations for a corsage.

A reception was held in the educational building of the church. The bride's table was centered with the prayer book and orchid of the bride's bouquet and held the three tiered wedding cake. Assisting were Mrs. V. L. Holstead, and Mrs. Albert Wiggington, sisters of the bride, Mrs. J. O. McNair, Mrs. C. W. Looney and Mrs. R. P. Stewart. Miss Patsy Massony presided at the guest book.

For her wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, Mrs. Bagwell wore a mauve brushed wool suit with harmonizing accessories.

The couple are at home in Baskin where Mr. Bagwell teaches in the public schools.

Home Sewing Time

Since home sewing time is here we should heed Miss Margaret Brumby's suggestion on buying needles. She says, "When you buy needles, buy needles by size." Assorted packages usually contain too many large needles. She recommends buying the "sharp" type instead of crewel, and shorter or between needles. Sharps are best for home sewing. For sewing heavy fabrics, such as men's work clothes, buy size 7 and 8. For hand sewing small stitches, size 9 and 10 are best.

For tailoring you will need a 7 or 8 and some 9 and 10.

Gardening Time

In 1954, as in previous years, the most profitable bed of ground per square foot or square yard on the average farm still will be the home garden.

Speaking of the outlook for agriculture and life on the farm the coming year, economists point out that on the average those farm families that enjoy the best balanced year round diets are those that have good gardens and conserve — can, freeze, or preserve vegetables and fruits.

Home gardening and food preservation will help reduce the family grocery bill and partly offset lower farm incomes. Two Colony Club members, Mrs. H. Wroten and Mrs. E. O. Welch, have enrolled in this work with the agent and will compete in the pantry contest at the Ouachita Fair. Call 3-2251 and enroll at once. New information in gardening is available.

Results From Experiment Station on Vegetable Varieties

From the experiments conducted in growing snap beans the results show that Green Savage and Can Freezer pole beans were yielders. With bush snap beans the Contender out yielded other varieties and it matured 10 days earlier than others. Other varieties which followed were: Contender yield, of 270.3 bushels per acre, Top Crop 205.9 bushels; Wade, 204.4 bushel; and Stringless Back Valentine 76.4. Wade yields over a longer period. It is a good garden type. Contender is better and earlier yielder. It is especially good as a fresh market variety. Aristogold Bantam - Evergreen sweet corn is the best variety to plant for early maturing. Gulf Coast sweet corn is recommended for late maturing variety.

Carolina Sieve is the highest yielder in pole beans. Easy Shell was second in production but is preferred by home gardeners because of its continuous fruiting ability.

The report on tomato varieties best for Louisiana are Rutgers (red), Marglobe (red), Gulf State (pink), Lakeland (red,) Jefferson (red), and Grothen Globe (red.) You may get planting guide which gives other recommended vegetable varieties by calling 3-2251.

Home Demonstration Concession Booth

The Ouachita Parish Council voted to rebuild the concession booth, accepting the plan submitted by Mr. John Birdsong, manager of the Ouachita Valley Fair. The committee composed of Mrs. A. T. Stout, council president, Mrs. Fred Riser, council president-elect, Mrs. J. R. Frantom, Mrs. Lee Wilder, Mrs. Hilton Owens, all retired council officers, will work with Mr. Birdsong on this project.

Music In Your Club

Sterlington Club purchased song books and will continue music at each club meeting. Call Mrs. C. R. Alexander and get information if you need song books to use. She has a scheme you will like.

Slip Cover Workshop

Enrollment for slip cover workshop to be held January 26-27 is completed. Twenty-six women will participate. Mrs. Jessie Hill, House and Furnishings Specialist, assisted by the home demonstration agent, Mrs. Euna Spielman, will be in charge of this work.

Family Life Leaders Training

Mrs. Florence Abington, specialist from L. S. U. extension service met with leaders and gave assistance on preparing material for each club meeting on emotional growth controls. This is the subject which will be studied in 1954.

Fear was the emotion that she used to demonstrate presenting this type of material. Any one interested in handling emotional problems in themselves, and children are invited to attend the Home Demonstration Club nearest you.

The family life leaders who received the training are: Mrs. G. A. Strozier, Drew; Mrs. Kenneth Lee, Thrifty Homemaker; Mrs. J. D. Collier, Lamkin; Mrs. C. R. Alexander, Sterlington; Mrs. Rome Colvin, Sterlington, Mrs. Bill Morris, Swartz; Mrs. Henry Blazier, McClendon; Mrs. G. M. Younger, Progressive; Mrs. J. C. Taylor, Liberty; Louise Horton, Watson; Mrs. L. J. Bowen, Colony; Mrs. Johnny Adams, Claiborne; Mrs. Blanche Barrett, Lakeview; Mrs. C. P. George, Lakeview; and Mrs. Adele Burnett, Woodlawn.

See you next Sunday.

Creel Family Holds Reunion In Winnfield

DODSON, Sunday the family of Mrs. Amelia Crain Creel and the late Mr. Aaron L. Crain met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crain in Winnfield for a reunion. Eight of the ten living children were present.

They were: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Creel, Sikes; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Crain, Jerry and Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ferguson, and Cindy, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Ingouf, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crain, Betty and Joan, Rev. John Edward Ingouf, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cagle, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Dark, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Crain, Gay, George and Delane, Winnfield; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gaar and Paul Vane, Dodson; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Tyler, Haynesville; Mr. and Mrs. B. McCrain, Patty and John Melton, Atlanta, Ga.

Unable to attend were Brewton Crain, Los Angeles, Calif; and Lamarr Crain, Shreveport.

A delicious dinner was served buffet style at noon. Rev. John E. Ingouf gave a devotional in the evening and singing was enjoyed by the entire group, then pictures were made of the family.

It was pointed out that there will be another reunion next year.

Apply a cream - type wax to your linen shelves about twice a year; the wax will protect the shelves and make them easy to clean.

Don't use soap first, on a lipstick or rouge stain, because it may set the stain. Rub the spot with lard or vaseline, then wash in hot suds.

Delta Beta Sigma held ritual for Miss Jennie Lou Erving in the home of Misses Janis and Carolyn Futrell.

During Miss Erving's "help" week she did many community projects such as: taking pot plants to the T. B. Sanitorium, visiting shut-ins, taking cookies and magazines to various old people's homes, taking books and puzzles to the Baptist Children's Home and helping the Red Cross.

Members present were: Miss Gerry Lester, Miss Dawson Ann Forman, Miss Jan Demmary, Miss Mary Pat Welch, Miss Nancy Ledbetter, Miss Janis Futrell, Miss Sandra Tooke, Miss Janice Strong, Miss Sally Kennedy, Miss Dixie Johnson, Miss Sally Oliver, Miss Carolyn Futrell, Miss Gayle Roark, Miss Ashley Hamilton, Miss Sylvia Masur, Miss Camile Smith, Miss

Mrs. John Kenney Feted At Party

COLUMBIA — The Band Boosters Club of Columbia entertained with a coffee hour on Thursday afternoon honoring Mrs. John W. Kenney, the recent bride of Mr. Kenney, the director of the Columbia High School band.

Mrs. Kenney is the former Louise Ann Baudin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Baudin of Ocala, Fla. Mr. Kenney's home is in Bachlor.

The party was held in the reception rooms of the home economics department where the hostesses and Mrs. Kenney received the guests between the hours of three and five o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Carroll and Mrs. Guy Alford alternated at the coffee service. Others assisting were Mrs. M. H. Stuart, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Clark Hester, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Marcus Thornhill and Miss Bert Hearn. Mayor Lynn Alford presented Mrs. Kenney with an electric percolator, a gift from the club.

Good Looks Take Time

In the process of acquiring an air of grown-up grooming, teenagers, don't overlook such niceties as hats and gloves.

It is laugh-provoking to see teenagers hatless, gloveless, even without stockings, but with their faces heavily made up.

Less time with make-up and more spent selecting appropriate accessories would be far more effective in one's campaign to achieve grown-up status.

Careful dressing is the hallmark of the lady. So up your maturity rating gracefully by acquiring the accessory habit. It is one way to help you avoid the awkward-age tag.

Just for fun, you might start a collection of hats or gloves that re a bit different. But don't go overboard; there are many hats around these days that are too daft to be in good taste.

For dates, a perky little hat and dainty gloves are perfect. Since teen-agers are not known for their addiction to these garments, you will be employing a discreet method of attracting attention. And you can be certain the response will be favorable.

Incidentally, wearing gloves can be overdone. Long, black formal gloves, for instance, do not go with the type of formal gown you should be wearing. But the white glove in soft leather will go with any dressy costume.

And when wearing a hat, don't forget that you have it on. Remove it before getting up to dance in a public place.

To guard the heels and toes of your nylon stockings, rub them with a bit of beeswax.

Speaking of the outlook for agriculture and life on the farm the coming year, economists point out that on the average those farm families that enjoy the best balanced year round diets are those that have good gardens and conserve — can, freeze, or preserve vegetables and fruits.

Home gardening and food preservation will help reduce the family grocery bill and partly offset lower farm incomes. Two Colony Club members, Mrs. H. Wroten and Mrs. E. O. Welch, have enrolled in this work with the agent and will compete in the pantry contest at the Ouachita Fair. Call 3-2251 and enroll at once. New information in gardening is available.

Results From Experiment Station on Vegetable Varieties

From the experiments conducted in growing snap beans the results show that Green Savage and Can Freezer pole beans were yielders. With bush snap beans the Contender out yielded other varieties and it matured 10 days earlier than others. Other varieties which followed were: Contender yield, of 270.3 bushels per acre, Top Crop 205.9 bushels; Wade, 204.4 bushel; and Stringless Back Valentine 76.4. Wade yields over a longer period. It is a good garden type. Contender is better and earlier yielder. It is especially good as a fresh market variety. Aristogold Bantam - Evergreen sweet corn is the best variety to plant for early maturing. Gulf Coast sweet corn is recommended for late maturing variety.

Carolina Sieve is the highest yielder in pole beans. Easy Shell was second in production but is preferred by home gardeners because of its continuous fruiting ability.

The report on tomato varieties best for Louisiana are Rutgers (red), Marglobe (red), Gulf State (pink), Lakeland (red,) Jefferson (red), and Grothen Globe (red.) You may get planting guide which gives other recommended vegetable varieties by calling 3-2251.

Home Demonstration Concession Booth

The Ouachita Parish Council voted to rebuild the concession booth, accepting the plan submitted by Mr. John Birdsong, manager of the Ouachita Valley Fair. The committee composed of Mrs. A. T. Unable to attend were Brewton Crain, Los Angeles, Calif; and Lamarr Crain, Shreveport.

A delicious dinner was served buffet style at noon. Rev. John E. Ingouf gave a devotional in the evening and singing was enjoyed by the entire group, then pictures were made of the family.

It was pointed out that there will be another reunion next year.

Apply a cream - type wax to your linen shelves about twice a year; the wax will protect the shelves and make them easy to clean.

Don't use soap first, on a lipstick or rouge stain, because it may set the stain. Rub the spot with lard or vaseline, then wash in hot suds.

Mrs. John Kenney Feted At Party

COLUMBIA — The Band Boosters Club of Columbia entertained with a coffee hour on Thursday afternoon honoring Mrs. John W. Kenney, the recent bride of Mr. Kenney, the director of the Columbia High School band.

Mrs. Kenney is the former Louise Ann Baudin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Baudin of Ocala, Fla. Mr. Kenney's home is in Bachlor.

The party was held in the reception rooms of the home economics department where the hostesses and Mrs. Kenney received the guests between the hours of three and five o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Carroll and Mrs. Guy Alford alternated at the coffee service. Others assisting were Mrs. M. H. Stuart, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Clark Hester, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Marcus Thornhill and Miss Bert Hearn. Mayor Lynn Alford presented Mrs. Kenney with an electric percolator, a gift from the club.

Good Looks Take Time

In the process of acquiring an air of grown-up grooming, teenagers, don't overlook such niceties as hats and gloves.

It is laugh-provoking to see teenagers hatless, gloveless, even without stockings, but with their faces heavily made up.

Less time with make-up and more spent selecting appropriate accessories would be far more effective in one's campaign to achieve grown-up status.

Careful dressing is the hallmark of the lady. So up your maturity rating gracefully by acquiring the accessory habit. It is one way to help you avoid the awkward-age tag.

Just for fun, you might start a collection of hats or gloves that re a bit different. But don't go overboard; there are many hats around these days that are too daft to be in good taste.

For dates, a perky little hat and dainty gloves are perfect. Since teen-agers are not known for their addiction to these garments, you will be employing a discreet method of attracting attention. And you can be certain the response will be favorable.

Incidentally, wearing gloves can be overdone. Long, black formal gloves, for instance, do not go with the type of formal gown you should be wearing. But the white glove ir soft leather will go with any dressy costume.

And when wearing a hat, don't forget that you have it on. Remove it before getting up to dance in a public place.

To guard the heels and toes of your nylon stockings, rub them with a bit of beeswax.

Neat Dresser Aids Grooming

Some women dress neatly and becomingly, yet fail to be smart looking. Something is always missing. That something is likely to be a well-chosen accessory.

And probably the much-needed accessory is at home, hidden away in some drawer. These women just haven't had time to hunt down the elusive object.

A few hours spent organizing bureau drawers some rainy afternoon would do much for their rating among the well - dressed.

And it will also do much for the budgets of some women who no doubt will discover gloves, scarves and jewelry that they had forgotten they have.

The best way to begin to straighten out the drawers is to empty them. You might spread newspapers across your bed and put the contents of each drawer in a row across it.

However, before starting, be sure to look at the many drawer dividers and accessory boxes that are now available at notions counters.

A plastic box with several compartments of varying sizes is excellent for the numerous tiny items a woman collects. You'll also find attractive boxes made especially for gloves, scarves, stockings and handkerchiefs.

After everything is arranged in rows on the bed, separate the clothes according to type. For example, transfer all the gloves, stockings and scarves you find to the first row. Into the second row put all your lingerie, and so on.

You can do all this while sitting beside the bed. Now all you need to do is lay the neatly - stacked piles back into the drawers. You are likely to be amazed at the amount of extra space you will have.

You can avoid another major turnout by setting aside a few minutes each week to set things in perfect order again.

For quick and easy sandwich making in the future, bake meat loaf mixture in small loaves. Cool and freeze them, then slice the loaves and wrap slices separately, keeping them frozen for sandwiches.

Pack food loosely into your refrigerator so that the cold air can circulate and reach all parts of the food compartment.

WEDDING ATTENDANTS— Miss Mary Sue Coates and Miss Pat Barnes who acted as bridesmaids in the Watson-Johnson wedding. Mrs. Marvin Sikes was her sister's matron of honor.

ALL-DAY OUTFIT IS SOFTLY MOLDED... COUTURE PATTERN BY ALAN PHILLIPS

PROMINENT DESIGNER — "If you're 5' 4" or shorter, the new molded silhouette does wonderful things for you," talented young Alan Phillips declares. "In this spring costume, I have shaped the bodice and skirt to emphasize the greatest asset of the shorter miss—her graceful feminine figure!" This American designer adds softness with a draped shoulderline, a soft bow at the wide-away neckline. Note how cleverly the bow motif is repeated to accent the new bloused back of the jacket. Incidentally, that jacket is a marvelous asset for days that start early, end late. Sewing? You have a joyous experience ahead of you. Not only is the length right, but Pattern A542 is designed to fit the shorter miss across the bosom, waist, hips. This ensemble is suited to many fabrics, so choose the one that's right for your way of life. Need a new spring outfit? Sew this in printed tie silk, linen or cotton. A glamorous dinner outfit? Choose taffeta or faille.

Pattern A542 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 dress requires 3 yards 39-inch fabric.

Reduce Expenses By Checking Washday Habits

What's your pet "string-saving" economy?

Thriftier methods of everyday housework that save nickels and dimes get an attentive ear these days when budgets are not well-padded.

For example, a slight change in my laundering and cleaning habits saves me nearly a dollar a week. It also makes me a better housewife.

That slight change is to measure accurately, by the cup or the spoonful, exactly the amount of detergent, bleach, water conditioner, or cleaner recommended.

When I measured by "eye" I was dumping into the washing machine (automatic) about a cup-and-a-half of detergent. Accurate measure according to the directions proved that ¾ to one cup was enough to clean clothes.

With our heavy, weekly laundry load, accuracy saves 50 to 60 cents in supplies each week.

Applying the same test to dishwashing showed we were using three times as much detergent as we needed. Reducing the amount saves about 20 to 30 cents a week. The dishes are also easier to rinse and dry.

Another financially foolish habit is overloading the floor - washing water with cleaner. Cleaning powders don't cost much, I know, but strong concentrations are hard on the floor, make sponge mop heads wear out faster and lift the paint off the woodwork.

A pet thrift of a country friend saves her, she estimates, about three or four dollars a month. Telephone toll calls mount up fast when you have a big family who bring home friends for weekends and holidays.

She keeps a little jar marked "tolls" beside the telephone and about a dollar's worth of change in it. With this reminder at hand, guests are encouraged to make change and pay for their call at once.

Try this thrift tip if your children help clean up the bathtub or sink: A friend of mine discovered that a can of cleanser would last twice as long and do just as effective a job if she punched only two holes in the top instead of five or six.

Reason? The kids had been shaking out half a can every time they cleaned the tub.

Miss Johnson Says Vows In Late Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Hattie Johnson and Billy Watson was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Methodist Church of West Monroe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Jack Johnson. Mr. Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watson of Little Rock, Ark.

Reverend J. E. Houston, assisted by Reverend M. W. Miller, officiated before a setting of white gladioli and burning white cathedral candles, which were lighted by McLanny Johnson, nephew of the bride and G. B. Watson, brother of the bridegroom. James E. Gilmer, organist, played a program of music preceding the ceremony. He accompanied Mrs. John B. McMillan as she sang, "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her brother, S. J. Johnson, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over taffeta made with a tight fitting bodice and long sleeves ending in points over her hands. A shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of lace. She carried a prayer book topped with a single white orchid and baby carnations.

Mrs. Marvin Sikes, sister of the bride was her matron of honor. She wore a dress of purple lace over taffeta, ballerina length. She carried a bell shaped bouquet of carnations.

Miss Mary Sue Coates and Miss Pat Barnes were bridesmaids and wore identical dresses and flowers to the matron of honor. They were of lavender net.

Richard Watson of Little Rock, Ark. served his brother, as best man and ushers were Johnny Mitchell, Gene Muckleroy, Jerry Sikes and Robert Cole.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McMillan, aunt of the bridegroom, were hosts at a reception in their home. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were Miss Mary Lou Trawick who served punch. Mrs. Mary Lou Whitten, presiding at the coffee service and Miss Kay McMillan and Miss Jimmy Lou Whitten, nieces of the bridegroom who served the wedding cake. Mrs. Sarah Hendricks was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel the bride chose a mauve cloth jacket with black velvet skirt and black velvet accessories. After a short wedding trip the couple are at home in West Monroe.

Out-of-town guests included, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Carpenter and family of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson of Little Rock, Ark., Miss Vivian Jircik, Cleveland, Tex., Mr. James Gilmer of Dallas, Tex. and Shelby Morse of Winnsboro.

Mitchell P. T. A. Holds Meeting

The January meeting of the W. R. Mitchell P.T.A was held in the school auditorium Wednesday, January 13. Mrs. James Daniel, P. T. A. president, presided over the meeting.

Two speakers were introduced. Miss Bess Sharp, Y. W. C. A. director, gave an interesting talk on "Home Environment—Its Relation To Juvenile Deliquency.' Mrs. Amiee Cook, principal of Mitchell School, gave a most informative talk on legislature on the proposed cut in teacher retirement.

In view of the fact that new P. T. A. officers are to be installed in September, a nominating committee was elected, Mrs. Bob McNeely, Mrs. Maida Willis and Mrs. Jack Armstrong are members on the committee.

It was announced that Mrs. Cecelia Coulter, the fifth grade teacher, is leaving and the new teacher, Miss Martha Upshaw, was introduced at this time.

The room count was taken and ended in a tie between Mrs. Coulter's fifth grade and Miss Bettie Oxford's first grade.

PATTERN A542

A Lentz Diminutive

PROMINENT DESIGNER — "If you're 5' 4" or shorter, the new molded silhouette does wonderful things for you," talented young Alan Phillips declares. "In this spring costume, I have shaped the bodice and skirt to emphasize the greatest asset of the shorter miss—her graceful feminine figure!" This American designer adds softness with a draped shoulderline, a soft bow at the wide-away neckline. Note how cleverly the bow motif is repeated to accent the new bloused back of the jacket. Incidentally, that jacket is a marvelous asset for days that start early, end late. Sewing? You have a joyous experience ahead of you. Not only is the length right, but Pattern A542 is designed to fit the shorter miss across the bosom, waist, hips. This ensemble is suited to many fabrics, so choose the one that's right for your way of life. Need a new spring outfit? Sew this in printed tie silk, linen or cotton. A glamorous dinner outfit? Choose taffeta or faille.

Pattern A542 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 dress requires 3 yards 39-inch fabric.

Reduce Expenses By Checking Washday Habits

What's your pet "string-saving" economy?

Thriftier methods of everyday housework that save nickels and dimes get an attentive ear these days when budgets are not well-padded.

For example, a slight change in my laundering and cleaning habits saves me nearly a dollar a week. It also makes me a better housewife.

That slight change is to measure accurately, by the cup or the spoonful, exactly the amount of detergent, bleach, water conditioner, or cleaner recommended.

When I measured by "eye" I was dumping into the washing machine (automatic) about a cup-and-a-half of detergent. Accurate measure according to the directions proved that ¾ to one cup was enough to clean clothes.

With our heavy, weekly laundry load, accuracy saves 50 to 60 cents in supplies each week.

Applying the same test to dishwashing showed we were using three times as much detergent as we needed. Reducing the amount saves about 20 to 30 cents a week. The dishes are also easier to rinse and dry.

Another financially foolish habit is overloading the floor - washing water with cleaner. Cleaning powders don't cost much, I know, but strong concentrations are hard on the floor, make sponge mop heads wear out faster and lift the paint off the woodwork.

A pet thrift of a country friend saves her, she estimates, about three or four dollars a month. Telephone toll calls mount up fast when you have a big family who bring home friends for weekends and holidays.

She keeps a little jar marked "tolls" beside the telephone and about a dollar's worth of change in it. With this reminder at hand, guests are encouraged to make change and pay for their call at once.

Try this thrift tip if your children help clean up the bathtub or sink: A friend of mine discovered that a can of cleanser would last twice as long and do just as effective a job if she punched only two holes in the top instead of five or six.

Reason? The kids had been shaking out half a can every time they cleaned the tub.

Miss Johnson Says Vows In Late Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Hattie Johnson and Billy Watson was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Methodist Church of West Monroe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Jack Johnson. Mr. Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watson of Little Rock, Ark.

Reverend J. E. Houston, assisted by Reverend M. W. Miller, officiated before a setting of white gladioli and burning white cathedral candles, which were lighted by McLanny Johnson, nephew of the bride and G. B. Watson, brother of the bridegroom. James E. Gilmer, organist, played a program of music preceding the ceremony. He accompanied Mrs. John B. McMillan as she sang, "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her brother, S. J. Johnson, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over taffeta made with a tight fitting bodice and long sleeves ending in points over her hands. A shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of lace. She carried a prayer book topped with a single white orchid and baby carnations.

Mrs. Marvin Sikes, sister of the bride was her matron of honor. She wore a dress of purple lace over taffeta, ballerina length. She carried a bell shaped bouquet of carnations.

Miss Mary Sue Coates and Miss Pat Barnes were bridesmaids and wore identical dresses and flowers to the matron of honor. They were of lavender net.

Richard Watson of Little Rock, Ark. served his brother as best man and ushers were Johnny Mitchell, Gene Muckleroy, Jerry Sikes and Robert Cole.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McMillan, aunt of the bridegroom, were hosts at a reception in their home. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were Miss Mary Lou Trawick who served punch, Mrs. Mary Lou Whitten, presiding at the coffee service and Miss Kay McMillan and Miss Jimmy Lou Whitten, nieces of the bridegroom who served the wedding cake. Mrs. Sarah Hendricks was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel the bride chose a mauve cloth jacket with black velvet skirt and black velvet accessories. After a short wedding trip the couple are at home in West Monroe.

Out-of-town guests included, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Carpenter and family of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson of Little Rock, Ark., Miss Vivian Jircik, Cleveland, Tex., Mr. James Gilmer of Dallas, Tex. and Shelby Morse of Winnsboro.

Mitchell P. T. A. Holds Meeting

The January meeting of the W. R. Mitchell P.T.A was held in the school auditorium Wednesday, January 13. Mrs. James Daniel, P. T. A. president, presided over the meeting.

Two speakers were introduced. Miss Bess Sharp, Y. W. C. A. director, gave an interesting talk on "Home Environment—Its Relation To Juvenile Deliquency.' Mrs. Amiee Cook, principal of Mitchell School, gave a most informative talk on legislature on the proposed cut in teacher retirement.

In view of the fact that new P. T. A. officers are to be installed in September, a nominating committee was elected, Mrs. Bob McNeely, Mrs. Maida Willis and Mrs. Jack Armstrong are members on the committee.

It was announced that Mrs. Cecelia Coulter, the fifth grade teacher, is leaving and the new teacher, Miss Martha Upshaw, was introduced at this time.

The room count was taken and ended in a tie between Mrs. Coulter's fifth grade and Miss Bettie Oxford's first grade.

Formosa Azaleas Common Here

Have you found a time when you can rest from work in the garden? Only when its raining too hard to get outside, can you nap or relax. Those who love to garden never seem to mind the work. When you get that odor of fresh turned soil — there seems to be no end to the energy it brings forth.

Don't Overlook Azaleas

If you have some shade in your garden, you'll surely want some azaleas. If you think you're one of the gardeners who doesn't have a green thumb, plant the hardy ones. Azaleas give weight to your yard in the winter, when the deciduous plants just look like dead sticks.

The Indica azaleas grow to be large shrubs. The Formosa is the most common one of this group grown in north Louisiana. The flowers are purplish pink and the plant is evergreen. It is the easiest to grow, but be careful of its next door neighbor. Just put one of the red orange varieties next to a Formosa and you can positively hear them screaming at each other. Separate the two with some popcorn spirea that blooms at the same time, and you really have ilar to it is Pink Pearl. Possibly the best red is Hinondegiri. This makes a very compact bush and something to delight the eye.

Next in popularity to the Formosa is the Pride of Mobile. This is watermelon pink. The leaves stay on the bush all winter but are not as green as the Formosa foliage. Its not quite as hardy either. Elegance is an early bloomer, similar to Formosa but the flowers are lighter in color. Salmon is a mid-season variety. Prince of orange is another mid-season bloomer, which is orange red in color. The best red among the Indicas is a late season bloomer called Pride of Dorking. Fisher pink and Fielders white are two hardy azaleas in their group.

The second type of azaleas is the Kurume group. These have smaller foliage, are usually much more compact and tend to be dwarf. They are sometimes called Japanese azaleas, and are the ones you see in pots in florists shops.

Among the good varieties of Kurumes is coral bell. It's an early bloomer, pink in color. Very similar when in full bloom looks like a ball of red. The best white is snow. It makes a fair sized bush. Planted between colors, it provides a break for colors that might clash.

I'm sure you've noticed in yards around the Twin Cities that the Snow Azalea turns yellow almost as soon as it blooms. My preference in white is Fisher's white. It does grow larger than Snow but is not inclined to turn yellow so soon after blooming.

Regardless of the fact that many gardeners don't care for the purplish bloom or the Formosa, it really gives us much for our money. Right now, after all the cold, it is a beautiful dark green.

Don't fertilize azaleas at planting time. You can use about a cup of cotton seed meal worked in the soil. Partial shade and good drainage are essential for this shrub. They like acid soil, which means plenty of good leaf mold. Azaleas are shallow rooted plants and should never be planted deep. Keep them mulched at all times, as they should never be worked.

Leta Tisdale and I decided the reason her azaleas don't bloom is —they are too deep. They've been planted for many years and many layers of mulch have decayed, making layers of soil. The specialists say, in a case like this, either lift the plant and raise it or pull some of the dirt from around the roots. They'll need plenty of food, too, but don't fertilize now, I'll remind you of that, later.

Around The Yard

Is your soil dry enough for spading? Here 's the test. Scoop up a handful. If it sticks together when dropped, it's too wet. If it falls apart, it's dry enough for working.

We often overlook one of our fastest growing, hardiest evergreens, abelia grandiflora. If you're not willing to prune heavily and often, don't plant this shrub. If neglected it grows tall and woody. Next month prune out all the oldest canes, right down where they come out of the ground. Abelia will grow in sun or partial shade, is not affected by the heaviest freezes, is good in foundation planting or nice grouped as a part of a mass or screen planting.

A Lovely Visit

I'll remember for many years my visit with Lola Caldwell and the Columbia Garden Club. I enjoyed serving on your program and reminiscing about old times when we made our home there. Mayor Alford, (Mrs.) congratulations on your community center. I'm happy to know your gardeners enjoy this column and my Tuesday T. V. show. Many of the plants from my yard came from the gardens of Columbia's good gardeners, Mrs. R. R. Reddit, Mrs. Lily Blanks and Mrs. Julie Mecom.

A Slick Trick

If your blonde furniture has some white spots caused from water or other liquids, rub a pecan meat firmly over the spot. It will take out the spot without leaving stain. Be sure the pecan meat is not salted.

Materials from your medicine cabinet can be used to doctor scratches on mahogany furniture. Match, iodine or mercurochrome to the finish of the furniture, and rub on the scratch.

Dates

For those who have been calling, we'll have hat and slip cover classes in February. Also—Draperies and cornice, if I get requests for these. Tune in Tuesday at 2.45, KNOE-TV for demonstration on planting and pruning a rose bush.

See you next Sunday.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q — Can tuberous begonias be propagated through cuttings in addition to the tubers?

A—It is practically impossible to propogate tuberous begonias except by dividing the large tubers when the new sprouts have become plainly visible, and then you must not attempt to get too many divisions or none may survive.

Q — What are the growing instructions for Oxalis?

A — When first planted, Oxalis should receive but little water. It should be given a light soil, plenty of water after growth starts, and be placed in a good, sunny window. Feed occasionally with a fertilizer strong in nitrogen.

Q — What makes some evergreens of the same kind have deeper and richer-colored foliage than others?

A — In general, color is dependent upon sunlight, acidity of the soil, the supply of proper plant nutrients, and freedom from insects and diseases.

Wash Plants With Soap, Sulphate

House plants are beginning to show some signs of winter with their dust-coated foliage asking for a bath and a few masses of mealy bugs just waiting to be exterminated.

Hunger signs are in evidence at this time, and many indoor garden plants take on a languid appearance. Plants must eat and drink and breathe, like all other forms of cellular life.

It is not difficult to recognize when a plant is hungry, thirsty or sick.

The warm atmosphere of the home is ideal for the rapid increase of insect pests. One writer declares that "the multiplication of insect colonies on indoor plants is more amazing than pleasing, and here if anywhere is applicable the old adage, 'a stitch in time saves nine.' "

A good washing with soap and nicotine sluphate will prolong life of plant.

While many insects must be killed with some chemical, it is surprising what effect the weekly bath of soapy water has in reducing their numbers.

The lovely gardenia is often infested with a pest that looks like little wads of cotton.

This pest is the white mealy bug and if allowed to go unchecked will seriously stunt the plant and keep the buds from opening. The simplest method of control is to place the plant in the bathtub or sink and go over the infested areas with soapy water, using a soft flat paint brush.

A teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate may be added to each quart of soapy water. After making sure that no bugs remain lodged in the joints of the branches, spray the plant with clear water and return to the window garden.

Another mean insect to disturb our inside garden is the red spider, a very small insect which causes unsightly, yellow-spotted foliage. The red spider protects itself by a shielding web and thus is not disturbed by the usual insecticide. However, it survives only under warm, dry conditions and is quickly killed where moisture is present. The best method of control is to wash foliage regularly or to use forceful spraying.

Aphids are small green or brown sucking insects which seem to thrive best on new growth. Aphids, also known as plant lice, should be exterminated as soon as they are detected, because they produce a new generation every 10 days.

The recommended control is one-half teaspoon nicotine sulphate to a quart of soapy water. Roots of house plants are sometimes infested with another kind of aphids. Plants thus infested appear as if suffering from jaundice.

Control is difficult unless the plant is removed from the pot, the roots thoroughly washed in soapy water, and repotted in new soil.

If you are trying to add inches to your height, wear reasonably high heels. Spike heels will merely throw your body off balance and indirectly call attention to your short stature.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Dig Weeds Soon After Wet Periods

You can get ahead of some of the worst weeds by digging out the biggest ones in January and February. Those big fellows which develop a tap root will get so well established in the flower beds that you will have to dig out your perennials and bulbs to eliminate the weeds if you let them grow all winter. During the wet periods following winter rains, you can actually pull a lot of them out. If they are too big for that, then get yourself what is called an asparagus knife and push it down and cut off the tap root. Asparagus knives are usually listed in the backs of your spring seed catalogues. Your hardware store will order one for you if you cannot find it, and then you will never wish to be without one from then on.

Winter is a good time to eliminate honeysuckle. This Chinese vine which we love so for its odor has become a pest even though everybody is loath to admit it. If honeysuckle made large roots, we, would be in a bad fix. It seldom makes very large roots, and it is fairly easy to pull up. The trouble comes from all the hundreds of little pieces. They are hard to see, and if you leave a tiny scrap of root in the ground, in three weeks you will have another vine on your hands. The column has been asked to repeat the information we have given on eliminating honeysuckle in winter with weed killer. If you have large jungles of honeysuckle and there is not anything within about fifty feet of it that you wish to save, you can use regular 2-4D weed killers to get rid of the honeysuckle. The reason winter is the best time for this operation lies in the fact that these weed killers evaporate into a gas which will spread and kill other plants or make them sick. In winter when the leaves are off other plants, you will do less damage than in summer. Even after you have killed honeysuckle, remember that the dead vines will still have to be pulled down, so you will not be saving very much in labor by killing them with weed killer. It usually does a better job on the vines to spray them with all the tops on than to cut them down and then use weed killer. The more leaves you can cover with weed killer, the surer you will be to kill the whole vine.

Honeysuckle vines should not be allowed to run up on little trees because the vines will, in a few years, cut into the trunk of the tree. You can walk through the woods and see trees everywhere that were marked by honeysuckle in their youth. Some large pine trees can be found which are as crooked as a corkscrew because of honeysuckle vines which grew on them at some time or other. After a tree is grown, however, you can train honeysuckle up into it and let it spill over in great tangles of sweet flowers in the spring. This fragrant vine is all but choking to death many of our native vines like the cross vine in the woods. Fortunately, the cross vine can outclimb honeysuckle if it can get started. Cross vine has another thing in its favor which will probably save it in the competition. It is evergreen, and honeysuckle is not entirely evergreen. Yellow jessamine, another choice native vine, likes very acid soil. Honeysuckle will grow in such places but always looks a little sick. We are always going to have the honeysuckle problem because the birds like the little juicy berries on these vines and carry them all through woods and gardens and down fence rows. If wistaria had juicy seeds like this, we would be just one big jungle of wistaria like Summerville, South Carolina. The dry seeds of wistaria, however, pop out of the pods during the winter and fall to the ground within ten to twenty feet of the vine. From old vines which have climbed high up into tall trees, the seeds will travel much farther. That other oriental vine, kudzu, is beginning to seed heavily in this country. When it takes hold, everything but the grown trees get choked to death. This vine is very lush looking during the growing season but horribly ugly in winter when it is hanging full of dead vines and leaves. The roots make terrifically large stumps underground which nothing but a buldozer can dig up. Do not let kudzu get started on your place. You can have one vine of it and manage it, but young ones which appear should be killed at once or you will have the same experience Jack did with his beanstalk.

This is the time to get the cold frame ready or to knock together some boards and make yourself one for those seeds you will be ordering soon if you have not already done so. The days are lengthening, the daffodils are coming up, and everybody is getting twitches of spring. In our long season down south here, there are lots of perennials which will bloom at the end of the summer if you plant the seeds in a frame next month.

Ruston Garden Club Yearbook Now At Center

"To study nature as the countenance of God" (quotation from Kingsley) is the motto of the Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston, whose beautiful year-book has just been received at the Center.

Some of the worthy projects of this club are: Monthly favors to the T. B. Hospital, and pillow corsages to shut-ins.

Members say "we extend to those less fortunate a helping hand that they might have a brighter day tomorrow.' This thoughtfulness of others helps toward a better world.

"Winter into Spring" might well be the theme of the arrangements made by the Madison Parish Garden Club of Tallulah this week. Mrs. J. D. Murry and Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston served as judges. Mrs. H. S. Weaver's blue ribbon arrangement was of Governor Mouton camellias and self-foliage in a blue-green bowl.

Mrs. R. S. Gayle took second place with a lovely spring-like arrangement of narcissi grandiflora in a low blue container. Third place was awarded to Mrs. LeRoy Smith for a beautiful mass arrangement of white chrysanthemums and fern.

In the horticulture section, Mrs. R. S. Gayle was awarded a blue ribbon for Soleil d'Or narcissi and a red ribbon for paper - white grandiflora narcissi. Mrs. H. S. Weaver was awarded a blue ribbon for Governor Mouton camellias.

Among the visitors in the center from out of state were: Mrs. Marie Ellet, of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. George Breece of Reading, Pennsylvania, and Miss Anne Kribs, of Birmingham, Ala.

GROWING PAINS

By ALBERT S. FULLING

The garden calendar runs officially from March to December inclusive—from crocus to Christmas tree. But the gardener's calendar is a 12-month proposition.

January and February bring some respite from toil to men of the soil, but there are many important small chores on the winter agenda.

Protect Trees

First and most important is to check the trees and shrubs planted last fall. Make sure the guy wires and brancings still are firm—and that all protective burlap screens are secure and not flapping in the breeze.

If there is a little depression around the base of the tree or shrub, fill it in with soil and firm down. Water collects there and freezes, causing injury. The veteran gardener always has a bushel or two of soil stored for such winter purposes as well as for repotting and for early seed flat purposes.

The new gardener may have to buy some soil at the nearby nursery this time of the year.

Watch the Fire

Once again, caution is in order about burning trash near shrubs or trees. On cold winter days, the trip to the trash burner at the rear of a snow-blanketed garden is not inviting. The temptation to make a handier quickie bonfire of papers, wrappings and boxes is human—but look before you light.

Again a reminder to brush the snow gently from your evergreens. Snow on greenery is pretty, but the weight sometimes will distort the shape of plants, make them subject to wind damage, or victims of freezing and thawing.

Take a good look, too, at the plants you got for Christmas. Regular watering, protection from high temperature and drafts will prolong their beauty and bloom a long time. If they have passed the decorative stage, they can be salvaged for another season. Even poinsettia can be carried over successfully to bloom again. Consult a good garden book on the procedure.

If your gift plants included a philodendron in a small decorative container which has only a small amount of soil, you must water every day. Prune back the plant as necessary to keep it in proportion. Root the cuttings thus obtained in moist sand or vermiculite, or even water with small pieces of charcoal added in attractive pottery.

Birds Are Important

Don't forget the birds. This year is a tough one in many areas for your feathered friends. The warm fall lured many a summer bird to linger in the north, and now he's really up against it. Put the feeders in a sheltered spot, out of the wind.

Emergency bird rations should include wild bird seed, bread crumbs, suet cut into small pieces, a container of ice-free water and a generous amount of bird gravel or grit. Birds don't have teeth, and bird gravel or grit is essential to their digestive processes. Birds also will appreciate some windproof shelter where he can hole up on wintry days and nights.

The National Audubon Society, 1000 Fifth Ave., New York 28, will provide information on shelters, feeding stations and bird houses on request at 10 cents a pamphlet. Circular No. 29 deals with making bird houses, and the project is reduced to its simplest terms.

A Slick Trick

If your blonde furniture has some white spots caused from water or other liquids, rub a pecan meat firmly over the spot. It will take out the spot without leaving stain. Be sure the pecan meat is not salted.

Materials from your medicine cabinet can be used to doctor scratches on mahogany furniture. Match, iodine or mercurochrome to the finish of the furniture, and rub on the scratch.

Dates

For those who have been calling, we'll have hat and slip cover classes in February. Also—Draperies and cornice, if I get requests for these. Tune in Tuesday at 2.45, KNOE-TV for demonstration on planting and pruning a rose bush.

See you next Sunday.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q — Can tuberous begonias be propagated through cuttings in addition to the tubers?

A—It is practically impossible to propogate tuberous begonias except by dividing the large tubers when the new sprouts have become plainly visible, and then you must not attempt to get too many divisions or none may survive.

Q — What are the growing instructions for Oxalis?

A — When first planted, Oxalis should receive but little water. It should be given a light soil, plenty of water after growth starts, and be placed in a good, sunny window. Feed occasionally with a fertilizer strong in nitrogen.

Q — What makes some evergreens of the same kind have deeper and richer-colored foliage than others?

A — In general, color is dependent upon sunlight, acidity of the soil, the supply of proper plant nutrients, and freedom from insects and diseases.

Wash Plants With Soap, Sulphate

House plants are beginning to show some signs of winter with their dust-coated foliage asking for a bath and a few masses of mealy bugs just waiting to be exterminated.

Hunger signs are in evidence at this time, and many indoor garden plants take on a languid appearance. Plants must eat and drink and breathe, like all other forms of cellular life.

It is not difficult to recognize when a plant is hungry, thirsty or sick.

The warm atmosphere of the home is ideal for the rapid increase of insect pests. One writer declares that "the multiplication of insect colonies on indoor plants is more amazing than pleasing, and here if anywhere is applicable the old adage, 'a stitch in time saves nine.' "

A good washing with soap and nicotine sluphate will prolong life of plant.

While many insects must be killed with some chemical, it is surprising what effect the weekly bath of soapy water has in reducing their numbers.

The lovely gardenia is often infested with a pest that looks like little wads of cotton.

This pest is the white mealy bug and if allowed to go unchecked will seriously stunt the plant and keep the buds from opening. The simplest method of control is to place the plant in the bathtub or sink and go over the infested areas with soapy water, using a soft flat paint brush.

A teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate may be added to each quart of soapy water. After making sure that no bugs remain lodged in the joints of the branches, spray the plant with clear water and return to the window garden.

Another mean insect to disturb our inside garden is the red spider, a very small insect which causes unsightly, yellow-spotted foliage. The red spider protects itself by a shielding web and thus is not disturbed by the usual insecticide. However, it survives only under warm, dry conditions and is quickly killed where moisture is present. The best method of control is to wash foliage regularly or to use forceful spraying.

Aphids are small green or brown sucking insects which seem to thrive best on new growth. Aphids, also known as plant lice, should be exterminated as soon as they are detected, because they produce a new generation every 10 days.

The recommended control is one-half teaspoon nicotine sulphate to a quart of soapy water. Roots of house plants are sometimes infested with another kind of aphids. Plants thus infested appear as if suffering from jaundice.

Control is difficult unless the plant is removed from the pot, the roots thoroughly washed in soapy water, and repotted in new soil.

If you are trying to add inches to your height, wear reasonably high heels. Spike heels will merely throw your body off balance and indirectly call attention to your short stature.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Dig Weeds Soon After Wet Periods

You can get ahead of some of the worst weeds by digging out the biggest ones in January and February. Those big fellows which develop a tap root will get so well established in the flower beds that you will have to dig out your perennials and bulbs to eliminate the weeds if you let them grow all winter. During the wet periods following winter rains, you can actually pull a lot of them out. If they are too big for that, then get yourself what is called an asparagus knife and push it down and cut off the tap root. Asparagus knives are usually listed in the backs of your spring seed catalogues. Your hardware store will order one for you if you cannot find it, and then you will never wish to be without one from then on.

Winter is a good time to eliminate honeysuckle. This Chinese vine which we love so for its odor has become a pest even though everybody is loath to admit it. If honeysuckle made large roots, we, would be in a bad fix. It seldom makes very large roots, and it is fairly easy to pull up. The trouble comes from all the hundreds of little pieces. They are hard to see, and if you leave a tiny scrap of root in the ground, in three weeks you will have another vine on your hands. The column has been asked to repeat the information we have given on eliminating honeysuckle in winter with weed killer. If you have large jungles of honeysuckle and there is not anything within about fifty feet of it that you wish to save, you can use regular 2-4D weed killers to get rid of the honeysuckle. The reason winter is the best time for this operation lies in the fact that these weed killers evaporate into a gas which will spread and kill other plants or make them sick. In winter when the leaves are off other plants, you will do less damage than in summer. Even after you have killed honeysuckle, remember that the dead vines will still have to be pulled down, so you will not be saving very much in labor by killing them with weed killer. It usually does a better job on the vines to spray them with all the tops on than to cut them down and then use weed killer. The more leaves you can cover with weed killer, the surer you will be to kill the whole vine.

Honeysuckle vines should not be allowed to run up on little trees because the vines will, in a few years, cut into the trunk of the tree. You can walk through the woods and see trees everywhere that were marked by honeysuckle in their youth. Some large pine trees can be found which are as crooked as a corkscrew because of honeysuckle vines which grew on them at some time or other. After a tree is grown, however, you can train honeysuckle up into it and let it spill over in great tangles of sweet flowers in the spring. This fragrant vine is all but choking to death many of our native vines like the cross vine in the woods. Fortunately, the cross vine can outclimb honeysuckle if it can get started. Cross vine has another thing in its favor which will probably save it in the competition. It is evergreen, and honeysuckle is not entirely evergreen. Yellow jessamine, another choice native vine, likes very acid soil. Honeysuckle will grow in such places but always looks a little sick. We are always going to have the honeysuckle problem because the birds like the little juicy berries on these vines and carry them all through woods and gardens and down fence rows. If wistaria had juicy seeds like this, we would be just one big jungle of wistaria like Summerville, South Carolina. The dry seeds of wistaria, however, pop out of the pods during the winter and fall to the ground within ten to twenty feet of the vine. From old vines which have climbed high up into tall trees, the seeds will travel much farther. That other oriental vine, kudzu, is beginning to seed heavily in this country. When it takes hold, everything but the grown trees get choked to death. This vine is very lush looking during the growing season but horribly ugly in winter when it is hanging full of dead vines and leaves. The roots make terrifically large stumps underground which nothing but a buldozer can dig up. Do not let kudzu get started on your place. You can have one vine of it and manage it, but young ones which appear should be killed at once or you will have the same experience Jack did with his beanstalk.

This is the time to get the cold frame ready or to knock together some boards and make yourself one for those seeds you will be ordering soon if you have not already done so. The days are lengthening, the daffodils are coming up, and everybody is getting twitches of spring. In our long season down south here, there are lots of perennials which will bloom at the end of the summer if you plant the seeds in a frame next month.

Ruston Garden Club Yearbook Now At Center

"To study nature as the countenance of God" (quotation from Kingsley) is the motto of the Green Thumb Garden Club of Ruston, whose beautiful year-book has just been received at the Center.

Some of the worthy projects of this club are: Monthly favors to the T. B. Hospital, and pillow corsages to shut-ins.

Members say "we extend to those less fortunate a helping hand that they might have a brighter day tomorrow." This thoughtfulness of others helps toward a better world.

"Winter into Spring" might well be the theme of the arrangements made by the Madison Parish Garden Club of Tallulah this week. Mrs. J. D. Murry and Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston served as judges. Mrs. H. S. Weaver's blue ribbon arrangement was of Governor Mouton camellias and self-foliage in a blue-green bowl.

Mrs. R. S. Gayle took second place with a lovely spring-like arrangement of narcissi grandiflora in a low blue container. Third place was awarded to Mrs. LeRoy Smith for a beautiful mass arrangement of white chrysanthemums and fern.

In the horticulture section, Mrs. R. S. Gayle was awarded a blue ribbon for Soleil d'Or narcissi and a red ribbon for paper - white grandiflora narcissi. Mrs. H. S. Weaver was awarded a blue ribbon for Governor Mouton camellias.

Among the visitors in the center from out of state were: Mrs. Marie Ellet, of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. George Breece of Reading, Pennsylvania, and Miss Anne Kribs, of Birmingham, Ala.

GROWING PAINS

By ALBERT S. FULLING

The garden calendar runs officially from March to December inclusive—from crocus to Christmas tree. But the gardener's calendar is a 12-month proposition.

January and February bring some respite from toil to men of the soil, but there are many important small chores on the winter agenda.

Protect Trees

First and most important is to check the trees and shrubs planted last fall. Make sure the guy wires and brancings still are firm—and that all protective burlap screens are secure and not flapping in the breeze.

If there is a little depression around the base of the tree or shrub, fill it in with soil and firm down. Water collects there and freezes, causing injury. The veteran gardener always has a bushel or two of soil stored for such winter purposes as well as for repotting and for early seed flat purposes.

The new gardener may have to buy some soil at the nearby nursery this time of the year.

Watch the Fire

Once again, caution is in order about burning trash near shrubs or trees. On cold winter days, the trip to the trash burner at the rear of a snow-blanketed garden is not inviting. The temptation to make a handier quickie bonfire of papers, wrappings and boxes is human—but look before you light.

Again a reminder to brush the snow gently from your evergreens. Snow on greenery is pretty, but the weight sometimes will distort the shape of plants, make them subject to wind damage, or victims of freezing and thawing.

Take a good look, too, at the plants you got for Christmas. Regular watering, protection from high temperature and drafts will prolong their beauty and bloom a long time. If they have passed the decorative stage, they can be salvaged for another season. Even poinsettia can be carried over successfully to bloom again. Consult a good garden book on the procedure.

If your gift plants included a philodendron in a small decorative container which has only a small amount of soil, you must water every day. Prune back the plant as necessary to keep it in proportion. Root the cuttings thus obtained in moist sand or vermiculite, or even water with small pieces of charcoal added in attractive pottery.

Birds Are Important

Don't forget the birds. This year is a tough one in many areas for your feathered friends. The warm fall lured many a summer bird to linger in the north, and now he's really up against it. Put the feeders in a sheltered spot, out of the wind.

Emergency bird rations should include wild bird seed, bread crumbs, suet cut into small pieces, a container of ice-free water and a generous amount of bird gravel or grit. Birds don't have teeth, and bird gravel or grit is essential to their digestive processes. Birds also will appreciate some windproof shelter where he can hole up on wintry days and nights.

The National Audubon Society, 1000 Fifth Ave., New York 28, will provide information on shelters, feeding stations and bird houses on request at 10 cents a pamphlet. Circular No. 29 deals with making bird houses, and the project is reduced to its simplest terms.

'Give God Chance Now' Methodists Urge Public

Memorial Methodists will observe "Give God A Chance Now" Sunday with special features at all meetings of the day.

The evening service will begin at 7:30 and will feature a consecration service for the "friendly visitors" in the attendance crusade. The choirs will lead the congregation in a "festival of music," and the Rev. James T. Harris will preach the sermon.

At 6:00 p. m. the visitors in the attendance crusade will meet for a period of instruction and prayer which will be led by Rev. J. T. Harris.

Among the musical features of the evening hour, will be an anthem by the youth choir under the direction of Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose and two numbers by the adult choir under the direction of Mrs. Estelle Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders will sing a solo entitled "The Stranger of Galilee." The congregational singing will be led by the pastor.

Open House Set For Afternoon Today In Chapel

Highland Presbyterian chapel will hold open house today from 3 to 5, when parents and friends are cordially invited to be present.

Directed by Mrs. L. G. Cook, teacher, a successful kindergarten, started last fall, has been in progress there. The second term of school will open soon for boys and girls five years of age.

Highland chapel was built by Memorial Presbyterian Church and is located at Jersey Street and Wellerman road in Sunshine Heights addition, West Monroe.

C. E. STAUSS DIES

Word has been received here of the death of Clarence E. Stauss, in New Orleans. He came to Monroe a number of times while he was serving as president of the Real Estate Board in his city and he has many friends here.

Whales nourish their young with milk.

DIRECTOR ACCEPTS POST—E. H. Edwards, well known musician and choir leader has accepted the position of part time director of music at Good Hope Baptist church, West Monroe. Formerly he held similar positions with the First Baptist church in Monroe and in Pineville.

I am a follower of Jesus Christ and I know he would not miss;

Want it to live and function for God; I know that absenteeism would kill the church.

Testify by my presence that I am for Christ and His program;

Do my part and not leave the burden on others.

If I am habitually absent I become a slacker, a liability.

It helps me also will help others to make this a better, happier world to live in.

I love the church as Christ loved it, to give myself for it as He did.

I love God and by adoring Him in worship my spirit unites with His spirit to face life more abundantly.

Help to Glorify God and save our free way of life.

Presbyterians To Officially Induct Leaders

At the Sunday morning service the First Presbyterian Church will officially install its church school officers and teachers.

As of January 1st the enrollment in the church school was 539. The school has shown a rapid growth under the leadership of well qualified officers and teachers under the supervision of Miss Grace Fain, director of Christian education. The fact that a large number of young married couples and small children are enrolled in the church school is most encouraging. The young adult department has an enrollment of 103 and the nursery department, which consists of children below the age of three years, has an enrollment of 73.

The executive officers of the church school are: C. S. Foster, superintendent; M. E. Pickett, Jr., assistant superintendent; Frank F. Smith, treasurer; Wilton O. Bell, Jr., assistant treasurer; Mrs. C. K. Crandall, secretary; Mrs. M. E. Pickett, hostess.

The superintendents and teachers of the various departments are:

Cradle Roll, Mrs. T. H. Woods; Nursery, Mrs. M. L. Snapp, supt., Mrs. W. E. Bowles; Nursery class, Mrs. O. K. Davis, supt., Mrs. D. E. Miller, Mrs. John Huffman; Kindergarten, Mrs. I. T. Landhy, supt., Mrs. Earl Alpha, Mrs. Howard Morton; Primary, Mrs. L. W. Surghnor, Supt., Miss Annie Windes, Mrs. Bob Burns, Miss Martha Garrison, Mrs. T. B. Gregory, Mrs. E. S. Hilburn; Junior, Mrs. Ben Patterson, Supt., Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Mrs. Abe Dreyer, Mr. B. C. Root, Jr.; Young People, Mrs. W. E. Cole, Miss Beverly Hatchell, Miss Kathryn Oliphant, Mr. R. L. REV. LEON IVEY

Temple Baptists Honor Pastor On Anniversary

Members of Temple Baptist Church honored Rev. Leon Ivey, pastor, on Sunday, January 3, 1954, the beginning of his third year as pastor of Temple Baptist Church, with a gift from the church in amount of $75.00. In addition to beginning his third year as pastor, Rev. Ivey celebrated his birthday at regular Brotherhood meeting on Friday, Jan. 22, 1954. The Brotherhood held their regular meeting, and invited all members of the church to come and bring a covered dish, for a covered dish supper. After the supper was enjoyed by all members, the pastor was presented with a Sunbeam Shavemaster, a gift from the Men's Sunday school, and Brotherhood organization. Pastor received individual gifts from the members. A birthday cake serving over a hundred was cut and served with coffee after the supper.

Rev. Ivey assumed duties as pastor of Temple Baptist Church on Jan. 1, 1952, at which time the church had an average of approximately 80 in Sunday school. Since this date the church has grown to where we have had an average of 200 in Sunday school, with a record attendance of 244. Approximately three hundred members have been added during this time, that Rev. Ivey has been pastor. The church has grown so much in this two years that twenty two hundred and eighty feet have been added in an education building and just recently the auditorium has been increased to where we have 50 per cent more seating capacity. Rev. Ivey in addition to being pastor of Temple Baptist Church has been recording secretary for state convention for the past nine years.

The church has plans for a great year in 1954, and will endeavor to enlarge the education building, enlarge the organization, and to enlist more people. All members of Temple Baptist Church take this opportunity to congratulate Rev. Ivey on his anniversary, and to wish him a very happy birthday.

doctor's degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York.

More recently he received a doctor's degree from the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. He was formerly youth director for Methodist churches in Louisiana.

St. Matthew's Students Go To Alex. Retreat

St. Matthew's students attending the Maryhill Retreat last week included Patsy Boone, Charles Breard, Pat N. Danna, Kathleen Debnam, Geraldine Delery, Dickie Heller, Philip Lisotta, Yvonne Mansour, Evy Lee Ritter, Albert Thibeaux, Lida Anzelmo, Vita Jean Zagone, Joe Bruscato, Louis Guirlando, Salvador Pitarro, Rita Snider, Connie Ticheli, Marietta Spatafora, Sue Turner, Frank Jungina, Margaret Costanza, Adrienne Delery, Joyce Machnick, Yvonne Smith and Larry McCormic.

The retreat was preached by the Very Rev. J. V. Pluache, chancellor of the diocese of Alexandria, and was moderated by the Rev. Dave Dabria, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Church, and Sisters Patricia and Benedict Joseph of St. Matthew's High School faculty.

Preliminary contests are now underway in the high school department of St. Matthew's for queen of the annual high school Mardi Gras Carnival to be held on March 4 in the school gymnasium. Candidates from the various junior and senior high school classes will have their first run - off in the near future. Then, candidates with the highest votes for queen will continue in the race.

In order to finance the expenses of the candidates' campaigns a school carnival will be held in the school gym on February 3 under the leadership and sponsorship of the Student Council and the Yearbook staff. Sister Benedict Joseph is moderator for this activity.

St. Matthew's has entered its second term of work now. Last week results of mid-term examinations and report cards were the thing of the hour. Once again now students are back at their books with new resolutions for better student application in the current term.

Entertaining Gospel Concert Slated Tuesday

On Tuesday night at 8 p.m. a great gospel music concert will take place. Two of the nation's greatest singing groups will appear at the West Monroe High School auditorium for a diversified program of gospel hymns and spiritual numbers. The groups appearing will be the famous Chuck Wagon Gang of Fort Worth, Tex., and Wally Fowler's Oak Ridge Quartet, of Nashville, Tenn.

All will enjoy the music of the Chuck Wagon Gang, which is down to earth. They sing old-time songs in their own interpretation, and they have been heard through Columbia records and now can be seen and heard in person. David P. Carter, popularly known as "Dad" Carter, is group manager and songs baritone. Howard Gordon plays the guitar and his wife sings alto. Miss Rose Carter sings the high part.

Wally Fowler and his Oak Ridge quartet are nationally famous, having appeared on the NBC portion of radio station WSM's "Grand Old Opry" for more than five years featuring gospel quartet music in their own great style. In addition to radio and TV appearances, they have presented programs in some of the nation's top auditoriums to capacity crowds. They have also sung in many of the largest churches.

The personel of this group includes leader and manager Wally Fowler; Carlos Cook, emcee and baritone; Bob Weber, 21 year old sensation on the bass; Joe Allred, top tenor; and featured soloist Calvin Newton, who also sings second tenor; plus the accompanist, "Lightin" Livy Freeman. This group of young Christian men have truly sung their way into the hearts of the millions.

This program is being sponsored by the senior class of West Monroe High. Proceeds will go into the senior class trip fund, to send the seniors on a class trip in the spring.

GAIN AND LOSS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — W. B. Floyd, 38-year-old ex-convict, agreed to plead guilty to burglary charges and receive a four-year sentence. Before entering his plea, he asked to be excused to go to the rest room. Officers caught up with him several days later, and he received five years.

The new year has been a busy time at the Temple Baptist Church. The enlargment of the auditorium has been finished and pews are being made for the additional space. The Stewardship Emphasis was conducted during December and the week of Bible Study was held during January. Six deacons were elected to join the group of active Deacons now serving the church. Bro. Lee Deason was ordained to the full gospel ministry. Plans have been made to add a vestibule to the entrance of the church and the auditorium has been repainted. A watchnight service was held for the New Year. At this time the candidates awaiting Baptism were baptized into the membership of the church. There have been additions to the church each Lord's Day.

Sunday school will have classes for all ages 9:45 p.m.; the Morning Worship, with the pastor speaking, at 11:00 a.m.; Training Union, 6:00 p.m. and evening worship, with pastor speaking, at 7:15 p.m.

You will find a warm friendly welcome at all our services. The nursery is open for all services.

COVENANT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Reverend Wayne W. Gray, minister.
(Services in Brown auditorium of Northeast Louisiana State College.)
Sunday School, 9:30, Mr. Frank Spivey, superintendent.
Morning worship, 11:00, Sermon: "The Wrath of God."
The "gospel" brings us the good news of the love of God and it also shows us the wrath of God against those who turn a deaf ear to Him and break His holy laws. The wrath of God against evil and evil doers is just as much a part of His nature as is His love. Underlying all of the attributes of God is the primary characteristic of righteousness. Wrath against evil is a part of love for that which is right.
The Pioneer group will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anders, 1807 Emerson Avenue, this evening at six.
The senior high fellowship group will meet in the home of Miss Jane Moore, 1803 Emerson Avenue this evening at six.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Another Good Samaritan

The "Good Samaritan" of the Parable in Luke 10 shares New Testament fame with another Samaritan, a woman of John 4.

She was apparently of lesser importance than the good Samaritan of the Parable. If I have called her "good" it is because of what is associated with her through conversation with Jesus at Jacob's well, rather than because of any merit in her.

As a matter of fact, she wasn't a woman of good reputation. She had had five husbands and was living with a man who was not her husband. Jesus made it plain that He knew all about her.

We do not know the upshot of the story, or whether the woman, like another woman "which was a sinner" (Luke 7:36-47), experienced a change of heart and life.

But Jesus must have seen some good in that woman, or He would hardly have spent so much time in conversation with her.

The story, which occupies the major part of John 4, as I see it, emphasizes these things:

1. The humanity of Jesus and His unconventionality, with His complete freedom from the prejudices—racial and religious—that in our own time have been all too evident in many of His professed followers.

2. The realism of Jesus in disregarding the limiting customs and manners of the time. It was not only against usage for a man to be conversing thus with a woman in a public place, but when the woman was a Samaritan, and of none too savory life, it made the matter even more contrary to all convention.

It was no wonder that the disciples, as they returned from the city, "marveled" (John 4:27). A modern minister might well have feared for his reputation in a similar encounter. Jesus had no fear of "what people will say" where goodness and human values were involved.

3. The great words concerning worship (John 4:23, 24) that came out of the conversation and that have given that conversation supreme importance.

4. The acknowledgment by Jesus of His messiahship. "I that speak unto you am he."

5. Finally, the woman's witness and the fact that many believed in Jesus, not only because of her witness, but because they had found Him for themselves. (John 4:39-42).

In every respect, in the facts and details, as well as in the telling, it is a remarkable story, and it is well that the Gospel of John adds so much to the incidents in the three former Gospels.

HEBREWS 12:1—"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus."

* * *

As a young lad on the farm in the State of Illinois I was taught to read the Bible very early in life, in fact, before I became a Christian. Under the guidance of my Godly mother, I was instructed in the Christian way of life, both by interpretation of the Word and example of Christian living by my parents.

This particular verse fastened itself upon my boyhood mind as a motto for my own Christian achievement. I have always been interested in races, but more especially, in the race of life. To be keenly conscious of the great number of witnesses, it early became a practice of mine to do nothing, either in public or private that I would be ashamed of, therefore, this verse has been a great tonic to my Christian behaviour.

Again, I am always aware of the presence of Him who leads in the real values of life. "Looking unto Jesus"—what an incentive! One need never go astray with such a source of help and strength. He never leaves or forsakes, and forgiveness is His master principle. All this done, in patience, opens new vistas of Christian living for me daily.

'Give God Chance Now' Methodists Urge Public

Memorial Methodists will observe "Give God A Chance Now" Sunday with special features at all meetings of the day.

The evening service will begin at 7:30 and will feature a consecration service for the "friendly visitors" in the attendance crusade. The choirs will lead the congregation in a "festival of music," and the Rev. James T. Harris will preach the sermon.

At 6:00 p. m. the visitors in the attendance crusade will meet for a period of instruction and prayer which will be led by Rev. J. T. Harris.

Among the musical features of the evening hour, will be an anthem by the youth choir under the direction of Mrs. Z. C. Ambrose and two numbers by the adult choir under the direction of Mrs. Estelle Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders will sing a solo entitled "The Stranger of Galilee." The congregational singing will be led by the pastor.

C. E. STAUSS DIES

Word has been received here of the death of Clarence E. Stauss, in New Orleans. He came to Monroe a number of times while he was serving as president of the Real Estate Board in his city and he has many friends here.

Whales nourish their young with milk.

DIRECTOR ACCEPTS POST—E. H. Edwards, well known musician and choir leader has accepted the position of part time director of music at Good Hope Baptist church, West Monroe. Formerly he held similar positions with the First Baptist church in Monroe and in Pineville.

I am a follower of Jesus Christ and I know he would not miss;

Want it to live and function for God; I know that absenteeism would kill the church.

Testify by my presence that I am for Christ and His program;

Do my part and not leave the burden on others.

If I am habitually absent I become a slacker, a liability.

It helps me also will help others to make this a better, happier world to live in.

I love the church as Christ loved it, to give myself for it as He did.

I love God and by adoring Him in worship my spirit unites with His spirit to face life more abundantly.

Help to Glorify God and save our free way of life.

Presbyterians To Officially Induct Leaders

At the Sunday morning service the First Presbyterian Church will officially install its church school officers and teachers.

As of January 1st the enrollment in the church school was 539. The school has shown a rapid growth under the leadership of well qualified officers and teachers under the supervision of Miss Grace Fain, director of Christian education. The fact that a large number of young married couples and small children are enrolled in the church school is most encouraging. The young adult department has an enrollment of 103 and the nursery department, which consists of children below the age of three years, has an enrollment of 73.

The executive officers of the church school are: C. S. Foster, superintendent; M. E. Pickett, Jr., assistant superintendent; Frank F. Smith, treasurer; Wilton O. Bell, Jr., assistant treasurer; Mrs. C. K. Crandall, secretary; Mrs. M. E. Pickett, hostess.

The superintendents and teachers of the various departments are: Cradle Roll, Mrs. T. H. Woods; Nursery, Mrs. M. L. Snapp, supt., Mrs. W. E. Bowles; Nursery class, Mrs. O. K. Davis, supt., Mrs. D. E. Miller, Mrs. John Huffman; Kindergarten, Mrs. I. T. Landhy, supt., Mrs. Earl Alpha, Mrs. Howard Morton; Primary, Mrs. L. W. REV. LEON IVEY

Temple Baptists Honor Pastor On Anniversary

Members of Temple Baptist Church honored Rev. Leon Ivey, pastor, on Sunday, January 3, 1954, the beginning of his third year as pastor of Temple Baptist Church, with a gift from the church in amount of $75.00. In addition to beginning his third year as pastor, Rev. Ivey celebrated his birthday at regular Brotherhood meeting on Friday, Jan. 22, 1954. The Brotherhood held their regular meeting, and invited all members of the church to come and bring a covered dish, for a covered dish supper. After the supper was enjoyed by all members, the pastor was presented with a Sunbeam Shavemaster, a gift from the Men's Sunday school, and Brotherhood organization. Pastor received individual gifts from the members. A birthday cake serving over a hundred was cut and served with coffee after the supper.

Rev. Ivey assumed duties as pastor of Temple Baptist Church on Jan. 1, 1952, at which time the church had an average of approximately 80 in Sunday school. Since this date the church has grown to where we have had an average of 200 in Sunday school, with a record attendance of 244. Approximately three hundred members have been added during this time, that Rev. Ivey has been pastor. The church has grown so much in this two years that twenty two hundred and eighty feet have been added in an education building and just recently the auditorium has been increased to where we have 50 per cent more seating capacity. Rev. Ivey in addition to being pastor of Temple Baptist Church has been recording secretary for state convention for the past nine years.

The church has plans for a great year in 1954, and will endeavor to enlarge the education building, enlarge the organization, and to enlist more people. All members of Temple Baptist Church take this opportunity to congratulate Rev. Ivey on his anniversary, and to wish him a very happy birthday.

Dr. Pomeroy To Speak Sunday In St. Paul's Here

Dr. Webb Pomeroy, director of religious activities in Centenary College, Shreveport, will be guest speaker at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Lexington avenue, today at the morning service hour. He will also be the inspirational speaker at youth activities week of the church starting Sunday at 6 p. m.

Dr. Pomeroy joined the administrative staff of Centenary last summer and also is a member of the faculty in the Bible department of the college. He received his bachelor's degree at Centenary and doctor's degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York.

More recently he received a doctor's degree from the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. He was formerly youth director for Methodist churches in Louisiana.

St. Matthew's Students Go To Alex. Retreat

St. Matthew's students attending the Maryhill Retreat last week included Patsy Boone, Charles Breard, Pat N. Danna, Kathleen Debnam, Geraldine Delery, Dickie Heller, Philip Lisotta, Yvonne Mansour, Evy Lee Ritter, Albert Thibeaux, Lida Anzelmo, Vita Jean Zagone, Joe Bruscato, Louis Guirlando, Salvador Pitarro, Rita Snider, Connie Ticheli, Marietta Spatafora, Sue Turner, Frank Jungina, Margaret Costanza, Adrienne Delery, Joyce Machnick, Yvonne Smith and Larry McCormic.

The retreat was preached by the Very Rev. J. V. Pluache, chancellor of the diocese of Alexandria, and was moderated by the Rev. Dave Dabria, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Church, and Sisters Patricia and Benedict Joseph of St. Matthew's High School faculty.

Preliminary contests are now underway in the high school department of St. Matthew's for queen of the annual high school Mardi Gras Carnival to be held on March 4 in the school gymnasium. Candidates from the various junior and senior high school classes will have their first run - off in the near future. Then, candidates with the highest votes for queen will continue in the race.

In order to finance the expenses of the candidates' campaigns a school carnival will be held in the school gym on February 3 under the leadership and sponsorship of the Student Council and the Yearbook staff. Sister Benedict Joseph is moderator for this activity.

St. Matthew's has entered its second term of work now. Last week results of mid-term examinations and report cards were the thing of the hour. Once again now students are back at their books with new resolutions for better student application in the current term.

Entertaining Gospel Concert Slated Tuesday

On Tuesday night at 8 p.m. a great gospel music concert will take place. Two of the nation's greatest singing groups will appear at the West Monroe High School auditorium for a diversified program of gospel hymns and spiritual numbers. The groups appearing will be the famous Chuck Wagon Gang of Fort Worth, Tex., and Wally Fowler's Oak Ridge Quartet, of Nashville, Tenn.

All will enjoy the music of the Chuck Wagon Gang, which is down to earth. They sing old-time songs in their own interpretation, and they have been heard through Columbia records and now can be seen and heard in person. David P. Carter, popularly known as "Dad" Carter, is group manager and songs baritone. Howard Gordon plays the guitar and his wife sings alto. Miss Rose Carter sings the high part.

Wally Fowler and his Oak Ridge quartet are nationally famous, having appeared on the NBC portion of radio station WSM's "Grand Old Opry" for more than five years featuring gospel quartet music in their own great style. In addition to radio and TV appearances, they have presented programs in some of the nation's top auditoriums to capacity crowds. They have also sung in many of the largest churches.

The personel of this group includes leader and manager Wally Fowler; Carlos Cook, emcee and baritone; Bob Weber, 21 year old sensation on the bass; Joe Allred, top tenor; and featured soloist Calvin Newton, who also sings second tenor; plus the accompanist, "Lightin" Livy Freeman. This group of young Christian men have truly sung their way into the hearts of the millions.

This program is being sponsored by the senior class of West Monroe High. Proceeds will go into the senior class trip fund, to send the seniors on a class trip in the spring.

GAIN AND LOSS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — W. B. Floyd, 38-year-old ex-convict, agreed to plead guilty to burglary charges and receive a four-year sentence. Before entering his plea, he asked to be excused to go to the rest room. Officers caught up with him several days later, and he received five years.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH
601 Plum St.

W. Leon Ivey, Pastor.

The new year has been a busy time at the Temple Baptist Church. The enlargement of the auditorium has been finished and pews are being made for the additional space. The Stewardship Emphasis was conducted during December and the week of Bible Study was held during January. Six deacons were elected to join the group of active Deacons now serving the church. Bro. Lee Deason was ordained to the full gospel ministry. Plans have been made to add a vestibule to the entrance of the church and the auditorium has been repainted. A watchnight service was held for the New Year. At this time the candidates awaiting Baptism were baptized into the membership of the church. There have been additions to the church each Lord's Day.

Sunday school will have classes for all ages 9:45 p.m.; the Morning Worship, with the pastor speaking, at 11:00 a.m.; Training Union, 6:00 p.m. and evening worship, with pastor speaking, at 7:15 p.m.

You will find a warm friendly welcome at all our services. The nursery is open for all services.

COVENANT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Reverend Wayne W. Gray, minister.
(Services in Brown auditorium of Northeast Louisiana State College.)
Sunday School, 9:30, Mr. Frank Spivey, superintendent.
Morning worship, 11:00, Sermon: "The Wrath of God."

The "gospel" brings us the good news of the love of God and it also shows us the wrath of God against those who turn a deaf ear to Him and break His holy laws. The wrath of God against evil and evil doers is just as much a part of His nature as is His love. Underlying all of the attributes of God is the primary characteristic of righteousness. Wrath against evil is a part of love for that which is right.

The Pioneer group will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Anders, 1807 Emerson Avenue, this evening at six.

The senior high fellowship group will meet in the home of Miss Jane Moore, 1803 Emerson Avenue this evening at six.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Another Good Samaritan

The "Good Samaritan" of the Parable in Luke 10 shares New Testament fame with another Samaritan, a woman of John 4.

She was apparently of lesser importance than the good Samaritan of the Parable. If I have called her "good" it is because of what is associated with her through conversation with Jesus at Jacob's well, rather than because of any merit in her.

As a matter of fact, she wasn't a woman of good reputation. She had had five husbands and was living with a man who was not her husband. Jesus made it plain that He knew all about her.

We do not know the upshot of the story, or whether the woman, like another woman "which was a sinner" (Luke 7:36-47), experienced a change of heart and life.

But Jesus must have seen some good in that woman, or He would hardly have spent so much time in conversation with her.

The story, which occupies the major part of John 4, as I see it, emphasizes these things:

1. The humanity of Jesus and His unconventionality, with His complete freedom from the prejudices—racial and religious—that in our own time have been all too evident in many of His professed followers.

2. The realism of Jesus in disregarding the limiting customs and manners of the time. It was not only against usage for a man to be conversing thus with a woman in a public place, but when the woman was a Samaritan, and of none too savory life, it made the matter even more contrary to all convention.

It was no wonder that the disciples, as they returned from the city, "marveled" (John 4:27). A modern minister might well have feared for his reputation in a similar encounter. Jesus had no fear of "what people will say" where goodness and human values were involved.

3. The great words concerning worship (John 4:23, 24) that came out of the conversation and that have given that conversation supreme importance.

4. The acknowledgment by Jesus of His messiahship. "I that speak unto you am he."

5. Finally, the woman's witness and the fact that many believed in Jesus, not only because of her witness, but because they had found Him for themselves. (John 4:39-42).

In every respect, in the facts and details, as well as in the telling, it is a remarkable story, and it is well that the Gospel of John adds so much to the incidents in the three former Gospels.

HEBREWS 12:1—"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus."

* * *

As a young lad on the farm in the State of Illinois I was taught to read the Bible very early in life, in fact, before I became a Christian. Under the guidance of my Godly mother, I was instructed in the Christian way of life, both by interpretation of the Word and example of Christian living by my parents.

This particular verse fastened itself upon my boyhood mind as a motto for my own Christian achievement. I have always been interested in races, but more especially, in the race of life. To be keenly conscious of the great number of witnesses, it early became a practice of mine to do nothing, either in public or private that I would be ashamed of, therefore, this verse has been a great tonic to my Christian behaviour.

Again, I am always aware of the presence of Him who leads in the real values of life. "Looking unto Jesus"—what an incentive! One need never go astray with such a source of help and strength. He never leaves or forsakes, and forgiveness is His master principle. All this done, in patience, opens new vistas of Christian living for me daily.

Plan Of Life

By RHONDA FLEMING
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, January 23 — Whether you live in Klamath Falls or Hollywood, I think everybody should have a plan of life.

Most of us have to work, which takes a great deal of our time, and the remainder of the hours are spent in individual ways of living. When I take a motor trip I wouldn't think of starting without a road map to guide me, and to my way of thinking, we should also have a map for the guidance of our everyday life.

At the beginning of each year I try, as well as I can, to diagram my life for the coming year.

At the close of last year I finished "Jivaro," an exciting Technicolor adventure drama with Fernando Lamas. I had made four pictures during 1953, and thought it was time I took a rest.

Believe me, "Jivaro" put me in good shape for a vacation. It takes place in the wilds of the Amazon amid the headhunting savages. The picture is loaded with rugged two-fisted action. When it was over, I had planned a two-weeks' vacation at Palm Springs, which was more than needed.

For the coming year I have scheduled my activities. As I said before, I think it's something each person should not only think about but should do.

In 1954 I plan to do not more than three pictures, allowing myself ample time between films to accept several nightclub offers that have been made to me. I actually broke into pictures because David O. Selznick thought I had a promising singing voice. Unfortunately I have had little opportunity to sing on the screen. I enjoy singing. I hope to open in Las Vegas in March or April. Ray Gilbert is preparing an act for me.

At the same time several record companies are interested in my making records for them. This would serve as another outlet for my singing ambitions.

Although a picture usually only takes about 30 or 40 days to film, the preparation and after - shooting work demands almost as much time. Therefore, three pictures can easily consume at least six months of the year.

Of course, there is the accompanying activities of interviews, appearances and things of that nature that demand a lot of time.

This schedule would certainly fill the work end of my life for the coming year. Naturally, our work is important to all of us, not only as a means of our livelihood, but also as a means of an outlet for our ambitions, desires and progress. Just as we plan our work, we should also plan our free time.

Recently my husband, Dr. Lou Morrill, and I moved into our new home. As you know, there is always a million and one things to do in a new home, and this will occupy much of our free time.

Several week ends out of each month, Lou and I fly to a near-by resort to relax. He is a good pilot and oftentimes, if we are tied up on Saturday, we take a short flying trip, leaving Sunday morning and returning Sunday afternoon.

Then we plan to take two longer vacations of two weeks each, one in the early spring and one in the fall.

Having a well - balanced private life is equally as important as having a well - balanced working life.

When Fernando Lamas and I were making "Jivaro," one day we noticed Jeff Hanson, a studio electrician, working over a map and making a list. Closer examination disclosed that Jeff was making a summary of places he hoped to visit on week ends during the new year. He had a total of 15 or 16 places.

"They're all places I want to visit,' Jeff explained. "Each week end after going to one of the places, I check it off and the following week end head for the next place on the list."

In my mind Jeff had the right idea. He has a list of places he wanted to see and had a definite schedule planned for his leisure time.

A plan of life can and should be mapped by everybody, I think. With a little thought and planning it is surprising how easily it can be accomplished. It is equally easy to execute.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Today's lovely ladies have many aids to keep them that way—even such items as eyelash curlers.

New Beauty Products Give Women A Break

There are so very many fine products on the cosmetic market today that modern woman has a big advantage over the woman who lived years ago. She has a better chance to delay aging and to enhance herself with make-up than even her sister who lived only a short time ago. Many new ideas have appeared in make-up and complexion aids during the past few years. Let me call your attention to some of them today.

Great-grandmother used to have to bite her lips and rub her cheeks just before her best beau arrived in order to have any flattering color. She also used chalk for powder. Today we have a great array of make-up aids and in varied colors. Lipsticks and rouge and make-up bases in myriad shades, eye shadow for every type, mascara, eyelash curlers and eyebrow pencils and false eyelashes and fingernails, are only a part of these beautifiers. There is also an invisible chin strap and a product which lightens shadows on the face.

New Creams

So far as care of the skin to delay aging is concerned, many new ideas have appeared recently. There are the hormone creams, a cream which holds the moisture in the skin, creams with vitamins in them. There are circulation creams and eye creams, astringents and beauty grains; lubricating oils and creams, disappearing night creams. On and on it goes!

Bath salts and water softeners, body lotions, cuticle creams and oils, hand and elbow and heel mitts for softening these portions, and the most wonderful hand lotions, are all on the modern scene. If a woman used all of them, she would spend most of her day sunk in creams and oils. She should select what suits her particular complexion.

Big Dividends

If your skin is oily, it is soap and water for you. If it is dry, use cleansing creams and lubricants. If you have trouble in the winter with rough, dry skin on your body use a bath oil when you tub. If the skin of your elbows and heels is dry, use the mitts after massaging cream into these areas.

Look over the long list of cosmetics and make-up products and take advantage of what you require because these beauty rituals, if indulged in faithfully, pay big dividends in delayed aging and better looks.

Of course you must always remember that health is the basis of beauty and verve. Eat and exercise correctly and get enough sleep.

PARTICULAR PEOPLE

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) —An invention of the engineers for Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp. enables inspectors to tell if grinding wheels are true and detect wobbles and weaves imperceptible to the eye. Wheels off more than eight-thousandths of an inch, at revolving speeds upwards of a mile a minute, are rejected.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am the mother of four children. We rent; live above a boys' club. They come in at all hours and are very noisy and troublesome most of the night. I have talked to the landlord, who will do nothing, and I also went to the police, who have done nothing. Is there any place else I can go for help?—Mother of Four

If a person visits or works in the stockyard area, he must expect a certain distinctive odor. If he objects he can stay away — the stockyards are not going to go out of business for him, or even move.

Anyone knows that a boys' club is going to be a noisy, rowdy place and you can't expect a houseful of boys to sh-s-s-sh because you happen to live above them and have four children. It is a case of moving elsewhere. And, if the rent is cheap because of the boys' club and you can't afford to pay more, it is a case of putting up with the noise.

The fact that neither the landlord nor police will interfere indicates that the "noise" is legitimate, I would say.

Dear Mrs. Landers: What gives fellows the idea that a girl is "fast" (if you know what I mean)? I am 19 and it seems every time I have a date, the boy always leads up to one thing (you know). I am not that type of girl. I do not look that way. And, I do not act that way. All I ask is a date with a decent fellow for a change. Are there any left?—L. K.

Same old query — In fact, this makes the Nthmillion. Now, here is the same answer: Nature being nature, the majority of boys will try (uh-huh, we know), but usually will halt at the "cease and desist" order and end up respecting the girl. Some who are in search of a mate will come back for more serious dating. The others will try their luck elsewhere. What to do? Keep dating and keep going on record that you are "not that kind." One day one of the nice ones will come back for you (oh, my beating heart!).

Dear Ann Landers: I have been dating a young man steadily. We date twice a week and he calls me frequently. Previous to our dating he was engaged to a girl he had known for four years. She broke their engagement to marry another boy. As yet he has not told me of his feelings for me. Do you think he is using me to forget, or do you think he really cares? How can I find out? I am 19 and he is 24. S. D. M.

So what, if the boy is using you to forget the first girl? If you care for him wouldn't you rather have it that way than not at all? Eventually he will get over her (thanks to you — and me) and will genuinely love you. Give him time. Don't ask questions of him yet as they might induce the wrong answers and result. From the amount of time he is spending with you, I would say you have nothing to worry about.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of Morning World.

TV HELPS READING

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Fant H. Thornley, director of the Birmingham Public Library, says television has actually stimulated interest in reading. The combined city and county circulation for the year ended Aug. 30 was 1,524,096, largest circulation since the depression year of 1933 when "many persons did not have anything to do but read."

Solution Of Today's Puzzle In Classified Section

The luxurious 200-hp Roadmaster Riviera —top buy of the custom-car "hardtops."

It looks like the biggest hit in BUICK history!

WE'VE had more than a fair share of success in this business—but this beats all!

From the day we opened our doors to show the new 1954 Buicks, we've been kept hopping by people, questions and orders.

It seems that folks have been hoping for a really big change in the new cars—and Buick's got what they want, right across the board.

Buick's got it in style—in the sleek, swift, low and glamorous look of the sports cars, but with the room and comfort of Buick size and breadth.

Buick's got it in power—in high-compression V8 engines all stepped up to new horsepower highs and boosted to new economy with Power-Head Pistons.

Buick's got it in ride comfort, too, and handling ease, and visibility—and a whole new list of features as up to the minute as the very look of these great cars.

But—why don't you come see what all the excitement is about?

Then you'll discover that what's helping to make the '54 Buicks the biggest hit in our history are the prices we're quoting—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

Plan Of Life

By RHONDA FLEMING
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, January 23 — Whether you live in Klamath Falls or Hollywood, I think everybody should have a plan of life.

Most of us have to work, which takes a great deal of our time, and the remainder of the hours are spent in individual ways of living. When I take a motor trip I wouldn't think of starting without a road map to guide me, and to my way of thinking, we should also have a map for the guidance of our everyday life.

At the beginning of each year I try, as well as I can, to diagram my life for the coming year.

At the close of last year I finished "Jivaro," an exciting Technicolor adventure drama with Fernando Lamas. I had made four pictures during 1953, and thought it was time I took a rest.

Believe me, "Jivaro" put me in good shape for a vacation. It takes place in the wilds of the Amazon amid the headhunting savages. The picture is loaded with rugged two-fisted action. When it was over, I had planned a two-weeks' vacation at Palm Springs, which was more than needed.

For the coming year I have scheduled my activities. As I said before, I think it's something each person should not only think about but should do.

In 1954 I plan to do not more than three pictures, allowing myself ample time between films to accept several nightclub offers that have been made to me. I actually broke into pictures because David O. Selznick thought I had a promising singing voice. Unfortunately I have had little opportunity to sing on the screen. I enjoy singing. I hope to open in Las Vegas in March or April. Ray Gilbert is preparing an act for me.

At the same time several record companies are interested in my making records for them. This would serve as another outlet for my singing ambitions.

Although a picture usually only takes about 30 or 40 days to film, the preparation and after - shooting work demands almost as much time. Therefore, three pictures can easily consume at least six months of the year.

Of course, there is the accompanying activities of interviews, appearances and things of that nature that demand a lot of time.

This schedule would certainly fill the work end of my life for the coming year. Naturally, our work is important to all of us, not only as a means of our livelihood, but also as a means of an outlet for our ambitions, desires and progress. Just as we plan our work, we should also plan our free time.

Recently my husband, Dr. Lou Morrill, and I moved into our new home. As you know, there is always a million and one things to do in a new home, and this will occupy much of our free time.

Several week ends out of each month, Lou and I fly to a near-by resort to relax. He is a good pilot and oftentimes, if we are tied up on Saturday, we take a short flying trip, leaving Sunday morning and returning Sunday afternoon.

Then we plan to take two longer vacations of two weeks each, one in the early spring and one in the fall.

Having a well - balanced private life is equally as important as having a well - balanced working life.

When Fernando Lamas and I were making "Jivaro," one day we noticed Jeff Hanson, a studio electrician, working over a map and making a list. Closer examination disclosed that Jeff was making a summary of places he hoped to visit on week ends during the new year. He had a total of 15 or 16 places.

"They're all places I want to visit,' Jeff explained. "Each week end after going to one of the places, I check it off and the following week end head for the next place on the list."

In my mind Jeff had the right idea. He has a list of places he wanted to see and had a definite schedule planned for his leisure time.

A plan of life can and should be mapped by everybody, I think. With a little thought and planning it is surprising how easily it can be accomplished. It is equally easy to execute.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Today's lovely ladies have many aids to keep them that way—even such items as eyelash curlers.

New Beauty Products Give Women A Break

There are so very many fine products on the cosmetic market today that modern woman has a big advantage over the woman who lived years ago. She has a better chance to delay aging and to enhance herself with make-up than even her sister who lived only a short time ago. Many new ideas have appeared in make-up and complexion aids during the past few years. Let me call your attention to some of them today.

Great-grandmother used to have to bite her lips and rub her cheeks just before her best beau arrived in order to have any flattering color. She also used chalk for powder. Today we have a great array of make-up aids and in varied colors. Lipsticks and rouge and make-up bases in myriad shades, eye shadow for every type, mascara, eyelash curlers and eyebrow pencils and false eyelashes and finger-nails, are only a part of these beautifiers. There is also an invisible chin strap and a product which lightens shadows on the face.

New Creams

So far as care of the skin to delay aging is concerned, many new ideas have appeared recently. There are the hormone creams, a cream which holds the moisture in the skin, creams with vitamins in them. There are circulation creams and eye creams, astringents and beauty grains; lubricating oils and creams, disappearing night creams. On and on it goes!

Bath salts and water softeners, body lotions, cuticle creams and oils, hand and elbow and heel mitts for softening these portions, and the most wonderful hand lotions, are all on the modern scene. If a woman used all of them, she would spend most of her day sunk in creams and oils. She should select what suits her particular complexion.

Big Dividends

If your skin is oily, it is soap and water for you. If it is dry, use cleansing creams and lubricants. If you have trouble in the winter with rough, dry skin on your body use a bath oil when you tub. If the skin of your elbows and heels is dry, use the mitts after massaging cream into these areas.

Look over the long list of cosmetics and make-up products and take advantage of what you require because these beauty rituals, if indulged in faithfully, pay big dividends in delayed aging and better looks.

Of course you must always remember that health is the basis of beauty and verve. Eat and exercise correctly and get enough sleep.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am the mother of four children. We rent; live above a boys' club. They come in at all hours and are very noisy and troublesome most of the night. I have talked to the landlord, who will do nothing, and I also went to the police, who have done nothing. Is there any place else I can go for help?—Mother of Four

If a person visits or works in the stockyard area, he must expect a certain distinctive odor. If he objects he can stay away — the stockyards are not going to go out of business for him, or even move.

Anyone knows that a boys' club is going to be a noisy, rowdy place and you can't expect a houseful of boys to sh-s-s-sh because you happen to live above them and have four children. It is a case of moving elsewhere. And, if the rent is cheap because of the boys' club and you can't afford to pay more, it is a case of putting up with the noise.

The fact that neither the landlord nor police will interfere indicates that the "noise" is legitimate, I would say.

Dear Mrs. Landers: What gives fellows the idea that a girl is "fast" (if you know what I mean)? I am 19 and it seems every time I have a date, the boy always leads up to one thing (you know). I am not that type of girl. I do not look that way. And, I do not act that way. All I ask is a date with a decent fellow for a change. Are there any left?—L. K.

Same old query — In fact, this makes the Nthmillion. Now, here is the same answer: Nature being nature, the majority of boys will try (uh-huh, we know), but usually will halt at the "cease and desist" order and end up respecting the girl. Some who are in search of a mate will come back for more serious dating. The others will try their luck elsewhere. What to do? Keep dating and keep going on record that you are "not that kind." One day one of the nice ones will come back for you (oh, my beating heart!).

Dear Ann Landers: I have been dating a young man steadily. We date twice a week and he calls me frequently. Previous to our dating he was engaged to a girl he had known for four years. She broke their engagement to marry another boy. As yet he has not told me of his feelings for me. Do you think he is using me to forget, or do you think he really cares? How can I find out? I am 19 and he is 24. S. D. M.

So what, if the boy is using you to forget the first girl? If you care for him wouldn't you rather have it that way than not at all? Eventually he will get over her (that's to you — and me) and will genuinely love you. Give him time. Don't ask questions of him yet as they might induce the wrong answers and result. From the amount of time he is spending with you, I would say you have nothing to worry about.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of Morning World.

TV HELPS READING

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Fant H. Thornley, director of the Birmingham Public Library, says television has actually stimulated interest in reading. The combined city and county circulation for the year ended Aug. 30 was 1,524,096, largest circulation since the depression year of 1933 when "many persons did not have anything to do but read."

"FOREVER FEMALE"—Ginger Rogers and Paul Douglas make a delightful pair in Paramount's brand new romantic comedy, "Forever Female," which opens its regular run today at the Paramount Theatre. William Holden is co-starred in the film which serves to introduce a fresh personality to movie audiences in the person of Pat Crowley. Pat Duggan produced.

'Forever Female' Is Gay Film, Witty Dialogue

One of the funniest, gayest and brightest films to come along in some time opened last night at the Paramount Theatre. It's Paramount's "Forever Female" and it stars Ginger Rogers, William Holden and Paul Douglas, and serves to introduce to movie-goers one of the most scintillating young personalities it has ever been our pleasure to meet, Pat Crowley.

Telling an interesting, warmly developed story "Forever Female" crackles with smart, witty dialogue and the laughs register with machine gun rapidity. The vastly entertaining tale is played out against a Broadway legitimate theatre background and concerns an aging actress, Ginger Rogers, who won't own up to that fact.

Into her life comes William Holden, as an aggressively candid playwright whose first script deals with a 19-year-old girl and her domineering mother. The play is produced by Paul Douglas, the ex-husband but still good friend of Miss Rogers, who insists upon changing the script so that Ginger can play the role of the daughter.

Despite the brash and frantic efforts of a young actress, Miss Crowley, to grab the part, Holden compromises with his integrity, rewriting the play to fit Miss Rogers. With its basic value destroyed the show flops in its tryout. Further complications arise with a four-sided triangle; Miss Crowley and Miss Rogers fall for Holden who in turn has gone for Miss Rogers. Douglas, meanwhile is still in love with his ex-wife. Eventually, however, the romantic mix-up is straightened out in mirthful and moving fashion, with Douglas winning back Ginger and Holden and Pat Crowley getting together. The play re-opens in its original form, is a smash hit and all ends well.

Incidentally, "Forever Female" is as much a smash hit as the play within its very content, and with no encumbrances. Written for the screen by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein from a James M. Barrie play, "Forever Female" emerges as a perfectly engaging film that is sure to please everyone. A vote of thanks should go to producer Pat Duggan and director Irving Rapper for a job magnificently done!

The Record Shop

Carlton—Record King

NEW YORK — (NEA) — At the moment, RCA-Victor's Joe Carlton is probably the most successful executive in the pop record field. As manager of RCA's pop division, he's just finished a tremendous year—he had much to do with Perry Como's comeback, Eddie Fisher's surge, Eartha Kitt's getaway and the Ames Brothers' hits. Right now, he seems to have the golden touch.

So his thoughts on the record business carry weight. Here are a few asorted Carlton thoughts, garnered across the luncheon table:

"There's a faster turnover in record stars today. That's because of the discovery complex—every disc jockey thinks he's Christopher Columbus. He wants to claim his discovered a new star. So he plugs newcomers' records much more than the records of established stars.

"We get maybe 600 applications a week from would-be singers. I look for three things in every applicant—a distinctive sound, good experience and managing, and appearance, which is a must because record stars have to appear on TV these days.

"For some reason, hit records last longer today than a few years ago. Look at 'You, You, You' and 'Vaya Con Dios.' They were up on top for months. It's harder for a record to get to the top now, and it's also harder for it to be dislodged once it's there.

"There won't be any great reduction in the price of records. It costs less for a manufacturer to make a record now—it's down to about six cents—but the other costs keep going up. Artists' fees, union fees, the actual cost of a recording session—they keep going up."

That's Carlton, briefly. As for Carlton himself, he's a big, vibrant, fast-talking man, who loves and lives his job. His own description of his work: "It's fracturous, but delightful."

The Popular Side: Frank O. Murray, a Metropolitan Opera chorus tenor, has recorded eight of his own compositions on an album he made himself. It's called "Sweet Love Songs," and the songs are light and pleasant. ... Mel Allen will record a "Sports Memory Album" with descriptions of top World Series thrills ... RCA's "Show Biz" album, a re-creation of the Abel Green-Joe Laurie, Jr., book, has some fine moments, but is just too crammed with George Jessel. Laurie would have been a better selection for narrator.

On The Classics: A field day for nostalgia and good music is the RCA-Victor release of 25 extended play, 45-r.p.m. discs, re-creating vocal masterpieces. Caruso is on seven of these—some alone, some in duets—and there are others featuring Gigli, McCormack, Bori, Galli-Curci, Ponselle, Schipa and Tibbett ... RCA-Victor has signed Fritz Reiner and the Chicago Symphony to a contract, and the first recordings will be made in March.

EASY TO LOVE—Handsome Tony Martin attempts to smooth over a romantic difficulty with Esther Williams in a scene from M-G-M's gay Technicolor musical, "Easy to Love," opening at the Jim theatre this week. Van Johnson enacts Martin's rival in the story of a water-skiing star who finds herself deep in man trouble. The musical, filmed at Cypress Gardens, Florida, is highlighted by some of the most arresting water-skiing spectacles ever brought to the screen.

Easy To Love Coming To Local Theatre Soon

To the legion of Esther Williams fans, "Easy to Love," will prove an entertainment field day. In her latest MGM Technicolor musical Hollywood's most popular water belle swims with an alligator, "explodes" from a barrel, jumps through paper hoops and water geysers and, in a breath - taking climax, is towed on water skis over a 12 - foot jump by a helicopter to an altitude of 75 feet, then dives into the middle of a horseshoe formed by 100 skiers!

But these thrill highlights are only part of the story. In addition there's a new twist to the "eternal triangle," involving Esther's co-stars, Van Johnson and Tony Martin. Johnson plays the boss of Florida's Cypress Gardens, where Esther is the star of the water-ski ballet. Esther wants something warmer than a business arrangement with her boss but gets nowhere fast. Tony Martin is the New York night club singer who tries to catch her on the rebound but whose ardour becomes somewhat dampened when a now aroused Van takes him on as hectic and frenzied motorboat chase as has been seen on the screen in a long time. The plot twists are finally happily untangled spills, love and laughs — plus an assortment of engaging tunes sung as only Tony Martin can sing them. Among them are the title song, one of Cole Porter's biggest hits, and such new melodies as "That's What a Rainy Day Is For," "Did'ja Ever," "Coquette", and the infectious "Look Out! I'm Romantic."

It all takes place against the eye-arresting flora and fauna of Cypress Gardens, the 37 - acre fairyland at Winterhaven, Fla., where MGM took its "Easy To Love" company on location. It's a perfect setting for the picture's lovely Technicolor backgrounds as well as for the spectacular water-skiing ballets.

Whether you're watching Esther Williams as the crown to a five-man pyramid traveling on water-skis at breakneck pace, laughing at Van Johnson's futile attempt to retain his bachelorhood, or listening to Tony Martin crooning one of the film's song hits, you'll never find a dull moment in "Easy to Love."

Charles Walters and Joe Pasternak share the director - producer credits on this one. And they can take a deep bow!

'Forbidden' Has Exotic Backing Of The Orient

Edge-of-the-seat suspense vied for honors with some of the most exciting romantic scenes to come out of Hollywood in recent months as Universal-International unveiled "Forbidden" today at the Jim Theatre.

Tony Curtis, Joanne Dru and Lyle Bettger are starred in the new film with Marvin Miller heading a strong supporting cast.

Background in the Oriental city of Macao, "Forbidden" is a hard-hitting story of a gangster's hireling who tries to lure a racketeer's widow out of Macao but falls in love with her, instead. The battle between Curtis and Bettger for the affections of Miss Dru forms a most unusual love triangle tempered with the fire of underworld intrigue.

For Tony Curtis, "Forbidden" marks a milestone in his career as he plays his strongest starring role, and the dexterity with which he handles his characterization adds tremendous dramatic stature to the reputation of Hollywood's popular young leading man. Joanne Dru will make a vivid impression on the audience with her breathtaking allure. Coupled with her fine portrayal of the most glamorous woman of Macao, Joanne definitely asserts her rights to top future glamor assignments.

Lyle Bettger, completing the star triumvirate in "Forbidden," gives an inspiring performance in the difficult role of a man who must be charming and villainous at the same time. The actor, considered Hollywood's handsomest heel, knows his way around villainy and proves it impressively in this film.

Excellent supporting performances are turned in by Marvin Miller, as Curtis' shadow; Victor Sen Yung, as a philosophical young Chinese pianist; Peter Mamakos and David Sharpe, as Bettger's bodyguards and Mamie Van Doren, as a sultry nightclub songstress, taking the spotlight to sing "You Belong To Me."

"Forbidden" was directed by Rudolph Mate and produced by Ted Richmond. The ravishing wardrobe designed by Bill Thomas for Miss Dru will certainly catch the ladies' eyes.

"FOREVER FEMALE"—Ginger Rogers and Paul Douglas make a delightful pair in Paramount's brand new romantic comedy, "Forever Female," which opens its regular run today at the Paramount Theatre. William Holden is co-starred in the film which serves to introduce a fresh personality to movie audiences in the person of Pat Crowley. Pat Duggan produced.

'Forever Female' Is Gay Film, Witty Dialogue

One of the funniest, gayest and brightest films to come along in some time opened last night at the Paramount Theatre. It's Paramount's "Forever Female" and it stars Ginger Rogers, William Holden and Paul Douglas, and serves to introduce to movie-goers one of the most scintillating young personalities it has ever been our pleasure to meet, Pat Crowley.

Telling an interesting, warmly developed story "Forever Female" crackles with smart, witty dialogue and the laughs register with machine gun rapidity. The vastly entertaining tale is played out against a Broadway legitimate theatre background and concerns an aging actress, Ginger Rogers, who won't own up to that fact.

Into her life comes William Holden, as an aggressively candid playwright whose first script deals with a 19-year-old girl and her domineering mother. The play is produced by Paul Douglas, the ex-husband but still good friend of Miss Rogers, who insists upon changing the script so that Ginger can play the role of the daughter.

Despite the brash and frantic efforts of a young actress, Miss Crowley, to grab the part, Holden compromises with his integrity, rewriting the play to fit Miss Rogers. With its basic value destroyed the show flops in its tryout. Further complications arise with a four-sided triangle; Miss Crowley and Miss Rogers fall for Holden who in turn has gone for Miss Rogers. Douglas, meanwhile is still in love with his ex-wife. Eventually, however, the romantic mix-up is straightened out in mirthful and moving fashion, with Douglas winning back Ginger and Holden and Pat Crowley getting together. The play re-opens in its original form, is a smash hit and all ends well.

Incidentally, "Forever Female" is as much a smash hit as the play within its very content, and with no encumbrances. Written for the screen by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein from a James M. Barrie play, "Forever Female" emerges as a perfectly engaging film that is sure to please everyone. A vote of thanks should go to producer Pat Duggan and director Irving Rapper for a job magnificently done!

The Record Shop

Carlton—Record King

NEW YORK — (NEA) — At the moment, RCA-Victor's Joe Carlton is probably the most successful executive in the pop record field. As manager of RCA's pop division, he's just finished a tremendous year—he had much to do with Perry Como's comeback, Eddie Fisher's surge, Eartha Kitt's getaway and the Ames Brothers' hits. Right now, he seems to have the golden touch.

So his thoughts on the record business carry weight. Here are a few asorted Carlton thoughts, garnered across the luncheon table:

"There's a faster turnover in record stars today. That's because of the discovery complex—every disc jockey thinks he's Christopher Columbus. He wants to claim his discovered a new star. So he plugs newcomers' records much more than the records of established stars.

"We get maybe 600 applications a week from would-be singers. I look for three things in every applicant—a distinctive sound, good experience and managing, and appearance, which is a must because record stars have to appear on TV these days.

"For some reason, hit records last longer today than a few years ago. Look at 'You, You, You' and 'Vaya Con Dios.' They were up on top for months. It's harder for a record to get to the top now, and it's also harder for it to be dislodged once it's there.

"There won't be any great reduction in the price of records. It costs less for a manufacturer to make a record now—it's down to about six cents—but the other costs keep going up. Artists' fees, union fees, the actual cost of a recording session—they keep going up."

That's Carlton, briefly. As for Carlton himself, he's a big, vibrant, fast-talking man, who loves and lives his job. His own description of his work: "It's fracturous, but delightful."

The Popular Side: Frank O. Murray, a Metropolitan Opera chorus tenor, has recorded eight of his own compositions on an album he made himself. It's called "Sweet Love Songs," and the songs are light and pleasant. ... Mel Allen will record a "Sports Memory Album" with descriptions of top World Series thrills ... RCA's "Show Biz" album, a re-creation of the Abel Green-Joe Laurie, Jr., book, has some fine moments, but is just too crammed with George Jessel. Laurie would have been a better selection for narrator.

On The Classics: A field day for nostalgia and good music is the RCA-Victor release of 25 extended play, 45-r.p.m. discs, re-creating vocal masterpieces. Caruso is on seven of these—some alone, some in duets—and there are others featuring Gigli, McCormack, Bori, Galli-Curci, Ponselle, Schipa and Tibbett ... RCA-Victor has signed Fritz Reiner and the Chicago Symphony to a contract, and the first recordings will be made in March.

...washes clothes so clean, so white YOU DON'T NEED BLUING or BLEACH

The only suds with BLUE – MAGIC WHITENER!

First and only washday detergent of its kind!

What's so new—so wonderfully different about new blue CHEER? The secret, gals, is CHEER's amazing Blue-Magic whitener—an exclusive Blue-Magic whitener that whitens whites, brightens colors in the newest, safest, most modern way.

Radiantly white washes without bluing or bleach! CHEER with Blue-Magic whitener washes clothes so wonderfully white, you never need bluing again. What's more, except for stubborn stains, you don't need to bleach. Yet, CHEER is so safe for colored washables.

See the proof in your washer! CHEER's magic blue granules snap into white, action-packed suds that wash your clothes so clean, so white you don't need bluing or bleach!

Works like blue magic for dishes, too!

CHEER's white, white suds billow up at the touch of water to get dishes and glassware "twinkle-clean" without wiping. And CHEER is so gentle to hands.

Great for both automatic and conventional washers

FIRST WE RENTED--THEN WE BOUGHT A PIECE O' LAND ON TIME--

THERE WAS YEARS WE DIDN'T MAKE TAXES--BUT SOMEHOW WE KEPT GOIN'--AND THERE WAS GOOD YEARS--

I GUESS, WHEN TWO FOLKS REALLY CARE FOR EACH OTHER, ALL TH' YEARS TOGETHER ARE GOOD--

AND NOW WE GOT TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, SAFE IN TH' BANK! MIGHTY FEW FOLKS OUR AGE GOT THAT MUCH!

AND WE GOT ENOUGH BESIDES TO KEEP US TILL WE GET OUR CAPITAL INVESTED!

SA-A-AY! SANDY'S LOOKIN' LOTS BETTER--HE'LL SOON BE UP AND AROUND, SPRY AS A PUP!

TH' VET SAYS ABOUT A WEEK MORE, AND HE CAN TRY WALKIN' JUST A LITTLE--

SOON AS HE CAN TRAVEL, WE'LL BE MOVIN' ALONG--YOU FOLKS ARE AWFUL NICE, BUT WE HATE TO IMPOSE--

ANNIE! I THOUGHT IT WAS SETTLED! YOU'RE JUST LIKE ONE O' OUR FOLKS!

SO'S SANDY!

THIS LITTLE HOUSE ISN'T VERY ROOMY, I KNOW--BUT IT'S REAL HANDY AND GOT PLENTY ROOM FOR US FOUR--

ELLA'S RIGHT! YOU AND SANDY--YOUR OUR'N!

1-24-54

WELL, I DECLARE! THAT FELLER IS STILL IN TH' NEXT CABIN--BEEN THERE THREE DAYS NOW--

NAME'S KNILS, I HEAR--K. KEMPTON KNILS--SEEMS LIKE A REAL PLEASANT CHAP--

WELL, GUESS TOMORROW I'LL GO HAVE A TALK AT TH' BANK--MIGHT AS WELL GET OUR CAPITAL INVESTED AND WORKIN' FOR US, EH?

WE SURE DID WORK MIGHTY HARD FOR IT!

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK & PHIL DAVIS

AT THE EDGE OF THE SWAMPLANDS, A GREAT HOLE IS DUG--

MANDRAKE, THIS SEEMS RIDICULOUS. TRYING TO CATCH A DINOSAUR! BESIDES--HE--MIGHT SHOW UP BEFORE YOU'RE READY!

I'VE GOT LOOKOUTS POSTED. THERE'S NO SIGN OF "REX" YET.

1

IT'S A DARING PLAN. THINK YOU CAN TRAP HIM?

WHY NOT? FOOD'S SCARCE IN THE SWAMPLANDS, BECAUSE HE'S EATEN ALL THE GAME. WE'LL BAIT THE TRAP--HE'LL COME--I HOPE.

2

THIS IS A HUNTER'S DREAM. A LIVE DINOSAUR!

3

NO--I WON'T MISS THIS!

4

THEN, AFTER SEVERAL DAYS AND NIGHTS OF WAITING--

Shhh--SOMETHING'S COMING--

SOUNDS LIKE--A DOUBLE-DECK BUS--WITH LEGS!

IT'S REX!

5

HISSING LIKE A STEAM ENGINE, SHAKING THE GROUND AS HE COMES--TYRANNOSAURUS REX!

LUCILLE SWEENEY RETURNS HOME FROM HER VACATION TOUR WITH THE CIRCUS.

WHERE'S BROTHER?

THE DANG GOONEY JOINED THE NAVY.

JOINED THE NAVY? BUT HOW?

DON'T ASK ME. ONE DAY HE WAS CULTIVATING TOMATOES, HAPPY AS A LARK. THEN ALONG CAME THIS NAVY LIEUTENANT.

HAVE YOU EVER CONSIDERED REENLISTING IN THE NAVY, MR. SWEENEY?

NOT ME. I'M SATISFIED RIGHT HERE ON THE FARM.

I BELIEVE YOU WERE AN ARMORER'S MATE CHIEFMAN DURING THE WAR. DID YOU KNOW YOU'RE BEING RECALLED TO DUTY?

WHAT? ME? WHY?

BECAUSE OF MR. SAWYER'S BACK GROUND, THE NAVY WANTED HIM TO BECOME A TEST PILOT OF SOME OF ITS HUSH-HUSH JOBS, WHILE SERVING SECRETLY AS A COUNTERSPY.

A COUNTER-SPY?

HE WANTS YOU TO WORK WITH HIM.

ME? BUT I---, AW, SHUCKS!--- I'M NOT CUT OUT FOR SPY WORK.

NEVERTHE-LESS---

WELL, DANG MY DINGIES! IMAGINE ME BACK IN THE NAVY!

GANGWAY FOR A REAL SAILOR, YOUNGSTERS.

WELL, LOOK WHO'S HERE--GRAMPAW PETTIBONE HIMSELF.

HOW'S THE RHEUMATISM, GRAMP?

BRING ALONG YOUR SPARE TEETH?

NOW THAT BROTHER ROSCO DOESN'T NEED ME TO TAKE CARE OF HIM, I CAN DO WHAT I'VE WANTED TO DO FOR A LONG TIME. I'M GOING TO THE CITY AND GET ME A JOB.

WHY, LUCILLE! WHERE ARE YOU GOING?
